STRAIGHT TALK

— by —

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

Our car was filled with premium unleaded gas selling for 65.9 cents, the price at all of the gas stations in this area that day, including all state and federal taxes. The service station manager said that he was earning more per gallon than he had in years, but he was concerned because his resident customers were demoralized. He had heard that one out of every eight jobs in the oil industry had been lost in the first five months of 1986, and more cuts were planned.

I had attended a San Antonio conference, met a pack of oil industry executives, also in convention. I wanted first hand information on what was happening to our oil industry as the result of the lower consumer-pleasing oil prices. The price of crude oil is down to about a third of what it had been. Oil in the ground has much less value than it had a year or two ago. That translates into many companies trying to cut costs to stay afloat. Profit margins are almost non-existent after years of big windfall profits. Fat managements are thinning down fast, cutting out from five to twenty five per cent of oil industry payrolls.

Whether I spoke to oil people or their vendors that supply coffee or tea to oil industry employees, everyone is feeling the pinch. Even janitorial supply companies echoed the same theme. Business is down in "oil country" after years of unending prosperity. Quality merchandise retail stores that never endured ups and downs are now complaining. General retail sales figures are sad. Contributions, political and charitable, appear to be down as much as thirty per cent. Everyone is trying to survive, not prosper.

Hotels, office buildings, shopping centers and housing are all overbuilt. Hotel occupancy rates are low, rental vacancy rates are high, housing values in the "oil patch" are declining. Some architects told me of the plans on which they were working a year or more ago that had the construction industry optimistic about the future. Developers have been unable to complete preliminary leasing and get financing to convert these projects from paper plans into concrete realities. Just as I arrived here, a billion dollar savings institution failed, overburdened with mortgage financing with unsuccessful real estate projects.

The number of working oil rigs, used for drilling new wells, was at its lowest level in years. That makes sense because newly discovered oil could not be produced at current oil prices. That gets us down to the "nitty gritty," what are the long term implications of the oil glut and low oil prices.

Oil industry leaders say that continued low pricing will kill our domestic oil industry, which can not compete with the low costs of overseas producers. Continued low oil prices will discourage developemt of alternate energy sources. We could become totally dependent upon foreign oil, a fact that could make us easy targets for blackmail at any time and with little notice. At present consumption levels by conservation minded consumers, total world energy resources are very limited. We have 35 years of oil, 60 years of natural gas, 35 years of uranium, and 300 years of coal. A problem exists in trying to use coal, and that problem will take time and money to solve. If we stop being conservation minded consumers, our world-wide energy resources will be used up that much faster.

Industry representatives suggested to me that an oil import tax of 50 cents a gallon be imposed. They suggest that this would help eliminate the federal deficit, continue fuel conservation by consumers, and allow domestic oil producers an advantage, while encouraging the continued development of alternate synthetic fuels for the future, while moderating the transitional pain the oil industry is experiencing.

Something needs to be done about the energy problem. No one seems to be facing up to the problem. The marketplace pain and suffering of the oil industry, which wasted so much of its windfall profits on acquisitions and expansion programs that did not work, is not an apparent consumer concern. We have been lulled by the low prices we are paying for oil, today. The fact that all of us are not enjoying these low gas prices will be a column for another day.

That's Straight Talk!

For years we have proclaimed America's friendship and support for Saudi Arabia. Many presidents have clearly stated that we would defend Saudi Arabia. There have been congressional squabbles over supplying the Saudis with planes, guns, ships and the ammunition they claim to need.

That's why I was interested in an interview with Shiek Ahman Zaks Yamani, Saudi Arabia's oil minister. Sheik Yamani has visited the United States many times and knows our country and its leaders. He was asked recently, "Why did you come to the defense of Lybia and cry out against your good friend, the United States. You know that Lybia is a troublemaker and terrorist support base."

Shiek Yamani responded that he hadn't seen any evidence of Lybian support for terrorism. When asked if he believed the president when Mr. Reagan stated that Lybia was a sponsor of terrorism, he made it clear that he and his associates did not believe the president, in spite of the mass acceptance of that evidence by European national leaders. Obviously, the Sheik does not listen to or read the Libian leader's speeches supporting terrorism.

Sheik Yamani's reaction shocked me, and I am not easily shocked. Saudi Arabia would not exist today without the prop provided by the United States government. Iran, Syria and the Lybians could gobble it up, quickly, if they thought we would tolerate such behavior. If the leadership in Saudi Arabia actually believe they can rely on Lybia's Muammar al-Qaddafi, Iran's Ruhollah Khomeini or Syria's Hafez al-Assad, they are stupid.

Right now our nation is debating whether to supply the Saudis with AWACS, an airborne warning and control system that gives a significant alarm if an attack is imminent and allows time for action to repel such an attack. We also are considering the sale of sophisticated missils and other armament. Our government agreed to these sales because they assumed the Saudis were our friends. This interview with Sheik Yamani certainly raises serious questions about that friendship.

A look at the record is interesting. The Saudis support the Palestine Liberation Organization with about $100 million each year. The PLO took over a cruise ship and killed a paralyzed chair-ridden American. The Saudis have not helped in our squabbles with Qaddafi. They have not cooperated in any of our peace efforts in the middle east. They have even given Egypt a difficult time for settling with the Israel government. The Saudis talk about friends, don't demonstrate it, and effectively call our popular president a liar. They led OPEC in its campaign to increase oil prices that hurt every American. Self interest is the Saudi's motivation

It would certainly appear that weapons and systems delivered to Saudi Arabia, unless it demonstrates solid friendship, are probably going to be used against us and our allies. That doesn't make good sense. I believe it is time to ask the Saudis a simple question, "Are you with us or against us? If you are with us, we expect the same support from you that you expect from us. If you are against us, let's face that now and not continue to commit ourselves to your defense. Friendship must be a two-way street."

Unless we can get a proper commitment from the Saudis, I believe we are wasting time and energy in supporting them. And you can bet that it is just a matter of time before our commitment to defend them will be tested with American blood, sweat and tears.

AVIS FROILAND of Plummer is shown with her first album of newspaper clippings from 1933. The little blue book is filled with local news of 53 years ago, as well as national and international news that captures the feeling and spirit of the times. She collects whatever she finds interesting for her albums, which continue on to the present.

Avis' 56 Years Of Clippings Make History Come Alive

by Sharon LaCoursiere
Times Reporter

"I always was a pack rat," said Avis Froiland, referring to her collection of newspapers clippings, pictures and memorabilia. But her neatly cataloged collection hardly appears the work of a pack rat.

All the newspaper clippings in her collection are glued into about 20 labeled albums, dating from 1933 to the present. She also has albums of collected wedding invitations and announcements dating from 1918 and funeral announcements since 1951, both indexed by name, and a large book filled with personal trinkets and mementos, as well as a thick collection she calls "The Froiland Family Album," dating from 1916.

Avis and her husband, Art, live in a cozy home on the north edge of Plummer. They moved there from the Froiland home farm in 1968. Son Richard now lives on the farm with his wife, Arlene, and family; and daughter, Mrs. Les (Marie) Foster and family live in Roseau. Avis and Art have eight grandchildren who apparently visit often, because there is still an old wooden high chair in a prominent place in their dining room.

Many people have used Avis' collection to find material for class and family reunions and wedding anniversaries, and Avis said she enjoys helping people find information. Most recently, she furnished a lot of the material used for an all-class reunion of the Plummer school. She said she and Art love to have company visit to look at her collection, but the problem with that is, "Once they get looking in the albums, we hardly talk to each other."

Avis has no particular subject matter in mind in collecting her clippings. She saves "whatever is interesting." Local news items about area people nestle beside clips of national and international items of interest. As I paged through the albums, I sensed that Avis caught more than just items of interest to herself — she has captured history on her album pages — the frugality and futility of the depression years; oppression and foreboding before the second world war with articles of invasions and displays of military strength; and, during the war, the strong spirit of patriotism in social and public events.

When she first began clipping newspaper items in 1918, Avis used the Red Lake Falls Gazette and Oklee Herald. Then she said she began using the Thief River Falls Times with its Oklee, Plummer and Brooks news features. She also has issues of the Plummer Pioneer, which stopped publishing in April of 1931.

"We were all so sad when we got that last paper," she said. Her oldest Plummer Pioneer is dated before she was born, 1910. An interesting fact the Froilands noted about Plummer is that it was first named "Scotland," but the railroad asked that the city change the name because there was another Scotland down the line and mail delivery was confused between the two. So "Scotland" became "Plummer" after a prominent local citizen.

Avis' own personal scrapbook was begun when she was at home keeping house for her father and two brothers. She said she had saved mementos in a box since 1916, but didn't have a book to put her collection into until 1933. She has scraps of cloth from special dresses, old valentines, a piece of her mother's wedding veil, buttons, pressed flowers, and a piece of the floor-board from the Ford Roadster that Art owned while they were dating, which he said he sold in 1936. She also has a large nail that was the cause of their missing a special movie when the Roadster got a flat tire.

She has saved a tally of expenditures from the first paycheck she received as teacher in a rural school near Plummer. The paycheck was for the grand sum of $75 for the month of September, 1931. She spent some of it for a dress, $5.95; shoes, $2.98; four stamps, 8 cents; candy, 10 cents; and toothpaste, 25 cents. She also saved the hospital and doctor bills from an operation in 1937. Her hospital stay lasted two weeks with a total charge there of $57.50. Doctor's fee was $150 for removal of the offending appendix, along with her tonsils.

Avis and Art are retired now, Avis having been an aid in the Plummer school for 10 years. She said anyone interested in her clippings is welcome to give her a call — she and Art love company. Their little home is sunny and comfortable, and so are they. I'm sure you'll enjoy a visit there — and they may even offer you a home-made doughnut to go with your coffee. After all, as someone said, "Avis is everyone's grandma!" But her other title is "Unofficial Historian of Plummer."

CLIPPING AND SNIPPING from the Times for information to pop into her current album, Avis Froiland has had 70 years of experience in selecting what she thinks may be interesting to others. Guests at the Froiland home are welcome to browse through the 20-odd albums at their leisure. . . .so long as they remember to talk once in a while.

County Council On Aging Rescheduled

Crime Victims' Advocate For State Appointed

An advocate for Minnesota crime victims has been named by public safety commissioner Paul Tschida with the advice of the Minnesota crime victim and witness advisory council under a new state law passed in 1985.

Catherine Gasteyer, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and former director of the Minnesota private detective and protective agents board, in her new position of crime victim ombudsman will investigate victim complaints and make findings and recommendations to the appropriate public agencies, including the state attorney general.

Gasteyer says of her statewide responsibility that she will work to continue the high quality of service, commitment and compliance available to crime victims involved in the criminal justice system under Minnesota law. The Minnesota Legislature created the office of crime victim ombudsman to include providing statewide assistance and information to victims, county attorneys, court service personnel, law enforcement and defense attorneys. The ombudsman's office is federally funded under the federal victims of crime act.

Before accepting her current position, Gasteyer also served as a criminal intelligence analyst with the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension and as a legal assistant with the Minnesota attorney general's office.

Discovery Place

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Discovery Place today announced sponsorship of the Child Care Food Program (CCFP).

Meals will be available at no separate charge to enrolled children without regard to race, age, color, sex, handicap, or national origin at Discovery Place Child Care Center, 305 East Nora Street, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Listed below are the USDA Income Eligibility Guidelines which are effective July 1, 1986 through June 30, 1987. The amount of reimbursement received by Discovery Place is based on the number of enrolled children whose family income is at or below:

Family Size	FREE MEALS Yearly	REDUCED MEALS Yearly
1	$ 6,968	$ 9,916
2	9,412	13,394
3	11,856	16,872
4	14,300	20,350
5	16,744	23,828
6	19,188	27,306
7	21,632	30,784
8	24,076	34,262
For each additional household member add	2,444	3,478

This program, administered by the USDA and the Minnesota Department of Education gives financial assistance to child care centers so that nutritious meals can be integrated with nonresidential child care services for children.

The goal of the program is to improve the diets of young children and increase the opportunity for children to eat a variety of nutritious foods. The meals and snacks served meet standards established by the USDA for the CCFP.

In operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, sex, age, or handicap. Any person who believes that she/he has been discriminated against in any USDA-related activity should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Strong Tennis Foes

Thief River Falls girls, who have swept past the opposition in four season-opening outings, will have their toughest test of the 1986 season this weekend when the Prowlers participate in the Lake Hubert Invitational near Brainerd.

Anoka, Brainerd, Coon Rapids, St. Paul Hill-Murray, Blue Earth, White Bear Lake, Staples and Thief River Falls will make up the eight-team field. Competition starts Friday at 6:30 p.m. and resumes Saturday at 9 a.m.

It'll be a challenge for the Prowlers, who started their schedule with 7-0 dual meet wins over Roseau, East Grand Forks and Waubun, plus a first place finish in their own Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational, where they out-pointed Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks and Moorhead.

A Thief River Falls-Mahnomen dual meet here Tuesday was rained out.

Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson said earlier he figured the Prowlers had a shot at a North Sub-Region 8AA title this fall, and they've done nothing to tarnish that optimism to date. But it's outings like the Lake Hubert Invitational that will tell the Prowlers just how good they really are.

TRF Faces Lakers

Thief River Falls, after opening the 1986 high school football season at Grand Forks Red River on Tuesday, will have little time to prepare for Game 2 Saturday at Detroit Lakes.

It's a tough task for the Prowlers, who will be facing a Detroit Lakes team that lost a season-opening 13-7 overtime decision at Fergus Falls Friday. Detroit Lakes has an obvious advantage in the additional recovery time from the first game and preparation time for the second game over Thief River Falls. The Lakers did accomodate the Prowlers when they agreed to move the game from an original Friday date to Saturday.

A year ago Detroit Lakes relied heavily on runningback Mark Leslie, who gained a school-record 1,427 yards rushing in 1986. He graduated, but Detroit Lakes coach Rick Manke figured Rodney Rollins, another speedster, would move into Leslie's spot to lead the Lakers' offense in 1986. Rollins had to potential to be another 1,000-yard rusher in the Detrot Lakes veer offense, figured Manke.

However, late last spring Rollins' father resigned his position as assistant principal at the Detroit Lakes Junior High School and moved the family to Albany, where the Rollins had lived before coming to Detroit Lakes.

As late as this fall it was hoped that Rodney Rollins would be in a Detroit Lakes uniform, said Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune, but instead he is with the Albany Huskies, and Detroit Lakes was left searching for a Leslie replacement.

And one of those hopefuls, 6-0, 185-pound sophomore Chris Fossen, was involved in a summer bicycle accident that forced him to miss part of the preseason practice sessions.

Only eight lettermen return for the Lakers this year. "This is the fewest lettermen I've had back for any team I've coached, and one of the greenest teams I've ever had," Manke told Anderson.

Quarterback James Landsem is the lone returning starter on offense for the 1986 Lakers.

In addition to losing Rollins by transfer, three other potential varsity gridders were lost when they moved from Detroit Lakes with their parents over the summer.

Miscellaneous

+ Thief River Falls girls opened their 1986 high school swimming season with an 87-79 win at Brainerd last Friday, but the Prowlers face a real test Saturday when they face Moorhead and Alexandria in a 1 p.m. triangular at Moorhead. Alexandria has won six straight Section 8 titles, and Moorhead is a title challenger. Coach Jay Forney said the Prowlers, who visit Park Rapids Thursday for a 6 p.m. dual, are looking forward to the Saturday challenge to see how they match up against the best in Section 8.

+ Bemidji, a September 12, Thief River Falls football opponent, opened its 1986 season Friday with a 9-7 victory at Alexandria. The Lumberjacks scored on a 51-yard Tim Knudson run in the first quarter and on a 27-yard Gary Matthews field goal in the second quarter in controlling the first half with a 9-0 lead. Alexandria dominated the second half action, out-gaining Bemidji 226-169 in total yardage and doubling the Lumberjacks 14-7 in the first down department, but went scoreless until the final 70 seconds.

+ Mike Daly, a new member of the Detroit Lakes teaching-coaching staff who will coach the Lakers' boys and girls tennis teams and boys' swimming team, is a former University of Minnesota men's swimming team captain. A graduate of Bloomington Lincoln High School, Daly earned three swimming letters with the Gophers, serving as captain in 1984-85.

+ A ridiculous piece of scheduling Tuesday at Cushman Field in Grand Forks found the Thief River Falls-Grand Forks Red River opening kickoff getting underway at 9:08 p.m. The Prowlers and Roughriders were part of a season-openinng high school football doubleheader in Grand Forks that found Grand Forks Central hosting Grafton in the first game. Originally listed on the Thief River Falls schedule for a 7:30 p.m. start, the game was moved back to a planned 8:15 kickoff, that still didn't occur for nearly another hour. The school-night game wasn't completed until 11:11 p.m. It was a poorly-planned affair.

+ The tragic automobile accident over the weekend that took the life of Bemidji athletic standout George Pelawa produced newspaper, television and radio headlines throughout Minnesota, a sign of just what kind of interest the huge 18-year-old commanded. Much has been written about his athletic accomplishments and his hero status to both the young and old in the Bemidji community, and the great respect he commanded from opponents who faced him in his hockey, football and baseball careers with the Lumberjacks. His death was hard to accept. Everyone knew who George was. His size and ability made him special. A year ago at this time he had a typically awesome football game against Thief River Falls when the 6-4, 230-pounder touched the ball six times, netting 210 yards and three touchdowns in a 41-0 Bemidji win over the Prowlers. The only thing that stopped him was the goal line. He returned the game's opening kickoff 81 yards for a touchdown, and later scored on runs of 40 and 62 yards from a wingback spot, netting 118 yards on just four carries from the line of scrimmage. In the process, he stiff-armed and shouldered his way through would-be tacklers. He was outstanding that night. He was a hockey star looking forward to playing at the University of North Dakota, then the National Hockey League, But he could have played major college football, too, and he was equally as impressive as hard-hitting first baseman in baseball. Those who had the opportunity to watch him will never forget him.

Ducks Unlimited Banquet Tickets Remain On Sale

Tickets sales continue for the Tuesday, September 9, Northwest Chapter of Ducks Unlimited banquet, scheduled to be held at the Thief River Falls Curling Club.

Advance sale tickets, priced at $30 are available at Sjoberg's Cable TV, TG Sporting Goods and Thune-Upham Insurance. Tickets will be priced at $35 at the dooor the night of the annual fund-raising event.

A ladies and couples night will be held Monday, the evening prior to the banquet, and the annual Greenwing event for the youngsters is scheduled for Sunday, September 28, at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls.

Football Bus

Thief River Falls Touchdown Club is making arangements to sponsor a fan bus to the Prowlers' football games at Detroit Lakes, Bemidji and Valley City, ND.

Designed for both students and adults, the fan bus will follow the Prowlers Saturday, September 6, to Detroit Lakes; Friday, Saturday 12, to Bemidji; and Friday, September 19, to Valley City.

Cost of the trip is estimated at $2 per person. Reservations for any of the trips can be made by calling Linda Spyhalski at 681-8731.

The bus will leave at 5:15 p.m. Saturday from Lincoln High School for Detroit Lakes.

Prowlers Lose 1986 Football Opener To Roughriders . . .

TRF Mistakes Result In 35-7 Loss

Physically, Thief River Falls could have won a game Tuesday. The Prowlers' off-season weight training and conditioning program promoted by head coach Jeff Mumm made them a much bigger, stronger and faster high school football team than they were a year ago, he's said on several occasions already this fall.

But it didn't make them smarter, and that's where they got beat in a 35-7 season-opening loss to Grand Forks Red River at Cushman Field.

For the first time in several years the Prowlers matched up physically with the normally strong Roughriders. But a number of mistakes, the mental kind, said Mumm, cost them dearly as they lost their sixth straight season opener to Red River and dropped their 13th straight game in a stretch that covers all or parts of three seasons.

"That was the worst mentally played football game I've ever seen," fumed Mumm after the game. "We gave then four touchdowns on stupid mental mistakes. They didn't physically beat us. Mental mistakes killed us."

Red River coach Nick Cichy concurred. "I thought physically they (TRF) are a much better football team than they were last year," he said, "but they made some mistakes. We got a couple of breaks early that helped us out and took the pressure off."

Break No. 1 came at the end of Thief River Falls' game-opening first possession when a high snap sailed over the head of punter Rick Rosetta, who was tackled for a 20-yard loss back at the Prowlers' 4-yard line. Greg Murphy scored on fourth down from the one when he took a pitch-out and reached the right corner of the end zone untouched. He also made the first of five straight conversion kicks for a 7-0 lead with 8:49 remaining in the first quarter.

Break No. 2 occurred on the next Thief River Falls possession when Murphy, playing safety, intercepted a tipped Chris Bjorgaard pass at the Red River 34-yard line. A 15-yard penalty on the return moved the Roughriders back to their 19, but on the first Red River snap, Tony Payne bolted through the middle, broke an arm tackle in the secondary and sprinted 81 yards for a 14-0 lead with 5:31 still to play in the first quarter.

Thief River Falls followed with its finest hour of the night when the Prowlers' new wing-T offense worked to perfection on a 13-play, 74-yard touchdown drive. There were runs of 11 and 9 yards by halfback Paul Brandt, a 13-yard run on an inside reverse by wingback Brain Christianson and a 22-yard Bjorgaard-to-Mike Bendickson pass play out of the backfield that helped set up a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Bjorgaard. Chris Nelson added the extra point as the Prowlers pulled within 14-7 with just 39 seconds gone in the second quarter.

It was all Thief River Falls at that point, and the Prowlers' momentum gained additional strength when the defense held Red River on the next series, forcing a fourth-and-six punt from the Roughriders' 43-yard line.

Chris Barta got off just a 20-yard pop-up and the fired-up Prowlers were ready to strike again.

But that's when disaster struck in the form of Breaks No. 3 and No. 4 for Red River. The punt glanced off a Thief River Falls blocker on the play, and was recovered by the Roughriders at the Prowlers' 37-yard line. Payne gained nine yards on a first down run inside, then watched as three consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties assessed defensive tackle Elliot Baker took the ball to the 3-yard line and prompted his ejection from the game.

Barta rolled left on the next play and did an NFL-style dive into the end zone for a 21-7 game with 9:06 left in the first half, a lead Red River carried into intermission despite the fact the Roughriders hadn't earned a first down — save for the automatic first down that followed those rapid-fire unsportsmanlike calls.

Second half scoring consisted of a couple of long passes from Barta to Don Willey and Tim Hajicek. Bjorgaard just missed the ball on a diving attempt to deflect the pass to Willey that went 30 yards with five minutes left in the third quarter, and Hajicek came out of the backfield to take a swing pass to the right 53 yards for a touchdown with 10:34 left in the game.

Red River picked up some yards in the second half and finished the night with a 309-220 edge in total yardage, although the Prowlers had a 13-7 first down advantage. Both sides had a 100-yard rusher as the Brandt carried 19 times for 107 yards and Payne carried eight times for 106 yards. Thief River Falls quarterbacks were intercepted four times and several Thief River Falls passes that could have gone for long yardage were dropped by the receivers.

"I thought we moved the ball much better in the second half," said Cichy. "I told them at halftime we had to get to the outside, and they did a good job." job."

"We moved the football," noted Mumm. "It's there; the passing game is there, the running game is there. If we catch the ball we're gone. But these kids just don't think they can beat Grand Forks. It's sad."

Thief River Falls will be right back in action Saturday with a 7:30 p.m. game at Detroit Lakes.

A PAIR OF Thief River Falls receivers were in the area, but Nate Dalager (16) and Chris Nelson (96) of the Prowlers wound up watching Grand Forks Red River safety Greg Murphy (21) come up with an interception off a tipped Chris Bjorgaard pass in the first quarter of Tuesday's high school football game at Cushman Field in Grand Forks. On the very next play the Roughriders' Tony Payne broke free on an 81-yard touchdown run that provided Red River with a 14-0 lead. They went on to claim a 35-7 season-opening victory over the Prowlers.

Tickets On Sale For Gopher Hockey Scrimmage In TRF

Sponsors of the University of Minnesota September 27, intrasquad hockey game at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena encourages fans to purchase the lower-priced advance sale tickets for the game, which are currently available at several northwestern Minnesota outlets.

Advance sale tickets, priced at $4 for adults and $2 for students 14-under, are being handled at Erl's Market, Farmer's Union Oil, Pizza Hut and TG Sporting Goods in Thief River Falls, D & E Sports Shop in Roseau and Warroad, Northland Lodge in Crookston and Consource Convenience Store in East Grand Forks.

Tickets at the door the night of the scrimmage will be priced at $5 for adults and $3 for students 14-under.

The Gopher team and coaches will hold a picture and autograph session at 5:45 p.m., with head coach Doug Woog and his assistants conducting a clinic demonstration at 6:15 p.m., followed by the game at 7. The game will feature two 30-minute periods.

Four former Section 8 standouts will be skating for the Gophers that night, including co-captain Tim Bergland of Thief River Falls, Craig Mack of East Grand Forks, Paul Broten of Roseau and Blaine Rude of Fergus Falls.

The game is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

DNR NEWS

Annual season for harvesting wild ginseng begins September 1 and runs through December 31, according to Department of Natural EResources officials.

Wild ginseng may be harvested (dug) without limit during the open season. Only plants with at least three prongs (leaves) with five leaflets each may be legally dug.

Immediately after digging or removing any wild ginseng plant, diggers are required to remove all seeds from the plant's berries and plant them in the area where the ginseng was dug.

Wild ginseng may be harvested in state wildlife management areas; however, the digger must obtain a free permit from the area wildlife manager. Ginseng may be harvested in state forest lands without permits.

No one may harvest ginseng in any state park or other area under the administration of the DNR Division of Parks and Recreation.

Ginseng diggers who sell their roots to Minnesota residents or businesses do not need a license. However, diggers who sell to out-of-state persons or businesses are required to purchase a dealers license from the DNR. Proper out-of-state export papers, required by federal regulations, will be provided by the DNR.

Any Minnesota resident or business buying ginseng is required to purchase a $5 license obtainable from the DNR License Bureau, DNR Building, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026.

Wild ginseng is a medicinal herb that has been harvested in Minnesota since the state was first settled by pioneers. Since the early 1900s, ginseng has become very rare. To prevent over-harvesting, the plant is now regulated by the DNR.

Last year, over 1,000 pounds of ginseng were harvested in Minnesota. Most of this was exported to the Orient.

Though few diggers harvest more than two or three pounds per season, they are rewarded by prices as high as $150 per pound.

A free informational brochure, "Preserving Wild Ginseng In Minnesota," is available by writing DNR Natural Heritage Program, Box 7, DNR Building, 500 Lafayette Road., St. Paul, MN 55155-4007.

UNABLE TO GET to the outside, Thief River Falls halfback Paul Brandt was brought down for a five-yard loss by a Grand Forks Red River defender in the first quarter of Tuesday's high school football season opener in Grand Forks. Jon Erickson (55), Nate Dalager (16) and Paul Spyhalski (63) of the Prowlers are also in the photo. Brandt finished the game with 107 on 19 carries, but the Prowlers lost to the Roughriders 35-7.

High School Volleyball Match At Warren . . .

Prowlers Lose 1986 Opener

Warren beat error-prone Thief River Falls 3-1 Tuesday in a season-opening high school volleyball match in the Ponies' gym.

"It was awful," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "It was a mess. We made lots of mistakes."

Warren won it 15-6, 15-10, 8-15, 15-5.

"We beat ourselves with our mistakes," said Anderson. "Our serves were really, really bad, and our receiving the serve was poor, too."

Lone bright spot for the Prowlers, according to Anderson, was the play of junior Bekah Bortnem, who had 17 service points. "She had a good all-around game, but you need more than one," offered Anderson.

"I'm disappointed in the way we played, but I know we can do much better," explained Anderson. "There was no teamwork. I know what we're capable of doing, and if we just play as a team we'll be all right."

Thief River Falls won both preliminary matches, taking the junior varsity encounter 15-0, 15-5 and winning the C squad match 16-14, 15-6.

The Prowlers visit Roseau Friday. It starts with a C squad match at 5:15 p.m., followed by the junior varsity at 6:15 and the varsity at 7:30.

Grygla Tops Roseau 3-1 In Volleyball

Grygla opened its 1986 high school volleyball season Tuesday with a 3-1 win at Roseau.

"We did all right for an opener," reported Grygla coach Mike Gast.

Grygla won it 15-4, 15-9, 11-15, 15-10.

"I'm glad it didn't go five games," said Gast. "They were getting tired. They worked pretty hard."

Grygla leaders Michelle Jelle and Nikki Lian turned in strong performances, and Tiarra Porch served well, according to Gast. "Really, the whole team played well," he said.

The Eagles host Lake of the Woods Thursday in their home opener and entertain Badger Friday.

Oklee - Ada-Borup

Oklee lost its opener, a 3-1 decision at Ada-Borup.

Ada-Borup won 15-3, 5-15, 15-13, 15-6.

"Game three was the turning point," explained Oklee coach Brad Borene. "We were up 13-11 and missed a serve. That was the turning point right there. The momentum switched."

Trouble at the service line hurt the Bobcats, who missed 15 serves and served just 80 per cent for the night, pointed out Borene.

Oklee did play well at the net, though, as Julie Murack came up with 10 kill spikes and six kill blocks and Nancy Osbjornson had seven kill spikes. Cici Olson did a good job as a setter in the new 5-1 Oklee offense, said Borene.

The Bobcats visit Fosston Thursday and will participate in the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational Saturday.

Area Nine-Man Football . . .

Middle River Will Play Oslo-Alvarado Friday

Middle River, an 8-0 season-opening winner over Kittson County North under the Skippers' new lights last week, will be on the road Friday for an afternoon Northern Lights Conference nine-man high school football game against Oslo-Alvarado. Kickoff is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Oslo-Alvarado beat Badger 18-12 to start the 1986 season.

Kennedy, the preseason favorite in the Northern Lights Conference, received a bye in Week 1 and will start play Friday against Kittson County North at Lancaster.

Badger draws this week's Northern Lights Confernce open date.

Meanwhile, Marshall County Central, after 1 26-14 season-opening setback at the hands of Stephen, draws a tough assignment Friday in the Top of the State Conference when the Nordics host six-time defending conference champion Argyle in a 7:30 p.m. nine-man game at Newfolden.

Hallock figured to be a top threat to Argyle's title reign this fall, but the Bears took a 36-6 season-opening beating from the Eagles in a quick match-up of conference favorites last week.

Tri-County got by conference newcomer Goodridge-Grygla 14-8 in the other league opener. The Rabbits host Stephen at Karlstad and the Blue Devils entertain Hallock in a 4 p.m. game at Gryglas Friday.

After a week of nonconference games, the North Tri-County Conference members start to meet ul Friday when Plummer visits Clearbrook for a 3:30 p.m. game, Fisher-Climax visits Gary and Gonvick-Trail goes to league newcomer Redlake. Oklee will drive to Nevis for a 3 p.m. nonconference game.

Friday, Oklee fell to Ulen-Hitterdahl 22-8, Plummer out-scored Akeley-Laprte 28-24, Gonvick-Trail beat Nevis 32-16 and Clearbrook shut out Eagle Bend 12-0 as new teams appeared on the scedule of Morth Tri-County Conference members. There were a couple of Tuesday openers, too, as Redlake played Bigfork and Fisher-Climax met Finley-Sharon, ND.

TRAIL . . .

Kim Anderson of Rockford, IL and Leeann Mathson of Wisconsin are visiting their grandparents, the Mathsons of Oklee and Bertha Woods.

Bertha Woods made a business trip to Thief River Falls on Friday.

Kim Anderson of Rockford, IL and Leeann Mathson of Wisconsin were supper guests at the Gary Anderson home at Plummer on Friday evening.

On Thursday evening they visited with their uncle and aunt, Amund and Ale and Thorine Kalshus at Oklee.

Erwin Prevost of Oklee came home from the hospital at Fargo North Dakota on Friday. Kurt Bakke of Gonvick brought him home.

Erwin and Adeline Prevost of Oklee visited with Ted Lolland at Mac Manor at McIntosh on Saturday. Enroute home they were coffee guests at the Albert Aaknes home.

Kim Anderson of Rockford, IL visited with Sylvia Flateland one day last week.

Sunday after services at the Mt. Olive church they had a potluck dinner to honor Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jackson of Bagley on their 55th anniversary. The Nazareth quartet sang number of hymns. The Jacksons received cards and gifts from guests that attended. The 55th anniversary cake was made and decorated by Rose Aaknes. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Mt. Olive church.

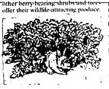
Junipers: Cover and Food For Wildlife

Most of us gardeners have favorite plants; landscape designers do too. With me, favorites include the junipers, an incredibly diverse group of ground covers, shrubs and trees. Some are native to the U.S. and many have been introduced from Europe and Asia - especially those commonly used in landscaping.

For gardeners interested in attracting birds, junipers are truly a plant for all seasons: they outstrip most other bird-attracting plants in providing cover and food. As evergreens, they're excellent nesting sites and year-round places for birds to hide from predators. Many produce abundant fruit over a long period of time; most set their fruit in March and April; some (like the eastern redcedar) mature their fruit the same year. The fruit is ready to eat in August or September and holds for 5 to 8 months, often well into the next fruiting period — considerably longer than the one- or two-week period most other berry-bearing shrubs and trees offer their wildlife-attracting produce.



Among the native U.S. junipers, the eastern redcedar, Juniperus virginiana, provides food regularly for at least 20 or 30 (and I suspect possibly 60 to 70) species of birds. A long-lived, sun-loving tree, this "cedar" prefers well-drained soils but can tolerate a wide range of soil pH. It does support a fungus (cedar apple rust) which can damage apples, mountain ash and other plants in the rose family, but its assets outweigh its drawbacks. Similar juniper species serve the south-eastern and southcentral United States.

The Rocky Mountain juniper, J. scopulorum, and its horticultural varieties can provide similar food and cover for many western birds and mammals. The many-trunked common juniper, J. communis, usually a spiny shrub, performs the same functions in the northern third of the U.S.

A juniper of Asian origin popular in the U.S. and Canada is the Chinese juniper, J. chinensis, occurring in a kaleidoscope of forms from ground-hugging, matlike plants to large trees as well as popular shrubs such as Pfitzer and Hetzi junipers, widely used as foundation plants throughout much of the U.S. I've seen cedar waxwings dine ravenously on Hetzi berries as late as early May. Many birds use the shrubs for nesting and year-round cover.

Recently I've become interested in a low-growing European juniper sold at many nurseries. It's the Buffalo juniper, a horticultural variety of the Savin juniper, J. sabina. The first ones I found were covered with fruit. The plant will, in time, mature at 12 to 18 inches in height, with a 8-foot spread. A female variety, it can probably be pollinated by any male juniper in the area. Many such prostrate junipers bear no fruit, but the Buffalo juniper is a lavish exception, besides being a fine hiding place for small songbirds, shrews, chipmunks and rabbits.

You might consider planting some (or more) junipers. Many native species do best in fairly sweet soil, but the Chinese juniper varieties and eastern redcedar tolerate a wide range of soil pH. As a group of plants almost nothing can beat junipers for providing good habitat for wildlife.

Grasses Provide Food Throughout The World

by William G. Schulz
Smithsonian News Service

The summertime chore of grass cutting is a hot, sweaty job that never seems to end. A few hours behind the mower can leave you feeling a bit like a vegetable.

You should feel right at home, however, because the fact is, many types of grasses are also vegetables.

Botanists and their colleagues in agriculture know that the grasses are a diverse plant family with more than 10,000 species, many of which have been essential to human survival since the dawn of civilization and perhaps earlier.

"All major civilizations have been rooted in grasses," says Dr. Thomas Soderstrom, a botanist at the Smithsonian Institution's national museum of natural history. Cereal grains such as wheat and barley were first cultivated 10,000 years ago in the Old World, he explains, while in ancient Asia, rice and bamboo were important staples. In the New World, corn took the center of the agricultural stage about 7,500 years ago.

This summer, Soderstrom and other grass specialists from around the world will gather at the Museum of Natural History for an International Symposium on Grass Systematics and Evolution, sponsored by the Smithsonian, the American Institute of Biological Sciences and the National Science Foundation. These experts will review research on grasses and explore new areas vital to the protection of wild grasses and to the development of improved cultivated species on which the world depends.

Along with the symposium, an exhibit, "Fields of Grass," will showcase the beauty of grasses in paintings and drawings. The artwork will be displayed in the rotunda of the museum through August, then tour the country under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

"Basically, I think most people tend to gloss over grasses," says Dr. Mary Barkworth, an associate professor of biology at Utah State University in Logan. Yet, fully one-fourth of the Earth's land area is covered with some type of grass. "We talk about 'grasslands,'" Barkworth points out, "not 'beanlands.'"

Grasses, according to one writer, are "nature's forgiveness, the earth's constant benediction." Statistics bear out the poetry and Barkworth's comments: 90 per cent of the world's food is supplied by grasses, though only 20 species of grass provide this bounty.

Government policies concerning grain farming — particularly wheat — are a constant source of debate on Capitol Hill, attesting to the economic and polical importance of this plant family to the United States. In Asian countries, millions of people depend on rice for food. Elsewhere, the grasses provide people not only with food, but also with building materials, various products for everyday life and even fuel for automobiles.

A prime example is bamboo. "Most people think bamboo is just a tropical plant," says Soderstrom, who specializes in the study of bamboo. "In fact, human life in the Asian tropics is incredibly dependent on bamboo. But just about everywhere you go in the world, you will find some bamboo.

"Bamboo is often called 'poor man's timber,'" Soderstrom continues. In many of the world's developing nations, he says, this "timber grass" — so called because of its sturdy hollow stem — is used to build huts, fishing poles, mats and chopsticks. In India, 70 per cent of all paper is made from bamboo fibers. Lovers of Oriental cuisine know the value of the tender young shoots as a vegetable.

Because bamboo is vital to the livelihood of so many people in Asia, its cyclic flowering and dying back can bring disaster. Even animals, such as the giant panda in China, depend heavily on it as a source of food. Through his research, Soderstrom has found that the flowering cycles are predictable, probably regulated by an as-yet-unidentified biological clock. When various species do flower and die, hardship may result. But the predictability of these cycles gives nations the possibility of planning for such potentially catastrophic events.

Of course, bamboo and many other grasses don't look much like Kentucky bluegrass and other species most Americans would recognize growing in their yards. But bamboo, wheat, rice, sorghum and all the other species of grass have important similarities. For one, they grow from the bottom up, which protects them from fire and enables them to withstand grazing and cutting. For some species of lawn grass, the regular grazing by mower actually stimulates growth.

All grasses also have jointed stems, or nodes, marking the point where leaves attach. The leaves consist of a lower, cylindrical portion that sheathes the stem and a flat, parallel-sided blade.

Many grasses have similar reproductive strategies, including cross-pollination (fertilization by another plant), self-pollination and "vegetative reproduction" — offshoots of a parent root growing out horizontally and sending up new plants. This last reproductive strategy is often beneficial in areas vulnerable to erosion. The networks of roots established effectively stabilizes soils.

Researchers know there's more to grass than meets the mower. "The grasses are difficult to classify because of the similarity of many superficial characteristics," Dr. Khidir W. Hilu, a professor of biology at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blackburg, says. "We needed another character." Hilu turned to the most advanced techniques of modern biology — the isolation and study of plant DNA, the molecule that contains the genetic information for a given organism.

This molecular approach to classifying plants has had an added benefit. In the near future, Hilu says, new hybrids may be created through "cytoplasmic infusion" — inserving genetic material from the cell of one plant into the cell of another. Wild grasses able to survive in arid regions for example, can be crossed with cultivated grains to produce viable crops in areas of the world where they are most needed. "With cytoplasmic infusion," Hilu says, "we can overcome sterility barriers to the crossing of such plants, but it's a much easier process when the two plants are related."

This and other research not only improves botonists' understanding of the evolution of various plants, but points to the need to identify and preserve the plant's wild ancestors. Besides creating better crops, genetic material from wild plants can help guard against disastrous blights. Dr. Hugh H. Iltis, a botanist at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, for example, has been involved with research on a very rare but hardy species of wild corn, Zea diploperennis, discovered in Mexico in 1977. This species can be crossbred with domestic corn to produce varieties that are phenomenally resistant to tropical viral diseases.

Iltis has also developed a theory about the origins of modern corn. The problem, Iltis says, was "driving people bananas for years." He agrees with other botanists that corn developed from the ancient Central American plant, annual teosinte. Unlike other researchers, though, Iltis believes that corn ears developed not from the ears of teosinte but from male tassels at the end of branches on that plant.

For this to happen, he says, the sex of the tassels had to change from male to female, possibly because of an environmental shock such as extreme cold or a viral infection. When the tassels became female, they produced edible kernels, whereas teosinte ears have kernels encased in hard shells. Farmers 7,500 years ago — when Iltis thinks this change took place — cultivated such plants and so made the change permanent.

Reliance on grasses and other plants in the developed nations is due to take a new form in the near future, according to Dr. Melvin Calvin, a chemist and Nobel laureate at the University of California, Berkley. Calvin is currently conducting research on four different plant families that produce hydrocarbons and thus can be used as substitutes for petroleum. "It took nature tens of thousands of years to produce oil," Calvin says, "and man is using it up in just a few tens of years." He and many other observers warn that the current oil glut won't be long-lived and that prices for crude oil will rise once again.

Several species of grass, such as corn, sorghum and sugar cane, are already being used, he says, in countries like Brazil to produce alcohol fuel for automobiles or for use as feedstocks in chemical manufacturing. "When the pressure is on," he says of the development of alternative fuel sources, "it will be done." Humankind's reliance on the grasses, will thus continue to fuel our future survival.

Catbirds: Gentle Fruit-Lovers

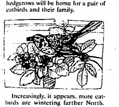
If you've heard the phrase "sitting in the catbird seat," you may have wondered, as I have, how the catbird fits into this picture of someone sitting in a position of power, someone "on top."

For those of us who know catbirds as wary inhabitants of low-lying scrub growth, the phrase makes little sense. About the only time catbirds act "powerful" is when they're proclaiming their territory. Most of the time they're barely noticeable. From dense, concealing cover, you'll hear the mewing, catlike call that gives them their name. Or you'll hear their rapid, jumbled song — like a mockingbird's (catbirds are related to mockingbirds and thrashers), though you might, as I do, have a hard time figuring out anything the song is supposedly imitating.

They seem to be one of the gentlest of our songbirds, and I've never really understood why some people dislike catbirds. I've heard it said that they pick on the young of other birds, but they're not known as nest robbers. They're certainly not going to stalk and pounce, catlike, on us — though more than once I've been harassed by a protective parent when I approached a nest. That's not a catbird's usual behavior at all. In fact, my most vivid childhood memory of catbirds is having them eat raisins from my outstretched hand.

Catbirds love fruit, more than almost any other bird I've personally come in contact with. I've banded numerous catbirds in late summer and early fall. Most of them are invariably loaded up with the fruit of elderberries, pokeweed, black tupelo or some other juicy fruit.

You can easily entice summer catbirds to your yard using a tray stocked with raisins. They'll also share your blackberries, raspberries, blueberries, elderberries and grapes. You'll want to protect your family's berry supply with well-anchored bird-proof netting. In my own yard, I'm creating fruit-bearing hedgerows that flank two adjoining properties. In time, these hedgerows will be home for a pair of catbirds and their family.



Increasingly, it appears, more catbirds are wintering farther North. However, to survive through the harsh temperatures and snows, they need the fruit of fall and winter-bearing trees, shrubs and vines. Provide such a fruit diet, in part, with your landscape and augment the natural winter diet with finely-chopped fruit and shredded suet. Place these supplemental foods in dense habitat such as the viney tangles the birds tend to prefer in the winter.

I've begun to wonder if catbirds are extremely fragile birds. Though I mark hundreds of them each year, few seem to return to the place where they were originally banded. Are they less capable than other birds of returning to a specific home territory? I wonder if perhaps they'd be better off if, instead of flying from place to place through the woodlands, highways and skyways, they did indeed sit in the catbird seat.

Craig Matousek, grandson of Alice Ellingson spent some time with his parents Rudy and Marilyn Matousek before going to Madison, WI, to visit his sister Debbie and will return to Denver, CO, where he will go to Denver University to finish school and get his Bachelors Degree in criminal justice. He has received his associates degree already.

Visitors the past week at the Inga Melo home were Della Elseth, Anita Skadsem, Amy Lind, and Harlan Melo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jule Hanson and family spent last weekend at the David Johnson home at Clearwater. While there they took in the state fair and a Twins game. After that they visited with evan Hanson at Andover.

Melvin and Hilma Lee and Arlynn and Donna and girls drove to Gonvick on the 17th to visit with Hilma's brother, Alvin Strand.

Junis Thompson of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, came Thursday evening to visit at the home of her mother Olga Thompson and also to visit at the homes of Bill and Shirley Wagner, Curt and Elaine Thompson, Dave Thompson and Don and Eleanore Thompson.

A week ago Sunday supper guests at the Alice Knutson and Buddy's home were Torvel Lee and Karen and Gordon Lee.

Saturday Kenneth and Gwenny Hjelle and Gaylene Anderson stopped to visit at the Morris Moen home after they had attended the Nelson-Engen wedding.

Saturday Milton and Bev Erickson, Jane and Jason, Dean and Mary Anderson and girls attended the celebration in Grygla. Jason Erickson, Dean and Mary Anderson were in the parade Saturday afternoon.

Brief visitors at the Alice Ellingson home the past week were Nellie Skadsem, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Garfve of Texas, Ellen Hjelle, Marilyn and Rudy Matousek.

Harriet Jorgenson and Laura Roppe visited at the Lester Larson home last Sunday afternoon.

Myrtle Skadsem returned home on Sunday after spending six weeks with her daughter Myrtle and her families in Montana.

On Saturday August 16th, Curt and Elaine Thompson enjoyed a nice visitand coffee with Dawn Thompson, Michael, Chad and Amy of Warren. Then they went to Grand Forks and did some shopping and on the way home they stopped in at Roger and Robbin Mathsen and Ronelle and enjoyed a lovely visit and supper with them.

Senior Citizens News

The senior citizens met at the meal site August 6th. The meeting was called to order by Bertha Tunheim. In the absence of the reporter Bertha read the secretary's report. Helmer Lind read the treasurer's report. Our 9th anniversary party was held Friday the 15th with an open house in the afternoon. We had a film after which Vi Moen played for us. We also had a sing-along then cake and ice cream were served. We had a lot of nice visitors. Blood pressure clinic on the 19th. August 20th the annual county picnic was held at the Old Mill State Park. Potluck dinner at noon. We hope the persons taking our tomatoes as they ripen get sick or enjoy them. Alice Ellingson, Rep. Lucille Skadsem and Bertha Tunheim attended staff meeting at Crookston on August 26th. Viola Moen attended the project council meeting the same day. Site council met the 27th. Plans are being made for friends and neighbors week September 8th to 12th.

Gladys Stromberg visited with Ellen Hjelleson Saturday afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon Lloyd and Clara Hanson and Pearl Boe visited at the Orville Harstad home and also helped Lenora celebrate her birthday.

August 16th Gilbert and Adeline Olson attended the Hjelle and Solom wedding which was held at the bride's parents' home, the Donald Hjelles of Lake Park. It was an outdoor wedding held by the lake.

Rudy and Marilyn Matousek and son Craig Matousek went to visit Rudy's sister, Lillian and Emil Holmaas in East Grand Forks Sunday. They had a super time.

Sunday evening supper guests at the Olga Thompson home were Chad and Linda Thompson of Warroad, Junis Thompson of Edmonton, Alberta, Bobbi Thompson and friend Jim Hayes, Dave Thompson and Kirsti Thompson of Thief River Falls.

Sunday visitors at the Inga Melo home were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Amundson and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eveland. They all enjoyed a nice visit and coffee.

Carol Ness and Vernice Larson returned home Tuesday after spending a week in Indianapolis, IN, visiting at the Elwin Ness home. Elwin and DeDe took them around to see many interesting places. Vernice Larson also spent Saturday visiting and had supper with Mr. and Mrs. George Lindberg (Arnold's cousins). They had a very enjoyable time down there.

Morris and Hanna Moen were Sunday visitors at the Marvin Moen home, also bringing birthday gifts to Cory and Keith Moen.

Sunday visitors at the Milton Erickson home were Keith Graham, Barb Garthus, Sharon Achlert, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Erickson of Strathcona.

Weekend visitors at the Roy Roppe home were Mr. and Mrs. Orland Roppe and family of Moorhead and Harriet Joregenson of Warren.

Tuesday afternoon Kathy Harstad visited with her parents, Morris and Hanna Moen.

Jeremy Wilson spent a week with his grandpa and grandma Thompson last week before he starts school this fall.

Ellen Hjelle visited at the Art Skadsem home on Monday afternoon.

Saturday evening supper guests at the Gilbert Olson hopme were Mr. and Mrs. William Holmquist of Little Falls and Edna Lucas of Minneapolis. Then on Sunday they held a picnic at the Landmark in Warren in honor of these three. Those attending besides the honored guests were Pat Luch, Ray and Shirley Vigstol of Plummer, Kristi and Becky, Jule and Shane Adolphson of Thief River Falls, Duane Bjorgaard, Bernice Ueland, Darlene Chapman, Gilbert and Adeline Olson and Clara Hjelle.

Memoriam
Orville Maidment passed away 2 years ago Sept. 22, 1984.

They say time heals all sorrow and helps you forget.
But so far time has proven how much
I miss you yet.
God gave me strength and courage
to face the blow,
But what it means to lose you no one will ever know.

Deeply loved and missed by wife Florence. 1t69c

Card of Thanks
We would like to express our sincere thanks to all who helped us bear the loss of our mother, grandmother and great-grandmother.

A special thanks to Pastor Bortnem for the comforting words and prayers at the funeral, and to the soloist and organist who provided the music. Also, thanks to Green Funeral home for the help and kindness you showed us.

A special word of thanks to Dr. Mestery and the nurses at Northwest Medical Center for taking such good care of our loved one.

Court File No. P-86-310
In Re: Estate of Delore Berard, Deceased.

NOTICE OF INFORMAL PROBATE OF WILL AND APPOINTMENT OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

Notice is hereby given, that an application for informal probate of the above named decedent's last will, dated January 16, 1974, has been filed with the Registrar herein, and the application has been granted informally probating such will. Any objections may be filed in the above named Court, and the same will be heard by the Court upon notice of hearing fixed for such purpose.

Notice is hereby further given that informal appointment of Edward Berard whose address is Route 4, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent has been made. Any heir devisee or other interested person may be entitled to appointment as personal representative or may object to the appointment of the personal representative and the personal representative is empowered to fully administer the estate including after 30 days from the date of issuance of his letters the power to sell encumber lease or distribute real estate unless objections thereto are filed with the Court (pursuant to Section 524.3-607) and the Court otherwise orders.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS — Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the office of the Middle River-Snake River Watershed District 453 North McKinley Street, Warren, Minnesota until 4:00 o'clock P.M. on September 17, 1986, for the rental of fully operated excavation equipment. Proposals are being requested for dozers, scrapers, graders, and crawler mounted draglines or backhoes. The draglines and backhoes must be equipped with a boom, bucket and counter weights appropriately matched for the type of machine. All equipment must be equipped with a servis recorder.

The works to be done consists of; but is not limited to, the clearing and disposal of trees and brush, the disposal of rocks, the construction of dikes, the grading of roadways, the leveling of spoilbanks, the installation of culverts, and the removal of sediment from drainage channels. The work required and the locations of the work will be designated by the engineer for the district.

The equipment must be modern and in good operating condition and furnished with capable and experienced operators. Deficient operations or maintenance which results in reduced production or poor workmanship will be cause for contract cancellation.

All equipment proposed will be considered and evaluated based on many factors including but not limited to the following: price, horsepower, machine rating, machine weight, track length, track width, track gauge, buckets available, boom lengths available and counterweights available.

Work will be paid by the hour and payment will be based on the time recorded on the Servis Recorder discs which must be turned over to the Engineer. Payments will be made on a monthly basis. The minimum hours per week will be 40 unless delayed by weather or equipment operating problems.

In addition to the payment for hourly work, the contractor will be eligible for a demobilization payment. The amount will be equivalent to 5 hours rental rate for each type of equipment authorized for use by the Engineer.

Demobilization payment will be included in the last payment for hourly work satisfactorily completed.

The District may cancel the contract at any time without cause by paying the demobilization payment.

The contractor may cancel the contract at any time without cause but forfeits the demobilization payment.

The type of equipment best suited for this project is dependent on the weather and other unknown job conditions. The district intends to rent equipment which in its opinion, will perform the required work at the least cost. Its evaluation factors will depend on conditions expected and encountered which will likely change along the course of the work. The District will release and rent different equipment from time to time as it deems necessary to economically perform the required work.

The contractor, in making this proposal, promises to furnish the equipment listed for the prices shown subject to its availability. He does not promise to make or keep the equipment available to the district. He understands, however, the equipment availability may be a factor in the district's evaluation of equipment.

The contractor will be required to furnish certificates showing that he has Workmans Compensation Insurance and Liability Insurance.

The Middle River-Snake River Watershed District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to award contracts to other than the apparent low bidder.

Dated at Warren, Minnesota this 22nd day of August, 1986.

Chancellor Agrees Northland Has Building Needs

Additional building needs at Northland community college in Thief River Falls are clear and area legislators are supportive, according to the assessment revealed by Gerald Christenson, chancellor of the Minnesota community college board, at a meeting with the NCC advisory board and faculty representatives on Tuesday.

Chancellor Christenson tempered his optimism for additional building at Northland by stating that such a program must come within the scope of the total community college program. But he reemphasized his beliefs in the community system of education and said he believes that the colleges have proved themselves by responding to needs in the past few years.

"Three years ago I was hearing a fair amount of comment around the Capitol and the department of education that there might be a need to close some campuses," he said. "I don't hear that kind of talk any more, and I think it's because the community colleges have shown that they are flexible and can adapt to demands for service as no other system of higher education can."

The chancellor used several sets of statistics in pointing out the importance of community colleges throughout the state. "Eighty per cent of the people who will be in the workforce in Minnesota in the year 2000 are already there," he said. "Today's high school graduate on the average will change his career field five times during his working life.

"The workforce is in need of constant upgrading and adaption, and the workers are not able to travel 200 miles and live in a dormitory to get the training they need. It is of great importance to all of them to have the colleges located where the people are. We need a system that can adapt to that kind of a world and the community college has that system."

Attention was called to Alliss Foundation grants which the community college system has received to help students get started. Funding is available to most people who have no bachelor's degree, are over 25 years of age and have been out of school for seven years or more. The funds cover tuition and books for such a student to explore going back to school.

"Last year we had 5,726 students enrolled under this program, 78 per cent of whom were women," Christenson said. "The average age of the students was 35 and their cumulative grade point average was 3.27 — a B average! They are wonderful students."

The chancellor also cited the adaptability of the colleges by noting that community colleges in Minnesota have had all-time high enrollments while high school graduates have declined by 25 per cent in the past eight years. "We're meeting the needs of the graduates who want to immediately go on to college," he said, "but we are also providing what the older population needs to increase educational opportunities."

"Twenty years ago 36 per cent of our community college enrollment statewide was female," he said. "Today it is 60 per cent. Twenty years ago only 15 per cent of our students were part-time students. Now they comprise 55 per cent of our enrollment. Forty per cent of Minnesota community college students are now older than 25. We have placed a special emphasis on serving minorities and they have responded to that emphasis."

The key to the future is the response to a need to adapt and be flexible, Christenson said. "There is no educational system more able to adapt than the community college system."

Review Insurance Needs Before Renewing Policy

If you hastily bought homeowner's insurance just before closing on a new home, or if you renew your policy without a careful review, then you could be in for a shock when it comes time to collect. Increased liability risk, rising construction costs, home improvements, and inflation should be considered and reflected in your insurance coverage.

When you review your insurance needs, the Minnesota Society of CPAs recommends that you ask these questions.

How much coverage do I need? With basic coverage, if a fire or other catastrophe destroys your home, you should be insured for the replacement cost, which is enough to rebuild the home. However, homeowners are usually required to carry only 80 per cent of the replacement cost.

Let's say property values in your neighborhood have gone up sharply, or you added an extra room to your home and didn't increase your coverage. If your coverage has slipped below the 80 per cent level, say to 60 per cent, that is the percentage you will be paid if something happens to your home.

Do I need extra liability protection? People who have substantial assets to protect and who could be vulnerable to lawsuits might consider an "umbrella" liability policy that provides up to $1 million or more in protection.

Are my valuable belongings adequately covered? Homeowner's policies cover the contents of a home up to 50 per cent of the insured amount on the house, minus depreciation. Look into a personal articles rider to insure expensive items.

Am I covered for theft away from home? Generally, yes, but check your policy for clauses covering suitcases and other personal property lost or stolen while traveling.

What if I plan to rent my home? Find out how much of your coverage for fire and theft extends to renters.

Am I covered for floods? Homeowners policies do not cover damage caused by floods or earthquakes. If you live in an area where such perils could happen, you may be eligible for separate property coverage.

Additional coverage will cost you more, but you can save money if you choose to increase your deductible. Another way of saving money is to install burglar and fire alarms.

CPAs suggest that once you have reviewed your needs and have made appropriate changes in your policy, be prepared to file a claim by keeping records safe — in a safe deposit box or at another location.

Stylists Attend Design Workshop

Four stylists from Hairlines Unlimited in Thief River Falls recently attended a three-day workshop in Fargo, ND, conducted by the Martin Parson design team on tour from the comapny's academy in Toronto, Ont., Canada.

Theresa Blazejewski, Marcia Kalinowski, Irene Hanson and Debbie Torgerson studied hair design and technique cutting along with facial analysis while working with both men and women models.

CHANCELLOR Gerald Christenson of the Minnesota community college board (left) was a visitor in Thief River Falls Tuesday and visited with Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls following his talk to the Northland community college staff and advisory board. Christenson noted that community colleges are best able to adjust to meet the changing needs of today's and tomorrow's workforce by providing upgraded education.

MN Agri-Growth Council Supports Senate Measure

Citing the loss of international export markets to subsidized foreign competition, the Minnesota Agri-Growth council board of directors today called on the members of the Minnesota congressional delegation to bring pressure to bear on President Reagan regarding a new piece of proposed farm legislation.

The measure, passed last week by the United States Senate, calls for adding the Soviet Union and other Eastern-bloc nations to the government's "export enhancement" agricultural program. The proposal has pitted Secretary of State George Schultz and state department "hardliners" against farm-state lawmakers led by Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole (R-Kansas).

The Agri-Growth action urges Minnesota members of the U.S. House of Representatives to follow the Senate action. A House bill, opening up the subsidy program to the Russians, was approved by a House agriculture subcommittee.

The statewide agricultural group also calls on the state House and Senate members to form a coalition with other farm-state members of the Congress to call on the President to support the legislation and to direct the department of state to stop its efforts to cripple or kill the proposal.

The Agri-Growth action joins with a similar resolution passed by the states of the Midwest Association of State Departments of Agriculture (MASDA). That resolution, which also urges support of the export enhancement program and calls on the delegations of the MASDA member-states to meet with Reagan to immediately implement the program, originated through combined efforts of the Minnesota department of agriculture and the Minnesota Agri-Growth council.

The states belonging to MASDA and participating in the resolution are Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, North and South Dakota, Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska.

The Minnesota Agri-Growth council is a statewide agricultural umbrella organization representing the interests of the Minnesota agricultural industry from the farmer's fields through the processor to the consumer's table.

Rules Needed For Children Who Are At Home Alone

Do you have guidelines for your family's safety? Have you worked out and practiced specific solutions for your children in case emergencies arise? The May issue of "PTA Today," the national PTA's magazine, offers parents suggestions for protecting children from harm.

"Safety is a chief concern for all parents, no matter what age their children may be," says Joan Bergstrom, professor of the department of professional studies in early childhood at Wheelock College, Boston, Mass. Parents want to know that children can protect themselves from possible dangers in the home and in the community, she adds.

With the increasing number of children at home alone while parents are away, it's necessary to establish family rules and guidelines for safety. According to Bergstrom, the best way to prepare children for being alone is to start by leaving them alone for short periods of time. Parents should make sure children understand how long they will be gone and where they will be. Here are additional suggestions:

— Make, discuss and periodically review security rules for your home: lists of emergency telephone numbers, basic household procedures for fire, first-aid and personal safety.

— Post a list of people to call and places children can go in case of an emergency.

— Discuss family members' responsibility for keeping each other informed about where they can be reached at all times. Write notes or make phone calls.

— Generate and post a list of things that children might do when they are at home alone. Otherwise, the time may seem depressing, endless and lonely to children.

A major concern of all parents is strangers' approaching their children when they are alone in the community. Since there is no commonly agreed upon definition of who is a stranger, Bergstrom advises parents to have their children ask themselves three questions: 1) Do I know this person's name, 2) Have I seen this person before, and 3) Do I know what this person does in the community? If the answer to any of these questions is "No," the person is a stranger.

Bergstrom, author of "School's Out — Now What?" believes that the best way to teach safety measures is to involve the family in safety exercises.

Information On Winnipeg Seminar Handed Out Sat.

Information on an upcoming nuclear waste management seminar, "Challenges to Nuclear Waste Management," to be held September 12 through 14 in Winnipeg will be handed out at the Northland parking lot in Thief River Falls from 9:30 to 11 a.m. September 6. Plans are also being made for a caravan to leave from Thief River Falls to area communitites and then on to Winnipeg this Saturday.

Purpose of the caravan is to increase awareness and provide information on the seminar. A spokesman for the sponsoring group, the Coalition of Canadians and Americans, added that he believes the nuclear waste problem has not gone away from this area. He believes people who want to store nuclear waste in the area will be back because they are currently drilling to test the soil and rock just north of Winnipeg.

The caravan will travel to Crookston where it will pass out information from 12:30 to 2 p.m., Grand Forks from 3 to 5 p.m., Warren at 6 p.m. and then meet at the border on highway 29 at 11 a.m. Sunday, where they will travel to Winnipeg.

Seven Students From Area Earn UND Scholarships

Seven area students have been selected to receive scholarships to attend the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks for the 1986-87 academic school year, according to Gerald F. Hamerlik, dean of enrollment services.

Scholarship recipients are: Erika Treitline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Treitline of Plummer, recipient of the J.F.T. O'Connor scholarship; Timothy Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Peterson of Red Lake Falls, and graduate of Lincoln high school, recipient of the J.F.T. O'Connor scholarship; Charlene Fillmore, daughter of Thomas Fillmore and Ione Fillmore of Middle River, recipient of the Elizabeth J. Larimore and Sadie P. Mathews scholarship;

Also, Kirsten Freeman, daughter of Hal and Diane Freeman of Thief River Falls, recipient of the Lars Haugen scholarship; Deborah Johnson, wife of Curtis R. Johnson of Thief River Falls, recipient of the Neil C. Macdonald scholarship; Michelle Trontvet, daughter of Ronald and Carolyn Trontvet of Thief River Falls, recipient of the Elizabeth J. Larimore and Sadie P. Mathews scholarship; and Cynthia Ness, daughter of Richard and Gloria Ness of Viking, recipient of the Elizabeth J. Larimore and Sadie P. Mathews scholarship.

The Lars Haugen scholarship was established in 1965 to provide financial assistance to students with integrity, dependability, academic promise and citizenship. Preference is given to students from Traill county, ND. Haugen was an infant when his family moved from Norway to North Dakota. He farmed for several years near Cummings, ND. Haugen died in 1964.

Elizabeth J. Larimore and Sadie P. Mathews scholarship is awarded to students chosen for past academic performance. Elizabeth Larimore was one of the earliest settlers of the Larimore, ND, area. Her sister, Sadie, graduated from the university in 1900. She taught in Minot, ND and was a high school principal.

Neil C. Macdonald scholarship is awarded to student chosen for high academic achievement, character, dependability and leadership. The scholarship was established by UND benefactor Chester Fritz in honor of Macdonald who was Fritz's high school superintendent at Lidgerwood, ND. Regarded as a national authority on rural education, Macdonald served as North Dakota superintendent of public instruction from 1917 to 1919.

J.F.T. O'Connor scholarship is awarded to students chosen for high academic ability and leadership. O'Connor, a 1907 UND graduate, was a prominent judge and attorney. O'Connor was comptroller of currency during Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration. He later was a federal district judge in California. He died in 1949.

Drinking Drivers Lowest Ever In 1985 MN Crashes

Number of drivers killed in 1985 Minnesota traffic crashes who have been drinking dropped 10 per cent in 1985, the lowest level ever in state records. The 1985 Minnesota Motor Vehicle Crash Facts book released by the Office of traffic safety of the Minnesota department of public safety reports this and other traffic safety information.

In 1985, 47 per cent of the drivers killed had been drinking. A higher percentage of 16- to 20-year-old drivers killed had been drinking than any other five-year age category, the study revealed. However, the 26- to 30-year-olds showed the highest percentage of legally intoxicated (.10 blood alcohol content or higher) drivers killed.

A total of 35,383 people were arrested for drunk driving last year in Minnesota, and over 40,000 alcohol related driver license revocations occurred.

Also according to the report, one out of every 15 licensed drivers in Minnesota was involved in a traffic crash in 1985, resulting in 610 deaths and over 45,000 injuries. The total economic loss from motor vehicle accidents in the state was over $480 million.

Other facts reported in the book are:

— The largest age group of fatalities representing 18 per cent of the total was the 15- to 19-year-old group.

— The most common contributing factors cited by law enforcement officers were illegal or unsafe speed and driver inattention.

— Fatal crashes were most likely to occur on two lane undivided two-way roads, with the largest percentage (46) occurring on trunk highways.

— Most fatal crashes occurred between 4 and 5 p.m. except on Saturdays and Sundays when they most often occurred between 1 and 2 a.m.

— Of the children under four who were injured in crashes, 58 per cent were not in safety restraints. Of the six children under four who were killed, four were not restrained.

— Eighty-nine per cent of motor vehicle occupants killed and 81 per cent of those injured were not wearing safety restraints.

Corn, Hay Crop Expected To Show Record Yields

August 1 crop report shows record yield for corn, alfalfa and other hay, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics service.

The August 1 forecast is based on conditions and estimated yields reported by farmers, objective yield surveys and field observations. Yield may change later in the growing season depending on weather conditions. This report does not account for any changes in weather conditions or other factors affecting the crop outlook which may have occurred since August 1. The first forecast for sunflowers will be released on October 10.

The state's corn for grain production is forecast at 695.4 million bushels, down four per cent from last year. Yield is estimated at 122 bushels per acre, up seven bushels from the 1985 yield.

Soybeans are forecast at 168.3 million bushels, up five per cent from 1985. Yield at 34 bushels would be up two bushels from last year.

The spring wheat crop is estimated at 126 million bushels, down three per cent from a year earlier. The expected output per acre of 45 bushels would be 10 bushels under 1985.

Expected durum wheat output at 1.56 million bushels is doen nine per cent from last year. Yield is forecast at 46 bushels, down six from last year.

Oat production is forecast at 52.7 million bushels, down 32 per cent from 1985. Yield is estimated at 62 bushels, down eight bushels from 1985.

Barley growers expect a crop of 64 million bushels, down 10 per cent from last year. The yield of 64 bushels per acre would be two less than 1985.

Dry edible beans are estimated at 915,000 carat weight, up five per cent from 1985.

The summer potato crop is forecast at 1,705,000 carat weight, down five per cent from last year. Estimated yield at 275 carat weight per acre is the same as last year.

Alfalfa hay production is estimated at 7.41 million tons, up 23 per cent from 1985. Yield at 3.8 tons per acre is up .5 ton from 1985. Other hay at 2.40 million tons is up 21 per cent from last year. Yield at 2.4 tons per acre is up .2 ton from 1985.

The sugarbeet crop is estimated at 5.32 million tons, up five per cent from 1985. Yield is estimated at 17 tons per acre, down 1.4 tons from last year.

WE WELCOME YOU!

On Their Way To. . .

Lisa and Jeff bound for class.

Is it Chemistry they have next period? Or Political Science? Or are they on their way to History?

Our photographer neglected to find out—but that doesn't really matter.

We are all on our way to History. That is the record of men and women—their beliefs and values and aspirations—and what they eventually do with their lives.

Whether Lisa and Jeff will be facing tomorrow together or separately, they have come to college with a common purpose. They want to become to the fullest extent possible the persons God intends them to be.

For millions of our young people that is their earnest, reverent aim. And Sunday, when there are no classes, they'll be on their way to Church.

Crime Index Shows Rise In Offenses For 1985 Reporting Year

Final 1985 crime statistics released by FBI Director William H. Webster show that all crime index offenses rose in volume from the previous year. Following three consecutive years of decline, the index total increased to 12.4 million offenses in 1985, an average rate of 5,207 crimes per 100,000 United States inhabitants. The number of offenses was five per cent above the 1984 figure and 10 per cent higher than the 1976 level. It was seven per cent lower than in 1981 when crime was at its all-time high.

Figures from nearly 16,000 city, county and state law enforcement agencies provided the basis for the annual evaluation of crime issued today in the uniform crime reporting publication, "Crime in the United States." During 1985, the participating agencies represented approximately 231 million United States inhabitants or 97 per cent of the total population.

Geographically, total crime index trends for 1984 versus 1985 revealed rises of nine per cent in the Southern states, six per cent in the Western states, and two per cent in the Northeastern states. The Midwestern states registered virtually no change for the two annual periods.

Law enforcement agencies in the nation's cities registered a four per cent crime index increase from 1984 to 1985. Those in suburban counties recorded a six per cent increase and in rural counties, a two per cent rise.

Nationwide, the violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault collectively increased four percent in volume during 1985 and represented 11 per cent of the total crime index offenses reported to law enforcement. The property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft and motor vehicle theft, up five per cent jointly, accounted for the remainder.

Considering the index offenses individually, murder was up two per cent; forcible rape, four per cent; robbery, three per cent; and aggravated assault, six per cent. Burglary increased three per cent; larceny-theft, five per cent; motor vehicle theft, seven per cent; and arson, three per cent.

Five and 10-year comparisons showed the 1985 violent crime total down three per cent from 1981 but 32 per cent higher than in 1976. The property crime total was eight per cent below the 1981 level but seven per cent above that of 1976.

Violent and property crime rates, which relate offense volumes to population, rose from 1984 to 1985. The violent crime rate, 556 per 100,000 inhabitants, was up three per cent, while the property crime rate, 4,650, was four per cent higher.

Overall crime index rates were highest in the nation's cities and lowest in rural counties. There were 5,921 crime index offenses per 100,000 people in metropolitan areas; 4,580 per 100,000 inhabitants of cities outside metropolitan areas; and 1,803 offenses per 10,000 rural area residents.

Twenty-one per cent of all index crimes reported during 1985 were cleared by law enforcement. The overall clearance rate for violent crime was 48 per cent, and for property crime, 18 per cent. Reporting agencies recorded the highest clearance rate (72 per cent) for murder, while the lowest was for burglary, 14 per cent.

The most successful clearance rate for crime index offenses was registered in the Southern states with 22 per cent. Following were the Western states with 21 per cent and the Northwestern and Midwestern states each with 19 per cent.

In 1985, an estimated 11.9 million arrests for all criminal infractions except traffic violations were recorded nationwide, an increase of three per cent when compared to the 1984 total. During the same time period, adult arrests were up two per cent, and those of persons under 18 years of age rose five per cent. Nearly one-fourth, or 2.8 million, of the total arrests during 1985 were for driving under the influence and drunkenness.

Nationally, the 1985 arrest rate per 100,000 inhabitants was 5,062. When viewing the four regions of the country, the arrest rate for the Western states was 5,902; for the Southern states, 5,191; for the Northeastern states, 5,110; and for the Midwestern states, 3,966.

Arrest statistics showed that persons under 25 years of age comprised 50 per cent of all arrestees nationwide. They made up 62 per cent of the persons arrested for index offenses, 50 per cent of those arrested for violent crimes, and 65 per cent of those arrested for property crimes.

Four of every five arrestees throughout the nation were males. Both male and female arrests were on the rise from 1984 to 1985. Arrests of males increased two per cent, while those of females were up six per cent.

Of all persons arrested in 1985, 72 per cent were white, 27 per cent black and the remainder were other races. There were eight murders for every 100,000 people in the United States during 1985. When compared to the previous year, the 1985 volume (18,976) was two per cent higher nationwide, in cities, and in suburban and rural counties. Increases were recorded in all regions except the Northeastern states where murder declined two per cent. Seventy-four of every 100 victims were males and 56 of every 100 were white. Firearms were the predominant murder weapons.

Victim and offender relationships showed that nearly three of every five murders committed in 1985 were perpetrated by relatives or persons acquainted with the victims. By circumstance, 39 per cent of all murders resulted from arguments, 20 per cent were proven or suspected to have occurred in conjunction with felonious activities such as robbery, arson, etc., 18 per cent resulted from miscellaneous non-felony activities, and 23 per cent from unknown circumstances.

Nationally in 1985, the highest clearance rate among index crimes was for murder, 72 per cent. Of all persons arrested for murder last year, the 18 to 24-year age group showed the greatest involvement, accounting for 33 per cent of the total arrests for this offense; 41 per cent of all murder arrestees were 25 years of age. Fifty per cent were white, 48 per cent black and the remainder, other races.

In 1985, forcible rapes numbered an estimated 87,340 offenses. Eighty per cent were rapes by force, and the remainder were attempts or assaults to commit forcible rape. A comparison of 1984 and 1985 figures showed the volume nationwide, in cities and in suburban counties, rose four per cent. In rural counties, the increase was nine per cent. For the same 2-year period, forcible rapes were also up in all four geographic regions of the country.

By uniform crime reporting definition, the victims of forcible rape are always females, and in 1985, an estimated 71 of every 100,000 females in the nation were reported rape victims. The national clearance rate for forcible rape was 54 per cent. There were an estimated 36,970 arrests for forcible rape in 1985. Of the arrestees for this offense, 45 per cent were under the age of 25, with 30 per cent in the 18- to 24-year age group. Fifty-two per cent of those arrested were white and 46 per cent were black.

Robberies reported to law enforcement increased three per cent in volume from 1984 to 1985. The 497,874 offenses accounted for a total estimated national loss of $313 million, or an average of $628 per incident. Regionally, the number of robberies fell only in the Midwest which recorded a three per cent decline.

The national rate of 209 robberies per 100,000 people was two per cent higher than in 1984. The highest rate — 965 per 100,000 inhabitants — was in cities with populations over 1 million. Strong-arm tactics were used in 42 per cent of all robberies last year. Thirty-five per cent were committed with firearms, 13 per cent with knives or other cutting instruments, and the remainder with other dangerous weapons. Over half of the offenses were robberies on streets and highways. In 1985, 1 of every 4 robberies was cleared.

Ninety-two per cent of the robbery arrestees were males and 65 per cent were under 25 years or age. Sixty-two per cent were black and 37 per cent were white.

The 723,246 estimated aggravated assaults in the nation represented a six per cent increase over the 1984 total. Increases were recorded in all regions and areas. Twenty-one per cent of all aggravated assaults were committed through the use of firearms, 23 per cent with knives or cutting instruments, 31 per cent with some other weapon, and 25 per cent with personal weapons (hands, fists, feet).

Law enforcement agencies cleared 62 per cent of the aggravated assaults coming to their attention. There were an estimated 305,390 arrests for aggravated assault in 1985. Arrests of males outnumbered those of females by six to one. Of the arrestees, 58 per cent were white, 40 per cent were black and the remainder were of other races.

Nearly 3.1 million burglary offenses were reported to law enforcement agencies across the country during 1985, three per cent higher than the 1984 total.

Comprising 56 per cent of the index total and 62 per cent of all property crimes, larceny-thefts numbered an estimated 6,926,380 offenses in 1985. The larceny-theft rate in 1985 was 2,901 per 100,000 inhabitants nationwide. Average losses were $393 per incident, with a total national loss due to larceny-theft estimated at $2.7 billion. Of all persons arrested for larceny-theft, 47 per cent were under 21 years of age and 67 per cent were white.

An estimated one of every 159 registered motor vehicles was stolen during 1985, and the national total of 1,102,862 offenses was seven per cent above the 1984 level. The volume increased 12 per cent in the suburban counties and six per cent in both the cities and rural counties. Of the motor vehicles stolen in 1985, 75 per cent were automobiles, 14 per cent were trucks or buses, and the remainder were other types. An estimated $5.1 billion national loss was due to motor vehicle theft last year.

As of October 31, 1985, the nation's law enforcement community reported employing 619,634 full-time personnel. According to 12,151 city, county and state law enforcement agencies, there were 470,678 sworn officers and 148,596 civilian employees. These agencies, representing over 224 million United States inhabitants, showed an average of 2.1 officers for every 1,000 population.

Regionally, the Northeast recorded the highest rate of officers to population, 2.4 per 1,000 inhabitants. The South registered 2.1 per 1,000 people; the Midwest, 2.0; and the West, 1.7.

There were 78 law enforcement officers feloniously killed in the line of duty during 1985, six more lives lost than in 1984. The increase in 1985 followed annual declines in both 1983 and 1984.

BUDGET Stretching TRAVEL TIPS

BRIDGING THE BARGAINING BARRIER

Bargaining with a car dealer in town is a vastly different experience from talking down the price of a silk blouse in the middle of a Korean marketplace. If you bone up on local customs before you leave home—you can bring back many bargains and much more besides.

Many people who travel to Korea have learned that behavior that is appropriate at home may not be in this Asian country. For example, while it's perfectly permissible to bargain with the seller in small shops and open air markets, it's not done in department stores there any more than it is here.

If you're visiting one of the open-air markets like the one near the South and East Gates in Seoul, you can take advantage of bargains on such items as silk and tweed from a nearby island, amethyst and topaz, which are mined in Korea, inlaid lacquerware, brassware, embroidery, costume dolls, and grass rugs. How to figure out how much everything costs? The unit of Korean currency is the Won. Though the exchange rate is subject to change with market fluctuations, the approximate conversion rate is one U.S. dollar equals about 890 won.

Keeping that in mind, and a calculator in hand, make your way through the marketplace. When you find an item you think you would like to purchase, figure out how much you're willing to pay, offer that price and be aware that you may need to bargain further.

In Korea, bargaining is done in the open air market but not the department stores. Tipping is not done at all.

The cultural difference helps travelers save money another way. tipping is not a custom in Korea. In fact, many hotel employees wear badges that say, "We are proud not to accept tips," and they expect travelers to act accordingly.

You can learn more about stretching travel dollars in Korea from free leaflets available through travel agents or the Korea National Tourism Corp., 510 W. Sixth Street, Suite 323, Los Angeles, CA 90014.

Nu-A-Fresh
Nu-A-Fresh
Sweet Acidophilus
LOWFAT MILK
HALF GALLON

Cass-Clay's
Nu-A-Fresh
Milk.

What Is Nu-A-Fresh?
Nu-A-Fresh is also known as Sweet Acidophilus™ Milk. It's homogenized, pasteurized, and has the same basic nutritional properties and delicious taste as other lowfat milks.

The difference? Nu-A-Fresh contains the beneficial culture lactobacillus acidophilus, which assists the body in maintaining intestinal health, and can also help the body recover from certain intestinal disorders.

While Sweet Acidophilus Milk will not cure afflictions such as stomach ulcers or diverticulitis, it may help eliminate some of the discomfort that accompanies these ailments.

Who Can Drink Nu-A-Fresh?
Nu-A-Fresh is safe and healthful for everyone, including babies.

For example, testimonials from mothers indicate that Sweet Acidophilus™ Milk has helped many babies recover from infant diarrhea.

And older folks using laxatives or antibiotics may also benefit greatly from Nu-A-Fresh in the relief of digestive distress, such as diarrhea and gas.

In fact, anyone who likes milk can drink Nu-A-Fresh for its nutritional qualities and delicious taste.

Nu-A-Fresh: For Health And Flavor
Our Nu-A-Fresh Sweet Acidophilus™ Milk is a refreshing drink for the whole family — adults as well as children — so enjoy it often!

SAVING TAX DOLLARS

REDUCING DEFENSE COSTS

By Robert L. Kirk

Kirk

Many things about space and America's defense are more encouraging than many people realize. For example:

- The defense equipment of this nation is unmatched—and the envy of the world.
- The U.S. has achieved world leadership in the commercial jet transport market.
- We've led man's use of space.

There is opportunity for improvement, however, which will increase efficiency and save tax dollars. It lies in less regulation. Defense procurement has become an extremely complex, burdensome, time-consuming and conflicting process.

America's requirements, development, acquisition and fielding times have gone from a few years to many years for no good reason. Our weapon systems often cost too much, take too long to develop, and sometimes incorporate obsolete technology by the time they are fielded—and much of the blame lies with too much bureaucracy, too many levels of review, too much regulation, and too much effort to induce conformity at whatever cost.

The strength of our system—as compared with that of the Soviets—is that it has been based on flexibility and innovation through reliance on numerous qualified private sector firms. Ironically, one of the dangers we face, if we continue to impose more and more regulation in a vain and misguided effort to achieve an error free system, is that we will destroy industry's ability to innovate in technology and management.

Another major problem is the obsession with individual elements of cost rather than the overall price—or more appropriately—value received.

The procurement system should concentrate more on the value the government expects to receive and the price it expects to pay rather than individual elements of the contractors' cost. We need to put the emphasis on price, quality and performance.

We need to give industry and government program managers a job to do and let them go do it. Instead of glorifying the role of auditors and checkers, we need to encourage the doers.

- Mr. Kirk is President and Chief Operating Officer of the LTV Corporation, a diversified operating company involved in steel, aerospace/defense and energy products. He is also chairman of the Board of Governors of the Aerospace Industries Association.

Care Suggested For Use Of Credit Cards

There's an old song that parodies the woes of a credit society about a man who financed his whole life for "a dollar down and a dollar a week." When he finally stopped buying and added up the tab he discovered he was a candidate for the poor farm. Since that song was penned, while the poor farm has gone the way of the horse and buggy, the use and availability of consumer credit has become a norm for most of us and for some the "credit card blues" is a song sung monthly.

Nearly everyone has at least one credit card and for many, plastic is a way of life. With the ever increasing use of credit cards it is essential that consumers understand the obligations they incur through credit transactions. Interestingly, despite the widespread use of credit cards and the high cost involved, it is apparent there is considerable confusion over what those cards are all about.

First of all you should understand that credit is not a right, it is rather an obligation and it can be impressive. Credit cards are big business. In their promotional materials credit card companies tout the ease and convenience of using their cards. However, that convenience comes at a cost. It is estimated that, with annual fees, finance charges and discounts to participating merchants, credit cards cost Americans upwards of $20 billion per year. Consequently, it makes good sense that just as one shops around for any other consumer product, you should shop around for the credit card that's right for your needs.

There are several different kinds of credit cards of which one or more may be appropriate. There are bank cards such as VISA and MasterCard with which you can purchase goods and services or borrow cash. These cards usually charge an annual fee and they enable you to make payments on account over an extended period. Another type is the "travel and entertainment" card such as American Express. These cards are intended primarily for convenience and generally require payment in full at the time of billing. Finally, there are retail cards earmarked for purchases at specific department stores or gasoline companies. Generally these cards also allow for time payments although the terms of payment can vary considerably from one store to another.

Perhaps the most important thing to be aware of in shopping for a credit card, particularly a bank card, is that you can shop for a credit card. Many people simply pick up a credit application from their bank assuming all cards are pretty much the same. They may look the same and they are accepted by merchants in the same way regardless of where they came from. It should be understood, however, that organizations like VISA and MasterCard are information processors; they do not issue credit cards. Some 15,000 individual financial institutions throughout the United States issue the cards with each setting its own fees and credit terms. It should be apparent that, with this large number of issuers competing for our credit dollar, it can pay to shop around.

In shopping for a bank card the first consideration should be your personal buying habits and payment ability. Since the annual fees and finance charges imposed by bank credit card issuers will vary considerably, it is wise to select a credit card suited to the way you intend to use it.

For example, some credit cards advertise "no annual fee" which may seem attractive. However, those cards might also impose a transaction fee each time you use the card or may have a relatively high interest rate that starts charging from the time of purchase. If you expect to use the card frequently or carry a balance with installment payments this kind of card may be more costly than it first appears.

A primary consideration should be the finance charge which can range from 10 per cent to 22 per cent. Also take account of whether or not the card allows for a grace period. If the card has a grace period and you always pay your balance in full, the amount of finance charge may not be of any consequence. On the other hand, if finance charges accrue from the date of purchase or if you normally pay only the minimum payment due, a high interest card can add considerably to the cost of credit.

Finally, just a note on department store and gasoline company credit cards. While there are usually no annual fees associated with this kind of credit card, keep in mind that too much of a good thing can be dangerous. If you remember that a payment is due for each card you use, you can avoid those "credit card blues."

Minnesota Cold Weather Rule Is Explained

Minnesota's cold weather rule is in effect from October 15 through April 15 each year. Although the "rule" does not prohibit disconnection of utility service during that period, it does provide a number of consumer protections to help utility customers avoid an interruption of service during the heating season.

Specifically, the cold weather rule sets out special procedures that govern the disconnection of residential utility services affecting primary heating sources. The rule applies only to regulated power companies and it has been defined broadly enough to include electricity shut-offs even when the only electrical aspect of a heating system is the thermostat.

Bear in mind the rule applies only to utilities regulated by the public utility commission. Many Minnesotans are served by power cooperatives or muncicipal utilities which are not regulated. While many of these companies, as a matter of policy, have adopted the rule they are not required to do so. Also, fuel oil suppliers are not considered utilities and they can refuse delivery for nonpayment.

The cold weather rule prohibits disconnection of utility services between October 15 and April 15 but only under certain conditions. In addition to a disconnection affecting the primary heat source, a utility customer must demonstrate that (1) he or she is unable to pay, (2) the customer has no overdue utility bills from the previous October 15 and (3) he or she is willing and able to negotiate a payment schedule with the utility that takes into consieration both the past due amount and current usage.

Prior to disconnecting services, utility companies are required to serve a customer with a disconnection notice. Along with that notice should be information about one's rights under the cold weather rule and an inability to pay form. That form must be filled out and returned to the utility immediately or a service disconnection may result.

Once the inability to pay form is submitted a payment schedule can be negotiated. The payment size should be reasonable and take into account not only past and current utility use, but also the customer's financial circumstances. If a suitable payment schedule cannot be agreed upon the customer may appeal to the public utility commission (PUC) for its determination.

In the event a utility believes a customer should not be allowed protection under the rule, the utility can appeal to the PUC. In order to determine whether or not the customer qualifies, the PUC may require additional information on his or her financial status. It is important to note that one's service cannot be disconnected until the PUC makes its decision.

It is important to remember that failure to file the forms or appeals as outlined above will likely result in a service disconnection. If this occurs you may be liable for a reconnection fee as much as $30 to $40 or more. Moreover, the utility company can insist on full payment of your past due bill, as well as require a substantial deposit before restoring service. This can be a very costly proposition and, as such, to assure one's protection under the cold weather rule, it is essential the above steps are followed.

If you have further questions about the Cold Weather Rule, you may contact the PUC's Consumer Complaint Division, Room 780 American Center Building, 160 East Kellogg Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55101, (612) 296-7126, toll-free 1-800-652-9747; or the Minnesota Attorney General's Office, 1100 Bremer Tower, 7th Place and Minnesota Street, St. Paul, MN 55101, (612) 296-9412.

Contract For Deed Is Popular Real Estate System

If you've been in the real estate market recently you may have encountered the contract for deed as a financing option. Although mortgage rates have declined recently, the contract for deed remains a popular method of "alternative financing."

If you're thinking about entering such a deal, however, it's important that you know how the contract for deed works and the rights and responsibilities you and your fellow contract signers assume.

The contract for deed is essentially an agreement between you and the owner of the home you want to buy that he or she will finance all or a portion of the purchase price. In effect, the homeowner acts as your banker, loaning you the necessary money" (in the form of a promissory note) to be paid back at an agreed upon rate of interest in monthly installments for whatever number of years you agree to. Often, a contract will call for one large final payment, sometimes referred to as a "balloon payment."

When you have made all the payments required by the contract, the seller must then convey the property to you by executing and delivering a deed. A contract for deed, like other interests in real estate, must be promptly recorded with the appropriate county recording office so that your interest in the property is protected. In fact, state law now requires that a contract for deed be recorded within six months of its signing.

Occasionally, a buyer will default on a contract for deed because he or she can't meet the payments required. The effect of a default may be significant for both the seller and the buyer. If you, the buyer, are in default, the seller may immediately serve you with a termination notice. The notice must be written in conformance with detailed requirements of Minnesota law. Essentially, the notice gives you a specified number of days from the date the notice is served on you to either (1) pay to the seller the amount of money in default, plus certain costs (these costs may even include an amount for attorney's fees and a penalty of two per cent of the amount in default), or (2) obtain a court order suspending the termination of the contract until a court order suspending the termination of the contract until after a trial, hearing or settlement. The number of days allowed to correct the default or obtain relief from the court varies from 30 to 90 days, depending on when the contract for deed was entered into and the percentage of the purchase price you've paid off.

If you fail to pay the required amount and fail to obtain relief from the court within the time allowed, the contract for deed will terminate at the end of the time specified. If termination occurs, you will lose all the money you have paid on the contract, you may lose your right to assert any claims or defenses that you might have, and you will be evicted.

A contract for deed can be a complicated legal matter for both sellers and buyers, particularly when the consequences of a default are considered. Since the case law and the statutes are not clear on the many issues which can arise, an attorney should be consulted before anyone enters into such an agreement.

For general information about contracts for deeds, contact the Attorney General's Commerce Division, 1100 Bremer Tower, Seventh Place at Minnesota Street, St. Paul, MN 55101, (612) 296-9412.

In fiscal year 1985, coal mining fatalities numbered 102, up from 90 in fiscal 1984 and the recordbreaking low of 76 in fiscal 1983. This total, however, is the third lowest number of fatalities recorded in the history of coal mining. Further, 27 of the 102 fatalities occurred in the Wilberg Mine disaster in Utah in December 1984, the Labor Department's annual report said.

Education Is Major Election Issue

Following editorial is from the Duluth News-Tribune and Herald:

There's a tendency to yawn as candidates issue summer position papers, especially when a governor hopeful talks of education reform since so much of this is logically the province of local school boards.

But George Latimer, the St. Paul mayor and DFL candidate for governor, had some important things to say on the topic.

Basically, he wants us to reward teachers better but demand more of them — giving them a bigger role in running our schools.

The candidate also wants to reform the state system of paying school costs. He thinks our present system is drifting away from a goal of equal education in all our districts — big or small, rich or poor. And he feels local school budgets have been hurt by uncertainty over levels of state support.

We think so too, and we like what Latimer is saying about education reform.

This is not an endorsement of Latimer's candidacy. After all, Gov. Rudy Perpich has made education reform a focus of his administration. And the Independent-Republican candidates also have thoughts on education worth listening to.

But we like the idea of considering education reform while our schools are in hiatus. Most of us agree that few things are more important than educating our youngsters. So let's talk — and think — about that before the September 9 primary elections are upon us.

When we decide that day who moves on to the November elections, their views on schools should be high in our concerns.

Do You Wonder Why?

It is a well-known fact in the agricultural areas of the country that farmers are having a difficult time making a living at best and are facing economic disaster in too many cases. And farmers in dire straits are wondering why there seems to be so little effort on their behalf in the halls of government.

All it takes is one quick look at population figures to get a good idea of one of the major problems. Only 2.2 per cent of the nation's population — one out of every 45 people in the nation today — lives on a farm. The farm population of the United States has dropped seven per cent from 1984-85 figures and now stands at only 5.36 millon people.

To a politician looking at reelection, even in a predominantly rural district, and certainly to a salaried bureaucrat, that small percentage of the nation's voters warrants scarcely any attention at all. Not only are the numbers of farmers small, they are politically, economically and philosophically divided. They exercise little control over what they produce and even less over what they sell. Politically speaking, they are impotent.

Even the geographic split of the farm population works against the farmer. Almost half of the nation's farm population lives in the midwest and 32 per cent in the south. The west has 14 per cent of the farm population and only six per cent is in the northeast where much of the nation's industry, urbanization and federal governance is concentrated.

Farmers can never expect to be a major force as long as they will produce all the food that the nation needs at whatever price the nation is willing to pay. Given all the cards stacked against them, should farmers wonder why their pleas fall on seemingly deaf ears?

Ethanol Adds Up

In a recent letter to the Minnesota Corn Growers association, president F. James McDonald of General Motors stated that, "starting with the 1980 model year, General Motors has informed its new vehicle purchasers that the use of ethanol-containing gasoline is acceptable. We were one of the first automobile companies to do so, and our owners' manuals continue to take a positive position on such fuels."

General Motors isn't the only company to express confidence in the alcohol addition to fuel. In a two-year vehicle study Ashland Oil company found that ethanol enhanced fuels produced no additional maintenance problems, resulted in nearly identical performance in terms of cold and hot starts and idling quality and no difference in engine and fuel system analysis.

An American Institute of Chemical engineer's research effort found that ethanol enhanced fuels were very similar to straight gasoline in terms of performance and drivability, adding that ethanol improved acceleration and reduced preignition or dieseling.

Texaco company ran a fleet of cars on ethanol enhanced fuels for their entire useful life, then tore down the engines and found them to be cleaner than engines from other company vehicles which had been run on straight gasoline.

Today's crude oil reportedly contains more impurities than crude oil in the past and there is substantially reduced use of gasoline detergents. Fuel injectors have an especially low tolerance for gasoline impurities. Although ethanol actually helps to clean away deposits that build up in fuel systems, it is often blamed for injector problems when other causes can not be uncovered.

Increased use of ethanol can be a boost for agriculture as its production can utilize surplus corn supplies. In addition it can reduce the nation's dependence on petroleum — either our own domestic supplies or foreign shipments. That has to be a plus all the way around.

Harassment?

Following editorial is from the Copley News Service and appeared recently in the Bemidji Pioneer:

Down by the office water cooler, the following exchange takes place.

HE: "Hey, do you want to go downtown and see "Deep Throat" with me?"

SHE: "Quit harassing me. Do I look like the kind of woman who'd go to a movie like that? You're getting on my nerves."

HE: "Well, you don't exactly look like a walking advertisement for sainthood. If you don't like men to come on to you, why do you wear those tight sweaters and short skirts?"

Though this conversation is fictional, similar scenes aren't uncommon in the workplace. But these days, what once might have been classified as boorish or insensitive behavior by either male or female employees could be grounds for a sexual harassment lawsuit. Since 1980, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has enforced sexual harassment as a civil rights violation. The commission's hand was considerably strengthened when the U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled that an employer can be held liable for sexual harassment. So far so good. But then the justices went off the deep end. Instead of requiring that the complainant show harassment caused economic injury, they said employers were liable when sexual harassment by their employees created a "hostile work environment."

What constitutes a hostile atmosphere, or for that matter sexual harassment, is open to interpretation. Feminist groups contend it's anything from unwelcome sexual advances and lewd comments to dirty jokes or a picture on the wall. Faced with such a broad definition, employers may have to tiptoe around the sensibilities of their more prudish employees and worry about every office romance that goes sour. And that's bound to backfire. A rule that's supposed to protect people's civil rights shouldn't become an excuse to oppress them.

Most employees would resent a management effort to police their private behavior. And if fellow workers think a woman is overreacting, her complaint to the EEOC is likely to create even more friction with her co-workers. We are also concerned that some workers accused of sexual harassment may lose their jobs and their reputations even when the complaint is weak or unfounded.

We think employers and employees should focus their attentions mainly on the ways sexual harassment hurts a woman's salary or job potential. No female subordinate should have to submit to unwelcome sexual advances as a condition for being hired or promoted. She shouldn't be transferred or belittled for saying no to the boss. And, she shouldn't be forced to look for a lower paying or less desirable job in the company just to get away from a tyrannical superior. But the women's movement won't be served if the EEOC, the courts and the company management are dragged into every case of bad office manners.

Borrowed Nonsense

Purchaser May Revoke Acceptance Of Poor Product

Has this ever happened to you? You buy a product and it doesn't work right. So you take it back, get it fixed, and it still doesn't work. So you take it back again, and still it isn't fixed. You decide you want your money back, and you take the product to where you bought it.

The salesperson agrees that the product is under warranty, but points out that the warranty is limited to repair or replacement of the malfunctioning parts. What can you do?

The Minnesota attorney general's office suggests that, in certain circumstances, despite the limitations of the warranty, you can "revoke your acceptance." That is, you can formally undo the bargain you made when you bought the product. If you successfully revoke acceptance, the business gets the product back and you get your money back. This legal remedy applies to virtually all consumer goods: from waffle irons to lawn mowers.

To revoke acceptances of property, you must:

(1) Have bought a product whose problems substantially impair the value of the product to you;

(2) Give the seller a reasonable number of chances to repair the item;

(3) Return the product in much the same condition as when purchased (except for any changes which result from the defect in the item

But remember, revocation of acceptance is an extreme step, and you must be sure to follow exactly the proper legal procedure:

(1) Give the seller a fair chance to correct the problem.

(2) Keep written records of each problem and each effort you have made to get the product repaired.

(3) Don't wait too long to act. (The law says you must revoke your acceptance within a "reasonable" time.)

(4) Notify the seller, in writing of your decision to revoke. State specifically what the problems are and what effort you have made to have them corrected.

(5) Once you have revoked, do not continue to use the product. Ask the you will receive only the money you product.

CAUTION: Even if you sucessfully revoke your acceptance, ordinarily you will receive only the money you originally paid for the product. You will not be reimbursed for annoyance, legal fees, lost time or expenses involved in your efforts to get the product repaired.

If you have any questions concerning this or any other consumer problem contact the Minnesota Attorney General's Consumer Services Unit; in St. Paul: 117 University Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-3353. Flynn, who resigned earlier.

Mesaba Expects Merger To Boost Local Traffic

Mesaba Airlines anticipates increased passenger traffic in its Airlink service to and from Thief River Falls as a result of the department of transportation's decision to allow NWA, Inc. to purchase Republic Airlines.

The passenger increases would be directly attributed to an expanded Northwest route structure resulting from the addition of the Republic system.

The transportation department ended a six-month review process recently by issuing an order giving final approval to Northwest's proposed acquisition of Republic. NWA, Inc., the parent company of Northwest Airlines, and Republic announced the $884 million purchase agreement Jan. 23, 1986.

The DOT approved the purchase agreement without conditions. However, the transfer of international route authority certificates held by Republic will be reviewed by President Reagan. The review is required by law when the authority to operate specific international routes is transferred from one airline to another.

The only international routes Republic now operates that are involved with presidential review are to Montreal and Toronto, Canada and to Grand Cayman Island, British West Indies. The transfer of the international certificates is approved unless expressly rejected by President Reagan, and he can reject transfer only on foreign relations or national defense grounds.

"The routes involved with presidential review are a relatively minor part of the overall transaction, and we anticipate the White House will take action to permit their transfer on a timely basis," Steven G. Rothmeier, president and chief executive officer of NWA, Inc. and Northwest Airlines, said.

Northwest expects to complete its purchase of Republic by mid-August, pending presidential review of the international certificate transfer.

Northwest Airlink out of Thief River Falls is operated by Mesaba Airlines, which serves 21 cities in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. Flights connect with Northwest at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Mesaba's home base.

Republic will be merged into Northwest Airlines to form the nation's third largest airline, serving 130 cities in 18 countries in North America, Asia and Europe.

Rollag Trip

On Friday, August 29th, with Kent Benitt as bus driver, thirty-one Keenagers and friends enjoyed the day at the Western Minnesota Steam Threshers' Reunion at Rollag. We entered through the east gate and Lloyd Larson met us at the Hitterdal Depot and we had a ringside parking place to watch the morning parade of engines. We then split up and found different places to eat, some of us had a delicious breakfast. Several enjoyed the long ride on the Merry-go-round, something we had not done for many years. We then boarded the train at the Hickson Depot and enjoyed a ride around the Gunderson lake, through the campgrounds, by all the tractors and machinery and back to the depot. Some of the things we saw were the many different engines, small to large, Flossie's Laundry, the Log Cabin Museum, flour grinding, print shop, Pioneer Farmstead, Baker Depot, and the Ladies Activities Buildings where we saw Nina Halvorson and she was churning butter. The steam threshing machines were threshing grain, the saw mils sawing lumber and shingles, steam engines plowing and many more activities going on. Six of us ladies accompanied Harryet Larson on the shuttle bus to their camper for a few minutes' rest. I believe everyone enjoyed the double ice cream cones. Those who attended and enjoyed the day were Ray and Marion Gusa, Hilma Horien, Junis Tanner, Lorraine Swenson, Peter and Frances Gerszewski, Harry and Josie Engen, their granddaughters Kathy Hosevar and Angela Critchley, Clara J. Reierson, Emma Moberg, Clara A. Reierson, Linda Larson, Marlan and Doris Augustine, Elroy and Carol Benitt, Orvis and Aileen Benitt, Arlene Luoto, George and Nellie Larson, Evelyn Niemela, Marles Gillespie, Leonard and Shirley Yonke, Lyle and Ruth Geroux and Dorothy Rood.

On Sunday, August 24th, about 120 relatives, friends, and neighbors attended the open house for Art and Verna Lunke and congratulated them on their 40th wedding anniversary.

John Benitt was a visitor and overnight guest on Monday with his grandparents, Rueben and Deloris Benitt.

Jody Christopherson visited at the Cliff Reierson home during the week.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. I am 28 years old and my wife is 26. We pay Social Security tax on our wages. Will the program be there for us when we retire? Grand Forks, ND.

A. Not only will Social Security be there then, but it is here for you now. For instance, within ND approximately 27 per cent of SSA beneficiaries receive disability or survivor related benefits. You and your family are protected now should you or your spouse become disabled or die as well as for future retirement.

For the long term, Social Security is secure. One reason is the public's overwhelming support. As reported by the US House of Representatives Select Committee on Aging, a 1985 survey by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) showed that about 88 per cent of respondents, including the 25-34 age group, expressed support of the SSA program.

A second reason is that Social Security is financially sound. Based on 1983 legislation and population projections, the program is expected to have surplus income for the next 30 years. Interest income will keep trust fund reserves growing until roughly 2035. Near that time, deficits will occur but matching current surpluses against future deficits will keep the porgram on firm financial footing for the next 75 years.

Q. Will I get a different benefit amount by filing my claim in a different office? Hillsboro, ND.

A. No. The benefit amount is the same no matter where you file a claim. You may, however, get differing figures for an estimate depending on what information is provided. Estimates are not a final figure. For an actual claim, all offices must use the same information and procedures. Social Security suggests that you phone your local office before going in. This lets us tell you what evidence is needed. Many applications are also completed by telephone. In Grand Forks phone 772-5517; in Grafton 352-0656.

Q. I'm going into the hospital next month for an operation. Are there any circumstances under which my Medicare will pay for a private room?

A. Medicare hospital insurance cannot pay extra charges for a private room unless the private room is determined to be medically necessary.

Q. How are benefits reduced for retirement? Is there a change based on my age (example, age 62 or 63)?

A. This refers to retirement benefits only. Your maximum benefit exists at age 65 but people can choose reduced benefits as early as age 62. Benefits are reduced based on how many months a person is from age 65, not on their age such as 62, 63, or 64. At age 62 a person is 36 months (3 years) away from age 65. Depending on how close to age 65 you are, your retirement benefits would be reduced from 0 to 36 months. Evey month closer to age 65 provides a slightly higher benefit.

In general, at 36 months (age 62) a person would receive 80 per cent of their maximum (age 65) benefit.

Q. Should I take reduced retirement benefits or wait until age 65 to get the full amount? I retired last year and am not working.

That is something which you must decide for yourself. It is true that retirement benefits are reduced for months prior to age 65 but you will receive the benefits for a longer time plus any general cost of living increases. Consider also that no one knows how long they will live but you know that you are eligible now.

Q. Is my Medicare coverage effective outside of the United States?

A. Medicare payments are generally available only for medical services provided in the United States. The only exceptions are medical services provided in Canada or Mexico to United States residents who either cross the border for facilities closer than those available in this country, or who suffer a medical emergency in the United States or while traveling in Canada between Alaska and another state and are taken to the closest hospital.

Q. I am semi-retired and have worked three days per week since starting my Social Security checks. How come my checks have not increased? Where does the Social Security tax go if I do not get an increase?

A. This a very popular question. Retirement benefits are computed by using a person's highest years of earnings. The number of years used varies with the year of birth. Benefits go up from earnings after retirement only if the new earnings are higher than those from a year already used. Usually a person's earnings from wages or self-employment are highest immediately before retirement.

Every year Social Security automatically refigures benefits to see if new earnings would provide an increase. The Social Security tax money is used to pay current benefits. Although your benefits may not have increased due to earnings, they have gone up from cost of living raises

EVENING ACCOUNTING PROGRAM

Today is an age of scarce economic resources. In order for business and other organizations to expand and meet the complex government requirements needed to stay in existence (like completing and filing tax returns) accountants are needed. Business transaction data must be classified, recorded and summarized by accountants to generate the financial information for decision-makers like business owners, bank loan officers, investors and creditors.

Accounting principles is the foundation course for beginning a career in accounting. It is necessary even to do basic bookkeeping for a business. Hours completed in this course will be accepted in the 19 month Accounting I and II Course.

Instructors will be Joe Carthey and Roger Erickson. Class will meet Monday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. beginnng October 6, 1986. Tuition for this course will be $90.00 per quarter. Books will be $51.00 for the year.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

FALL QUARTER:	Accounting Principles I — designed to teach the student basic accounting principles and practices, the accounting cycle, retail accounting, deferrals and accruals and accounting system design.
WINTER QUARTER:	Accounting Principles II — how to account for assets like cash, receivables, temporary investments, inventories, and plant assets. How to account for current liabilities and to report changes in price levels (inflation) is covered as well.
SPRING QUARTER:	Accounting Principles III — teaches the student how to manage accounts for partnerships and corporations. Subjects covered include stockholders equity, earnings, dividends, long-term liabilities and investments, the statement of changes in financial position, department and branch accounting.

Opportunities in accounting exist: 1) in public accounting where the accountant works for individuals or firms on a fee basis; 2) in managerial accounting where accountants work on a salary basis for a single firm; 3) government accountants who work for public agencies and audit the records of individuals and firms which are subject to government regulations.

AUTOCAD — AUTHORIZED TRAINING CENTER

The Thief River Falls Area Vocational Technical Institute is an authorized training center for AutoCAD, the most widely used micro-computer software for computer aided drafting. Our training center offers ongoing, professional level, intensive AutoCAD courses as well as update, "hot-line" and consulting services. We have professional instructors and equipment; hands-on training with one student per CAD system; off-site training, and longer application type courses which can be customized to the specific needs of your business.

CLASS SCHEDULE: Classes offered monthly at the Thief River Falls AVTI and at Northeast Metro Technical Institute (916), White Bear Lake, MN. Call the Thief River Falls AVTI for specific dates.

CAD/D — COMPUTER AIDED DRAFTING & DESIGN

Become a Computer Aided Drafting/Design (CAD/D) Technician during the evening. Persons interested in updating, retraining or just learning about one of the newest ideas in high technology may now take the Computer Aided Drafting & Design Technician courses at the Thief River Falls AVTI CAD/D Training Center. This course takes three quarters to complete, and is scheduled to meet Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Instructors will be David Colby, John Stewart & Lorie Shuck. This will be a personalized course to allow for individual CAD/D application requirements. Hours completed in this course will be accepted in the 2 year Computer Aided Architectural Drafting & Design Course. Tuition will be $90 per 60 hour course (up to two courses per quarter), and a one time $40.00 supply/equipment/book fee.

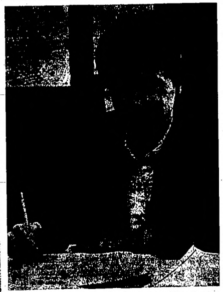
THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Monday, Sept. 8, 1986 Number 70

Holy Smoke! There Goes The Stack!

THE OLD SMOKESTACK at the Lincoln high school complex was brought down Friday afternoon with the expert handling of an extended boom crane by Bill Kennedy of Kennedy Excavating company of Benson. The 1,800-pound ball was swung against the chimney to create a hole, much like a woodsman would notch a tree, and when the top section was sufficiently weakened it toppled into debris from the 1919 section of the building previously razed. The remainder of the chimney was also brought down in about 10-foot sections. Kennedy said the full height of the chimney could have been toppled but the choice was made to bring down sections due to proximity to other buildings. The 1919 building was demolished Thursday and the 1910 building was demolished Saturday. Additional photos from the demolition will be in Wednesday's edition of the Times.

Faith Rud Named Director Of RDC Program On Aging



FAITH RUD is the new director of the aging program with the Northwest Regional Development commission headquartered in Thief River Falls. She began her duties August 13 and has been working on arrangements for the 12th annual fall conference on aging to be held October 14 at the University of Minnesota in Crookston. Mrs. Rud is a graduate of Northland community college and holds bachelors and masters degrees from the University of North Dakota.

Program for senior citizens through the Northwest Regional Development commission is continuing under the direction of Faith Rud, recently names as program director at the regional office in Thief River Falls.

"We are striving for continuity of programs," Mrs. Rud said, noting that the regional commission is the administrative agency for the Minnesota board on aging and such programs as senior meals, chore services, legal services, medical transportation and other transportation. Most of the funds administered come from the federal government under the Older Americans act.

During 1985 there was 46,119 meals served in the senior meals program in the region — approximately double the number served in 1984 — and a 15 per cent increase is expected for 1986. A target of that program is to extend meal service and other services to more home-bound residents.

Rud said that the advisory committee on aging will review grant requests this month as part of the reviews conducted in September and March for funding in January and July. The committe includes two members from each of the seven counties in the region and two representatives from the Minnesota board of aging.

Mrs. Rud, her husband Larry and 16-year-old daughter Laurie live on a farm near Warren. An older daughter Lynnae, 23, who attended Northland community college here, is married to David Hanson of Mahnomen.

Faith is a 1975 graduate of Northland community college and had been employed for seven years at Wiener Motors in Thief River Falls. She entered the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks in the fall of 1976 and received a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology in May of 1980. That August she entered graduate school and in 1983 received a master's degree in sociology, writing her master's thesis on the rural elderly. She taught at UND part-time in sociology and in continuing education off campus.

From September of 1984 through May of this year she was a full-time temporary instructor in sociology, political science and history at Northland community college, filling the post of Merle Kruschke who was on leave.

Mrs. Rud has been an adult leader in the Triangle 4-H club in the Marshall county program and refers to herself as "a joiner of national causes" with particular interest in population concerns, environmental issues, and advancement of civil and human rights. She also serves on the Northwest private industry council.

Since receiving the appointment as director of the aging program, she has devoted most of her time to organizing the 12th annual fall conference on aging to be conducted October 14 at the University of Minnesota at Crookston. Theme of the conference will be "The Best Is Now" and the main speaker will be James Merrill, president of Lutheran Social service in North Dakota.

Medical Center Annual Meeting Slated Tonight

Annual meeting of Northwest Medical center association will be conducted at 7 p.m. tonight in the Summit room of the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls. Annual reports will be presented and four directors elected.

Medical center board chairman Ken Froschheiser will preside at the meeting. Nominated for election are Dale Dillon, incumbent, Cathy Belmont and James Winjum from the community at large and Dr. Robert Carter and Dr. James Langland from the medical staff. Three community members and one medical staff member are to be elected. Hospital by-laws provide for advance nomination and no nominations will be accepted at the meeting.

Reports will be presented by chairman Froschheiser; Dr. Donald Mestery, medical staff; and Richard Spyhalski, president. A video tape presentation reviewing the past year at Northwest Medical center will be shown.

Registration will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the corridor outside the Summit room and the polls will be declared closed at 7:15 p.m. Members of the association attending the annual meeting are encouraged to use both front and rear entrances to the Best Western inn to facilitate the registration process.

Community Band Rehearsals To Begin Tonight

Rehearsals begin for the Thief River Falls community band tonight (Monday) at 7 p.m. in the Northland community college auditorium. Community band is co-sponsored by Northland community college and the city of Thief River Falls and rehearsals are held each Monday evening during fall and spring quarters.

An invitation is extended to all band enthusiasts in Northwestern Minnesota. Membership consists of college and AVTI students, area music educators, outstanding high school players and other instrumentalists from all walks of life. New members will be auditioned during the first two rehearsals.

SPRING QUARTER — March 16th through May 21, 1987

INVEST IN YOUR FUTURE TODAY

THESE ARE CLASSES THAT WILL BE OFFERED ON A CONTINUING BASIS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. A COMPLETE FALL BROCHURE LISTING ALL ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES WILL BE PUBLISHED IN SEPTEMBER.

EVENING ACCOUNTING PROGRAM

Today is an age of scarce economic resources. In order for business and other organizations to expand and meet the complex government requirements needed to stay in existence (like completing and filing tax returns) accountants are needed. Business transaction data must be classified, recorded and summarized by accountants to generate the financial information for decision-makers like business owners, bank loan officers, investors and creditors.

Accounting principles is the foundation course for beginning a career in accounting. It is necessary even to do basic bookkeeping for a business. Hours completed in this course will be accepted in the 19 month Accounting I and II Course.

Instructors will be Joe Carthey and Roger Erickson. Class will meet Monday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. beginnng October 6, 1986. Tuition for this course will be $90.00 per quarter. Books will be $51.00 for the year.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

FALL QUARTER: Accounting Principles I — designed to teach the student basic accounting principles and practices, the accounting cycle, retail accounting, deferrals and accruals and accounting system design.

WINTER QUARTER: Accounting Principles II — how to account for assets like cash, receivables, temporary investments, inventories, and plant assets. How to account for current liabilities and to report changes in price levels (inflation) is covered as well.

SPRING QUARTER: Accounting Principles III — teaches the student how to manage accounts for partnerships and corporations. Subjects covered include stockholders equity, earnings, dividends, long-term liabilities and investments, the statement of changes in financial position, department and branch accounting.

Opportunities in accounting exist: 1) in public accounting where the accountant works for individuals or firms on a fee basis; 2) in managerial accounting where accountants work on a salary basis for a single firm; 3) government accountants who work for public agencies and audit the records of individuals and firms which are subject to government regulations.

AUTOCAD — AUTHORIZED TRAINING CENTER

The Thief River Falls Area Vocational Technical Institute is an authorized training center for AutoCAD, the most widely used micro-computer software for computer aided drafting. Our training center offers ongoing, professional level, intensive AutoCAD courses as well as update, "hot-line" and consulting services. We have professional instructors and equipment; hands-on training with one student per CAD system; off-site training, and longer application type courses which can be customized to the specific needs of your business.

CLASS SCHEDULE: Classes offered monthly at the Thief River Falls AVTI and at Northeast Metro Technical Institute (916), White Bear Lake, MN. Call the Thief River Falls AVTI for specific dates.

CAD/D — COMPUTER AIDED DRAFTING & DESIGN

Become a Computer Aided Drafting/Design (CAD/D) Technician during the evening. Persons interested in updating, retraining or just learning about one of the newest ideas in high technology may now take the Computer Aided Drafting & Design Technician courses at the Thief River Falls AVTI CAD/D Training Center. This course takes three quarters to complete, and is scheduled to meet Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Instructors will be David Colby, John Stewart & Lorie Shuck. This will be a personalized course to allow for individual CAD/D application requirements. Hours completed in this course will be accepted in the 2 year Computer Aided Architectural Drafting & Design Course. Tuition will be $90 per 60 hour course (up to two courses per quarter), and a one time $40.00 supply/equipment/book fee.

QUARTER SCHEDULE
FALL QUARTER — October 6th through December 16, 1986

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Society and Clubs

Lynn Johnson And Randy Horien United In Marriage June 28

Lynn Rae Johnson and Randy Leigh Horien were united in marriage June 28 at Sacred Heart church in Roseau. Rev. Henry Carriere and Rev. Luther Anderson shared in officiating at the celebration of marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson of Roseau and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horien of Thief River Falls. The bride is the granddaughter of Myrtle Greenwood of Grand Forks and Florence Johnson of Roseau, and the groom the grandson of Minnie Potucek of Warren.

Soloist Cindy Lupien performed two selections, and accompanied her husband, Rick, as he played the guitar. Mary Jo Hanson serves as organist, with Judy Magnusson playing the piano.

Church decorations were candelabra adorned with fuschia bows, ferns, babies' breath and white candles, and two Boston ferns adorning the altar area. Pews were decorated with fuschia bows, babies' breath and lily of the valley sprays.

The bride wore a white gown of satin crystal organza with Venise lace, seed pearls and sequins adorning the bodice, and a Queen Anne neckline edged with a sheer ruffle. Silk floss-embroidered lace and pearl drops edged the layered bell sleeves. Full skirt and hemline were embellished with silk lace embroidery, flowing to a full, cathedral train. The bride's walking length veil fell from a headpiece of pearl filaments. White roses, fuschia-tipped roses, English ivy, babies' breath and lily of the valley made up the bridal bouquet.

The groom wore white tails with corresponding white tucked shirt, vest and bow tie. His boutonniere was of white, fuschia-tipped roses, ivy, lily of the valley and babies' breath, to match the bride's bouquet.

Kris Woinarowicz, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carla Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, and Beth Brinkman, Janell Kofstad and Jill Walseth, all friends of the bride. They wore full-length gowns of fuschia taffeta, with short, ruffled sleeves and a hooped hemline with ruffled train. White lace gauntlets completed the ensemble. Each carried a votive candle nestled in fuschia roses and babies' breath in a brandy snifter decorated with white satin streamers. In their hair they wore wreaths fashioned of seed pearls and tiny fuschia satin bows, with streamers of satin ribbon.

Best man was the groom's brother, Rick Horien. Mark Johnson, brother of the bride, and Dean Bruggeman, Rick Kezar and Scott Pahlen, all friends of the groom, were his attendants. They wore midnight blue tails, fuschia cummerbunds, handkerchiefs and bow ties. Their boutonnieres were white roses with fuschia-tipped babies' breath.

Brett Hansen, Brad Kouba, Keith Nelson and Kurt Nelson were ushers for the ceremony. They wore midnight blue tuxedos with fuschia accessories.

The mothers of the bride and groom wore soft pink floor-length gowns. Their corsages were fuschia-tipped white roses, babies' breath and lily of the valley. Fathers of the couple wore midnight blue tuxedos with blue accents.

Host couples for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Gale Wittman and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Potucek. Laurie Nelson and Christy Halbasch attended the guest book, and Amy and Jenny Hayes distributed the programs. Gifts were carried by Tara and Cole Wittman, Billy Potucek and Kia Frericks.

Cake cutters were Naureen Hansen and Shirley Potucek, with help from Carla Kouba and Mary Ann Swan. Coffee was poured by Carolee Anderson and Norma Dahle, and punch served by Sharon Pahlen and Marcy Blaser. Rice roses and thank you scrolls were distributed by Abbi Jo Wittman, Marie Peterson and Dustin Swan.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco, CA, the couple is at home at 212 South Markley in Thief River Falls. The bride is a legal secretary at the McEwen Law office and the groom is employed at L.B. Hartz Wholesale.

NCSF Heard Report On National Meet

Caroline Bedard reported on her recent trip to the national convention of the National Catholic Society of Foresters at the August meeting of St. Anne's court held at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls. She and her husband attended the convention held July 20 through 24 in Merrillville, IN.

The convention is held every four years, this year in a 15-year-old city of 28,000 population. The Bedards drove to Minneapolis and then flew to Chicago, travelling by bus to the city of Merrillville, which is about 30 miles south of Chicago.

Events included a banquet the evening of Sunday, July 20, business meeting Monday, bus tour of Gary and Chicago Tuesday, and special memorial service Wednesday. Members acknowledged from this area at the memorial service were Rachel McDunn of Barnesville and Winifred Laurent of Crookston. The convention adjourned at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

New officers were elected and installed at the convention, with Rosemary Trettin of Appleton, WI, elected president.

At the regular St. Anne's meeting, reports were given on the birthday party held August 18 at Oakland Park nursing home to honor Christine Giefer on her 98th brithday, which was August 17; and on plans for the celebration of Mary Strom's birthday in September. Plans were also made to attend the diocesan meeting in September. The meeting was then adjourned for "Dutch Treat," an August tradition.

The INSIDE SCOOP

From Lincoln High
by GAYLE BORCHERT

Hi, my name is Gayle Borchert, and I will be writing this column as a project for my senior year. I am working through a program called the Governor's Scholar program that helps high school students to develop projects on their own to benefit the school and community. Students are then required to attend a leadership institute in the summer to help them prepare for the coming year.

This column will deal with school activities mainly from Lincoln high school. Through it I hope the community will gain a better understanding of what type of activities go on in our school system.

Each week we will be featuring a teacher and a student from our school. The first ones to be spotlighted will be the new teachers and students.

School classes started on September 2. The first thing Lincoln high students received were their schedules. Printed on them was the motto "Be the best you can be." We also received Prowler folders that explained everything from class times to school policy.

We were then welcomed back by Mr. Terry Soine, high school principal, Mr. Mike Novak, assistant high school principal, and the rest of the staff. Mr. Soine told us we were leaders of the school and role models, and explained the new tardy policy allowing us to be late five times before detention. He also said the demolition of old Lincoln was not done. Mr. Novak spoke to us briefly as acting athletic director, explaining Minnesota State High School League rules.

At the end of this column each Monday, I will list the week's high school activities. This listing will include all events that go on at the high school.

THIS WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Sept. 8 — Sophomore football (home)

Sept. 9 — Band Boosters Meeting; Girls tennis (at Crookston); Cross Country (at Crookston)

Sept. 11 — Girls Tennis (home); Girls swimming (at Bemidji); Girls volleyball (at Fisher)

Sept. 12 — Football (at Bemidji)

Sept. 13 — Girls Tennis (at Bemidji); Girls swimming (at Park Rapids); Girls volleyball (at Roseau)

HIGHLANDING...

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coan and Michelle visited Tuesday evening and were coffee guests at the Randy Downs home.

Callers during the week at the Kenneth Coan home were Ole Wiskow, Wally Anderson, Lynn Vad, Joe Jagol, Larry Srnsky and Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. H.D. DeBord of Rock Falls, IL, spent three days visiting and were houseguests at the John and Jeanette Hoffman home.

Jason Langseth returned home on Labor Day after spending the Labor Day weekend with his grandparents, Kenny and Gerry Nelson.

Kari Peterson of Clarissa spent the Labor Day at the home of her parents, Clarence and Janice Peterson. Kari also came to attend the wedding of Lori Jo Bakken anbd Robert Jorgenson held at Redeemer in Thief River Falls.

A combining bee was held recently at the Edith Solberg home. Bennie and June Johnson organized the day with the following combin operators: Kenny Coan, Lynn Vad, Donnie Jensen, Aldon Hyland, Clayton Johnsrud. Grain haulers were Bennie Johnson, David and Gene Marquis, Leonard Johnson and Edwin Bakken. Edith Solberg and June Johnson served lunch and fuel was also donated by the Middle River Co-op. Edith and Roger appreciated all the help very much and extend a big thank you to everyone.

BERBERICH SISTERS got together once again Saturday for their annual softball tournament entry at the Blast to Brooks fall celebration, and for the eighth year in a row they finished second to Red Lake Falls. In the photo above, Connie Dugstad of Thief River Falls lines a base hit against Fertile in an 8-1 winning effort for the sisters. Nine of the 11 sisters played in the game, along with one of the sister's daughters and several friends. Umpire in the photo is Marc Parenteau of Brooks. Along the sidelines are (left to right), Fred Berberich, Brooks; Lana Pittman, St. Hilaire; Rita Berberich, Bemidji; Alice Balstad, Fosston, Janet Berberich, Thief River Falls; Kari Jordan, Fosston; Marge Miller, Thief River Falls; and Mrs. Leander (Mayme) Berberich, the girls' mother, Brooks. Other sisters who played were Betty Lindy and Kay Berberich, Bemidji; Sue Olson, Fosston; and Loretta Pittman, St. Hilaire. Carol Harbott of Thief River Falls was at the game but didn't play and Frances Liebel of Mahnomen arrived after the tournament had been played. Jordan, Sherri Olson and Linda Dahl of Fosston were non-family members playing with the team.

Public Library Source For Much Information

(1986 marks the 20th anniversary of the Thief River Falls public library in its present building. To celebrate this event, the library will hold an open house during the week of October 6-11 with special programming and the introduction of a new service: Toddler books. This year also marks the 85th anniversary of the public library's existence in Thief River Falls. Following is the second installment in a series on the library. For more information, contact the Thief River Falls Public Library at 101 East First Street; Thief River Falls, MN 56701.)

The Card Catalog: What Can It Tell You?

A card catalog is a great tool because it tells you what materials a library has. The card catalog at the library in Thief River Falls is called a union catalog for it provides information about materials held at all libraries in the Northwest Regional Library system. In this union catalog, author, title and subject cards are interfiled in one alphabet. If a card has a sticker attached to it reading 'NWRL Pool," that books is available from some other library than Thief River Falls public library.

The catalog card not only tells you which materials a library has, but also how to find those materials. The call number tells you where to locate a book in the library. It has two main parts. The first part (usually the top line of the call number) is the classification number. This number groups books of the same subject together. This classification system is known as the Dewey Decimal Classification. The second portion (usually the second line) of the call number is a code used for the author's last name or another main entry if there is no author.

The catalog card may indicate some of these details about a book:

(1) The author's full name and dates (date of birth and/or death, when known);

(2) The name or names of co-author or co-authors;

(3) The complete title of the book;

(4) The place of publication, the name of the publisher and the date of publication (This information is called the imprint. TIP: Always note the date of publication for it may be the determining factor in how useful the material may be to you); and

(5) The call number.

The second section of the catalog card may have some of the following additional information about the book:

(1) Number of pages;

(2) Size of book; and

(3) Information of tables, charts, maps, illustrations, bibliography. TIP: Evidence of illustrative material and bibliography in a book may sometimes be a clue of its usefulness to you. The subject information found in the lower section of the catalog card is called a tracing. It identifies all the subject headings for the book and might give you ideas on where else in the card catalog to look to get the information you need.

Signs on the ends of book shelving units in the library tell you which call numbers are located on those shelves. This makes it easier for you to locate a book on the shelves.

There is a special place for fiction books. These books contain only call letters and are pleasure-reading (story) books which are not primarily factual. Adult fiction is located on the shelving units near the large front glass windows. The juvenile fiction (j) is located on the shelves against the brick walls in the children's room and also on the plain steel walls in that room. Easy readers (E) are located on the steel walls which are decorated with wooden story book characters.

Young adult books (YA) are located near the records in the rental book collection. The Minnesota book collection(s) is located on the opposite side of the YA and rental book collections. Oversized books (O) are located at the end of the non-fiction section. Large print (LP) books are located at the end of the fiction section.

Card catalogs are arranged in alphabetical order, but there are many paths which lead from A to Z. A few rules need to be followed and they are listed below.

(1) Articles such as "a", "an", and "the" are ignored when an article is the first word of the title, but within the title, articles are always considered in alphabetizing. Example: "The Grass Is Always Greener Over the Septic Tank" (look under "g" for "grass"). "Arrow to the Sea" ("the" does count here).

(2) Filing is word by word. The filing order for New York, Newark, Newsweek, and New London would be: Example: New London, New York, Newark, Newsweek.

(3) Numbers are filed as if they are written out, as are most abbreviations. Example: "Catch 22" is filed as Catch Twenty-two; St. Peter is filed as Saint Peter.

The NWRL card catalog contains information on books, pamphlets and records. If you need any help with the card catalog, remember to ask the person at the front desk.

Periodicals and Newspapers

A periodical may also be called a magazine, a journal or a serial. At the present time the Thief River Falls public library subscribes to 148 periodicals. Current copies are kept in the magazine reading area of the library, in alphabetical order by name of the magazine. Older issues or back issues of periodicals are kept in the library stacks. Magazines are usually kept for five years. A listing of the periodicals the library carries is located near the "Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature" on the consumer table next to the magazine area. Magazines for children are found in the children's room.

Once you have found the periodical you want, you may either read it at the library or check it out for a one-week period. The most current copy remains in the library, however.

Most people want to use periodicals to look up specific information or learn more about a subject. Since there are so many periodicals owned by NWRL and since it takes so long to go through the table of contents of each and every periodical, we try to make it simpler by providing you with periodical indexes. The periodical indexes available at NWRL include the "Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature," "Education Index," "Art Index," "Biological and Agricultural Index," "Business Periodical Index," "Access," "Essay and General Literature Index" and "Social Sciences Index."

These indexes are arranged in alphabetical order by subject. Under each subject heading are entries which are related to the subject. These entries consist of the article's title, name of the periodical, date and page numbers on which the article can be found. If a patron would like to read an article, all he or she needs to do is copy the entry onto a piece of paper and give the paper to the person at the front desk. We will either get the magazine (if we have it) or, if the patron is able to wait a few weeks for the article, we will try to get the article through another library.

Presently the Thief River Falls public library subscribes to 16 newspapers, including the Fargo Forum, Grand Forks Herald, Kittson County Enterprise, Leader-Record, Minneapolis Star & Tribune, New River Record, New York Times, North Star News, Oklee Herald, Red Lake Falls Gazette, Roseau Times-Region, Thief River Falls Times, Wall Street Journal, Warren Sheaf, Warroad Pioneer and Winnipeg Free Press.

Current copies of newspapers are located on sticks in the adult magazine reading area. Back issues are kept for two months in the back room of the library. The Thief River Falls Times, however, is kept on microfilm from Jan. 3, 1895 and on. If you wish to read a back issue, ask for it at the desk and the staff member will retrieve it for you. Newspapers may be checked out for a one-week period.

Mesaba To Have New Schedule Of Service In TRF

Mesaba Aviation, Inc., has announced its new air services schedule for Thief River Falls effective October 1.

The new schedule will continue to offer Thief River Falls passengers two daily round-trip flights to the Twin Cities international airport. The service will be flown with pressurized 19-passenger Metro III jetprop aircraft and will include one stop in Bemidji.

Robert D. Swenson, president and CEO of Mesaba, said "We have been extremely pleased with our summer traffic in the market and we remain committed to the city to provide always a continuously higher quality air service."

With the schedule change October 1, the airline will be serving 19 cities in Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

Schedule effective October 1 has the plane leaving Thief River Falls at 5:50 a.m. and 11:25 a.m. and arriving in Minneapolis-St. Paul at 7:24 a.m. and 12:55 p.m., daily except Sundays. Planes will leave Minneapolis-St. Paul at 9:24 a.m. and 6:34 p.m. for arrival in Thief River Falls at 10:59 a.m. (daily except Sunday) and 8:09 p.m. (daily except Saturday).

Primary Election Polls For State And Co. Open Tue.

but voters should be aware that in Minnesota primaries voters are prohibitted from casting ballots for candidates of more than one political party. Casting ballots in different political parties will result in disqualification of the ballot.

Voters in county primaries should also be aware that they can cast only one vote per office, regardless of the number of candidates. The top two vote getters in each office will square off for the general election on November 4.

Registration of voters will take place on election day at the polls. To register voters must provide any of the following authorized proofs of residence: a valid Minnesota driver's license or learner's permit; valid Minnesota identification card showing correct address; oath of a voter registered in the precinct; current registration in the same precinct indicating a previous address; or a mailed notice received from the registration office indicating an insufficient registration.

Voters in Pennington county will be faced with tough decisions to be made in the county attorney race and county treasurer race. Candidates for Pennington county attorney are John Novacek, Dave Olin and Richard Sather. Candidates for Pennington county treasurer are Vicki Bjorgaard, Wayne Bjornrud, Judy Geatz, Beverly J. Holm, Richard Lee Holmes, Carol Johnson, Leo Nelson, Charlie Oakes and John W. Olson Sr.

Marshall county voters will also face an impressively long list of candidates. Four candidates for Marshall county auditor-treasurer will appear on the ballot and six for county recorder. The candidates for auditor-treasurer are Wayne Bendickson, Gwen Schmidt, Roy G. Swanson and James Stengrim. Candidates running for the position of Marshall county recorder are Rodney Erickson, Douglas Gloude, Marion Halvorson, Loren Nowacki, Dwight M. Peterson and Lonnie Stauffenecker.

Personally written individual articles by the candidates in Marshall and Pennington counties can be found in the August 25 and 27 issues of the Thief River Falls Times.

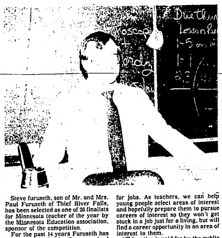
CAR-TRAIN COLLISION at 1:03 a.m. Saturday resulted in injuries to Ronald LeRoy Johnson, 714 Knight av. N., who remains hospitalized in good condition at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls. Johnson was driving east on County Road 63 — an extension of 13th street in Thief River Falls — and the Burlington-Northern train was traveling north when the collision happened. Crewmen on the train said they saw the car approaching the tracks and attempted to stop when they realized the car would not stop for the tracks. The locomotive struck the car in the middle of the passenger side and pushed it off the tracks on the east side. Johnson, who was alone in the car, received cuts and bruises. The train, with Joseph Varholt of East Grand Forks as engineer, was traveling at a slow rate of speed at the time of impact.

Furuseth Finalist For Teacher Of Year



Steve furuseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Furuseth of Thief River Falls, has been selected as one of 26 finalists for Minnesota teacher of the year by the Minnesota Education association, sponsor of the competition.

For the past 14 years Furuseth has been teaching in the Roseau school system, currently teaching three sections of seventh grade science, general mathematics and general biology. Married to the former Arlene Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wilson of Thief River Falls, he and his wife have three daughters: Lisa, 15; Erica, 13; and Sadie, nine.

A graduate of Lincoln high school and Northland community college, he received his degree in education from Gustavus Adolphus college and has done graduate work at Bemidji state university, St. Cloud state university and the University of Minnesota at Duluth. He holds double majors in mathematics and biology and general science and has accumulated 35 graduate credits.

Selection of teacher of the year at Roseau is by ballot among the faculty with each member nominating three candidates and the person receiving the largest number of nominations being selected. The local winner is entered in state competition.

"I think the purpose of education is to give the students experience in problem solving and to teach skills to help make young people successful as adults," Furuseth said in his philosophy of education. "This is a competitive world and they will be competing for jobs. As teachers, we can help young people select areas of interest and hopefully prepare them to pursue careers of interest so they won't get stuck in a job just for a living, but will find a career opportunity in an area of interest to them.

"Education is paid for by the public and every student has the right to the best beginning possible in school," he said, and pointed out that social development is also an important aspect of education.

Furuseth taught at both Wadena and Erskine before moving to Roseau. A high school wrestler for the Prowlers in Thief River Falls, he coached wrestling at Wadena and Erskine before accepting the wrestling coaching job at Roseau. He held that position for eight years and currently is assistant to coach Jeff Olsen.

Among the teaching tools in Furuseth's classroom are snakes, white rats, bones, fish, plants and other items collected over the years. Computers and microscopes are used in the classroom to assist students in learning.

"My grandfather, who was an immigrant, valued education," Furuseth said. "He felt that if you learned to read and write you would have it made in life." Steve's mother, three brothers, an uncle and his grandmother were all involved in education.

Furuseth enjoys hunting deer, ducks and upland birds and says he would fish all the time if he could. He likes canoeing, camping, boating and staying in the wilderness and with his wife has been responsible for taking several groups of young people from church on wilderness canoe trips.

He said that the rewards in teaching have to come from inside. "If a student becomes successful and finds an interest, this is rewarding," he said. "The only product you have in teaching is the student. The person becomes the product. We (teachers) are only directors to help them find their interests. We help do this by providing opportunities and giving them a place to channel some of the energies they have."

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the [illegible] Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise Southwest State University, [illegible]

The low bid for construction of a new four year Illinois university came in so much higher than anticipated, a whole building had to be omitted. A Michigan shopping center was so over budget in the proposal stage that additional financing of almost a million dollars was needed. The son of a former owner of the Empire State Building testified that highway bids were being rigged. With gas prices way down, in many communities the drop has been much less than the national average, probably because of collusion between service station owners. A group of wholesalers and importers even tried to rig the price of the most popular item in the Puerto Rican diet, chicken. A southwestern state had its bread prices fixed by a group of bakers.

The free enterprise system assumes that there will be competition. The competition involves quality, improved service, the latest in product ideas, and a fair price. When competition is not allowed to operate, product and service quality go down, innovative ideas don't effect product changes, and prices go up or stay higher than they should.

The federal government is always on the hunt for those who stifle competition. State governments are supposed to pursue those who conspire to take advantage of consumers and government. Lately, neither the federal nor state governments have been following up in the way that you would expect law enforcers to do.

In a column on local oil and gas pricing, I reported on a community that was paying more than 15 cents a gallon over the pricing in competitive markets. Som calculations on usage and added cost indicated that the annualized differential this small community was paying without competition was over $100,000. At the same time, I compared the reaction to a bank robbery where $100,000 was taken. In both cases, the noncompetition "live and let live" attitude and the bank robbery end up hurting the community and taking advantage of consumers, with the same impact.

That's why anti-trust enforcement at the both the federal and state level is important. Our free enterprise system of incentives fails when trade associations, informal understandings or other forms of conspiracy occur to reduce competition. It is both competition and incentives that make our economic machine work well, keeping us on our toes.

Visiting with a group of businessmen, I was told that comments on gas price differentials in some communities, based on a lack of competition, and the resulting excessive charges and profits, were not appropriate. These comments stir up trouble. These businessmen believed that free enterprise meant that you get what you can out of each consumer, without regard for the way in which you do it. Conspiring to keep prices up didn't appear to be a crime. I listened and could not believe what I was hearing.

On my desk are some pictures of gas stations, with prices for the same product ranging from 63 cents to 93 cents, where state and federal taxes were equal. The 63 cents was in a large community where a conspiracy to control prices would have been almost impossible to achieve without complaints. The 93 cents was in a smaller community where it apparently was easier to control prices and avoid the effects of competition.

American businessmen, big and small, should understand that free enterprise is really a system based on benefitting consumers, not price gouging to achieve higher profits. Federal and state justice systems should enforce the anti-trust laws to protect competition and the consumers.

Of Primary Importance

On both local and state-wide basis, candidates for political office have been devoting a lot of time, effort, energy and finances toward gaining support for their election to public office. They face their first major test tomorrow in the primary election when the list will be pared to a more understandable number.

Especially in county office races around this area of the state this year the interest is running extremely high — both by a large number of candidates themselves and the general voting public. The quantity of candidates leaves many voters somewhat confused and undecided, and we suspect that many voters won't make up their minds until they take pencil or stylus in hand in the voting booth on Tuesday.

We would like to compliment the candidates for their willingness to seek public office and the responsibility which it entails. Most are finding it is not an easy thing to approach people and ask for their support at the polls. There is enough inherent humility in most people that makes the request for support somewhat uncomfortable.

Given the effort put forth by the candidates, it should be apparent that the least voters can do is go to the polls and cast their votes. Not only is it a privilege and responsibility of free citizenship to vote, it is a courtesy to the candidates who put their names on the line to seek public office. Eligible voters should consider it their primary responsibility.

What Do Teachers Want?

Following opinion as written by Cy F. Kruse, superintendent of schools at Prior Lake and published in the current issue of the MEA Advocate, official publication of the Minnesota Education association:

With new laws allowing teachers to strike more easily than ever before in Minnesota, a frequently asked question is: "What do teachers really want?" The angry question is posed by people who should know the answer, such as school board members, students, administrators, parents and taxpayers. William Raspberry asked it in a May 8 column. On occasion teachers ask it of themselves.

What do teachers want? What grievance or need would send them to pound the pavement frequently and in ever-increasing numbers? Teacher wants fall into two major categories: economic and political.

Teachers do not want to occupy a position in the lower-middle class. They compare themselves with college classmates who went into law, medicine or engineering. People who are not teachers place a far lower value on the professionl

When I was teaching in St. Louis Park a number of years ago, I asked a plumber to visit my home to make a repair. While there, and unaware of my occupation, he began to talk about teacher wages and working conditions. He called teachers ignorant, lazy and lucky to be employed. "Can you imagine them thinking that they should make as much as me?" he fumed. Yes, I can imagine that.

As college graduates in an affluent society, teachers have developed the tastes of the upper-middle class. Today's teacher may own or aspire to own a $50,000-$100,000 home with full closets and wants to drive a fairly new car. Like his or her contemporaries, the modern teacher expects to eat in good restaurants, participate in and observe sports events, attend the theater, own books and records. But if teachers are also the sole support of their households, it isn't like that they can fully plug into the good life anywhere in the United States. Therein lies the teacher's economic grievance: feeling poor and underprivileged.

The political demands of teachers may be harder to understand. Politics means wielding power within the educational institution. In the past, school boards generally were subject to the whims of the electorate. Pressured by their constituencies, school board members were for the most part "in charge". Administrators frequently become overlords of their staffs, and teachers become masters to their students. All of these authorities were generally benevolent, but an authoritarian system required that each unit be docile and satisfied with its limitations. The old-fashioned teacher opted for a situation in which his students obeyed him absolutely and he obeyed his superiors. Their one avenue to betterment within their profession was by escaping the classroom for an administrative position. However, these spots were few and not for everyone.

Times have changed. Teachers have grown self-conscious about their low status and feeble power. In the 1960s the American scale of values tilted to favor rights over responsibilities. The contemporary teacher is as much concerned with respect from above as below. He or she wants equality. Teachers want a voice in the formulation of both long- and short-range policies.

The exceptional bitterness that marks teacher unionism and strikes arises as much from wounded spirits as from empty purses. Teachers have developed a minority-group mentality and view themselves as underdogs. This places them in the peculiar position of representing and perpetuating a system in which they feel badly treated. If the teacher cannot see his occupation treated as an important one by students, school officials or fellow citizens, where does he go for acknowledgement? He goes to his peers: to the Minnesota Education Association or the Minnesota Federation of Teachers, where the praise is lavish, the support vocal and the mutual enemy identified. Seldom does one hear about the irresponsible, lazy or greedy teacher from union leaders.

What do teachers want? They want to make a reasonable living, to be recognized as people who perform an essential service, to be considered experts in their areas of experience and to be occasionally praised when they do well. In short, they want someone to know that they are alive, and unless they get that, they'll probably keep on kicking.

Running On The Plus Side

According to information recently made public by the Minnesota Taxpayers association, this state is one of 30 in the nation which shows up on the plus side of the ledger of federal grant-in-aid dollars versus money paid into the federal coffers through taxes. Minnesotans paid in 89 cents for every dollar received from the federal government — a net of 11 cents on the plus side.

But there are a few lumps in the gravy, lest Minnesotans leap for joy at the federal largesse.

"It should be emphasized," the report states, "that the aid and burden figures do not reflect the entire costs of the aid programs. The comparisons do not take into account the costs of administration nor the amounts of matching funds which the state and local government must make available out of their own revenues in order to qualify as recipients of these grants."

The suggestion that the net figure isn't free and clear brings to mind a public official's description of federal aid some years ago. "You send a dollar to Washington," he said, "and they use half of it for administration. Then they send 50 cents back to you if you agree to match it. That's federal aid."

Computation of the taxes versus grants figures was prepared by the Tax Foundation, Inc., a nationally recognized research organization. It uses a formula designed to show where the tax dollars actually originate, rather than where they are collected.

Although there are 328 aid programs reflected in the numbers, more than half of the grant money is disbursed through highway funding, aid to families with dependent children, housing and general revenue sharing. Minnesota received $1.98 billion in grants-in-aid in fiscal 1985 while paying in $1.75 billion to the federal system.

According to the report, Texas fared the worst of all states by paying $1.59 in federal taxes for each dollar received in federal aid. It is no shock that the District of Columbia fared the best — paying in 35 cents for each dollar received. South Dakota had the best ratio among the 50 states with 48 cents paid for each dollar received, followed by Montana with 53 cents and Vermont with 54 cents.

Minnesota was last on the other side of the ledger in 1978 when the tax paid was $1.03 for each dollar received. The big question is what it actually costs in administrative and matching funds to receive the federal grants. A net loss — even with the plus-side payment — is a likely possibility.

Borrowed Nonsense

The summer camp counselor came upon a young camper along the lakeshore on the last day of camp. The boy was vigorously scrubbing a rock with a bar of soap. "Why are you washing that rock?" the counselor asked. "I'm not washing a rock," the youngster protested. "If I don't get the name off this soap my mom will know I didn't take no bath all week."

Customer to TV salesman: "No, I really don't need remote control. With four kids at home my chances of controlling it at all are really remote."

Beware of people who say they enjoy a cold shower in the morning. They are likely to lie about other things, too.

Early Frost Has Minimal Affect On State's Crops

Frost appeared in several areas of the state on August 27 and 28, mainly in low areas, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Small grain harvest is near completion but was slowed again last week as more rains moved through the state. Fall fieldwork is stepping up with plows and chisels turning the soil black again following grain harvest.

Wild rice harvest continues but had to contend with windy weather conditions. The southwest and central areas of the state continue to receive showers, causing fields to be very soft. Dry weather is needed as silo filling is not far away. Topsoil moisture as of August 29 was rated one per cent short, 79 per cent adequate and 20 per cent surplus. The number of days suitable for fieldwork during the week averaged 4.0.

Small grain harvest continues at a slow pace. Farmers are disappointed with the weedy fields and lower-than-expected yields, particularly in fields that were planted later. Many small grain fields have been swathed but can't be combined because of continuing rain and damp weather. Some small grains are being combined while damp and farmers using this practice are cautioned to watch closely for spoilage.

Row crops continue to develop ahead of last year but progress has slowed because of cooler temperatures. Three to four weeks of good weather are needed to see the crops through to maturity. Corn condition varies from poor to excellent depending on the time of planting and the amount of fertilizer used. Some corn borer damage was reported in the south central district. Soybeans are setting a lot of pods but need some additional good weather to reach full development. Fall potatoes are looking good. Wet weather conditions continue to hamper haying progress.

Spring wheat cut or swathed and beyond at 85 per cent compares with 73 per cent last year and 91 per cent for the five-year average. An estimated 68 per ceent of the crop is combined compared with 54 per cent a year ago and 81 per cent for the five-year average. Oats cut or swathed and beyhond at 96 per cent compares with 97 per cent and 98 per cent for last year and the five-year average, respectively. Oats combined at 85 per cent is the same as a year ago and compares with 94 per cent for the five-year average. Barley cut or swathed and beyond at 95 per cent compared with last year's 92 per cent and the five-year average of 97 per cent. An estimated 86 per cent of the acreage is combined versus 77 per cent last year and 92 per cent for the five-year average.

Field corn in the dough stage and beyond at 93 per cent compares with 83 per cent last year and 80 per cent for the five-year average. At 53 per cent dented, this compares with 29 per cent a year ago and 32 per cent for the five-year average. Field corn mature is estimated at three per cent compared with the five-year average of one per cent. Condition was rated one per cent very poor, one per cent poor, 15 per cent fair, 62 per cent good and 21 per cent excellent. Soybeans yellowing and beyond at 21 per cent compares with 13 per cent last year and 15 per cent for the five-year average. An estimated two per cent of the crop is shedding leaves versus none at this time last year and two per cent for the five-year average. Condition was rated one per cent very poor, 30 per cent fair, 63 per cent good and six per cent excellent.

Flax harvested at 11 per cent compares with 15 per cent last year and 30 per cent for the five-year average. Potatoes harvested are estimated at 10 per cent compared with eight per cent last year and seven per cent for the five-year average. Dry edible beans harvested at three per cent compares with six per cent a year ago and eight for the five-year average. Winter wheat seeded for the 1987 crop is estimated at 24 per cent compared with eight per cent last year and 16 per cent for the five-year average. Rye seeded for the 1987 crop at 16 per cent compares with nine per cent last year and 14 per cent for the five-year average. Small grain and hay stubble plowed or tilled at 33 per cent compares with 22 per cent last year and 35 per cent for the five-year average.

John Peterson To Speak At Full Gospel Group

John M. Peterson will be guest speaker for the Thief River Falls Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship international 7 p.m. September 15 at the city auditorium. Peterson will talk about his life and new experiences through the Bible.

Peterson, a former nightclub performer, left that way of life in 1978, attended Jerold Destine's institute of ministry in 1982, and went to work on staff at the Strawberry Lake Christian retreat during the summer, where he has ministered for the past three years.

Minnesota Has Fewer Acres Of Most Farm Crops

Minnesota producers planted fewer acres to major crops in 1986 except spring wheat, oats and sugarbeets, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Farmers expect to harvest more hay. Production estimates for only three crops — winter wheat, summer potatoes and apples — are available. All three are below year-earlier levels and may change later in the growing season, depending on weather and other factors affecting crops.

Corn acreage is estimated at 6.40 million acres, 12 per cent below last year and 200,000 less than reported in the March 1 intentions. This is the smallest acreage planted since 1973 except for 1983 when the PIK program was in effect.

Acres of soybeans planted totaled five million, two and one-half fewer than a year ago and down 50,000 acres from March 1 intentions.

All wheat acreage of 3.07 million acres is eight per cent more than a year earlier. The 2.85 million acres of spring wheat is up 16 per cent from last year. Durum wheat planted acres of 35,000 equals last year while winter wheat's revised planted acres at 180,000 are only about half of a year ago. Winter wheat production is forecast at 5.20 million bushels with an average yield of 40 bushels, up three from a year ago.

Producers planted 1.60 million acres of oats. Three per cent more than last year but 500,000 less than reported intentions on March 1. Barley at 1.20 million planted acres is unchanged from last year.

All sunflower acreage of 155,000 is down 37 per cent , and the lowest level since 1970. Plantings to oil varieties at 130,000 are down 41 per cent, but non-oil varieties held steady at 25,000 acres. Flax plantings of 35,000 acres are 42 per cent below 1985 and the lowest level since records were kept in 1920. Rye planted acres at 100,000 are 31 per cent fewer than a year ago.

All potato acreage of 80,300 is down six per cent. Fall acres at 74,000 and summer acres at 6,300 are both six per cent below last year. The summer potato crop production is forecast at 1.71 million hundredweight, five per cent under last year with an average yield of 275 hundredweight, equalling a year ago. Harvested acres are estimated at 6,200 acres. The summer area includes the counties of Anoka, Hennepin, Dakota, Isanti, Sherburne and Wright.

All hay for harvest at 2.95 million acres is up eight per cent from 1985 and the largest number of acres since 1979 and 1980. Alfalfa at 1.95 million acres is up seven per cent while other hay at one million acres is up 11 per cent.

Sugarbeet planted acres at 315,000 are up 13 per cent from last year and up four per cent from the March 1 intentions. This is a record level, dating to first records in 1924. Dry edible beans at 65,000 acres are down four per cent from last year's 68,000.

The apple crop is estimated at 17 million pounds, 26 per cent below a year earlier. Rainy, damp weather during bloom resulted in poor pollination.

Cycle Fatalities Increase But Mishaps Decline

While motorcycle fatalities increased last year by 26 per cent over 1984, the total number of motorcycle accidents decreased by one per cent and the number of injuries by three per cent. This was the second lowest number of motorcycle accidents and injuries since 1977, according to statistics released by the Minnesota department of public safety.

Although fatalities increased, the 1985 total of 77 was still nine per cent lower than the previous five-year average.

The percentage of fatal motorcycle accidents involving another vehicle also decreased in 1985. Only 40 per cent of all fatal crashes involved another motor vehicle while in 1984 over 54 per cent involved another vehicle.

"Last year our motorcycle safety program mounted a highly successful public information and education campaign aimed at other drivers, who were often found to cause many of the cycle crashes. The campaign, with the theme "Start Seeing Motorcycles," seems to have had a positive effect on the state's motorists," said Paul Tschida, public safety commissioner.

"This year we are encouraging motorcycle riders to improve their skills in a motorcycle training course because over half of all fatal motorcycle crashes last year were collisions with fixed objects or rollovers. Increasing motorcycling skills can help prevent these accidents."

The department also reported that alcohol involvement in fatal motorcycle crashes decreased by six per cent in 1985. The cyclist had been drinking or was under the influence in 65 per cent of the fatal crashes last year. The statistics also showed that a greater percentage of motorcyclists in severe accidents had been drinking than those in less severe crashes involving property damage only.

Other findings are:

— Helmet use in fatal crashes decreased in 1985. Seventy-nine per cent of the cyclists killed were not wearing a helmet while 51 per cent of those killed in 1985 were not wearing a helmet.

— The fatality rate for cyclists in crashes was five times greater than the rate for people in crashes of all vehicle types.

— Fifty-three per cent of all fatal crashes happened in rural areas. Injury crashes also occurred most often in rural areas.

— The highest number of fatal crashes took place between 1 and 2 a.m.

— The group accounting for the most fatal and injury crashes was 20 to 24-year-old males.

Illegal or unsafe speed was the most commonly cited contributing factor for the motorcyclist while failure to yield the right of way was the most common factor for other motor vehicle drivers.

80TH BIRTHDAY FOR OTTO MAGNELL

The following helped Otto Magnell celebrate his 80th birthday at the Darrow and Shirley Lundeen home on Sunday. Lyle and Muriel Mandt, Lance and Vicky Mandt and Rachael, Leigh and Lucas, Violet and Elias Disrud and Dale and Jeff, Fred and Evelyn Lundeen, Corlan Magnell and Jason, Mrs. Dennis (Cheryl) Magnell Jessica and Jillian, Wesley and Penny Magnell, Jonathan, Charlie, Mark and Annette Vettleson, Derek, Erica, Lindsay and Nicholes and their exchange student from Germany, John, Jim and Lori Reinbold and Eric, Kari and Becky, Kelly and Connie Lundeen, Alison, Adam, Brian, Nathan, and Kyla, Shari Olson and Derek, Tracy, Gary Lundeen and Tasha, and Kelsey, Clarence and Leah (Otto's sister) Johnson, Maynard and Rose Mandt, Randy and Nancy Magnell, Craig, Troy, Isaac, and Jennifer, Darrow and Shirley Lundeed. Sharing her great grandfather's birth date is Kari Reinbold who was 8 years old and presented grandpa Otto with an A-1 grandpa hat. Those who sent birthday greetings but were unable to attend were Greg and Mari (Mandt) Klesk of Hopkins, Gunder and Leola Gunderson (lifetime friends and neighbors) and Amanda (Otto's sister) and Beulah (Otto's niece) Hegtvedt of Alexandria. Happy birthday, Otto, and many more from the community.

Correction

Omitted last week — Otto Magnell is also great-grandpa to Kyla Joy, adopted daughter of Connie and Kelly. Sorry about that....

Signe Evenson passed away at 92 years last Tuesday, August 25, at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls. Funeral rites were held at the Ebneezer church north of Oklee by Pastor Zaffke. Blessed be her memory by daughters Helen, Ethel, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Signe resided at the Oakland Park rest home in Thief River Falls for three years. Signe had lost her vision and hearing but the family could converse with grandma through a microphone. Signe passed away from kidney infection. The following is a special poem written by grandmom's friend, Gladys Baker Swanson, of Shevlin, now deceased also:

To Thee
I leave the birds that sing, the first new flower of early spring;
The autumn leaves in red and gold flown away a tale that is told;
Of such is life, but little while, love it, and live it, with a smile:
Pass you by and then you say she was here, but she's gone away....

Paul Brandt Gains 202 Yards, Scores Four Touchdowns In 39-15 TRF Win . . .

Prowlers Beat Lakers To End Losing Streak

Detroit Lakes fans might have been puzzled Saturday by the way Thief River Falls players, coaches and fans carried on in the Prowlers' 39-15 high school football win over the host Lakers. Sure, they won, but, hey, these people were carrying on in a fashion generally reserved for a post-season title-winning effort, not a mere regular season encounter in Week 2 of the 1986 season.

But those Detroit Lakes people who might have been taken back by the Thief River Falls outburst simply didn't understand.

They didn't understand the win snapped a 13-game losing streak for the Prowlers that dated back to the 1984 season.

They didn't understand what the 39 points meant to a team that scored an embarrassing nine points all last year.

And they didn't understand the satisfaction that goes to a young head coach collecting his first win, especially after you've began your coaching career 0-9.

"It feels great," smiled Jeff Mumm moments after the final seconds ticked off the clock and before the second-year Thief River Falls head coach addressed his team in the end zone - just as he has after every game since he took over just before the start of the 1985 season. This time it was different, though. It was a win. No need to search for words of consolation, or no need to berate his team for a poor effort. They played well, especially in the second half when the Prowlers scored on each of their four possessions to out-score the Lakers 27-0 in making up for a 15-12 halftime deficit.

"I told them (at halftime), if they wanted it, it was theirs," said Mumm. "I told them I would do the best job coaching I possibly could, and it was up to them to play as well as they possibly could."

It was all Thief River Falls after intermission. The Prowlers had two possessions and two touchdowns in both the third and fourth quarter to win it going away.

Leading the way was Paul Brandt, a 6-0, 171-pound senior runningback, who carried the ball 28 times for 202 yards and scored four touchdowns on runs of 3, 23, 69 and 3 yards. Fullback Mike Bendickson accumulated some numbers, too, with 14 carries for 73 yards and two touchdowns, while quarterback Chris Bjorgaard was an effective 5-for-10 in the air for 69 yards and a touchdown.

"The offense is really clicking," beamed Mumm, who installed a new wing-T attack this fall after last year's disaster on offense. "The kids are running it really well, and they're believing in it more and moire."

But it was Detroit Lakes' surprising success on the ground that took the spotlight in the first half. The Lakers have gone on record saying the pass would be a key part of their attack this fall. But they hurt the Prowlers on the ground, running mostly inside the tackles, for that 15-12 halftime lead.

Fifteen consecutive running plays did most of the damage on a 16-play, 84-yard Detroit Lakes drive that opened the scoring, although it was a five-yard pass from James Landsem to Chris Mills that put the points on the scoreboard on the second play of the second quarter. Landsem rolled to the right on a third-and-goal call and lobbed the ball to his wide open end to snap a scoreless tie. Jeff Lipke added the conversion kick.

Thief River Falls answered that touchdown on the next possession, a 10-play, 66-yard drive that began with a seven-yard Bjorgaard pass to Brandt out of the backfield, plus a 15-yard penalty on the Lakers for a late-hit on the play. Brandt later scored the touchdown as he high-stepped his way into the end zone on a second-goal-goal snap from the three-yard line at 7:19. The extra point kick was wide of the mark, leaving it 7-6, Detroit Lakes.

But that didn't last long. Detroit Lakes' Tom Riordan lost the ball on the ensuing kickoff return on a hard hit, and Thief River Falls' Tony Rondorf recovered the fumble at the Lakers' 23-yard line.

Brandt scored immediately, coming up with a dandy effort along the sidelines when he was hemmed in by the Detroit Lakes defense, but did a tightrope walk for his second touchdown in an 18-second span. This time a two-point conversion try was botched by a bad pitch, making it 12-7.

Detroit Lakes beat the clock and the Prowlers to go ahead 15-12 at halftime.

Thief River Falls came up short on a fourth down fake punt try with four minutes left in the first half, giving the Lakers possession at their own 41. Ten running plays led to a two-yard touchdown run by Ron Schroeder with 21 seconds remaining. He was turned around at the line of scrimmage on the third down snap, but backed over the goal line, just breaking the plane of the end zone. Schroeder, a 6-0, 210-pound junior, finished the game with 110 yards rushing, but just 30 of those yards came in the second half after Mumm and the Prowlers made some defensive adjustments to close down the Lakers' inside running game.

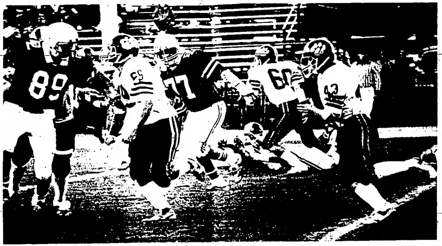
Rod Hinrichs recovered a fumble at the Detroit Lakes 44-yard line on the first offensive snap of the second half, and seven plays later the Prowlers led 19-15 when Bjorgaard handed off to Bendickson on a second down draw play. There was nobody left in the middle, and Bendickson had clear sailing on the 22-yard run. Chris Nelson made the conversion kick for a 19-15 lead that never disappeared.

Detroit Lakes turned the ball over on downs at the Thief River Falls 36-yard line with 3:50 left in the third quarter, and the Prowlers scored on the final play of the period when Bjorgaard, after looking the defense to the right, turned and threw to Bendickson, all alone on the left side. Bendickson first tried some open field moves that fullbacks usually don't have time to try, then simply put his head down and bulled his way through two defenders for the final two yards on the 24-yard play. Nelson's kick was partially blocked, making it 25-15.

The Prowlers still weren't sure a 10-point lead would stand up, but after forcing another Detroit Lakes punt, Thief River Falls clinched it when Brandt went to the right, broke a tackle at the line of scrimmage and out-ran the Detroit Lakes defense on a 69-yard touchdown run with 6:07 to play. Nelson's kick put it at 32-15.

Brandt finished it off with a three-yard run on a pitch to the right with 1:10 left, capping a nine-play, 42-yard drive.

Thief River Falls visits Bemidji Friday for 7:30 p.m. game.



FIRST PLAY OF the game set the tone for Thief River Falls runningback Paul Brandt (43) as he followed the blocking of tackle Rod Hinrichs (69) for an 18-yard gain in Saturday's high school football game at Detroit Lakes. The Lakers' Byron Sagen (89) and Tony Glander (77) weren't able to contain Brandt on the play. The Prowlers' Tom Anderson (60) was a guard on the other side of the line. Brandt had an outstanding game as he scored four touchdowns and rushed for 202 yards as the Prowlers snapped a 13-game losing streak with a second half scoring outburst that beat the Lakers 39-15.

Volleyball Team 3-0 Winner Over Rams

A 3-0 sweep at Roseau Friday evened the Thief River Falls record at 1-1 in early season high school volleyball action.

Head coach Helen Anderson, who was disappointed with the Prowlers' performance in a season-opening 3-1 loss at Warren last Tuesday, was happy with the improvement shown in Friday's 15-6, 15-6, 15-6 victory.

"It was a much better performance all around," explained Anderson. "There was a lot of good teamwork. There are still a few things we have to work on, but it was much more organized this time."

Bekah Bortnem led the Prowlers with 14 service point, while Vikki Weigand had 9 and Paulie Wegge and Stephanie Benson both had 7. Weigand was a force at the net, and Wegge came off the bench to play well, said Anderson.

Thief River Falls junior varsity and C squad teams both moved their records to 2-0 with two-game sweeps Friday. The junior varsity won 15-12, 16-14 and the C squad triumphed 15-8, 15-5.

The Prowlers' 1986 home opener will be played Thursday against Fisher.

Elementary School Football

A new elementary school flag football program for Thief River Falls fourth and fifth graders will get underway Saturday, Setpember 13.

Interested youngsters should report to their respective grade school buildings at 9 a.m. Members of the Lincoln High School varsity football team will serve as coaches for the five-week program.

Each Saturday morning session will be completed about 11 a.m., said Prowlers head coach Jeff Mumm, who is organizing the elementary school program, in cooperation with the Touchdown Club.

Lap Swimming

A lap swimming conditioning program is being offered from 6:45 to 7:45 a.m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Cost is $1 per session.

Firearms Safety Program

First session and registration for the fall youth firearms safety training program will be held Tuesday, September 9, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Registration fee is $5, payable at the first meeting. No registrations will be accepted after September 11.

Classes are open all boys and girls ages 12-15. Other class sessions will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, September 10; Thursday, September 11; Tuesday, September 16; and Wednesday, September 17.

For additional information contact Irving Swanson at 681-1049.

Elks Hunter's Stag Changed

Annual Thief River Falls Elks Hunter's Stag, scheduled for Friday, September 12, has been postponed until Friday, October 24.

CLAIMING THE fourth quarter as their's, players on the Thief River Falls sidelines held up four fingers as they celebrated a 69-yard touchdown run by Paul Brandt midway through the fourth quarter of Saturday's high school football game at Detroit Lakes. The run by Brandt and extra point kick by Chris Nelson opened up a 32-15 cushion and the Prowlers went on to claim a 39-15 decision that ended a frustrating 13-game losing streak. It was a come-from-behind effort as the Prowlers overcame a 15-12 halftime deficit to even their 1986 record at 1-1.

Carlson Is TRF Snoball Golf Champ

Marv Carlson won the championship flight Sunday at the annual Snoball Invitational at the Thief River Falls Golf Club.

Carlson won out over a 13-player championship flight field with a 27-hole 113 on rounds of 36-37-40.

Dave Kildahl and Steve Phillion shared second place at 117. Kildahl had rounds of 35-45-37, and Phillion, from Red Lake Falls, covered the 9-hole lay-out in 39-38-40.

A three-way fourth place tie at 118 featured Jim Raymond of Red Lake Falls, Paul Williams and Tim Delmore. Raymond had rounds of 40-40-38; Williams went 40-39-39; and Delmore carded a 41-38-39.

First flight — 1. Jim Shirley; 2. Mike Pelowski, Crookston; cons. Tom Mickelson.

Second flight — 1. Wally Krueger; 2. Art Welter; cons. Steve Hagenah.

Third flight — 1. Gary Whalen, Crookston; 2. Monte Markstrom; cons. Barry Lundin, Winkler, Man.

Fourth flight — 1. Rocky Eck, Gonvick; 2. Jeff Wiltse; cons. Harvey Straw, Crookston.

Fifth flight — 1. John Hedin, Gonvick; 2. Larry Shetler; cons. Don Shetler.

Prowlers Face Swim Powers

Alexandria and Moorhead presented the Thief River Falls girls with some of the toughest swimming competition they'll face this fall during a Saturday triangular at Moorhead High School, but coach Jay Forney said the Prowlers welcomed the challenge.

"We went into this meet with the idea of competing with, and not against, some of the best swimmers in our section," said Forney. "It was a fun meet with so many quality swimmers. The girls found out what they have to do by sectional time."

Alexandria, winner of six straight Section 8 titles, won the triangular with 138 points, followed by a strong Moorhead team with 82 points and Thief River Falls with 60.

Thief River Falls did not come up with any first place finishes, but two Prowlers met sectional qualifying times and eight personal-best times were recorded. Marci Turenne, 100

Big Night For TRF

Paul Brandt had quite a night Saturday when the Thief River Falls Speedster rushed for 202 yards and scored four touchdowns as the Prowlers beat Detroit Lakes 39-15 in a Section 8A high school football game.

In fact it was the best performance by a Thief River Falls runningback in the 17 years this writer has been covering the Prowlers.

[illegible] date back to the 1970 [illegible] to accumulate facts and figures before that date have been fruitless.

Best rushing figure in our books previously was a 189-yard performance by Jeff Kosel on September 23, 1977 vs. Staples.

Brandt also matched the single-game scoring figure in our books with his four touchdowns. Rob Swenson and Kent Smith also had 24-point games for the Prowlers. Swenson, who went on to play at Dartmouth, turned the trick on September 3, 1971 vs Dilworth, and Smith, who went on to play at Nebraska, did it September 29, 1972 vs East Grand Forks.

The 39 points scored against Detroit Lakes was the Prowlers' highest scoring figure since they beat East Grand Forks 43-6 in the second-to-the last game of the 1983 season.

And it was the first Thief River Falls victory since a 12-6 win over Crookston late in the 1984 season. During that 13-game Thief River Falls losing streak the Prowlers were shut out seven times, were held to a two-point safety on another occasion and produced just one touchdown in the other five games.

College Notes

+ Tim Kruse, a [illegible] junior defensive end from [illegible] Falls, and Mark [illegible] pound senior quarterback from Red Lake Falls were starters for the Concordia College football team when the Cobbers opened their 1986 season Saturday against rival Moorhead State University.

+ Nate Stokke, a 6-2, 197-pound senior linebacker from Marshall County Central, was listed as a starter Saturday when the University of North Dakota football team opened its 1986 season at Northwest Missouri State. Mark Poolman, a 6-1, 190-pound sophomore wide receiver from Warren, and Joe Krouss, a 6-6, 255-pound sophomore offensive guard from Lake of the Woods, were listed as back-up personnel for the Sioux.

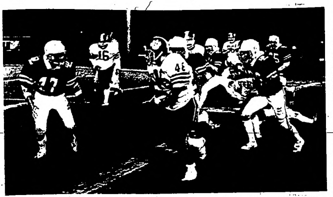
+ Rob Jorstad, a 5-9, 185-pound senior fullback from Thief River Falls is a member of the Bemidji State University football team. The Beavers are loaded with former North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school performers including standout Alan Wolden, a 6-3, 227-pound senior tailback from Gonvick-Trail; Gary Torkelson, a 6-0, 205-pound freshman defensive end from Plummer; Kevin Prosser, a 6-1, 225-pound senior defensive end from Clearbrook; Sean Metzger, a 6-4, 240-pound freshman offensive tackle from Fisher-Climax; and Gene Fisher, a 6-1, 185-pound sophomore receiver from Plummer.

+ A married couple from Thief River Falls figure to be among the top runners on the 1986 University of North Dakota men's and women's cross country teams. Lon Aune, a junior, and Kristy Forsberg-Aune, a senior, who were married recently, have resumed their track and cross country careers with the Sioux, who will open their year Saturday at the NDSSS Invitational in Wahpeton, ND.

Miscellaneous

Thief River Falls athletic director Mike Novak, in an effort to boost school pride and increase attendance at the Prowlers' 1986 home volleyball opener, has announced that all fans attending Thursday's match against Fisher will be admitted free of charge if they wear Prowler blue or gold to the Lincoln High School gym that night.

Novak emphasized, though, that to gain free admittance on Prowler Blue and Gold Night, fans have to wear Prowler colors. "I'm not letting anyone in free if they're wearing Bemidji blue," he said.



HEADING OUTSIDE, Thief River Falls fullback Mike Bendickson (46) picked up a seven-yard gain before running into Detroit Lakes defensive back Todd Schweigert (47) in the fourth quarter of Saturday's Section 8A high school football game at Detroit Lakes. Bendickson carried the ball 14 times for 73 yards and scored two touchdowns as the Prowlers broke into the win column for the first time since the 1984 season.

Middle River Shut Out By Oslo-Alvarado 14-0 Friday

Middle River was involved in its second shutout of the still-young 1986 high school football season Friday, but the Skippers, who blanked Kittson County North 8-0 in their Northern Lights Conference nine-man opener, drew the zero Friday afternoon at Oslo-Alvarado 14-0.

"The defense was decent," explained Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, but the offense, hampered by penalties and injuries, didn't provide the needed support.

"We hurt ourselves with penalties," pointed out Sparby, who also watched his offensive line try to operate without three starts, including both guards, because of injuries. Brad Kilen didn't start because of an injury suffered in practice Thursday, and Larry Korpi fell to an injury in the middle of the third quarter, followed by the loss of end Brian Peterson.

"We couldn't run the ball," acknowledged Sparby. "When you lose three starters in the offensive line you've got trouble. Our fourth quarter was a disaster."

Still, it was a close game. Oslo-Alvarado didn't score until Shaun Havis hit Alan Zola with a 21-yard touchdown pass at the end of the third quarter, then added an insurance touchdown on a 21-yard run by Ben Carpenter in the fourth quarter.

Middle River lost an apparent touchdown at the beginning of the second quarter when a 35-yard run by Casey Johnson was erased by a penalty.

Lone Middle River offensive threat in the game was runningback Tom Gullikson, who carried 12 times for 59 yards. But most of those yards came in the first half when he was operating behind a more fully-staffed line.

Defensively, 166-pound junior Mark Gram, who was moved from a safety to middle linebacker because of the injuries, was credited with nine unassisted tackles and five assisted tackles, and Michael Nelson, a 167-pound senior who plays defensive end, had nine tackles and four assists. "They played excellent games," said Sparby. Gullikson was also busy on defense with seven tackles and four assisted stops at linebacker.

Middle River hosts Badger Friday at 7:30 p.m.

MCC 8

Three Marshall County Central mistakes helped Argyle to a 21-0 first half lead Friday as the Nordics lost to the Eagles 29-8 in a Top of the State Conference game at Newfolden.

"They're a first place team, and they know what to do to stay there," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Sam Gebhart. "We've got to find something to do that will get us out of last place."

Marshall County Central's first offensive series of the game resulted in a third down interception that set up Argyle at the Nordics' 18-yard line, and the Eagles' Bill Rivard scored from the 10 two plays later.

It didn't take long for the mistake-prone Nordics to commit another error when their first snap of their second possession resulted in another interception, this one at midfield. Preston Stoltman capped the Argyle drive with a 4-yard touchdown run.

Misfortune continued to plague the Nordics when a hard Argyle rush played a part in a 5-yard Marshall County Central punt that set up the Eagles at the 25 and resulted in a 2-yard Jon St. Germain touchdown run.

"Our turnovers really set up their scoring," offered Gebhart. "We had a lot of breakdowns on offense. They executed and we didn't."

Argyle added a 5-yard Tommy Durand touchdown run in the third quarter and Marshall County Central scored on a 54-yard Danni Halvorson run in the fourth quarter.

In addition to their problems on offense, the Nordics also had trouble on defense, giving up 339 yards on the ground. "We gave up quite a few yards," admitted Gebhart (125 in the first quarter alone, he explained). We didn't have a good game on defense at all."

Marshall County Central netted 135 yards on the ground and 54 yards in the air as Darrin Rokke completed 7 of 14 pass attempts.

Three players did turn in solid defensive efforts, said Gebhart, including Halvorson, who had 14 unassisted tackles and nine assisted stops, along with a fumble recovery from his linebacker spot; Tom Bolstad, who was in on 11 tackles after being switched from cornerback to linebacker; and Jason Skadsem, who came up from his safety position to make nine tackles.

Marshall County Central, a 26-14 loser to Stephen in the 1986 season opener the week before, will visit Hallock Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Clearbrook 12

Plummer made a bundle of mistakes, but still came out a 16-12 North Tri-County Conference winner at Clearbrook Friday as the Cardinals began the year 2-0 for the first time since their 1983 championship season.

"We tried to self-destruct," admitted Plummer coach Gary Brantl, who watched his team lose four fumbles, throw two interceptions and pick up 60 yards in penalties.

But the Cardinals, who beat Akeley-Laporte 28-24 in a nonconference season-opener the week before, won on the strength of a 33-yard Wade Grinde touchdown pass to Craig Brantl in the first quarter, an 18-yard John Fisher touchdown run in the third quarter, plus a pair of all-important two-point conversions.

Clearbrook made it interesting with a pair of fourth quarter scores, but couldn't come up with the conversions.

"I thought we played a pretty good first half, but we started getting sloppy in the second half: we opened the door for them," said Brantl.

Fisher carried the ball 11 times for 75 yards and Jim Skjerven had 18 carries for 51 yards as the Cardinals collected 131 yards on 34 carries. Grinde was 10-for-18 passing for 118 yards. Shane Freyholtz caught five passes for 41 yards and Brantl caught three for 42 yards.

Linebacker Neil Huotari had a strong game to lead Plummer defensively, coming up with nine solo tackles, four assisted stops, a fumble recovery and a pass interception. Dan Wichterman had an interception and seven tackles for the Cardinals, who matched their win total for the entire 1985 season.

Plummer will host conference newcomer Redlake Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cardinals' home opener.

Nevis 6

Oklee rebounded from a disappointing 22-8 season-opening loss to Ulen-Hitterdahl the week before with an 18-6 nonconference victory at Nevis Friday afternoon.

"I thought we played a better team better," reported Oklee coach Dale Svaren.

Oklee standouts were runningback Greg Bishop and defensive ends Jeff Hamm and Jeff Nelson. Bishop, a 5-7, 170-pound senior had a busy 33-carry night for 141 yards, producing most of the Bobcats' 191 yards on the ground. Hamm and Nelson helped keep Nevis off the scoreboard until the fourth quarter, playing very well defensively, according to Svaren.

One of the big plays of the game was turned in early when a game-opening march by Nevis stalled deep in Oklee territory and Hamm blocked a short field goal attempt, setting the tempo for the afternoon.

Quarterback Todd Bergeron produced a pair of Oklee touchdowns with a 12-yard first quarter pass to Jeff Nelson and a 25-yard third quarter run. Bishop added an 8-yard fourth quarter score for an 18-0 cushion.

Oklee begins North Tri-County Conference play Friday, hosting Gary at 7:30 p.m.

TRF JV Wins 14-0 Game Against EGF

Eight points were scored by the defense Thursday as the Thief River Falls junior varsity football team opened its 1986 high school season with a 14-0 win over East Grand Forks at Prowler Field.

Defensive back Joel Swanson scored on a 33-yard pass interception return in the second quarter and defensive tackle David Altepeter picked up two points on a safety in the fourth quarter for the winners.

Jeff Brouse finished the scoring on a 45-yard touchdown run.

Thief River Falls sophomores are scheduled to host Bemidji today (Monday) in a 4:30 p.m. game.

DNR NEWS

Antlerless Deer Applications

Hunters applying for a permit to hunt antlerless deer this fall must have their application for the computerized drawing to the Department of Natural Resources today (Monday, Sept. 8).

Officials emphasized that the date is one week earlier than the application deadline of previous years. The deadline also applies to various other special deer hunts. Officials urged hunters to obtain a copy of the 1986 Big Game Regulations for information.

Copies of the regulations and permit applications are available from county auditors and license agents throughout Minnesota.

Hmong Hunters

A continuing program to educate Hmong people now living in Minnesota in the game laws and hunting customs of their new land made significant progress recently when 15 members of the Hmong community completed an instructor training course given by the Department of Natural Resources that will equip them to give classes in the DNR's Advanced Hunter Education Program.

Previously, the classes were presented by DNR Advanced Hunter Education instructors, with the problems of language and culture making communication a slow and difficult process.

Ever since the end of the Vietnam war, when numbers of Hmong and other Laotians began emigrating to the U.S. to escape persecution for their support of the American and South Vietnam cause, the Hmong in Minnesota have come into conflict with state hunting regulations and hunting traditions — simply for lack of knowledge of regulations or understanding of prevailing hunting customs.

Unable to speak or understand English, but avid hunters, the Hmong soon aroused the concern of DNR conservation officers and the enmity of many state hunters.

For several years the DNR has been making a concerted effort to make the Hmong aware of state and federal wildlife regulations. The state small game laws have been translated into at least two languages and copies printed for distribution to Hmong hunters.

Training classes have been held, employing interpreters, and trips have been arranged to the Bell Museum of Natural History to show Hmong hunters native Minnesota wildlife species, pointing out those that are legal game and those that are protected.

Department officials said the Hmong had difficulty grasping the concepts that some animals could not be hunted. The Hmong lived in remote mountainous areas of northern Laos in the midst of thousands of acres of forest and jungle.

They hunted virtually all species of wildlife for food and sport, including small birds. There were no seasons or regulations of any kind.

Hmong also hunted to control tigers or other dangerous animals that posed a threat to their village, to protect crops from depredation by monkeys and other wildlife and for meat and skins to sell in the markets.

Hunting arms included modern rifles, if available; otherwise they employed home made black powder guns and even sling shots. Traps of bamboo or wood were used by those who had no firearms.

DNR hunter education specialists said an ongoing program will be required to provide the Hmong with information they need to comply with hunting regulations and to identify game and non-game wildlife.

They pointed out that young Hmongs are going to need the information as they become old enough to hunt, and, like all youthful hunters, they will also require instruction in the safe use of firearms.

Muzzleloader Applicants

Deer hunters seeking permits to hunt with a muzzleloader in the Lac qui Parle Wildlife Management Area this fall were advised by the Department of Natural Resources this week that the address to obtain details of the hunt was mistakenly omitted from the Big Game Hunting Regulations. The address is Muzzleloader Hunt, Lac qui Parle WMA, Route 1, Box 23, Watson, MN 56295.

Wildlife officials said the deadline for applying for a permit is September 8; therefore, hunters have little time to fill out their applications and send them in.

Officials noted that the address is the same one to be used by goose hunters applying to reserve a shooting station at Lac qui Parle during the waterfowl season, which opens Oct. 4.

Donation From Sportsmen

Donation of $3,000 by six sportsmens groups to the Department of Natural Resources will be used to purchase two used machines designed to seed native prairie grasses.

Ken Varland, DNR roadside wildlife specialist at New Ulm, said the Department has had only one seeder for the entire 27 county southwest Minnesota region.

"Native prairie grasses make good wildlife cover and required less maintenance than cultivated varieties, but special seeders are needed to handle the light fluffy seeds," he explained.

Clubs making the donation included Pheasants Forever Chapters in the counties of Lyon, Murray, Nobles, Redwood, and Renville, and the Round Lake Sportsmens Club in Jackson County.

Varland said the seeders will be strategically located to minimize hauling time and maximize seeding time.

"By pooling their funds to purchase the seeders," said Varland, "the clubs have made an important contribution towards improving wildlife habitat in an area where it has declined sharply in recent years due to changes in agriculture."

Donation To DNR

For the second consecutive year, the Minnesota Association of Structure Fishermen has made a donation of valuable equipment to the Department of Natural Resources for use in fisheries management work.

Donations were made to the DNR's Metro Region Fisheries unit which is responsible for fish management in the seven county metro area.

This year's donation, valued at $1,300, consisted of two deep cycle batteries and battery charger, four dip nets, seven scales for weighing fish, a variable speed reversing cordless drill and 35mm camera and attachments.

Equipment will be used in fish production, stocking operations, and other management activities.

Last year, the club donated equipment valued at nearly $2,000.

Fishing Group Donation

Donation of a King 1060 depth recorder to the Department of Natural Resources by the Western Lake Superior Trolling Association will give a big assist to the DNR's fish management program, according to Lake Superior Area Fisheries Manager John Spurrier.

"The unit will enable us to find and inventory lake trout spawning sites, locations for test netting and other areas of special interest," said Spurrier. "It will also show the presence of fish and pinpoint their depth, making it possible to take samples of these fish populations for research purposes."

He said the King unit can record depths to 1,500 feet on graph paper for a permanent record. It also has digital displays of depth, surface water temperature and boat speed.

Spurrier said the unit can be used in conjunction with a Loran-C navigation instrument, donated by the Association last year, to instantaneously mark the exact location of features observed on the graph.

"The Western Lake Superior Trolling Association is making a valuable contribution to the DNR's fisheries management programs, programs that will benefit all anglers using the lake," said Spurrier.

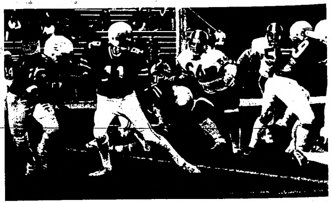
Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Iverson and Leslie brought birthday greetings to Clarence Dahlen.



DETROIT LAKES quarterback James Landsem dropped back to pass, drawing the attention of Thief River Falls defensive tackle Elliot Baker (64) in the first quarter of Saturday's high school football game at Detroit Lakes. The Lakers indicated they plan to make extensive use of the passing game this fall, but Landsem was just 1-for-10 against the Prowlers for five yards as Thief River Falls won a 39-15 game. The Prowlers, 1-1, visit Bemidji Friday.

Area High School Volleyball . . .

MCC, Grygla Meet Tuesday

Marshall County Central and Grygla, figured to be among the top contenders in North Border Conference and District 32 A high school volleyball this fall, have an early-season showdown Tuesday at Newfolden.

The Nordics opened their 1986 schedule Thursday with a 3-1 home court win over Stephen.

It was a close match, with Marshall County Central winning 15-11, 14-16, 15-9 and 15-10.

"I was real pleased with our effort, overall," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "There are still a few things we have to work on, but we did some things well."

Senior Jodi Foss and Sophomore Kelli Anderson, in her first varsity match, played particularly well, according to Mjelde. Foss had 17 ace attacks and Anderson 12.

Oklee - Fosston

Oklee rebounded from a season-opening loss to Ada-Borup Tuesday with a 3-0 sweep at Fosston Thursday.

"We played a better match in some phases of the game," explained Oklee coach Brad Borene as he watched the Bobcats win 15-6, 15-6. "We made some improvements."

Front line performer Joelle Enerson (four kill spikes) and back row player Cheryl Hanson (10 service points) performed their role-playing duties in fine fashion, said Borene. Julie Murack and Kari Sebenaler also played well at the net, he said, and Cici Olson handled the setting chores smoothly.

Nancy Osbjornson had nine service points to finish behind Hanson in that category.

Oklee will host Gonvick-Trail tonight (Monday) in the Bobcats' 1986 home opener, a change in an announced Tuesday date.

Grygla - LOW

Grygla overcame a slow start to beat Lake of the Woods 3-0 in the Eagles' home opener.

"First game we started real slow" acknowledged Grygla coach Mike Gast. "They were a little nervous at first in their first home match. But we made a couple of nice plays, and then we looked good most of the rest of the night."

Grygla won 15-7, 15-6, 15-7.

Nikki Lian ahad 16 service points and teammed with Michelle Jelle for a strong spiking performance at the net, said Gast.

Oklee — UMC Invite

Oklee came up with a third place finish Saturday in the eight-team University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational.

The Bobcats beat East Grand Forks 17-15, 15-8 in the opening round quarterfinals, came out on the losing end of a 15-6, 9-15, 15-8 semifinal encounter with Pine to Prairie Conference rival Fertile-Beltrami but rebounded to handle Crookston 15-5, 15-4 in the third place match.

"I was pretty happy with our performance," said Oklee coach Brad Borene. "Overall, I was really pleased with our progress."

Cici Olson had a strong day for the Bobcats, said Borene, including a perfect 50-for-50 effort at the service line, and a solid performance as a setter. Joelle Enerson also played well at the net, said Borene.

Prowlers Play Strong Foes

Facing their first major test of the 1986 season, the Thief River Falls girls finished fourth in a well-balanced seven-team Lake Hubert Invitational high school tennis tournament near Brainerd Saturday.

Coon Rapids won the round-robin competition with 29 points, followed by Blue Earth with 28, White Bear Lake 27, Thief River Falls 19, Brainerd 16, Hill-Murray 15 and Staples 13.

Thif River Falls had three second place finishers in the day-long event — junior Kelly Cornell at No. 1 singles; freshman Monica Haapoja at No. 3 singles; and freshmen Kaye Dondelinger and Stacy Breuer at No. 3 doubles.

"Overall, our kids played well," reported Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson, who had looked forward to the tough competition for the Prowlers, who have breezed through area match-ups. "It was an excellent day of tennis for them. If we could just play that kind of competition once a week, it would really be something just how good we could become."

Thief River Falls will be in Crookston Tuesday for a 2 p.m. triangular with the Pirates and Moorhead.

TRF Girls Win Second Swim Meet . . .

Prowlers Sink Panthers

There were 15 personal-best times turned in by Thief River Falls girls Thursday as the Prowlers overwhelmed Park Rapids 102-66 in a dual meet high school swimming encounter.

It was the second dual meet win in as many starts for the Prowlers, who beat Brainerd in their 1986 opener six days earlier.

"Their times at this point of the season are encouraging, looking to where we would like them to be by the sectional meet," said Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney after watching the Prowlers win nine of ten swimming events. Thief River Falls was again shut out in the diving department.

Christy Puetz was a double-event winner for the visiting Prowlers with a 27.29 in the 50-yard freestyle and a 1:09.87 in the 100-yard butterfly.

Other individual winners for the Prowlers were Pete Kuyath, 2:20.22 in the 200-yard freestyle; Michelle Turenne, 2:46.79 in the 200-yard individual medley; Brenda Russell, 1:01.99 in the 100-yard freestyle; Marci Turenne, 1:15.49 in the 100-yard backstroke; and Jenny Ness, 1:19.08 in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Prowlers also won both relay races. Marci Turenne, Puetz, Ness and Heidi Tofte went 2:06.38 in the 200-yard medley relay, while Laura Beito, Russell, Kuyath and Tofte went 4:13.82 in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

There were four sectional-qualifying efforts turned in by the Prowlers Thursday — Puetz and Tofte in the 50-yard freestyle; Beito in the 100-yard freestyle; and Borchert in the 100-yard breaststroke.

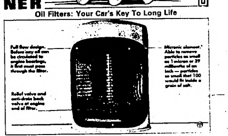
Oil Filters: Your Car's Key To Long Life



Full flow design. Before any oil can be circulated to engine bearings, it first must pass through the filter.
Relief valve and anti-drain back valve at engine end of filter.
Micronic element.* Able to remove particles as small as 1 micron or 39 millionths of an inch — particles so small that 100 would fit inside a grain of salt.

Changing your car's oil filter regularly can help your engine last longer.

There are several things you can do now to lengthen the life of your car's engine—and perhaps the time between now and the next time you have to purchase a new car.

One of the most important aspects of under-the-hood car maintenance involves oil and the oil filter. The oil filter plays a major role in keeping your car running smoothly. All oil that flows through to the engine is first filtered through the filter to weed out impurities. Even if you change your oil regularly, it's just as important to change the filter at the same time.

After an oil change, the lubricant in the oil chamber may be clean but up to a quart of it resides in your oil filter at all times. Unless you change your oil filter, along with the oil, you'll mix the old, dirty oil with the new. A complete oil change means replacing your oil filter, as well.

For example, in Purolator's full flow, spin-on type of oil filter, the kind most cars use, the contaminants trapped through the filtration are caught in the filter's Micronic paper element so they can't travel to the bearings along with the oil.

This element can remove particles as small as one micron, or 39 millionths of an inch. Without this filtering process, the filter element can get too clogged with contaminants for oil to pass, and the pressure relief valve opens, letting dirty oil flow into the engine.

When you're logging miles between oil changes, as prescribed by your car's manufacturer, remember the importance of changing your filter along with the oil. It's an important part of your car's road to longer life.

The 4-H general livestock judging contest, according to Chairman Bob Fritz, requires observation, evaluation, judgment and ability to express oneself and communicate with others.

TIMES AROUND THE REGION

Lancaster Fall Festival

LANCASTER—The annual Fall Festival will be held September 13. Events include a kiddie parade, soap box derby, kids' money and candy scrambles, scavenger hunt, big vegetable contest, clown masquerade contest, remote control miniature car demonstration race, horse shoe tournament, and a free feed including hot dogs and beverage.

Sunday Chicken Dinner

RED LAKE FALLS—A chicken dinner, games and an auction will be held September 14 at the community center to help the city pay for their new Christmas lights. The dinner will include a quarter chicken, baked potatoes, buns, cole slaw, milk and coffee for $3 per plate, $2 for age 10 and under, and $1 for preschoolers. Games will be played upstairs in the hall during the dinner, and an auction will be held beginning at 2:30 p.m. outside.

Senior Summerfest

GRAND RAPIDS—More than 225 senior citizens from across Itasca county participated in the tenth anniversary of the annual Summerfest event in August at Fishing Springs on Pokegama Lake. The annual event is sponsored by Itasca community college, the ICC Foundation and the Itasca county committee on aging. It included a picnic lunch, lawn and table games, treasure and nature hunts, cribbage tournament and pontoon boat rides on the lake for residents of area nursing homes.

New Business In Warroad

WARROAD—Another new business is opening in Warroad. Doc's Auto and Truck Repair Clinic had its grand opening September 6, and will offer the community fast and economical service on domestic and foreign cars and trucks, as well as small repairs on items such as lawn mowers. The new business is owned by Dan and Dave Harder.

"Var Gaml Gard"

ROSEAU—Arne and Luella Erickson have turned their old barn into a place for entertaining and relaxing. Three years' worth of labor on the barn have turned it into an area entertainment center, with an open patio, several smaller individual dining rooms, and a kitchen nook. A July 4 potluck celebration has become an annual event at "Var Gaml Gard," which is Swedish for "Our Old Barn." The Ericksons provide the barn and music for the gathering, and have had groups of over 200 at the event.

Steam Threshing Bee

STRATHCONA—The twenty-second annual Northland Steam Threshing Bee will be held September 14 in Strathcona. A 9:30 a.m. church service will begin the day's activities, followed by a parade at 11 a.m. Events will include a country store, flea market, antique machinery and cars, tractors and live music. Demonstrations will be given on soap making, bread baking, butter churning, clothes washing, weaving rugs and quilting. Visitors will have the opportunity to see threshing and old-time machinery and lumber sawing. Refreshments will be served all day. In case of rain, some of the events will be held inside. The threshing bee will be held at the Melroy Wiskow farm, three miles north of Strathcona and five and one-half miles east.

New Postmaster

CROOKSTON—The city of Crookston has a new postmaster as of August 30. Donald Logue, 37, a native of Moorhead, was chosen from 17 applicants for the position. Swearing-in ceremonies for the new postmaster will take place September 15.

Erskine Now Win-E-Mac

ERSKINE—The Erskine school opened September 2 with a new name. The school will henceforth be known as "Win-E-Mac schools."

Pelawa Tragedy

BEMIDJI—Over 1,500 people attended the funeral of George Pelawa held at the Bemidji high school auditorium. Pelawa was an 18-year-old Bemidji hockey standout who was killed in an automobile accident August 30 near Bemidji. He was first-round draft choice of the Calgary Flames this year, but he had enrolled at the University of North Dakota. Pelawa died at the scene of the accident after the car in which he was riding, driven by his brother, Joseph, 19, collided with another vehicle driven by Henry Vold Jr., 26, on Beltrami county road 21. Joseph Pelawa is in stable condition in North Country hospital in Bemidji; Vold was taken by air ambulance to a hospital in Grand Forks from the Bemidji hospital. The cause of the accident is under investigation.

Ada's Enlightenment

ADA—The city of Ada will have new lighting for their athletic field by October 1. The total project will cost $36,200, with the cost shared equally by the city and the school system.

Postmaster Furuseth

WARROAD—Ed Furuseth of Thief River Falls was formally sworn in as postmaster of Warroad September 3. Ed, Marlys, and sons, Jason and Chad, will move to Warroad as soon as they find housing there. Furuseth has been distribution clerk of the Thief River Falls post office since 1978.

City of Stephen Hosts

STEPHEN—The city hosted the regional meeting of the League of Minnesota Cities August 26. Stephen Mayor Lawrence Sunsdahl gave the welcome, and state president of the association, Don Slater, chaired the meeting. A banquet and evening program concluded the day's events.

Outdoor Concert At Argyle

ARGYLE—The Argyle commercial club will host an outdoor 50s and 60s concert September 14 at Island Park. "The Stingrays" will play from 2 to 6 p.m., and various contests will be held, such as a twist contest, hula-hoop event and horseshoe tourney. Shuttle service will take people to the concert site from the Farmer Dells, as parking in the park is limited to vehicles 25 years and older. Tickets are $5 for 13 years and older, and free for those under 12. Food and drink will be for sale. In case of rain, the concert will be inside the Farmer Dells.

Crookston Library Play

CROOKSTON—"Dear Liar," a comedy by Jerome Kilty, will be presented September 14 at 2 p.m. at the Crookston public library. The performance is sponsored by the Crookston Friends of the Library, with admission free and open to the public. A discussion period with the performers will take place after the play, and refreshments will be served.

Ginseng Harvest Begins

ERSKINE—The annual season for harvesting of ginseng began September 1 and will run through December 31, according to department of natural resources officials. Wild ginseng may be dug without limit during the open season, but only plants with at least three leaf prongs and five leaflets may be taken. Immediately after digging out the plant, remove all seeds and place back into the hole.

Hibbing's New Industry

HIBBING—A Coon Rapids-based company is considering the city of Hibbing as the site of a bio-medical plant which would produce a cancer-fighting drug and create more than 5,000 jobs, says state senator Ron Dikclich. Endotronics, Inc. is proposing to build a 750-thousand square foot building to produce the drug which will be shipped world-wide.

Thefts In Lakes Area

GRAND RAPIDS—Itasca county authorities are looking into a number of burglaries in the area. A tool box and sheets for body work were taken from a shop in Harris township, four cabin burglaries were reported on Wolf lake, a cabin was burglarized on Taylor lake, and attempted burglaries were reported at two garages on Willow Lane in Grand Rapids.

"We Love Our Teachers"

DETROIT LAKES—Eight school system teachers were recognized recently by students, former students and parents in a "We Love Our Teachers" contest, sponsored by the Detroit Lakes chamber of commerce. Plaques were given to the winning teachers: Rodney Felt, Ed Welke, Mary Otto, Lynn Schram, Jan Rootham, Lauren Kath, Pam Kruger and Eunice Fernholz.

Swedish Student

WARROAD—Jerry Persson of Sweden will spend the school year with the Spencer Estling family of rural Roosevelt, and attend the Warroad school.

Dinner Theater Announced

CROOKSTON—Crookston community theatre fall dinner theater will be "Two by Two," directed by George French. They play is based on the book, "The Flowering Peach," by Clifford Odets, with music by Richard Rodgers. Performances will be September 26 and 27 and October 2 and 4, with dinner at 6:30 p.m. and the play presented at 8 p.m. at Top of the Town.

Women's Ducks Unlimited

DETROIT LAKES—A group of women have recently formed a chapter of Ducks Unlimited in the Lakes area. Ducks Unlimited, traditionally an organization of men, was established to preserve breeding grounds and marshlands for ducks and geese. The new organization will hold a banquet September 19 at the Holiday Inn in Detroit Lakes to raise money for the project.

21-Vehicle Accident

GRAFTON—Heavy smoke from a burning field caused a 21-vehicle accident near Drayton, ND, on Interstate 29 September 1. Two women were killed, six persons hospitalized in Cavalier, ND, and Morris and Winnipeg, Manitoba, and fifteen persons were treated and released from hospitals in the area. Some North Dakotans were involved in the accident, although the Grafton Record reported that no North Dakota residents were injured.

Labor Day Luck

WILLIAMS—Several incidents marred the Labor Day weekend in northern Minnesota, according to the Williams Northern Light. A pickup driven by Gail Olson struck the rear of a grain truck driven by LeRoy Carlson six miles north of Williams on county road 2, August 29. Both vehicles burned after the crash, but occupants were not seriously injured. A second accident involved Martha Huerd of Williams and Benjamin Reddelopp of Winkler, Manitoba. The accident occurred the morning of August 3 on highway 11 when the Reddelopp vehicle struck the Huerd car in the rear as it was making a left turn. In another incident, Bernhardt's Flying Service was engaged to locate Joe and Florence Riske of Fisher when they were reported missing on Lake of the Woods. They were found on the south side of Northwest Angle with boat motor problems.

Memoriam

In memory of Johnnie Ruud who passed away Sept. 11, 1972:
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget.
But so far, time has proven
How much we miss you yet.
God give us strength and courage
To face the blow.
But what it means to loose you
No one will ever know.

Deeply missed by Vivian and families. 1t70c

SAVING ENERGY TIPS

Questions And Answers On House Selling

If you're contemplating selling your home, now's the perfect time to do it. For one thing, the real estate market is active with interest rates lower than they've been in years. For another, it's summertime, and the time when many people start thinking about buying a new home.

To help you in selling your home faster, the CertainTeed Home Institute has compiled a list of questions asked most frequently by those preparing to put their homes on the market. Here are the answers:

What are the most important considerations when putting my home up for sale?

There are several items to think about here. First, put your best "brick" forward or in this case, make sure your home is neat, tidy, and appears well maintained. Selling your house is like selling anything, first impressions are extremely important. Look at the condition of your exterior paint — if it's peeling — repaint it. The same holds true for fixing porches and repairing cracks in sidewalks.

Is the summer really the best time to put my home on the market?

The spring and summer months generally are. A lot depends, however, on where you live. There is no question that in the Northeastern part of the country a house looks better in the spring and summer, since the grass is green and flowers are in bloom. Late spring and summer are also a good time to sell because moving can be done while school is out.

What other tasks can I take on to make my house more saleable?

Add the following to your list:

- Wash the windows inside and out.
- Add insulation in the attic to bring your home up to today's energy standards for your area of the country. Upgrading insulation levels is easy to do. Many homeowners have added CertainTeed's Fiber Glass Insulation to their attics in a single afternoon. For more information on insulating projects write for "Insulation Facts," P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

Also:

- Caulk and weatherstrip all cracks.
- Examine your roof and replace missing or damaged shingles.
- Check to see if your furnace and water heater are in good operating condition.
- Fix any leaking faucets and caulk around bathtubs and shower enclosures as needed.
- Make sure door locks work smoothly. Lubricate them if necessary.
- Clean out basement window wells.
- Replace light bulbs in the garage. If it tends to be dark, keep the door open. Clear out the clutter.
- Mow the lawn, prune overgrown foliage, and sweep the walks. Remove any dead trees or bushes and replace with new ones.

How much should I ask for my home?

It's the job of the realtor to advise you on pricing. They're well versed in what homes in your area are selling for. There's nothing worse than an overpriced house, however, because the best time to sell is when it first goes on the market.

Beltrami County Soil Survey Is Being Completed

Soil scientists are completing the soil survey in Beltrami county and getting rolling in the Marshall county survey, according to the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD office in Grygla.

Beltrami county will have a "last acre" ceremony on September 15, the official completion of field mapping for Beltrami county. Marshall county is presently being soils mapped by soil scientists who have been doing a lot of conservation reserve mapping this summer but have also started field mapping.

The scientists will be covering every acre in the county so when they come to your property, make them welcome and assist them however you can, states SCS technician Ralph Rundell. "If we are to have the soil survey completed by the target date we will need cooperation from landowners. We may see some additional help in Marshall county to meet the target dates for completion. There are some counties being completed and this may release some people for us.

"The soils men will be covering a lot of acres this fall after harvest as they can cover your fields without going into growing crops. Watch for them, help them where you can and remember, they work for you, too," Rundell said.

NWRIC Purposes, Goals Explained By New Director

According to new director Dr. Michael A. Miller, the Northwest Regional Inter-District council (NWRIC) at Newfolden is a special education cooperative that provides services to 10 school districts in northwestern Minnesota. These districts include the public school systems in Badger, Greenbush, Goodridge, Grygla, Hallock, Humboldt, Karlstad, Kennedy, Lancaster and Newfolden.

The council was formed in 1969 to help local school districts provide a full range of services to children with special needs, Dr. Miller said.

Children with special needs are those children who need special services in order to reach their fullest potential. These children may be learning disabled, deaf, blind, hard of hearing, partially sighted or physically impaired or have defective speech, behavioral or emotional problems, be mentally handicapped or have other health problems.

"Our services are offered to children, educators, parents, families and community organizations," Dr. Miller noted.

Northwest Regional Inter-District council provides school psychology services, physical therapy services, occupational therapy services, pre-school services and special education administration services. The member local school districts provide services in the speech, adaptive physical education, learning disabilities, emotional-behavioral disabilities and mentally handicapped areas.

The purpose of the Northwest Regional Inter-District council is to provide diagnostic and consultative services to administrators, teachers and parents for children with differences that might limit their ability to adapt to the school, home or community. The cooperative coordinates services within schools, between schools and other agencies in the community to assure that handicapped students receive optimal special education services.

Information about individual differences and educational topics is shared and utilized by the staff in providing a full range of services. Types of assistance vary from informal problem solving to direct services to children and families, to inservices provided to schools and community organizations.

Those who have concerns about their child or another child that they know needs special help, may contact the local school principal, the child's teacher and-or the Northwest Regional Inter-District Council, Newfolden, MN 56738, phone 874-8215 or 874-8770.

PERA Meeting September 22 At Detroit Lakes

Trustees of the Public Employees Retirement association of Minnesota (PERA) will hold a town meeting on Monday, September 22, at 6:30 p.m., at the Detroit Lakes vocational-technical school on highway 34 east in Detroit Lakes.

The public information meeting will allow all PERA members, representatives from governmental units and other interested parties an opportunity to express their concerns with respect to legislative and other matters relevant to PERA.

Topics scheduled for discussion include: "Rule of 85" and other early retirement options, pension guarantee, consolidation of local police and fire relief associations into PERA, health insurance and a possible solution to increase the pre-73 retiree benefits.

For additional information, please contact Cynthia MacDonald at 296-7460.

Federal Grants Received By MN Social Services

Three federal grants totalling $435,000 have been awarded to the social services division of the Minnesota department of human services (DHS).

The family based services section received $293,000 for family therapy intervention in the home of four regional groups which will work toward strengthening families and reducing imappropriate our-of-home placements for maltreated children.

DHS received $82,642 to produce public service announcements and informational brochures to help families take care of elderly, ill or handicapped members at home.

A $60,000 grant was awarded to assist teenagers in becoming self-sufficient after they leave foster care. This is a pilot project to be tested in Beltrami, Wright and Freeborn counties. If the program is successful, it will be available to all Minnesota counties.

National Firms In Energy Expo At Crookston

Wind energy companies from California, Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota will be joining dozens of other local firms featuring more conventional energy-saving products at the Crookston Energy Expo '86 September 19-21 at the Crookston city arena.

Vikings' 1986 Crime Prevention Card Issued

A series of Minnesota Vikings crime prevention cards are being distributed this fall for the fourth consecutive year.

Thief River Falls Police Department and Pennington County Sheriff's Department personnel are among the more than 300 participating law enforcement agencies statewide who are distributing 2.1 million trading cards over a 14-week period.

A different card is made available each week to any youngster who asks for one from a member of the participating law enforcement agency. The program is designed to develop relationships between young people and law enforcement officers.

Each weekly card has a full color picture of a Viking player on the front and biographical information, plus a crime prevention tip, on the back.

Cards will be distributed through the week of November 16-22.

Fall Sports Schedule Underway For 1986

Greenway High in Coleraine and Apple Valley, last year's Class A and AA state volleyball champions, began quests for another successful season during the first week in September when playing season-opening matches.

Greenway, winners of its first ever state championship a year ago after making three straight state tournament trips, has to be a strong contender again in Region 7A as the Raiders return four starters and seven letter winners from its 1985 title squad.

Apple Valley, meanwhile, unlike Greenway, returns only three players from its championship team of 1985. Coach Walt Weaver will be bidding for a sixth state tournament appearance this season since first taking the Eagles to the event in 1978. His championship team of a year ago put a halt to an unprecedented streak of five consecutive titles won by Robbinsdale Armstrong. The title for Apple Valley was historic in that it was the school's first in girls sports since the school's inception in 1976.

Thirteenth annual Minnesota state high school Class AA and Class A volleyball tournament is scheduled to be held in the Met Center in Bloomington on Friday and Saturday, November 14-15.

A total of 110 AA teams and 303 A teams are participating statewide in the 1986 interscholastic girls volleyball program.

Soccer

Wayzata in boys and Coon Rapids in girls will attempt to pick up where they left off last November with winning ways when playing soccer games this fall.

The two defending state titlists won first ever state soccer titles last year. Wayzata returns 10 players and Coon Rapids 11, forming good nucleuses for the 1986 season.

For the first time ever the state soccer tournament championship games will be played in the Metrodome in Minneapolis on Thursday night, October 30. The girls title game is set for 6 p.m., followed by the boys championship match at 8:30 p.m.

A total of 74 boys teams and 60 girls teams are competing this season in the interscholastic program.

Swimming

All but one of last year's individual winners at the 30th annual state girls swimming and diving championships will be hoping to repeat as champions this season when the state meet is held at the University of Minnesota on November 14-15.

Double winner Nancy Knauer, a 50 and 100 yard freestyle champion from St. Louis Park, was the lone victor in 1985 to graduate. Six other girls are hopeful of garnering berths in the state meet this year and winning gold medals once again.

One of them is Lynn Newton, a junior from Simley (Inver Grove Heights), who was a double winner capturing firsts in the 200 and 500 freestyle events. Other champions participating again this season include Whitney Stoddard (diving), a senior from Breck; Lisa Anderson (200 I.M.), a junior from Minneapolis Patrick Henry; Anne Pringle (100 breaststroke), a senior from Monticello; Shannon Manikowski, (100 backstroke), a junior from Robbinsdale Armstrong; and Claudia Vieira (100 butterfly), a sophomore from Edina.

Burnsville, who won its fourth state team championship in the past five years last November, is once again expected to challenge for top team laurels. 1985 runner-up Edina, the school to interupt Burnsville's skein in 1984, will also be strong.

A total of 132 schools are participating in the interscholastic swimming and diving program this season.

Cross Country

More than 5,000 boys and girls are expected to participate in the 1986 interscholastic boys and girls cross country running program this season. Last year 3,392 boys and 2,190 girls took part in the activity.

This year's season, which began August 11, will culminate with the 43rd state boys Class AA and Class A meet and the 14th state girls Class AA and A meet. Both meets are scheduled to be held at the university of Minnesota golf course in Falcon Heights on Saturday, November 1.

Boys races once again this season will be run over 5,000 meter terrain and girls competition covers a 3,200 meter course.

Defending state teams champions are Esko-Cloquet (AA) and Elgin-Millville (A) in boys and Alexandria (AA) and Hermantown (A) in girls.

Last year's two boys individual winners graduated, assuring new titlists in 1986. Top runner back among finishers in last year's AA race is St. Cloud Tech's Tim Langen, who was fourth in 1985 with a time of 16:02.5. In Class A, last year's runner-up, Donovan Bergstrom of Elgin-Millville, hopes to take home a gold medal this year. He had a 16:08.0 clocking last November.

In the girls competition at last year's state meet, Gretchen Farkas, only a sophomore from Totino Grace (Fridley) was first in Class AA with a time of 11:05.8. The runner-up the past two years, Kim Kauls, now a senior at Forest Lake, has one more chance at winning top honors this campaign. The 1985 A victor, Michele Marthaler, Belgrade-Brooten, has graduated, but last year's second place finisher returns. She's Olivia junior Kari Parker, who was timed in

Hunting, Fishing Day Slated September 27

Population increases of hundreds of wildlife species — from antelope to whooping cranes — are just one example of how hunters and fisherman have helped conservation, President Reagan said in his official statement for the 15th annual celebration of National Hunting and Fishing Day, September 27, 1986.

Hunters and fishermen, the President said, realize the responsibilities which are part of their sports, and they've long demonstrated a deep and abiding respect for nature. As evidence of this, he pointed to the fact that hunters and fishermen helped found the conservation movement.

He also pointed out that they requested special taxes on their equipment and special license fees to provide the money for programs to help wildlife.

Through these special taxes, hunters have contributed more than $1.5 billion to help wildlife over the last 50 years. Much of this money has been used to establish and maintain state wildlife management areas that are home to hundreds of wildlife species. These areas are also enjoyed

Waterfowl Proposals Are Made By U.S. FWS

Duck hunting regulations for the 1986-87 waterfowl season will continue restrictions established last season when breeding duck populations dropped to a 30-year low. Hunting regulations for most species of geese, brant, and swans will remain much the same as last year.

This year's fall flight of ducks is expected to number approximately 73 million, up from the fall flight index of 62 million in 1985. However, this is still the second lowest forecast on record. The annual index is a relative figure reflecting the general trend in duck populations rather than the exact number of ducks, Frank Dunkle, director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said.

"While the modest increase in the fall flight figures is encouraging, re-

NCC Has New Name

The 1986 season is the 11th year of intercollegiate football at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

A member of the Minnesota Community College Conference, Northland fielded its first football team in 1976.

Chet Engelman, who coached the Northland men's basketball and baseball teams, also took on the head football coaching duties for the 1976 and 1977 seasons.

Irv Smith, a junior high school coach from California, took over as Northland head football coach for the 1978 and 1979 seasons.

John Helley of Plummer, who worked under Smith as an assistant coach, became Northland head coach in 1980 and served four years.

Rick Nelson, who coached football and boys basketball at Goodridge, and was head football coach of the Goodridge-Grygla cooperative high school football team when those two schools combined forces in the North Tri-County Conference, succeeded Helley as Northland head coach for the 1984 season. He begins his third year at the helm in 1986, and also coaches the Northland baseball team and serves as school athletic director.

New MSHSL Task Force Plans Several Hearings

Purpose of the Minnesota State High School League Task Force is to study the athletic competition and training rules which define a student's participation and training in school and non-school activities during the school year and the summer. The goal of the Task Force is to ensure that athletic competition and training rules are consistent with the stated philosophy of member schools and their communities.

Members of the Task Force include superintendents, principals, athletic directors, school board members, coaches, state legislators and representatives of the public sector from all geographical areas of the state.

Dr. Joan Parent, school board member from Foley and Superintendent Kenneth LaCroix of Hastings have been appointed by the Board of Directors to chair the 40 member Task Force for the Minnesota State High School Legaue.

Public hearings to receive testimony regarding these issues have been scheduled in the following high schools, from 7-9 p.m., as follows:

September 23 — Mankato West High School, 25 — Minnetonka High School, 25 —Moorhead High School, 29 — Brainerd High School 30 — Thief River Falls High School.

October 2 — Richfield High School, 6 — Bemidji High School, 7 — Marshall High School, 9 — Rosemount High School, 13 — Rochester John Marshall High School, 14 — Willmar High School, 20 — Duluth Central High School, 21 — Hibbing High School, 23 — Roseville High School, 27 — Alexandria High School, 28 — St. Cloud Apollo High School.

Task Force will solicit written responses to questionnaires and oral testimony received at the public hearings, and identify the major issues presented. It will review these findings and develop a report to the MSHSL Board of Directors. The Board will determine if any rule changes should be recommended for the consideration of the MSHSL Representative Assembly.

MSHSL urges all interested persons to attend and actively participate in expressing individual recommendations and concerns regarding the role of the Minnesota State High School League in defining those rules and standards for high school students.

Members of the MSHSL Task Force include the following persons:

John Barnett, Principal, Mankato West; Herbert Bentz, Superintendent, Roseau; Larry Blow, Superintendent, Annandale; Arthur Bruning, Superintendent, Hopkins; Vicki Davis, girls' sports representative, Hastings; Howard Emerson, Athletic Director, Warren; Kerwin Engelhart, Athletic Director, Rochester John Marshall; Robert Engwer, school board member, North St. Paul; Liz Erickson, coach, Eagan; Kathy Fredrickson, girls sports representative, Moose Lake; Jim Griffin, school board member, St. Paul; Colin Harris, Principal, Kasson-Mantor-

Quadrunner—A whole new breed
The new LT4WD Quadrunner is part jackrabbit, part mountain goat and all Suzuki. With its combination of 15 forward speeds and 2WD, 4WD and 4WD with front differential lock, it can go over or through obstacles that would send other ATVs home. And to make getting there comfortable for work or play, the Quadrunner has an ATV first: Four-Wheel Independent Suspension. For a true all-terrain vehicle, check out the LT4WD Quadrunner today.

MINNESOTA

FAMILIAR SIGNS to hunters — and welcome ones to those sportsmen who have no access to private hunting lands — are these wildlife management area signs placed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. To be posted as wildlife management areas, specific land areas must be designated for that purpose. There are a number of areas of undesignated public land in Northwestern Minnesota.

Tennis

Edina will be favored to win a ninth straight Class AA tennis team championship when the state tournament is held October 22-23 at the Highway 100 North France Avenue Racquet Club in Brooklyn Center.

Top player for the always strong Hornets is expected to be Jenny Moe, a junior, who last year finished second in the state singles competition to her teammate, the graduated Ginger Helgeson.

Moe, along with Libby Nelson, a senior from Blake who finished third in the state in 1985, are once again the better Class AA singles players statewide. In doubles, new champs are certain in Class AA as the Robbinsdale Armstrong duo of Carolina Palffy and Mary Sutherland have graduated.

Singles and doubles state tourney play this year is slated for October 24-25 at the Brooklyn Center facility.

Class A portion of the 13th annual state girls tennis championships will also take place on October 22-23 (team) and October 24-25 (singles and doubles). The site is the Nicollet Indoor Tennis Club in Minneapolis.

Blue Earth will attempt to repeat its A team title of 1985. So will singles champion Kira Gregerson, St. Paul Academy, who last year won the title as a freshman. In doubles, one-half of the championship duo from Blue Earth has graduated, assuring 1986 of a new champion.

There are 102 Class AA schools and 59 Class A schools participating in the 1986 interscholastic girls tennis program statewide.

New Athletic Directors

Minnesota State High School League membership of 494 schools will have 54 new athletic directors during the 1986-87 school year. A total of 10 are from Class AA schools and 44 from Class A. They are as follows:

Class AA — Burnsville-Burt Eppen; Chaska-Marie Hasty; Hastings-Don Miller; Minnetonka-John Blomlie; Mound-Westonka - Gene Zulk; Orono-

GOOD DOG WORK provides much of the exhilaration in a hunt for many species of game birds, but particularly during a day in the field in quest of ringneck pheasants. The Labrador retriever is a versatile breed that is equally valuable in marshland hunting for ducks or upland hunting for pheasants. This hunter displays the birds taken by a four-member party during a mid-season hunt last fall. Success was attributed to experienced dogs and a lot of leg work by the hunters as well.

Proposals Listed

strictions should be maintained to protect the modest gain made in some duck species over last year," Dunkle said. "We still must be concerned about the low populations of one of America's most cherished wildlife resources."

Department of the Interior posed frameworks lead to development of final frameworks from which states will select their individual season. Proposed duck season framework dates for the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central Flyways are October 4, 1986, through January 18, 1987. The dates for the Pacific Flyway are October 4, 1986, through January 11, 1987. The conventional daily bag limit will be four ducks in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central Flyways and five ducks in the Pacific Flyway. Shooting hours again will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Owing to low populations, continued restrictions were proposed for mallards and pintails. In areas opting for the point system, it was proposed that black ducks and hen mallards be 100 point birds. Pintails and drake mallards will remain 35 point birds as was the case last year. It was proposed that seasons on canvasbacks be closed in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central Flyways. Eastern breeding populations of canvasbacks fell below the 360,000 breeding bird level identified in guidelines established for hunting regulations.

While an increase in duck populations is predicted in all four flyways this year, many prime wetland areas in parts of the Canadian provinces such as northern Saskatchewan and southern Alberta have not yet recovered from drought conditions experienced during the last few years. In general, habitat conditions improved in the north-central United States and in Manitoba. Spring weather conditions in Alaska also were more favorable for nesting ducks this year. As a result, duck flights from these particular areas are expected to be higher than last year.

Hunters are urged to check final state regulations for their local areas carefully prior to going afield. The final set of regulations is expected to be published in mid-September and state wildlife agencies can be contacted for information on the final regulations.

Early duck seasons, such as September teal seasons, were established earlier this year and are not affected by the proposed regulations.

Forest Openings Aid Whitetail

Reprinted from Minnesota Deer Hunters Association Whitetails publication:

Many people ask the question, "What can I do to help the deer in my area?" In the southern half of Minnesota, the answer is easy. Simply provide them with adequate cover and space to live. But, the answer is not that easy in the northern third of the state where there is more than enough cover and space available to the deer. The problem is with food or the lack of it in our northern forests. The long winters and deep snow are the deer's worst enemies. Wildlife biologists have found that the length of winter or the amount of days that the ground is snow-covered is very important to deer survival, especially for fawns and yearlings.

One way of speeding the melting process, is by creating forest openings. The opening allows the sunlight through to melt the snow faster and also enables grass to grow, which has proven to be an important early spring food source. In many areas, these openings occur naturally, but in much of northern Minnesota, the forest is large and overmature and can run for miles without any openings.

The area in which we hunt is about 40 miles north of Duluth and the woods are thick and mostly overmature. When considering ways in which to help our deer, we talked with DNR Wildlife Specialist Tom Engle. Tom, who is also an active member of MDHA, was more than happy to assist us. Tom walked through our area and determined two prime sites for openings. These sites were old logging camps, which were being overgrown with aspen and balsam. We simply had to cut down every tree in the clearing and open it up to its original size. Ideally, a bulldozer would be used to push all the cut trees into piles, but due to the remoteness of our area, we simply let the tree lay where they fall.

One thing that must be stressed is that you can't just go around making openings wherever you want. Our cut was on county land and Tom Engle wrote up the cutting as a DNR Habitat Project. If you wish to do a habitat project, I suggest that you contact local DNR officials and let them help you set it up, both for location and how it should be done. They have the best idea of what types of projects need to be done in your area and are grateful for the help.

Even though these cuttings are a lot of work, you should approach them as a group or camp activity and make it fun. We used the cutting as another excuse to spend a weekend at the deer shack. We worked hard, but took plenty of time for relaxing and enjoying the hunting crew. It's a nice way to spend a winter weekend, while helping the deer at the same time.

Fall Hunting Dates Listed By State DNR

A September 13 grouse opener, an October 4 waterfowl opener and a November 8 deer opener are the headline dates for the 1986 Minnesota fall hunting seasons announced by the Department of Natural Resources.

There are only a few changes in the 1986 hunting regulations.

One change in the deer hunting rules will allow any member of a hunting party to take an antlerless deer; however, no more antlerless deer may be taken than there are antlerless permits in the hunting party.

As for the deer hunting prospects this season, DNR Wildlife Chief Roger Holmes said the herd in agricultural areas of the state remains at a high level, but is down in the forested area.

In the agricultural area last year, a record total of over 85,000 deer were taken. The bonus licenses issued last year for the first time were instrumental in achieving harvest objectives.

"Even with a 5 per cent decline, the breeding population in the agricultural area is still above the goal," Holmes said. "Despite an 8 per cent reduction in the number of permits to be issued in agricultural areas this fall, population goals should be achieved because fewer fawns were born this spring in the northwest and central portions of the agricultural area."

"In the forested area, however, the deer population has generally declined from last year," according to Holmes. "The number of permits issued in recent years has been liberal enough so population goals weren't reached. Therefore, the number of permits for the forested portion of the state is being reduced by 42 per cent."

SHARPTAIL GROUSE still exist in huntable numbers in northwestern Minnesota although habitat has been dwindling and the number of birds has declined substantially ovrr the past 20 years. This year's sharptail grouse season opens one-half hour before sunrise on Saturday, September 13, and will continue until sunset each day through November 30. Bag limit is three birds per day and possession limit of six birds. Hopefully the snow will not be as deep on opening day as when this Times photo was taken.

Holmes had little good news for ruffed grouse hunters in north-central and northeastern Minnesota, where the populations of the state's popular upland game bird remain at a cyclic low. In contrast, grouse numbers in northwestern Minnesota and in the southeast have increased significantly from last year.

Sharptailed grouse populations have changed little from last year, but Holmes noted that the bird's numbers have declined steadily since 1980 due to changes in habitat resulting from an aging grass-brushland ecosystem.

Pheasant numbers did not appear to be down significantly since nesting conditions were generally good, except for areas where heavy spring rains may have drowned out some nests.

Most notable change in the trapping regulations is that all trappers, regardless of age, who wish to legally take fisher, otter or pine marten must apply for possession tags by October 31. Application for tags must be made on an official form available at county auditors offices, license agents and DNR office.

RUFFED GROUSE numbers are reported to be on the upswing in northwestern Minnesota following a period of several years when the sporty (and tasty) gamebirds have been somewhat scarce. Good snow cover to permit the grouse to burrow away from predators has helped improve the number of birds making it through the winter months and a dry spring and summer has improved brood survival. Grouse are considered to be a cycle species, reaching peak numbers about every 10 years. Peak populations on that basis are expected to be several years away, but numbers are believed to be on the way up.

1985 Trapping Program Is Planned At Agassiz

Increased furbearer trapping opportunities will be provided this fall at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge in accordance with a revised trapping policy aimed at increasing fur harvest.

A total of eight trapping units, compared with just three in recent years, will be awarded to qualified trappers through a sealed bid system. Under this system, applicants make a sealed monetary bid on one or all units open for trapping. Exclusive trapping rights will be awarded to the qualified trapping. Exclusive trapper rights will be awarded to the qualified trapper who submits the highest bid for a particular unit.

Only one unit will be awarded to an individual. Partial payment of 25 per cent must be made concurrent with the bid award and final payment will be due by January 20, 1986.

Advantage of this system is that the trappers rather than refuge personnel determine the value of having exclusive trapping privileges in a given unit. Applicants must have at least two seasons of trapping experience as well as appropriate state licenses.

Species authorized for trapping include muskrat, mink, beaver, raccoon, skunk and fox. Unauthorized species include coyote, timber wolves, bobcat, fisher, river otter and badger.

Interested trappers will be able to inspect the proposed trap units during the period of September 16-22, between the hours of 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sealed bids will be accepted September 16-17. Application forms are available at refuge headquarters. Successful permittees will be notified by October 4.

The 1985 refuge trapping season extends from October 25 through December 31.

Information relative to special permit conditions may be obtained by contacting the refuge manager at Agassiz NWR, Middle River, MN; telephone 449-4115.

CANADA GEESE, looking for a place to loaf and feed, stir the heart of many a waterfowl hunter. This year the big birds will become fair game at noon on Saturday, October 4, with opening shooting hours at one-half hour before sunrise for the remainder of the season. Limits will be one Canada goose and five snow or blue geese per day with possession limits double those numbers.

Hunting, Fishing

by millions of people who never hunt — from artists and photographers to campers and hikers.

For their part, fishermen have contributed more than $550 million for conservation since special taxes were placed on their equipment in 1950.

Additionally, more than $4 billion for conservation has come from hunting and fishing license fees. These license fees provide the majority of funding for state fish and wildlife agencies. The total total from these special license fees and taxes is a staggering $6 billion.

Saturday, September 27, 1986 will mark the 15th annual celebration of National Hunting and Fishing Day. Since it was established in 1972 to give recognition to hunters and fishermen for their contributions to conservation, National Hunting and Fishing Day has received the support of each President.

Millions of people are expected to participate in the celebration this year in thousands of separate National Hunting and Fishing Day activities across the country.

For information on how to participate in National Hunting and Fishing Day, write: NHF Day Headquarters, P.O. Box 1075, Riverside, CT 06878.

Science Museum Has Special Sports Exhibit On Display

Dr. J., Jr., might just be the hottest basketball player to hit town this fall and he's signed up to play exclusively at the Science Museum of Minnesota, downtown St. Paul.

The six-inch-tall, slam-dunking rat is part of the exhibit "The Science of Sports," at the Science Museum from September 27, 1986 through January 5, 1987. Developed by the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus, Ohio, and endorsed for its educational value by the Physical Education and Health divisions of the Minnesota Department of Education, the exhibit looks at the world of sports from the perspectives of physics, sociology, anatomy, physiology, and economics.

Visitors can make "real-world" connections with scientific principles by their lung capacity, peripheral vision, vertical jump ability, reaction time, body type, muscle fatigue, and accuracy.

Featured in the exhibit are an actual locker room filled with shoulder pads and cleats, a dugout full of important sports trivia, and a computer loaded with essential facts and figures.

Tennis, auto racing, boxing, fencing, basketball, track field hockey, cycling, soccer, lacrosse, scuba diving, swimming, football, gymnastics, skydiving, baseball, and downhill skiing are all covered in the exhibit.

Demonstrations are provided on topics such as animal training and behavior, Newtonian physics, elasticity, impact-collision-forward momentum, and stability and center of mass. The exhibit is interactive in the trust sense with a crash pad, breakaway basketball hoops, fast-pitch machine, and a spinning angular momentum platform for sports lovers to try out.

Dr. J., Jr.'s part in all this is to illustrate the effects of positive reinforcement in animal training (he's rewarded with a piece of Purina Laboratory Rat Chow for every basket he shoots) and to serve as the celebrity sports hero during the run of the exhibit.

Admission to the Science Museum exhibit halls is $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under and senior citizens. Discount rates are available for groups of 20 or more. To make group reservations call (612) 221-9456. Science Museum hours during the fall and winter are, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and Sundays, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. For more information about Science of Sports or the workshops, call the Science Museum (612) 221-9488.

Heavy Primary Election Turnout Recorded Tues.

by David Hill
Times Reporter

For the 1986 primary in Pennington county more voters turned out this year than any primary for quite awhile. After all the precincts and wards were counted, 3,185 voters exercised their right to vote Tuesday. In 1984 only 1,592 voters turned out. Compared to presidential elections, state and county primaries are expected to draw about half. In the 1984 presidential election in November, 6,759 voters turned out to vote in Pennington County.

After the primary results on Tuesday, the list of candidates to vie for office in Pennington county on November 4 shapes up as follows: County attorney, John Novacek and Dave Olin; county treasurer, Vicki Bjorgaard and Leo Nelson; auditor, Ken Olson; fourth district commissioner, William Penning; second district commissioner, Don Grabanski; county sheriff, Jim Haugen and Bob Wold; county recorder, Eugene Prestegaard and Ann Pluth Olson; county coroner, Dr. Richard Heinrichs.

Marshall county auditor Charles Cheney believes there was a good turnout of voters in Marshall county because of the local races. Total number of voters turn out in Marshall county was 3,392. Results for the auditor-treasurer race were: Roy G. Swanson, 1,123; Wayne Bendickson, 1,017; Gwen Schmidt, 996; and James Stengrim, 256.

Results in the Marshall county recorder race were: Marion Halvorson, 1,023; Dwight Peterson, 750; Rodney Erickson, 478; Loren Nowacki, 442; Douglas Gloude, 369; and Lonnie Stauffenecker, 324.

The November 4 election ballot will have the following names: County auditor-treasurer, Wayne Bendickson and Roy G. Swanson; county recorder, Marion Halvorson and Dwight Peterson; county commissioner, district 1, Calvin Melgaard; county commissioner, district 5, Delray Larson and George Panek; county commissioner, district 3, Kenneth Price; county sheriff, Dennis B. Brekke and Bruce Erickson; and county attorney, Harold G. Myhre.

In the state primary for Pennington county, in the race for governor, Rudy Perpich and Marlene Johnson won the DFL endorsement and Cal R. Ludeman and Dennis W. Schulstad won the IR endorsement. In the race for secretary of state, Joan Growe was chosen in the DFL race and Myron Nysether in the IR. In the race for state auditor, Al Hanson was the DFL choice and Arne Carlson the IR choice.

In the state treasurer race, Pennington county residents chose Robert Mattson for the DFL and Jual C. Carlson for the IR. In the attorney general race, Hubert Humphrey III was chosen to represent the DFL and Lew Freeman the IR. In the race for United States representative Collin Peterson was chosen in the DFL race, and Arlan Stangeland the IR. For state senator LeRoy Stumpf won the DFL race and Jim Butler the IR race. In the state representative race, Wally Sparby won the DFL endorsement; there was no IR candidate.

As an interesting sidelight to this primary election and its results, the NBC polling precinct in Thief River Falls was selected as precinct 4C. This downtown location, which is bound by Gulf street and Pennington avenue in the south and Crocker avenue on the east with Red Lake river as the western and northern boundaries, matched the county results in every race in Pennington county and every race in the state primary except the state treasurer race in which they chose Michael McGrath as the DFL endorsee and John Drew and Jerry R. Engbretson tied for the IR endorsement.

Tabulated results (state primary):

Governor and Lt. Governor race: DFL, William Heine and Dale Johnson, 15; George Latimer and Arvonne Fraser, 386; Andrew Olson and Linda Herschbach, 19; Rudy Perpich and Marlene Johnson, 1,246; and Phil Ratt and Kim Kimmel, 9; IR, Wallace Brattrud and Lavine Olson, 48; James Lindau and M. Joan Parent, 122; Cal Ludeman and Dennis Schulstad, 575; Beatrice Mooney and Ione Gerads, 24; Douglas Williams and Steve Williams, 52.

Secretary of state: DFL, Joan Growe, 1,184; Nordis Olson, 338; IR, Dan Koenig, 134; Myron Nysether, 492; and Mary Jane Rachner, 168.

Attorney General: DFL, Richard Bullock, 63; Samuel Faulk, 38; Hubert Humphrey III, 1,462; and Wendy Nora, 75; IR, Sharon Anderson, 314; and Lew Freeman, 456.

State auditor: DFL, John Dooley, 290; James Dunlop, 397; Al Hanson, 789; IR, Arnie Carlson, 786.

United States congressional representative: DFL, Bill Kjeldahl, 237; Collin Peterson, 1,316; IR, Arland Stangeland, 869.

State Senator: DFL; LeRoy Stumpf, 1,497; and IR, Jim Butler, 629.

Representative in state legislature: DFL, Wally Sparby, 1,460.

Backscatter Hearing Elicits Comments Tues.

by Sharon LaCoursiere
Times Reporter

"Welcome to America," where freedom of speech set the pace at the public hearing on the Over-the-Horizon Backscatter (OTH-B) radar site last night at the Grand Forks civic auditorium. The apt phrase was the concluding comment from the audience of about 160 concerned citizens who were present to ask questions of and give comment to the system's project director, U.S. air force Colonel James Lee and his panel of experts.

Moderator Lt. Col. Leonard S. Clark stated that the purpose of the hearing was twofold: first, to give the public an opportunity to receive factual information about the proposed air force action (the Backscatter radar program) and ask questions on it; and secondly, to allow the air force to receive samples of public input, both written and oral.

After scheduled formal public hearings in Langford, SD and Wheaton (other proposed sites for Backscatter transmitting stations), public input gathered, along with written comments received before October 6, will be used to prepare a final environmental impact statement (EIS) to be released the end of November. An air force "record of decision" will be filed 30 days after the EIS release, the end of December, stating the specific study area to be selected, transmitting station site and receiving station site.

Because of limited comment and question time, and the fact that Thief River Falls has had several informational meetings and some of the other proposed sites, it appears, have had less time to review facts and ask questions of the air force, the Thief River Falls delegation submitted its written statement privately at the end of the meeting, allowing representatives from other areas to use the time allowed at the meeting.

Don Stewart, Thief River Falls community development director, said the comment submitted by the group contained letters and statements by area officials and a map and listing of landowners in the Thief River Falls site area. Also attending the meeting were Larry Belmont, chamber of commerce president; Roger Reuter, Jobs, Inc. president; Albert Koop, chairman of county board of commissioners; and Tom Kenville, consultant for Jobs, Inc.

Col. Lee stressed that both written and oral comments would have equal impact on the final economic-impact statement, urging interested parties to send written comments before

BROOKS

MISS BROOKS, Tammy Mercil, displayed enthusiasm in her new royal position during the Blast to Brooks parade Saturday. Tammy, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mercil and a sophomore at Pershing high school in Plummer. She was crowned at the Miss Brooks pageant August 27 with judges basing their decision equally on personal interview, evening gown modeling and Blast to Brooks button sales. Other candidates were Sherrie Katschke, Wendy Myhre, Donna Sans, Tamara Grove and Tammi Johnson. Other photos from the Blast to Brooks parade are published in today's issue of the Times.

Northland Again Hosts Education Fair September 23

Northland community college will again host the Minnesota Education Fair Tuesday, September 23, in the college gymnasium. Approximately 70 post-secondary institutions will be represented. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

High school students, parents and any other persons interested in gaining information about college, vocational school, public or private post-secondary schools are invited and encouraged to attend.

Twenty-one education fairs are being held in various locations around the state during September and October. They have become an ideal way in which students and parents can take time to do some educational "shopping" and make contact with the schools of interest to them.

Contact person at Northland is Sverre Solheim, counselor, who may be contacted at Northland community college, hwy. 1 east, Thief River Falls.

Bemidji Airlines Adds Jet Prop To Local Service

On September 4 a 15-passenger Beechcraft 99 jet prop airliner began service with Bemidji Airlines between Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Minneapolis-St. Paul. The jet prop airliner is faster then the current Queen-Air aircraft and affords more room to the passengers.

Addition of the jet prop airliner will permit Bemidji Airlines to carry more passengers with its current schedule which consists of six round trip nonstop flights to Minneapolis-St. Paul from Bemidji and five round trip flights from Thief Rver Falls.

"The increase in service to Minneapolis-St. Paul will better facilitate business trips and connections to other airlines for Bemidji and Thief River Falls residents," stated Barbara Berggren, executive vice president for Bemidji Airlines. She feels that the addition of the new jet prop service will make Bemidji Airlines more competitive in the local market.

Paper Drive Set For Saturday

St. Bernard's school paper collection drive will take place on Saturday in St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls beginning at 10 a.m. Papers (no magazines or catalogs) should be boxed or tied in bundles and placed on the curb by collection time. Papers placed in garbage bags will not be collected. Persons with questions or requiring more information may call Donna Olson at 681-7187.

Medical Center Income Totals $13 Million In '86

Operating revenues at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls increased to $13,037,018 during the fiscal year ending April 30, 1986, and provided net income from operations of $804,926, according to the financial report presented at the annual meeting of the Northwest Medical Center association Monday evening at the Best Western inn.

Approximately 115 people attended the meeting at which four directors were elected to the association's board. Dale Dillon was reelected and Cathy Belmont and James Winjum were elected to succeed Angeline Steinhauer and Chris Twomey as directors from the community. Dr. Robert Carter was elected to represent the medical staff, outpolling Dr. James Langland who had been nominated by petition. Vote totals included Dill 110, Winjum 108, Belmont 102, Carter 70 and Langland 44.

Reports were given by Ken Froschheiser, board chairman, Dr Donald Mestery, chief of the medical staff, and Richard Spyhalski, president and chief executive officer. A video presentation of highlights from the past operational year of the medical center was shown and Evadell Tangquist, patient education coordinator, spoke on the "I Can Cope" program which helps cancer patients and their families deal with the illness.

Froschheiser commented on the financial stability of the medical center, noting that it is significant in "allowing us as a healthcare facility

Society and Clubs

Debbie Swanson - Scott Muzzy United In Marriage

Debbie Jean Swanson and Scott Garrett Muzzy exchanged wedding vows April 5 at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire. Rev. Gary Moore officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. James Muzzy. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Myhrer and Anna Muzzy. All are from Thief River Falls.

Colleen Rux was organist for the ceremony. Mrs. Kathleen Rux sang, "Nobody Loves Me like You Do" and "Evergreen," and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" during the lighting of the unity candle.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. She wore a traditional white gown with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and sheer, lace-trimmed, Juliet sleeves. The lace-trimmed hemline of the full skirt flowed to a cathedral train. Her full, floor-length veil fell from a matching lace headpiece. The cascading bridal bouquet of pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms, babies' breath and English ivy was designed especially for her wedding by the bride.

Wanda Sylvester, Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joanie Hanson, Fargo, ND, and Mona Knutson and Nancy Carlson, both of Thief River Falls. They wore floor-length mauve gowns and carried bouquets designed by the bride of long-stemmed pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms, babies' breath and English ivy.

Teaki Garcia, Rochester, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. Her floor-length gown was of white antique satin and she carried a bouquet of long-stemmed yellow mums. All bridal attendants wore yellow mums and white lotus blossoms in their hair.

Trigg Wold, Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a grey tuxedo identical to those of the groomsmen.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo, wearing a matching boutonniere designed by the bride.

His best man was Dale Rupprecht of this city. Groomsmen were Kent Wagner and Shannon Kezar of Thief River Falls, and Mitch Muzzy of Fargo. All wore grey tuxedos with light yellow erysanthemum buds, white lotus blossoms and English ivy boutonnieres fashioned by the bride.

Ushers were brothers of the couple, Wayne Swanson and Jerry and Kurt Muzzy.

The mother of the bride wore a layered coral, street-length gown. The groom's mother wore pale blue. Their corsages were designed by the bride.

Guests of honor were the bride's great-grandmother, Matilda Morben, of Thief River Falls, and her godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hove, Gig Harbor, WA.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Host couples wer Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Swanson, Pine Island, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koop, Thief River Falls, friends of the groom. Cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Chaput of Red Lake Falls, greeted the guests.

Attending the gifts were Kim DeHaan, Red Lake Falls, cousin of the bride, and Cindi Solum, Thief River Falls, friend of the couple. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morben, great-aunt and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Muzzy, aunt and uncle of the groom.

The white, four-tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother, was decorated with pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms and English ivy. The creation was topped with a hand-blown crystal decoration featuring a gold cross. Aunts of the couple, Janet Johnson, Brainerd, and Violet Muzzy, Thief River Falls, cut and served the cake. Barb DeHaan, Red Lake Falls, aunt of the bride, and Jackie Englestad, friend of the groom, poured.

Waitresses were cousins of the bride, Kathy Halstrom, Tacoma, WA, and Jodi Johnson, Brainerd.

Out-of-town guests were from Red Lake Falls, Brainerd, Pine Island, East Grand Forks, Grand Rapids, Strathcona, Rochester and Gig Harbor and Tacoma, WA.

Following a wedding trip to the Twin Cities, the bride and groom are at home in this city. The groom is engaged in farming with his father and the bride is employed at Northland Foods. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school, and the groom a graduate of the Thief River Falls AVTI.

Bernhardson And Wahl Plan Future Nuptials

Linda Rae Bernhardson, Angle Inlet, and Paul Wahl, Delano, CA, announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage. Parents of the couple are Ruth Austad, Thief River Falls, Don Bernhardson, Red Lake Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Wahl, McClusky, ND.

The bride-to-be is a 1977 graduate of Lincoln high school, attended Northland community college and graduated from Bemidji state university. She is the lone instructor in the Warroad school district's one-room Angle Inlet school during the school year and worked summers as an officer with the U.S. Customs service at the Warroad port of entry.

Her fiance is a 1977 graduate of McClusky high school, attended Minot state college, and is the former sports editor of the Grafton Record. He is general manager of the Delano Record in Delano, CA.

A June 27 wedding is planned in Thief River Falls. The couple will be residing in California after their marriage.

Engagement Announced Of Kristi Jorgensen

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jorgensen of Thief River Falls are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Kristi, to Kevin Condon, son of Dr. and Mrs. John P. Condon of Fargo, ND.

Jorgensen is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Northland community college, and is employed at Custom Graphics, Inc. in Fargo, ND. Condon is a graduate of Fargo South high school and is employed at Duling Optical of Moorhead.

An October 18 wedding is planned at First United Methodist church in Fargo, ND.

Holt Keenagers To Hear Dr. David Brown Friday

Holt Keenagers will meet Friday beginning with a potluck meal at noon. Dr. David Brown will be guest speaker; everyone is welcome to attend.

Buckett And Grandstrand Exchange Vows In Excelsior

Patricia Ann Buckett and Brian Scott Grandstrand were united in marriage June 28 at Our Savior's Lutheran in church in Excelsior. Rev. David Steuernagel and Rev. Martin Cloeter officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Buckett of Excelsior and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Grandstrand of Maple Plain.

Phillip Hesterman served as organist at the ceremony, playing processional, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by J.S. Bach, and recessional of "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell. Mary and Bobby Grones sang "Wedding Song," "Song for Christian Couple" and "He Has Chosen You For Me."

The church was decorated with white bows along the aisles; candelabra with white bows and greenery; a floral arrangement of red roses, mini white carnations, babies' breath and greenery on the altar; and a special banner of "The Two Shall Become One."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white layered chiffon featuring Queen Anne neckline on the pearl-beaded lace bodice, button-trimmed back, and flowered lace sleeves. The softly draped skirt fell from a dropped waistline, and was trimmed with lace panels, flowing to a full, self-fabric train edged and trimmed with the same flowered lace. Her chapel-length veil fell from a wreath of white silk flowers, and she wore diamond earrings to complete her attire. Her semi-cascade bouquet was composed of red roses and white gardenias, stephanotis, babies' breath and mini carnations, interspersed with greenery.

Karen Guttormson of Virginia Beach, VA, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were friend, Julie Knapp, Minnetonka; sisters of the bride, Cindy and Kris Buckett, both of Minneapolis, and friend, Jane Johnson, Seattle, WA. All wore gowns of red taffeta in a tea length, with fitted, draped waist and back V-neckline. They wore matching red slippers to complete the outfit, and carried bouquets of white mini carnations, babies' breath and stephanotis, and red roses, with trailing white satin streamers.

Andy Brisclair, friend of the couple, was ring bearer. He wore a white suit with red bow tie and rose boutonniere, and carried a white satin pillow.

The groom wore white tails with red bow tie and cummerbund, and a matching boutonniere of a red rose with white stephanotis. His twin brother, Brad Grandstrand of New Hope, served as his best man.

Other attendants were Byron Trochman, cousin of the groom, Moorhead, Mike Craft, friend, Maple Plain; Bill Copeland, uncle of the groom, Long Lake; and Steve Boisclair, friend, Rockford. Ushers were Corey Grandstrand, the groom's brother, and Greg Benusa, a friend. All men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with red bow ties and cummerbunds with red rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a soft blue chiffon gown with draped cowl neckline and skirt and an opal heart necklace. The groom's mother wore a gown of shaded blue with pearl accessories. Their corsages were red roses, mini carnations and babies' breath.

Honored guests were grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grandstrand and Elizabeth Swenson; godparents of the groom, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Sinn; and the bride's aunt, Catherine Milford.

A reception dinner was held following the ceremony, with approximately 200 guests attending. Host and hostess were friends of the couple, Kathy and Dave Kovalick. Sandra Newbold presided at the guest book, gifts were arranged by Roberta Holthe and Colleen Aldritt-Johnson, and punch was served by Stacy Johnsrud.

The wedding cake was trimmed in red and white, and featured bridal stairs leading to four smaller cakes, three tiers with flowing fountain at the base, and a small side cake with names of the bride and groom. Each tier was topped with swans, with a golden heart-shaped ring encircling golden wedding bells as the cake top.

Out-of-town guests were John and Eleanor Buckett and family, Calumet, MI; Art and Doris Hagen, Bay City, MI; Cheri and Angie Sinn; Darrel Swenson and Stacy; Brian and Lori Swenson; Arlene and Shari Erickson; Ginny McGlynn; Marion Halvorson; John and Stacey Berberich and family; and Roy Grandstrand and Jeremy and Jason.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, MI, the bride and groom are at home at 5101 Bearshead Rd., No. 315, Minnetonka. The bride teaches first grade at St. John's Lutheran school in Chaska and the groom is an electronic technician at Standard Duplicator's and Erickson's Super Valu.

The bride is a graduate of Minnetonka high school and Mankato state university, and the groom of Orano high school and Brown Institute.

Debbie Swanson - Scott Muzzy United In Marriage

Debbie Jean Swanson and Scott Garrett Muzzy exchanged wedding vows April 5 at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire. Rev. Gary Moore officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. James Muzzy. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Myhrer and Anna Muzzy. All are from Thief River Falls.

Colleen Rux was organist for the ceremony. Mrs. Kathleen Rux sang, "Nobody Loves Me like You Do" and "Evergreen," and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" during the lighting of the unity candle.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her parents. She wore a traditional white gown with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and sheer, lace-trimmed, Juliet sleeves. The lace-trimmed hemline of the full skirt flowed to a cathedral train. Her full, floor-length veil fell from a matching lace headpiece. The cascading bridal bouquet of pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms, babies' breath and English ivy was designed especially for her wedding by the bride.

Wanda Sylvester, Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joanie Hanson, Fargo, ND, and Mona Knutson and Nancy Carlson, both of Thief River Falls. They wore floor-length maize gowns and carried bouquets designed by the bride of long-stemmed pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms, babies' breath and English ivy.

Teaki Garcia, Rochester, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. Her floor length gown was of white antique satin and she carried a bouquet of long-stemmed yellow mums. All bridal attendants wore yellow mums and white lotus blossoms in their hair.

Trigg Wold, Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a grey tuxedo identical to those of the groomsmen.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo, wearing a matching boutonniere designed by the bride.

His best man was Dale Rupprecht of this city. Groomsmen were Kent Wagner and Shannon Kezar of Thief River Falls, and Mitch Muzzy of Fargo. All wore grey tuxedos with light yellow crysanthemum buds, white lotus blossoms and English ivy boutonnieres fashioned by the bride.

Ushers were brothers of the couple, Wayne Swanson and Jerry and Kurt Muzzy.

The mother of the bride wore a layered coral, street-length gown. The groom's mother wore pale blue. Their corsages were designed by the bride.

Guests of honor were the bride's great-grandmother, Matilda Morben, of Thief River Falls, and her godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hove, Gig Harbor, WA.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Host couples wer Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Swanson, Pine Island, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Koop, Thief River Falls, friends of the groom. Cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Chaput of Red Lake Falls, greeted the guests.

Attending the gifts were Kim DeHaan, Red Lake Falls, cousin of the bride, and Cindi Solum, Thief River Falls, friend of the couple. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morben, great-aunt and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Muzzy, aunt and uncle of the groom.

The white, four-tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother, was decorated with pale yellow mums, white lotus blossoms and English ivy. The creation was topped with a hand-blown crystal decoration featuring a gold cross. Aunts of the couple, Janet Johnson, Brainerd, and Violet Muzzy, Thief River Falls, cut and served the cake. Barb DeHaan, Red Lake Falls, aunt of the bride, and Jackie Englestad, friend of the groom, poured.

Waitresses were cousins of the bride, Kathy Halstrom, Tacoma, WA, and Jodi Johnson, Brainerd.

Out-of-town guests were from Red Lake Falls, Brainerd, Pine Island, East Grand Forks, Grand Rapids, Strathcona, Rochester and Gig Harbor and Tacoma, WA.

Following a wedding trip to the Twin Cities, the bride and groom are at home in this city. The groom is engaged in farming with his father and the bride is employed at Northland Foods. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school, and the groom a graduate of the Thief River Falls AVTI.

Bernhardson And Wahl Plan Future Nuptials

Linda Rae Bernhardson, Angle Inlet, and Paul Wahl, Delano, CA, announce their engagement and forthcoming marriage. Parents of the couple are Ruth Austad, Thief River Falls, Don Bernhardson, Red Lake Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Wahl, McClusky, ND.

The bride-to-be is a 1977 graduate of Lincoln high school, attended Northland community college and graduated from Bemidji state university. She is the lone instructor in the Warroad school district's one-room Angle Inlet school during the school year and worked summers as an officer with the U.S. Customs service at the Warroad port of entry.

Her fiance is a 1977 graduate of McClusky high school, attended Minot state college, and is the former sports editor of the Grafton Record. He is general manager of the Delano Record in Delano, CA.

A June 27 wedding is planned in Thief River Falls. The couple will be residing in California after their marriage.

Engagement Announced Of Kristi Jorgensen

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jorgensen of Thief River Falls are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Kristi, to Kevin Condon, son of Dr. and Mrs. John P. Condon of Fargo, ND.

Jorgensen is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Northland community college, and is employed at Custom Graphics, Inc. in Fargo, ND. Condon is a graduate of Fargo South high school and is employed at Duling Optical of Moorhead.

An October 18 wedding is planned at First United Methodist church in Fargo, ND.

Holt Keenagers To Hear Dr. David Brown Friday

Holt Keenagers will meet Friday beginning with a potluck meal at noon. Dr. David Brown will be guest speaker; everyone is welcome to attend.

Buckett And Grandstrand Exchange Vows In Excelsior

Patricia Ann Buckett and Brian Scott Grandstrand were united in marriage June 28 at Our Savior's Lutheran in church in Excelsior. Rev. David Steuernagel and Rev. Martin Cloeter officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Buckett of Excelsior and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Grandstrand of Maple Plain.

Phillip Hesterman served as organist at the ceremony, playing processional, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by J.S. Bach, and recessional of "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell. Mary and Bobby Grones sang "Wedding Song," "Song for Christian Couple" and "He Has Chosen You For Me."

The church was decorated with white bows along the aisles; candelabra with white bows and greenery; a floral arrangement of red roses, mini white carnations, babies' breath and greenery on the altar; and a special banner of "The Two Shall Become One."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white layered chiffon featuring Queen Anne neckline on the pearl-beaded lace bodice, button-trimmed back, and flowered lace sleeves. The softly draped skirt fell from a dropped waistline, and was trimmed with lace panels, flowing to a full, self-fabric train edged and trimmed with the same flowered lace. Her chapel-length veil fell from a wreath of white silk flowers, and she wore diamond earrings to complete her attire. Her semi-cascade bouquet was composed of red roses and white gardenias, stephanotis, babies' breath and mini carnations, interspersed with greenery.

Karen Guttormson of Virginia Beach, VA, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were friend, Julie Knapp, Minnetonka; sisters of the bride, Cindy and Kris Buckett, both of Minneapolis; and friend, Jane Johnson, Seattle, WA. All wore gowns of red taffeta in a tea length, with fitted, draped waist and back V-neckline. They wore matching red slippers to complete the outfit, and carried bouquets of white mini carnations, babies' breath and stephanotis, and red roses, with trailing white satin streamers.

Andy Brisclair, friend of the couple, was ring bearer. He wore a white suit with red bow tie and rose boutonniere, and carried a white satin pillow.

The groom wore white tails with red bow tie and cummerbund, and a matching boutonniere of a red rose with white stephanotis. His twin brother, Brad Grandstrand of New Hope, served as his best man.

Other attendants were Byron Trochman, cousin of the groom, Moorhead; Mike Craft, friend, Maple Plain; Bill Copeland, uncle of the groom, Long Lake; and Steve Boisclair, friend, Rockford. Ushers were Corey Grandstrand, the groom's brother; and Greg Benusa, a friend. All men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with red bow ties and cummerbunds with red rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a soft blue chiffon gown with draped cowl neckline and skirt and an opal heart necklace. The groom's mother wore a gown of shaded blue with pearl accessories. Their corsages were red roses, mini carnations and babies' breath.

Honored guests were grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grandstrand and Elizabeth Swenson; godparents of the groom, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Sinn; and the bride's aunt, Catherine Milford.

A reception dinner was held following the ceremony, with approximately 200 guests attending. Host and hostess were friends of the couple, Kathy and Dave Kovalick. Sandra Newbold presided at the guest book, gifts were arranged by Roberta Holthe and Colleen Aldritt-Johnson, and punch was served by Stacy Johnsrud.

The wedding cake was trimmed in red and white, and featured bridal stairs leading to four smaller cakes, three tiers with flowing fountain at the base, and a small side cake with names of the bride and groom. Each tier was topped with swans, with a golden heart-shaped ring encircling golden wedding bells as the cake top.

Out-of-town guests were John and Eleanor Buckett and family, Calumet, MI; Art and Doris Hagen, Bay City, MI; Cheri and Angie Sinn; Darrel Swenson and Stacy; Brian and Lori Swenson; Arlene and Shari Erickson; Ginny McGlynn; Marion Halvorson; John and Stacey Berberich and family; and Roy Grandstrand and Jeremy and Jason.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, MI, the bride and groom are at home at 5101 Bearshead Rd., No. 315, Minnetonka. The bride teaches first grade at St. John's Lutheran school in Chaska and the groom is an electronic technician at Standard Duplicator's and Erickson's Super Valu.

The bride is a graduate of Minnetonka high school and Mankato state university, and the groom of Orano high school and Brown Institute.

Deaths And Funerals

Maudie Hallstrom, 76

St. Hilaire—Funeral services were held at Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire Tuesday for Maudie Hallstrom, 76, who died Friday at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Gary Moore officiated at the service, with Grace Hammer serving as organist. Music was "Oh, Happy Day When We Shall Stand" by Grace Hammer, and "I Know That My Redeemer Lives" by Rev. Gary Moore. The congregation joined in singing "Beauutiful Savior" and "How Great Thou Art."

Pallbearers were Gene, Loren and Lowell Anderson, and Gary, Maynard and Wayne Peters. Interment was at Community cemetery, with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Maudie Hallstrom was born Dec. 6, 1909, in Quincy, IL, to Phillip and Maud Flack Peters. The family moved to Viking when she was five. She attended school in Warren, graduating from high school there. She moved to St. Hilaire after graduation.

Nov. 3, 1935, she was united in marriage to Martin Hallstrom in Viking. They made their home in St. Hilaire. She was a waitress at Inga's cafe from 1952 until retirement in 1972. Martin Hallstrom died July 15, 1972.

Maudie Hallstrom is survived by a daughter, Mrs. James (Myrna) Nelson, Spring Lake Park; two sons, Harlan, St. Hilaire, and Dennis, Thief River Falls; seven grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Gladys Anderson, Warren; and a brother, Orville Peters of Thief River Falls.

She was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Martin; two brothers, John and Glenn; and one sister, Mildred.

Ottea Ekwall, 80

Thief River Falls — Funeral services were held today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m. at Ekelund Lutheran church, rural Goodridge, for Ottea Ekwall, who died Saturday at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Jay Borchert officiated at the service, with music by Vernon Iverson and Anna Kriel singing "The Old Rugged Cross." Marian Marquis was organist. Congregational hymns were "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "How Great Thou Art."

Pallbearers were Irel Dahlman, Clinton Ekwall, Henry Hovet, Obert Hovert, Robert Parnow and Veirn Pederson. Interment was at Ekelund cemetery, with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Ottea Emilia Ekwall was born June 6, 1906, in Black River township of Red Lake county, the daughter of Carl and Ingeborg Anderson Ekwall. She moved with her family to the Erie area, where she attended school. She farmed with her brother on the family farm until 1979, when he died, and in 1980 she moved into Thief River Falls.

One sister, Emma Pederson Moose Lake, and several nieces and nephews survive.

She was preceded in death by her parents, three brothers and five sisters.

Harold Einarson, 79

Goodridge — Memorial services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Faith Lutheran church in Goodridge for Harold Einarson, 79, who died Saturday at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls. Interment will be at Poplar Grove cemetery, rural Goodridge.

Rev. Jay Borchert officiated at the service, with Grace Hammer serving as organist and soloist. Selections were "How Great Thou Art" and "Beyond the Sunset." The congregation joined in singing "My Faith Looks up to Thee" and "My God, How Great Thou Art."

Roy Anderson, Albin Hanson, Lynn Hanson, Clarence Peters, George Pittman, Gordon Pittman, Ole Stephenson, Orvin Sunsdahl, Ludy Urdahl, Lars Wiseth, Melvin Wilkins and Joe Belange served as honorary casketbearers. The Green Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Harold Einarson was born Oct. 21, 1906, in Moylan township, Marshall county, to Jake and Anna Branum Einarson. He was united in marriage Dec. 27, 1933, to Blanche Sheridan at Nielsville. The couple moved to the Goodridge area where they farmed from 1935 to 1973. She died Apr. 29, 1974.

Suriviors include a brother, Elmer Blaine, Grygla; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Harold Einarson was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Blanche; one brother, James C. Blaine Sr.; and three sisters, Jennie Carter, Myrtle Brown and Alvina Blaine.

Axel Stark, 86

Thief River Falls — Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Belmont Funeral home for Axel Stark, 86, who died Tuesday evening at Northwest Medical center. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery near St. Hilaire.

Visitation will be from noon until 9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home. A complete obituary will be published in a later edition of the Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Algot Eriksson returned recently from a six-week trip to Norway, Sweden and Finland. They were accompanied by their son, Peter, of Minneapolis, who spent three weeks there. The five weeks in Finland were spent visiting relatives and sight-seeing. Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Eriksson, Nicholas and Whitney of Missoula, MT, had spent one week in Norway and one week in Sweden before joining the Erikssons in Finland. While in Aland, Finland, a family get-together was attended on Brando Island at the home of Holger Eriksson, who is the head of the school there. Algot's nine brothers and one sister and many family members were in attendance. Pictures were taken and put in the local newspaper of the ten brothers and one sister. This was the third time in ten years all brothers and sisters were together.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hoff of Perley and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fonnest visited Sunday afternoon and evening at the Matt Wick home.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Windsness of Hoaquiem, WA, visited Friday at the Matt Wick home.

Miss Sharon Eriksson of Casper, WY, spent three weeks visiting in Minnesota and North Dakota before returning to her teaching duties. She visited the Arlon Erikssons in Grand Forks, ND, Barb and Dave Capes in Grafton, ND, Roger Erikssons in St. Cloud, Peter Eriksson in Minneapolis, and Algot Erikssons in Thief River Falls. Also visiting for two weeks were the Mervin Erikssons of Missoula, MT.

Northwest Medical Center Income At $13 Million In '86

to provide services and equipment that postition ourselves as a regional healthcare provider in northwest Minnesota."

Major capital projects cited for the year were opening of the Northern Lights community residence, remodeling of the mental health division, new radiographic and fluorscopic x-ray equipment, new patient furniture and equipment, designated mammography machine, new surgical and infusion equipment. The center spent in excess of $1.4 million on these capital improvements.

"These purchases are in line with the board of directors approved goals and objectives," Froschheiser said. "What is even more remarkable is that because of the organization's strong financial performance, we were able to expend these kinds of funds without dipping into our funded reserves or taking on additional debt. This is important as federal policy translated through the Medicare prospective payment system will make it increasingly difficult to generate a positive financial statue in the years to come."

The board chairman also praised the center's employees and the assistance of the medical center auxiliary and volunteers.

President Spyhalski pointed out the continued increase in outpatient utilization, exemplified by same day surgical procedures which increased by 23½ per cent over the previous year. He also cited the strong working relationship between the medical center and the medical staff in the community. Noted were the additions of Dr. David Antonenko and Dr. William A. Raux III and the retirements from active practice of Dr. George Martin and Dr. Earl Dagg.

"The past year at Northwest Medical center has been a very exciting one," stated Dr. Donald Mestery, "with a multitude of changes taking place within this health care community as well as in the northwestern region of Minnesota.

"The blossoming of HMO's will add new style to the practice of medicine," he continued. "Northwest Medical center and its medical staff must continue to maintain a very flexible attitude toward the delivery of health care to insure its continued strength in the marketplace." He also mentioned new equipment added during the year, including the lithotripser to provide state of the art treatment for kidney stones, new luoroscopy equipment for gastrointestinal disease detection at earlier stages, and new mamography equipment for early detection of breast cancers.

"The association of the Falls clinic with the Dakota clinic has provided an ever strengthened network of physician services," he said, "with the institution of many specialty clinics within Thief River Falls, to provide much needed services in this community and to allow many patients' illnesses to be treated successfully within this institution."

The financial report of the medical center showed $13,037,018 in gross revenues, less $2,194,692 in allowances and uncollected accounts for net patient, resident and clinic revenues of $10,842,326. Other operating revenue of $397,466 resulted in total net operating revenue of $11,239,792. This compares with net operating revenue of $10,761,700 a year ago on total revenues of $12,155,005.

Total operating expenses of $10,434,866 resulted in net operating income of $804,926. Investment income of $431,449 permitted $1,236,375 to be available for replacement of buildings and equipment.

Assets of the medical center at the end of the fiscal year totaled $13,392,950 and included current assets of $3,130,932; depreciation funds of $3,602,385; other assets of $867,803; and property, plant and equipment (net of reserve for depreciation) of $5,791,950.

Liabilities include $282,937 as the current portion of long term debt, $1,461,825 in other current liabilities and long term debt of $3,136,617. Fund balance (net worth) is $8,511,571.

The public is invited to this special missions service.

GF Backscatter Hearing Elicits Many Questions

October 6 to have them made a part of the permanent record.

"Neither oral nor written comments have a higher priority — both will be given equal consideration in the final decision," he said. Comments should be sent to: HQ Electronic Systems Division-SCO; OTH-B Systems Program Office; Attn: Lt. V. G. Brown; Hanscom AFB, MA 01731-5000.

Questions raised at the meeting included those of the effect of the Backscatter radar screen on local private aircraft, ham radio operation signals, electricity, land values, taxes, environmental balance, schools, duck and geese migration, and health. Other queries were why midwestern areas were selected for a radar screen, how long the radar equipment will be useable considering technological advances, and will the land be forcibly taken by condemnation or "right of eminent domain" if farmers refuse to sell or lease to the government.

Concern was also expressed about the chance of computer error in the radar that might signal an air attack that didn't exist, and another comment filed on record was: "I object to the charge that Russia will send over bombers to bomb this country. Russia is peace-loving. I am a Russian." The statement was made by Marvine Honea of Grand Forks.

Negative comments centered on loss of agricultural land and tax dollars. Don Dyrdal of rural Thief River Falls, whose land could become a part of the proposed Thief River Falls site, presented a statement opposing the radar unit, citing disuse of agricultural land resulting in loss of dollars to area businesses, tax revenue loss, and environmental concerns, including fear of the area being turned into a nuclear waste disposal when the Backscatter unit is decommissioned or no longer operating.

For nearly two hours, Col. Lee and the air force panel patiently answered questions and solicited comments, with some speakers taking several turns at the microphone. As a part of his closing remarks, Col. Lee stressed the importance of submitting comments, whether for or against the Backscatter radar unit, and assured the audience that the evening's comments would become part of the permanent record. There will be no more formal hearings in this area, so further comments will only be accepted in written form, to the address mentioned above.

As far as Thief River Falls' chances of obtaining the Backscatter receiver station, which would provide about 50 new jobs in the area and bring three or four million dollars into the community, Stewart said, "Things certainly look positive for Pennington county to receive the Over-the Horizon Backscatter. Our chances look pretty good right now."

Prowler Yearbook Distribution At Cafeteria Friday

Distribution of the Prowler yearbook for the 1985-1986 school year will take place on Friday from 3 to 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school cafeteria in Thief River Falls, according to Sheryl Novacek, yearbook advisor for 1986-87.

THANK YOU

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all of you for your many acts of kindness at the time of the death of Francis Cloutier.

Our family is very grateful to Dr. Langland, the nurses on first floor of the Northwest Medical Center, and Oakland Park Nursing Home for the loving care and attention shown to Frenchy, and also, to Belmont Funeral Home for attending to all of the funeral arrangements.

A very special thank you to Father Bourassa, Father Super, Father Clem Cloutier, and Sister Caroline for your support and to the Resurrection Choir for your inspiring music. Appreciation is given to the Ladies of St. Bernard's for your kindness and hospitality.

Also, we were very honored by the presence of the Thief River Falls Fire Dept. and volunteers.

Bus Safety Is Promoted During September Month

September is school bus safety month in Minnesota and the theme of this year's observance is "Wait Behind the Yellow Line 'Til The Bus Stops." A poster depicting the theme was drawn by Jonathan Dinsmore of the Slayton public schools.

Minnesota had four school fatalities in 1985 compared to three the year before. The number of injuries in school bus crashes increased to 366 from 340 in 1985. There were 729 school buses involved in accidents, an increase from 686 in 1984.

School buses comprise a big part of transportation in Minnesota. More than 710,000 pupils are transported by nearly 10,000 school buses each school day.

Minnesota department of public safety reminds motorists to remember that coming from either direction, they must be prepared to stop when they see flashing amber lights on a school bus. These lights are a pre-warning that the bus is about to stop. Flashing red lights and an extended stop arm mean that the bus is stopped to either load or unload school children and other vehicles must stop.

School bus posters are available by writing to the Office of Public Information, Minnesota Department of Public Safety, 318 Transportation Building, St. Paul, MN 55155.

Abuse Prevention Group To Sponsor Meet In Brainerd

Parents Anonymous of Minnesota (P.A.M.) is sponsoring an informational meeting at the social service center in Brainerd on September 25 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Anyone who is concerned about child abuse and wants to learn about a program that brings hope to families is welcome to attend. P.A.M. intends to bring active Parents Anonymous support groups to the area.

P.A.M. is the only statewide child abuse prevention, intervention and treatment program in Minnesota and intends to help communities develop self-help support groups for parents and children that have proven to help stop child abuse. There are currently 20 communities with P.A. groups in Minnesota and P.A.M. hopes to have 26 before the end of the year.

Agenda for the meeting on September 25 includes showing of the film, "Do I Have to Kill My Child," a dramatization of how a parent crosses the thin line between being at the end of her rope and actually abusing her child.

Staff of Parents Anonymous as well as parents who have found help through the organization will be available to share information about this program and how to start a chapter in a local community. Everyone is welcome.

Rehab Hospital Sets Rehab Week Events Schedule

Medical Center rehabilitation hospital at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks is sponsoring two free workshops, "Back Injury Prevention" at 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 16, and "Athletic Injuries: A Seminar for Parents" at 7 p.m. Thursday, September 18.

The workshop about back injury prevention will teach participants about good posture, body mechanics, exercise and weight and stress reduction. The workshop is geared for day-care providers, homemakers, special education teachers and foster grandparents.

The athletic injuries workshop will help parents to better understand sports injuries and their diagnoses, first-aid application and sports injury rehabilitation. Discussion also will focus on the importance of pre-season screening, conditioning and adherence to a specific training or rehabilitation program.

Early registration for the athletic injuries workshop is encouraged. Contact the East Grand Forks continuing education office at (218) 773-3494 or write to Box 151, East Grand Forks, Minn. 56721. Both workshops will be held at the rehab hospital.

For more information about either workshop, call the MCRH community relations department at (701) 780-2444.

Jingle Contest Promotes State Seatbelt Use

Minnesota Seat belt coalition is continuing its statewide contest, "Minnesota Clicks with Verse." Participation is now open to all state residents, with a separate program for school children in grades 4-9.

Designed to promote seat belt use and traffic safety, the contest is fashioned after the old Burma-Shave roadside jingles. Entrants submit a six-line verse on traffic safety with the last line reading "buckle up."

All Minnesotans are encouraged to participate in the contest. Entries must be post marked no later than October 1. Winners will be announced on October 10. The top three entries will receive $50, and special certificates will be awarded to seven others. Winning jingles will be reproduced on signs similar to the Burma-Shave ads and placed in the vicinity of the winners' communities.

The contest for students will be conducted through the schools.

For more information, or to submit a contest entry, contact the Minnesota Seat Belt Coalition, 5200 West 73rd Street, Minneapolis, MN 55435, or call (612) 831-2098.

Council Accepts Bid On City Dam

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Thief River Falls city council accepted bids on a project to repair the Red River Dam in Thief River Falls and accepted a recommendation of the sanitation committee to enter into an agreement with Future Fuel Inc. for hauling leaves to Future Fuel at $10 per non-compacted truck load.

Last August bids on the Red River Dam in Thief River Falls were rejected, primarily because they were too high. At that time there were only two bidders. After reviewing the situation and granting contractors concessions among which a longer period of time to complete the project and lowering the late penalty clause were included, the city called for bids on the project a second time.

Four bids were accepted on the second attempt to find a contractor for the project. The utilities committee recommended that the low bid of $127,990 from Agassiz construction, Crookston, be accepted. The lowest bid the first time around was $146,000. The highest bid the second time around was $143,534.

Jerry Wigness, city clerk, added that he believed the lower bids were also due to the concerted efforts of the city utilities department and consulting engineers to demonstrate the extent of damage to the dam from scour by releasing a large amount of water and then shutting down part of the spillway. The low water level noticed by citizens last week was caused by this effort.

Acceptance of the bids however, created another problem. Originally, the city budgeted $43,990 for the project which was matched by $42,000 from the Minnesota department of natural resources. The city council has decided to get the rest of the money from utilities commission reserves.

A leaf loader for Thief River Falls has been a source of additional argument within the city council. The city council, however, has agreed to a proposal by Future Fuel Inc. to accept leaves and wood chips at a rate of $10 per truck load, which opens the way for the purchase-lease agreement on the leaf vacuum. As it stands now the leaf vacuum will be moved around the city on certain days, not yet determined, suck up and chop the leaves deposited next to the berm and blow them into a canvass covered gravel truck box, no bigger than what is now used for snow removal.

Thief River Falls may see new welcome signs into the city. Dr. Al Nichols appeared before the city council to inform the city council that a large group of organizations are interested in erecting new signs at each entrance to the city of Thief River Falls. Those organizations include: American Legion Post 117; Thief River Falls Jaycees; Thief River Falls chamber of commerce convention and visitors bureau; Pennington county DFL; Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute; Pennington county sportsmans club; VFW auxiliary; Women of Today; Lioness club; the Council on aging; Kiwanis club; Lions club and Northland community college.

The committee of private individuals representing the organizations has decided to erect four signs, one on highway 32 north and south, one on highway 59 south, one on highway 59 north and one on Minnesota highway one west. The approximate cost of the four signs will total around $8,000. Each sign will cost approximately $2,000, and be 12 feet by 24 feet. The make up of the signs will be a configuration with Thief River Falls at the center middle and decals of the organizations forming a "U" shape around the center middle. The committee, however, decided to further explore the costs, and discuss the options with the other organizations at a later date.

The city council expressed support and promised to consider financial support.

In other business the city council: referred the matter of a property discrepancy problem on the 1100 block of North Horace avenue to the city attorney; granted a request for a cigarette license to Geraldine Swenson of the Arnold avenue store; tabled action on an objection to the cost of peddler's license fees by Orlan photographers; recommended Dan Thorstad and Don Aandal to replace two volunteer firefighters who retired; and the council was informed that Patrolman Allan Melby is seeking an appeal of the appeals court decision by the Minnesota state supreme court.

Applicants For Academies Due By October 1st

Young men and women interested in seeking nominations to the U.S. naval, air force, merchant marine and military academies must apply no later than Oct. 1, 1986 for the class entering in July of 1987, according to Congressman Arlan Stangeland.

Applicants must be legal residents of the Seventh District of Minnesota, at least 17 years of age but not past their 22nd birthday on July 1 of the year of admission, citizens of the United States, unmarried and have no children. The SAT or ACT exams must be taken and scores reported. The application must also include two letters of recommendation, a high school transcript with class rank, and a letter explaining why the candidate wants to enter a service academy. Selection is based on these requirements as well as extra-curricular activities, leadership potential and motivation.

Once the application has been received, candidates will be asked to attend a screening interview this fall. Congressman Stangeland has appointed a 15-member board to interview candidates at that time.

The congressman encourages high school principals and guidance counselors to ensure that seniors are aware of the education opportunities offered by the academies and to make sure that all necessary information is available to interested students.

Qualified individuals who are interested in applying for a nomination must write to Congressman Arlan Stangeland, 403 Center Avenue, Moorhead, MN 56560 no later than the deadline of October 1.

Citizen Meet On Nuclear Waste Set In Winnipeg

On September 12-14 a conference on nuclear waste issues sponsored by citizen and church organizations in Canada will be held in Winnipeg, Manitoba. The conference, entitled "Challenges to Nuclear Waste Management," is being held as a citizens' alternative to a nuclear industry-sponsored conference being held September 7-11.

The September 7-11 conference is closed to the public while the citizens conference is open to everyone. On Monday, September 15, there will be a tour of the Underground Research Lab in Lac du Bonnet, Manitoba, where the U.S and Canadian governments are doing joint research on the use of Canadian Shield granite for high level nuclear waste disposal. Canadian Shield granite extends into Minnesota and Wisconsin, where earlier this year 10 of 20 possible sites for a nuclear waste dump were designated.

The citizens' conference will bring together Canadian and American technical experts who have been critical of the nuclear waste disposal programs currently underway in both countries. Citizen activitsts from as far as Texas and the Netherlands will have an oppojtunity to meet local activitsts from Manitoba, Minnesota and Wisconsin, emphasizing the global implications of nuclear waste management problems.

DEMOLITION of the 1910 and 1919 additions to Lincoln high school may well leave a number of pigeons homeless. One of the birds which has used the abandoned structures for a hangout was among several still hanging around as the walls came a'tumbling down last week. The birds would flutter away as the wrecking ball knocked down portions of the walls, then return to roost and observe as soon as there was a pause in the activity. What the birds saw was activity like that in the bottom photo. Only the north wall of the 1910 addition now stands, and that will be removed with greater care due to its proximity to buildings remaining in use.

TRF Residents Have Roles In Rehab Observance

Several Thief River Falls area residents will have a part in the national rehabilitation week observance at the medical center rehabilitation hospital at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks September 15-19.

Mystery Increase In Retail Volume Remains Unsolved

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Gross retail sales in the fourth quarter of 1985 in Thief River Falls increased by over $5 million when compared with the fourth quarter of 1984. That astounding statistic was provided by the research division of the Minnesota department of revenue.

Actually the figure was $5,322,738, news of which was enthusiastically received by the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce and the retail business association at recent meetings. While it may be cause for celebration, no one seems to know the reason why there was such a large increase. It could even be a mistake, according to the Minnesota department of revenue, research division. A spokesman said they would do a little research to try and help explain the phenomenal growth.

The down side of the statistics released by the department of revenue, however, is that while Thief River Falls retail sales increased, retail sales in Pennington county as a whole decreased, which puts it in unique company. Only one other situation similar to Pennington county and Thief River Falls occurred in Minnesota. It happened with McLeod county and Hutchinson.

The actual reported retail sales figures for Thief River Falls during the fourth quarter of 1985 were $36,519,718 and $31,196,980 in 1984. For Pennington county the figures were $42,424,897 in 1985 and $43,975,445 in 1984.

Area retail merchants belonging to the chamber of commerce were surprised to see such an increase in retail sales in Thief River Falls, especially with the farm market problems. The gain places Thief River Falls in company with some of the biggest increases in the state from 1984.

According to the report the gross sales were determined from the sum of the sales reported by businesses in standard industry codes, which includes: building materials such as hardware, paint and wallpaper stores, and nurseries; general merchandise such as department stores; super markets, groceries and food stores; automotive dealers, auto supply stores and gas stations; apparel and accessory stores; home furnishings and appliance stores; eating and drinking places; miscellaneous retail, including drug stores, liquor stores, gift shops, jewelery stores, sporting goods, florists and used merchandise stores.

While several questions remain as to how or if the increases really occurred, Sue Lillevold, chamber of commerce executive director, is pleased with the figures. She said she hopes people will be forced to face the fact that Thief River Falls is a good community and the results of the figures will install a positive attitude in the retail merchants, the community and the clerks which serve the community. She also hopes the positive attitude will encourage people to do even more shopping in Thief River Falls.

Questions left remaining on this surprise include how the increase occurred, what the three prior quarters were like and how did 1984 compare with previous years. Lillevold said this is the first quarterly sales report received by the chamber from the Minnesota retail merchants association. She added that this will now be a regular issue to the chamber. The Minnesota department of revenue research department is also researching the figures to determine if an error had been made or find out where the increase or increases came from.

Lillevold also compiled the list of counties that held at about the same level from the previous year, were down from the previous year, and showed an increase. Counties that stayed at about the same level included Marshall, Lake of the Woods, Clearwater, Mahnomen, Norman, Itasca, Cass, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Morrison, Mille Lacs, Kanabec, Pine, Wilkin, Traverse, Stevens, Wright, Lac Qui Parle, La Sueur, Waseca, Pipestone and Nobles.

Counties showing a decrease in gross sales from the gross sales of one year before include: Kittson, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Clay, Koochiching, Cook, Wadena, Carlton, Todd, Grant, Benton, Chisago, Swift, Chippewa, Kandiyohi, Meeker, Yellow Medicine, McLeod, Sibley, Scott, Nicollet, Brown, Redwood, Lincoln, Murray, Cottonwood, Rock, Jackson, Goodhue, Wabasha, Steele, Dodge, Winona, Fairbault, Freeborn and Mower.

Counties showing an increase included: Roseau, Beltrami, St. Louis, Becker, Otter Tail, Douglas, Morrison, Pope, Stearns, Sherburn, Anoka, Big Stone, Renville, Lyon, Carver, Dakota, Rice, Blue Earth, Martin, Olmsted and Fillmore.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

If you are on Medicare and have a supplemental insurance policy does the supplemental pay the hospital deductible regardless of how many times you are hospitalized in a year? - Thief River Falls, MN

This depends on your specific private insurance plan. Questions about private policies are best directed to the insurance agent. For free information on what to look for while purchasing private insurance contact social security for the booklet, "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare". Social security cannot recommend any particular private insurance company.

(Q). My husband retired early but he died before he was able to receive social security benefits. I am 56 years old and won't be able to receive any benefits until I'm 60 years old. My question is — my husband has worked all his life at a job where he has paid into social security — what happens to all that he has paid into that fund if something happens to me before my 60th birthday? The money was his and not any one of his family would benefit from it. Is that right? — Crookston, MN

(A) In a purely direct financial sense, no family member would benefit from social security if there are no eligible children and if you die before age 60. Other than the one time funeral benefit when your husband died no monthly benefits would have been payable. However, your family actually can be said to have received a form of benefit through social security coverage with its protective umbrella of disability and survivor benefits when the family was growing and even to now since you intend to receive widow's benefits in a few years. Incidently, if you become severely disabled before age 60 you can file for disable widows benefits.

The survivor and disability protection of social security is similar to private car or house insurance. People do not hope for an accident or fire to get their premium back much as people would prefer not to die or become disabled in order to receive benefits.

(Q) What happens to the money which I pay into social security? — Grand Forks, ND

(A) It is used to pay current benefits of those now getting social security. Excess funds are invested in government securities for interest income and for future needs. Social security is a pay as you go system. Your tax is not held in a savings account for you alone although your wage record is credited for the amount earned. This is part of the program which unites the generations.

(Q) I am 62 and understand that I can file for reduced retirement. Due to an accident I cannot work any more. Can I file for disability even though I am old enough for retirement? — Mahnomen, MN

(A) Yes, and you can also sign applications for both programs so that if your disibility is not allowed you would still get retirement. Usually a retirement claim is processed faster than a disability one. Based on what the individual wants, social security can pay the retirement first and then switch to the approved disability benefits. Disability normally has a higher benefit amount because there are no reductions for age involved. There is no financial advantage in filing for disability based on an illness or injury occurring past age 65 since that is the age for unreduced retirement benefits.

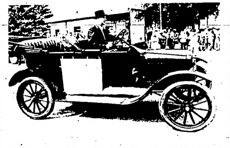
(Q) My husband just died and social security contacted me promptly to help file benefit applications. How does a national agency stay current on that kind of information?

(A) Social security has an excellent and voluntary system in place with most local funeral homes. Using our materials, the funeral home directors notify us of a death and of the next of kin. We then contact the family about possible benefits. In addition, staff here are members of the community and learn of possible applicants through personal knowledge and the newspapers. It is suggested that next of kin always contact the agency when a person dies as benefits might be payable. In Grand Forks call 772-5517.

(Q) My disability claim was just turned down. The decision said that even though I was unable to return to my past work I had, based on my past work experience, the residual function capacity (RFC) to do something else. If I cannot do my work, why can't I get disability? — Fisher, MN

(A) Under social security disability procedures the inability to do past relevant work (your old job) is not in itself a basis to approve a claim. The residual functional capacity (RFC) relates to existing skills of the applicant. In gerneral when a person's impairment prevents doing the work that has been done in the past, the interaction of age, education and past work experience or the absence of work experience must be considered to determine what other work the individual may be capable of performing in light of the functional limitations.

FRESH INGREDIENTS were featured on this float sponsored by the Third Base restaurant at Brooks and pulled along the parade route at the Blast to Brooks Saturday. The float featured simulated chefs and meat animals and poultry whose products are featured on the restaurant's menu.



AMONG THE ENTRIES in the Blast to Brooks parade on Saturday was this antique auto which drew applause from the crowd assembled to watch the annual event.

Sunflower Yield Contest Slated In Two Categories

"Sunflower fields in the Dakotas and Minnesota look better for this stage in their development than in recent years," according to Jim Helm, NDSU extension agronomist. "Yields are looking very promising for the 1986 crop."

This is the second year for the sunflower yield contest in two contest categories: confection and oilseed sunflower.

Contest rules stipulate that the contest plot must be at least 10 acres in one continuous plot of sunflower. Entrants must have a third party present during harvesting and weighing. Since the winners in the oilseed category are determined by pounds of oil per acre, an oil test must be submitted by a federal grain inspection service laboratory and the oil ticket must accompany the entry form. Entry deadline is Friday, November 21.

Winners and runners-up in each of the eight districts will be recognized at the NSA convention in Aberdeen, SD, on December 11. The winners will receive complimentary accommodations at the convention in addition to their award.

Entry information can be obtained by contacting the National Sunflower Association, 4023 N. State Street, Bismarck, ND 58501 (701) 224-3019, or from local hybrid sunflower seed dealers.

Surplus Foods To Be Distributed In Area Centers

Surplus commodities will be distributed on Thursday, September 25, at the following sites: Gatzke senior citizen center, Grygla community center, Holt senior center and Strandquist community center, all from 2 to 4 p.m.; and Middle River community center, 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Those who do not have a commodity card, and are interested in securing one may call Karen Skadsem at 874-8011 or Northwest Community Action, Inc. at 528-3258. A card is required in order to pick up the commodites, unless the applicant brings proof of income so a card can be issued.

Beltrami county residents who live in the Grygla area may pick up their commodities in the Grygla community center.

Turn unused household items into cash by selling them in the Times' Classified Ads.

The Overland Travel club sponsored a trip by Carpenter Charter bus, with Randy Carpenter as a driver and Eldon and Evonne Moe as guides, to the International Peace Garden Wednesday, September 3, leaving from Thief River Falls at 7 o'clock a.m. The Peace Garden is built on the border of Dunseith, North Dakota and Boissevain, Manitoba with 2,339 acres of land spanning the international boundary. Boarding the bus at Thief River Falls were Ellen Peterson, Gote and Erling Anderson, Ethel Moe, Bernice Vatsaas, Myrtle Solberg, Bernice Trochmann, Alice Roos, Bernice Knutson, Edna Paulson, Elda Knutson, Violet Bendickson, Irvin and Margie Jarshaw, Melvin Saugen, Bill Hawkyard, Geneva Overum, and Olga Johnson all from Thief River Falls area, Francis Stanislawski and Eddie Dallager both from Greenbush and Phyllis Gaven from St. Hilaire. At Carpenters Corner Myrtle Kogg, Hazel Stokke, Pearl Boe and Virginia Engen all from Viking and Irene Holmstrom of Newfolden joined the group. When the bus reached Warren Mayme Arnold and Irene Miska boarded the bus. The final stop was at Argyle where Leona Hammerback, Helen Bordenkircher and Clifford and Alice Anderson were waiting to get on the bus. Before reaching the Peace Garden the bus stopped at Langdon, ND for lunch. At their destination the first thing one notices was the border monument built with native stone with a stone tablet bearing this inscription: "To God In His Glory. . .We Two Nations Dedicate This Garden and Pledge Ourselves That As Long As Man Shall Live We Will Not Take Up Arms Against One Another."

A tour was made on the Canadian side passing along several picnic areas and also on the U.S. side with picnic areas and campgrounds. Of special interest was the Peace Chapel on the North Dakota and Manitoba border, with its three encircling walls constructed of flat sawn limestone into which has been engraved quotations either spoken or written by great men of peace throughout history. The Peace Tower is 120 feet tall with four columns representing people from the four corners of the earth coming together. The flowers of the Formal Garden were in full bloom and very beautiful. 60,000 annuals are grown each year and planted in various locations. It is all too much to see in one day but the group reported they enjoyed very much all they were able to cover. On their return home they stopped at Granny's Cafe in Grafton for supper, which had been scheduled with the tour tickets. A Grafton native, Mrs. Lillian Hanson, a friend of Ethel Moe met the bus here to visit briefly. The next tour which the Overland club is planning will be an overnight mystery trip in October sometime. Watch the local newspaper for details.

Prowlers Take On Lumberjacks Friday

WING-TOFFENSE being run by Thief River Falls during the 1986 high school football season starts with several players in motion and shifts before the snap of the ball. Quarterback Chris Bjorgaard waits over center Jon Erickson in this photograph from Saturday night's game at Detroit Lakes while tight end Bill Dicken (87), wingback Nate Dalager (16), fullback Mike Bendickson (46) and halfback Paul Brandt (43) position themselves for the play. The Prowlers ran the wing-T well against the Lakers, netting 363 yards worth of offense and producing six touchdowns in a big 39-15 win that snapped a 13-game losing streak. The Prowlers, 1-1 for the year, will be at Bemidji Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game against the rival Lumberjacks at Bemidji State University.

Thief River Falls players were on Cloud 9 Saturday night when a 39-15 high school football win over Detroit Lakes snapped a 13-game losing streak.

But the Prowlers will have to come back to earth sometime this week before they visit Bemidji Friday for a 7:30 p.m. meeting with the rival Lumberjacks.

"The win was great," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, "but reality will be staring us right in the eye Friday night. Bemidji has a good ball club. They're the biggest team we'll face all year."

It was an emotional victory over the Lakers, producing an enthusiastic response from a large group of Thief River Falls fans that drove to Detroit Lakes. The cheering carried over into a post-game meal at a local restaurant, and even included a police escort back into the city, despite a late-night arrival home.

"The kids really appreciated that," said Mumm. "They thought that was really something."

Leading the Prowlers in the win over the Lakers was Paul Brandt. The senior halfback had quite a night, rushing for 202 yards and scoring four touchdowns. "Last year he didn't run with a lot of authority," explained Mumm, "but this year he's really been super."

Combined with a 107-yard effort in a season-opening 35-7 loss at Grand Forks Red River, Brandt's 20-yard game at Detroit Lakes hiked his two-game figure to 309 yards. To get that kind of yardage, Brandt uses his speed and size, and obviously, the strong blocking of his offensive line.

"The offensive line did an outstanding job," said Mumm in reviewing the Detroit Lakes game. "They were super."

That often-overlooked starting group includes tackles Rod Hinrichs and Joe Drevlow, guards Tom Anderson and Paul Spyhalski, center Jon Erickson and tight end Bill Dicken.

The Prowlers also played well defensively, especially in the second half, against the Lakers. Nose guard produced the most action for Hinrichs, who was in on 11 tackles. Dicken, a defensive tackle, was in on eight stops, and Mumm said Scott Vedbraaten and Erickson played well at their linebacker spots.

Still, Mumm wasn't completely satisfied. "We've still got a long way to go," he said. "We're not a good football team yet. We still made a lot of mistakes, . Five of the seven penalties we had at Detroit Lakes were on the offense after 10-plus yard gains. If we do that in a big game, it'll kill us."

And Mumm thinks Friday's trip to Bemidji will be a "big" game. "It'll be a big challenge," he said, "but the kids are up for it. They want to find out just how good they are."

Bemidji is 2-0. The Lumberjacks opened with a 9-7 win over Alexandria, and last week shut out Park Rapids 20-0, holding the normally explosive Panthers to just 22 net yards on the ground while collecting 262 yards worth of offense themselves.

Park Rapids' offense, much in the same manner as the Prowlers' new wing-T set, is designed with a variety of mis-direction plays and multiple shifts. The Lumberjacks obviously had no trouble with the Panthers' attack, and Mumm admits he's concern about the Prowlers' ability to move the ball against the likes of 225-pound Roy Spino at the tackles and 200-pound Chester Gauberger at nose guard.

Offensively, a beefed-up Len Henry is in his second year as Bemidji's starting quarterback. He was 7-for-12 passing against Park Rapids for 132 yards. And he has one of the biggest backfields in the state to hand the ball off to, with Spino, Rob Aitken and Mike Kaliher all over the 200-pound marm. Matt Swenson, 1 6-5, 200-pounder, is the tight end and 170-pound Wade Burgess is the split end.

"That first win (over Detroit Lakes) was nice," but the second one will be tough," admitted Mumm.

Mike Lundgren Sports Editor

Prowlers Face Jacks

Thief River Falls will be looking for its first win at Bemidji since the 1976 season Friday when the Prowlers take on the Lumberjacks in a 7:30 p.m. high school football game at Bemidji State University.

The Prowlers have beaten the Lumberjacks a couple of times since, but a 22-21 victory in 1979 and a 14-6 win in 1983 both came at home.

That 1976 victory was an 18-12 overtime contest. It was the first overtime game ever for the Prowlers, coming three years after the Minnesota State High School League approved the tie-breaking procedure giving both teams four offensive plays starting at the opponent's 10-yard line.

Doug Dallmann's third touchdown of the game made Thief River Falls a winner that night. The Prowlers' Brad Kosel blocked a Bemidji field goal try on fourth down to end the Lumberjacks' offensive series in overtime, and Dallmann won it on a third down snap from the 2-yard line.

Bemidji beat Thief River Falls 41-0 a year ago when the Lumberjacks went on to a 9-1 season, losing only a 7-6 game to Moorhead in the Section 8AA finals, the second straight year the Spuds stopped Bemidji in the sectional title game.

The Lumberjacks graduated 18 seniors off last year's powerhouse team, but return 22 lettermen, who are joined by 25 members off an unbeaten 1985 junior varsity team.

Bemidji has a big team, averaging 205½ pounds across the offensive line, anchored by 248-pound center Pat Carriere. And the backfield averages 202½ pounds, a really remarkable figure for a high school football team. Guys like 230-pounders Bob Prickett, Gary Matthews and Jim Burch aren't even listed as starters, showing just how big and deep the Lumberjacks are.

Gophers Open Practice

University of Minnesota hockey team, scheduled to play an intrasquad game Saturday, September 27, at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena, was scheduled to report to second-year head coach Doug Woog and his staff today (Wednesday), according to a University of Minnesota sports release.

Forty-six candidates, including 19 lettermen, for the varsity and varsity reserve teams were expected to turn out for today's team meeting.

Dryland training under the direction of strength coach Jack Blatherwick begins tomorrow, with the first day of on-ice practice in Mariucci Arena scheduled for Sunday, September 21.

First action for the Gophers will be their scrimmage in Thief River Falls. Intrasquad games are also scheduled the following day in St. Cloud and on October 2 at the Blaine Arena in the Twin Cities.

Official opening of the 1986-87 season for the Gophers is the weekend of October 10-11 when Minnesota travels to Colorado College for a WCHA series.

Advance sale tickets to the Gophers' Thief River Falls scrimmage are on sale at several locations, including Erl's Market, Farmer's Union Oil, Pizza Hut and TG Sporting Goods. The tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $2 for students ages 14-under. Tickets will be $5 and $3 at the door.

Minnesota is looking to improve upon last year's 35-13 season record, which included a second place 24-10 finish behind Denver in the WCHA race and a third place NCAA tournament finish.

Senior right wing Tim Bergland of Thief River Falls and senior center Corey Millen of Cloquet were elected last spring to lead the Gophers this winter as co-captains. Millen, the team's leading scorer last year with 83 points, played on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team, taking a year's sabatical from collegiate play. Bergland, while not a flashy player like Millen, demonstrated that hard work will also pay off as he won the respect of his coaches and teammates in earning the captain's role.

Four senior starters are missing from last year's team, including defenseman Tony Kellin (Grand Rapids), goalie Frank Pietrangelo (Port Robinson, Ont.) and high-scoring forwards Wally Chapman (Edina) and Pat Micheletti (Hibbing).

Bergland, defenseman Craig Mack of East Grand Forks, Millen, right wing Todd Okerlund of Burnsville and defenseman Gary Shopek of Minneapolis Henry are all three-year lettermen for the Gophers.

In addition to Bergland and Mack, the Gophers' preseason roster includes former Section 8 high school players Paul Broten of Roseau, a two-year letterman; freshman forward Blaine Rude of Fergus Falls; and senior goalie Jon Brekken of Crookston, a non-letter winning walk-on.

Pioneers Open At Moorhead State

A number of question marks remain before Northland Community College football coach Rick Nelson is ready to use ink instead of pencil to write in his starting line-up.

But, he emphasized, it's not a matter of not having qualified personnel to fill the positions. Instead, it's a case of a number of talented players vying for several starting roles.

Competition for starting positions. Rarely has that been the case at Northland, certainly not to any extent in Nelson's first two years as the school's head coach when players often won jobs by default, and the won-loss record showed it — 1-7 in both 1984 and 1985.

"We have quite a few spots up in the air," acknowledged Nelson. "It's the first time in my three years here that we have some key competition for a number of positions, and I'm saying that in a very positive, optimistic manner. Right now we're juggling people around, trying to get the best athletes on the field."

He'll try to have that done by Thursday when the Pioneers open their 1986 season against the Moorhead State University junior varsity. The 7 p.m. game will be played at Alex Nemzek Field in Moorhead.

Two of the biggest surprises in preseason drills, said Nelson, has been the play of Darrin Johnson, a sophomore runningback from Kennedy, and Bill Neuschwander, a transfer student from Mayville State, who played high school football with the Goodridge-Grygla Blue Devils.

Johnson, although a starter a year ago, looked like he would lose out on playing time when freshman Deon Schmidt of Fargo North showed up. Schmidt was a standout performer in the North Dakota high school all-star football game this summer, and he was expected to become a big hit in the Northland backfield. But Schmidt has been banged up in practice and Johnson has been impressive. He'll start fullback Thursday.

Neuschwander was a center and defensive end in high school, but he's won a starting job as a defensive back with the Pioneers after transferring from Mayville State, where he did not play football.

Steve Ristau of East Grand Forks, a transfer student from the University of North Dakota, will start at halfback, along side of Johnson. Ristau helped lead the Green Wave to the 1984 Minnesota Class A state football playoff finals.

One of the strongest positions in the Northland line-up are the receivers, where slotback Scott Groven of Goodridge and split end Dean Brandon of Thief River Falls are both back from a banner freshman season in 1985. Freshman Bam Watson of Canton, OH will join them on occasion as a third receiver.

But quarterback Troy Ellingson did not return to Northland this fall, producing an unexpected hole in the offense. Scott Willoughby of Erskine appears to be the starter, but Nelson said Mike Coffield of Lancaster, recruited as a defensive back, has looked good since being pressed into service as a quarterback.

Sophomore Chad Swenseid of Grand Forks Central won the starting center job, but he has been plaqued by a back problem, and freshman Dave Koehmstedt of Middle River may be the starter Thursday.

Rest of the offensive line will include Mark Bieganek (Kelliher) and Steve Porter (Lancaster) at the guards, with Tom McGlynn (Mentor) and Mike Busch (East Grand Forks) as back-ups; Eric Hegma (Detroit Lakes) and Regie Berger (Dilworth) at the tackles; and Dorran Anderson (Lancaster) and Grant Grabanski (Grand Forks) as the alternate play-calling tight ends.

Defensively, Mike Zelinski (Fargo) and Chad Ekeberg (McIntosh) will join Neuschwander in the secondary; Mike Stennes (Erskine) and Steve Wiskow (Thief River Falls), a sophomore who didn't play football a year ago, will be the inside linebackers, with Kevin Fanfulik (Thief River Falls) as a back-up; Henry Collier (Orlando, FL) and Steve Boushee (East Grand Forks) will probably be the outside linebackers, although Dean Zimmel (Dilworth) may end up there, too; Tim Wayne, (Goodridge) and Zimmel or Greg Bieganek (Kelliher) will be the ends; with Jeff Johnson (Thief River Falls) and Anthony McCullough (Canton, OH) set at the tackles.

Brad Sturlaugson (Devils Lake, ND), who has been slowed by a toe injury, could spell any of the defensive linemen during the game, said Nelson.

Ron Dass (Ely) will do the place kicking chores and either Schmidt or Willoughby will do the punting.

"I feel confident with the kids we have," said Nelson. "I think it's the first time we have a realistic chance to compete on even terms with the rest of the (Minnesota Community College) conference. I think we're improved. I think we can match up, judging from the past, with the rest of the teams in the conference. But if they've improved as much as we've improved, then we still have a ways to go."

Of the 42 players expected to dress for the game, just 11 of them are returning sophomore letter winners, further complicating matters for Nelson and the rest of his coaching staff. "There's going to be some pre-game jitters, I'm sure," said Nelson, "but that's why it's important to open with a conference game."

Nelson hopes to have some of the uncertainty over positions, and the rookie nervousness taken care of before the Pioneers begin their 1986 MCCC schedule Sept. 20, at Mesabi.

College, High School Teams Host Volleyball Opponents

Volleyball, at both the high school and college level, will make its 1986 Thief River Falls debut this week.

Northalnd Community College will open its 1986 schedule tonight (Wednesday) with a 6:30 p.m. match against Itasca at the Northland gym. The Pioneers will also host Rainy River Friday at 6 p.m.

Lincoln High School, 1-1 after splitting a pair of season-opening matches at Warren and Roseau, will host Fisher Thursday in the Prowlers' 1986 home opener. C squad match starts at 5:15 p.m., followed by the junior varsity encounter at 6:15 and the varsity competition at 7:30. The Prowlers will also participate in the Roseau Invitational Saturday.

Northland coach Deb Jacobson has been busy trying to come up with enough players to field a team, with three Tuesday hallway recruits bringing the roster to eight.

Three sophomore letter winners return from last year's squad, including Julie Bergsnev and Kathi Nelson from Greenbush and Nancy Nordling from Alvarado.

Freshmen on hand include Angie Enerson, Erskine; Becky Knutson and Patty Odberg, Marhsall County Central; Anette Kofstad, Thief River Falls; and Janell DeHaan, Red Lake Falls.

There is some volleyball talent on hand, said Jacobson, but there is even more available in the school if she could just convince them to play this fall, including sophomore Jody Pahlen of Plummer, the best player on Northland's 1985 team.

Meanwhile, coach Helen Anderson said the Prowlers are excited about their home opener. "We've been working really hard getting ready for Fisher," she said. "I'm looking for a good match."

The Prowlers' starting line-up, said Anderson, will include junior Stephanie Benson as the setter, along with senior Vikki Weigand and juniors Susie Ulrich, Jodi Anderson, Bekah Bortnem and Jill Olson.

It'll be Prowler Blue and Gold Night Thursday, announced Thief River Falls athletic director Mike Novak, who is hoping to increase school spirit and build attendance by admitting spectators free of charge to the volleyball match if they wear Prowler Blue or Gold to the Lincoln gym.

Thief River Falls will be one of eight teams involved in Saturday's invitational at Roseau. In the opening round quarterfinals, Warroad plays Hallock at 9 a.m. and Badger meets Roseau at 10 a.m. in the Upper Bracket, while Lake of the Woods goes against Plummer at 11 a.m. and Thief River Falls draws Greenbush at 12-noon in the Lower Bracket.

Upper Bracket losers and winners play at 1 and 2 p.m., respectively, in the consolation and championship round semifinals, while the Lower Bracket losers and winners meet at 3 and 4 p.m., respectively.

Third place match will be played at 5 p.m., consolation final at 6 and championship match at 7.

Tournament matches use 2-out-of-3 game formats instead of the 3-out-of-5 matches used in regularly scheduled encounters.

Area Sports Briefs

Baseball Meeting

Thief River Falls Youth Baseball Association general membership meeting will be held Tuesday, September 16 at 7 p.m. in the basement of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center.

Parents of next year's 13-14-15-year-olds who will be involved in the Thief River Falls Babe Ruth baseball program are asked to attend the meeting.

Election of officers for the 1987 season will be held.

Football Fan Bus

Thief River Falls Touchdown Club will be sposoring a fan bus to the Thief River Falls vs. Bemidji high school football game Friday at Bemidji.

Students and adults can ride the bus for $2. The bus will leave Lincoln High School at 5:15 p.m. for the 7:30 game at Bemidji State University.

Lincoln students can sign up for the bus at the high school. Others can make reservations by calling Linda Spyhalski at 681-8731.

Response to the first Touchdown Club fan bus offer to last week's Thief River Falls game at Detroit Lakes produced two bus loads of fans.

Plans have also been finalized for a fan bus to follow the Prowlers to Valley City, ND Friday, September 19. Cost of that trip will be $4, with the bus leaving at 3:30 p.m.

Elementary School Football

Thief River Falls fourth and fifth grade elementary flag football program will get underway Saturday.

Program participants should report to their respective grade school buildings at 9 a.m. Members of the Lincoln High School football team will serve as coaches for the five-week program. Each Saturday morning session will last approximately two hours.

Prowlers head coach Jeff Mumm organized the program through the cooperation of the Thief River Falls Touchdown Club.

State Buddy Trap Shoot Is Hosted By TRF Club

Fifth annual Minnesota state buddy shoot championship was held Monday at the Thief River Trap Club.

Three classes of competition, based upon regular season league averages were conducted, drawing mostly shooters from the Thief River Falls club, host of the event each of the past five years.

A first place tie developed in Class A when Al Steinhauer and Fran Johnson matched a 92 shot by Sandy Wilson and Tony Dorn Jr. The 100-bird round regulation tie was broken by a 25-bird shoot-off, won by Steinhauer and Johnson 24-19.

Class A third place honors went to Mark and Bob Mattson with a 91, followed by Peter Tri and Howard Thorson with a 90, Del Stordahl and Pat Fischer with an 86 and Gary Seydel and Lloyd Melby with an 84.

Bruce Mattson and Stan Wilson won the Class B title with an 89. Dennis Zulowski and Fritz Seydel finished second with an 83, Ray Thyren and Ike Ellingson were third with a 76 and Warren and George Hanestad were fourth with a 71.

There was only one entry in Class C, where Harry and Marian Myers shot an 81.

Rain Interrupts Tennis

Rain interrupted a triangular high school tennis match at Crookston Tuesday, cutting short a Thief River Falls match against the host Pirates after the Prowlers had already completed a 7-0 sweep over Moorhead.

Thief River Falls girls, 4-0 after the win over Moorhead, trailed Crookston 3-2 when the match was suspended.

Rains ended a No. 3 singles encounter where Thief River Falls' Kaye Dondelinger and Crookston's Jeannette Johnson were tied 3-3 in the first set, and halted a No. 4 singles match where Thief River Falls' Sharon Dosser and Crookston's Kirstie Hegg split a pair of 6-4 decisions in the first two sets.

"Inconclusive," was the way Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson described the Prowlers-Pirates outcome.

Olson had high praise for several Prowlers Tuesday.

Kelly Cornell breezed past Beth Stone of Moorhead and Jenny Smith of Crookston, two players who are expected to be her closest challengers in North Sub-Region 8AA individual competition this fall, in straight-set fashion.

Freshman Monica Haapoja was impressive with a 6-3, 7-5 win over Moorhead's Kim Jeffries at No. 2 singles. Jeffries held down The Spuds' No. 1 singles post most of last year.

Dondelinger, another freshman, played well in her first appearance at No. 3 singles, said Olson, and a first-time doubles combination of Vicki Grovum and Kristy Maidment played extremely well in a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Crookston's Jana Knudsvig and Sarah Larson at No. 1 doubles.

"We had some people play very, very well for us," said Olson.

Thief River Falls will host Roseau and Bemidji Thursday in a 2 p.m. triangular arrangement.

Plummer Hosts Redlake In Football Home Opener Friday

Plummer, off to a 2-0 start on the road, will host North Tri-County Conference newcomer Redlake Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cardinals' 1986 high school football home opener. The Warriors are 0-2.

Oklee (1-1) will be at Gary (0-2) and Gonvick-Trail (2-0) visits Fisher-Climax (1-1) in other North Tri-County Conference starts Friday, while Clearbrook (0-2) hosts Laporte-Akeley in a nonconference game.

Last week, Oklee beat Nevis 18-6 in a nonconference outing, while Plummer got by Clearbrook 16-12, Fisher-Climas decisioned Gary 22-6 and Gonvick-Trail belted Redlake 44-0 in North Tri-County games.

Middle River (1-1) will host Badger (0-1) in a 7:30 p.m. Northern Lights Conference game Friday, while Kennedy (1-0) visits Oslo-Alverado (2-0) and Kittson County North (0-2) draws a bye.

Last week, Oslo-Alvarado shut out Middle River 14-0 and Kennedy handled Kittson County North 43-14 while Badger drew a bye.

Friday nine-man games in the Top of the State Conference will find Marshall County Central (0-2) at Hallock (1-1), Goodridge-Grygla (0-2) visits Stephen (1-1) and Tri-County (2-0) will be at Argyle (2-0) for 7:30 p.m. games.

Last week, Hallock out-scored Goodridge-Grygla 40-6, Argyle defeated Marshall County Central 29-0 and Tri-County surprised Stephen 30-6.

TRF Has Chemical Awareness Event Scheduled Sept. 22

Annual Thief River Falls student and parent chemical awareness meeting will be held Monday, September 22, in the Lincoln High School auditorium.

Scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m., the 1-hour, 15-minute program will feature former Minnesota Vikings defensive back Keith Nord as a guest speaker.

Registration will not be taken, but all students involved in a Lincoln activity, together with their parents, are expected to be there, said Bill Stock, Lincoln chemical awareness coordinator.

The activities covered include all fall, winter and spring athletes, band and orchestra members, vocal students, members of the student senate, drama students, class officers, cheerleaders, F.F.A. members, F.H.A. members, VICA members, DECA members, yearbook staff and Usher Club members.

Coffee and cookies will be served by the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club following the program.

Bemidji Beats TRF JV Ball Club 26-20

Bemidji rallied from a 14-6 halftime deficit for a 26-20 junior varsity high school football win over Thief River Falls Monday at Prowler Field.

Quarterback Rick Looker threw three touchdown passes for the losers, covering 12 yards to Lance Bugge, 35 yards to Jeff Brouse and 65 yards to Chad Gunderson.

It was a 6-6 tie at the end of the first quarter. Thief River Falls led 14-6 at halftime, but Bemidji went ahead 20-14 in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls junior varsity, 1-1 for the year, will be at East Grand Forks Monday for a 7 p.m. game.

Letters to the Editor

Gentlemen:

Just a short note to say "thanks" for the escort through town Saturday night.

To your department it may not have been a big task to do something like that, but I surely wish you could have been with us after the game and during the bus ride. I've only been in coaching a few years now and to witness these young men break down and cry and hug each other and tell me they are not losers was something no one can ever take away from me or them.

All it took was something special from your department to let these kids know our community does care about them and our football program. It was a great night for Thief River football. We needed a win so badly. We are still a long way from being a good football team, but they are starting to believe in themselves more and more each week.

Since I have been here you have been very supportive to high school athletes and to our football program. It's greatly appreciated.

We hope our next bus ride is as happy. Bemidji has a great football team. I hope they are ready for a great ball game because we are.

Thank you
Coach Mumm
TRF Football

P.S. A special thanks should also go to our fans who filled two fan buses. Also a big thanks to you the parents. Our football family is starting to become a strong family. Keep up the great work.

Two Sportsmen's Clinics Scheduled

Wetlands, Pines and Prairie Audubon Sanctuary and Lake Bronson State Park will host a pair of fall sportsmen's clinics later this month.

First clinic will be held Thursday, September 25, at the Audubon Sanctuary eight miles southwest of Warren.

Second clinic will be held Saturday, September 27, at Lake Bronson State Park.

Both clinics will begin with a dinner at 6:30 p.m., followed by three special guest speakers starting at 7:30.

Speakers at the Sanctuary will be Bob Hodgson, an expert on black power guns and hand-made garments to display. Ted Hogberg from Ted's Taxidermy will discuss care of animals that will be mounted and have examples of animals that he has mounted. Paul Telander a wildlife manager at Thief Lake will discuss the waterfowl forecast for the 1986 hunting season.

Speakers at Lake Bronson will include Gordon Swenson, who guided black bear hunts for over 12 years. He will discuss baiting and hunting black bears and share experiences he had while guiding hunts. Hoberg again will discuss taxidermy and Randy Krantz, owner of Krantz's Coon Hounds, will talk about hunting raccoons with coonhounds.

Cost will be $5 for dinner and the clinic or $3 for just the clinic. Sportsmen must pre-register for the dinner only by September 23. To pre-register call Jay Newell at 745-5663 for the Sanctuary clinic, or Don Anderson at 843-3641 for Lake Bronson.

CANVASBACK DUCK will be completely protected this fall when the 1986 Minnesota waterfowl hunting season opens at 12-noon on October 4. The canvasback population has suffered a serious decline in recent years, and the closed season throughout most of the United States hunting zones should help increase the duck's numbers. The canvasback is shown here in a painting by wildlife artist Jim Meger, "Catch The Wind."

Hunters Must Watch For 'Cans

When Minnesota's duck season opens at noon Oct. 4, the canvasback duck will be completely protected — not only in Minnesota but in most other states as well.

Wildlife officials at the Department of Natural Resources said that the canvasback population has suffered a serious decline in recent years except those populations that migrate through, and winter in, the western states and Mexico.

According to DNR officials, the decline is chiefly due to "long term loss and deterioration of breeding and migratory habitat and the recent extended drought in Canada that has crippled reproduction.

"The closed season on canvasback should reduce mortality on this year's young and ensure an increase in next year's breeding population."

However, to avoid shooting a canvasback by mistake, hunters must be able to identify it.

The canvasback is a large duck, about the size of the mallard, and suprisingly, at certain angles, canvasbacks resemble mallards when approaching the hunter's decoys. The canvasback has a fast wing beat and a rapid, direct flight without dipping and weaving.

It often drops down from a high altitude like an airplane approaching for landing, with a constant rate of descent, into the hunter's decoys.

In the male (or drake) canvasback the white (or canvas-colored) back, belly and upper wing surface present the greatest expanse of white of any duck — a feature that can usually be seen under most hunting conditions.

The female is grey-brown in overall appearance, with the grey coloration dominating the upper wings and back.

Other features hunters can watch for are the feet extending beyond the tail and the wedge-shaped head sloping upward from the tip of the long bill which gives the bird a profile unlike any other duck.

The canvasback is usually seen at larger, deeper lakes but they also use marshes and rivers. In fact, the Mississippi River is one of the greatest canvasback concentration areas in the United States during the fall migration.

They are found in Minnesota throughout the duck season, but the peak of their fall migration through the state is mid-October.

Area residents will have the opportunity to help the Minnesota Department of Transportation and the Department of Natural Resources develop rules and guidelines for joint roadside development projects at a public planning session to be conducted at the Walker High School cafeteria Tuesday, September 16, at 7 p.m. The school is located in Walker, three blocks north of Highway 371 on 4th Street.

According to Mn-DOT District Engineer Bob Wolfe and DNR Regional Administrator Merlyn Wesloh, area residents, businessmen and government officials are encouraged to attend this planning session.

The planning session is being conducted to gather ideas and suggestions that will be used to develop guidelines for the selection and construction of possible roadside projects such as rest areas, scenic overlooks or historical interpretive sites. This is one of several meetings to be held throughout Minnesota this fall.

Development of this joint plan by Mn-DOT and the DNR was directed by the 1986 Legislature to allow state and local agencies to pool their resources and expertise to construct projects that will enhance travel in areas of unusual scenic interest and assist Minnesota's tourism industry.

Individuals who are unable to participate in the planning session ar encouraged to submit written comments to the Environmental Services Section, Minnesota Department of Transportation, Room 704, Transportation Building, John Ireland Boulevard, St. Paul, MN 55155.

For a brochure describing this program, write to this address, or phone (612) 296-3042.

It wasn't easy, admitted Oklee coach Brad Borene, but the Bobcats came from behind to beat Gonvick-Trail 3-1 Monday in high school volleyball action.

"It was kind of a struggle," acknowledged Borene. "We were off our game."

Oklee won 11-15, 15-4, 15-12, 15-0, improving the Bobcats' record to 4-2.

Julie Murack, with 12 kill spikes, and Diane Jensen played well at the net, said Borene, and Jensen finished with six straight service points for the host Bobcats, who visit Win-E-Mac Thursday and entertain Red Lake Falls Monday.

MCC-Grygla

Marshall County Central dispatched Grygla 3-0 Tuesday at Newfolden, winning in surprisingly easy 15-4, 15-7, 15-9 fashion.

It was billed as an early-season showdown between top North Border Conference and District 32A challengers.

"We played really well," reported Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "We came out and played real well from start to finish. I was really pleased with our effort."

Sophomore Kelli Anderson led the Nordics with 13 service points and junior Denae Mjelde had 10, along with a solid effort as a setter.

"All five of our spikers were really aggressive at the net," pointed out Mjelde. "That was one of our big pluses."

Grygla coach Mike Gast wasn't happy with the way his team played. "Newfolden played well, I have to admit," said Gast, "but I thought we should have gave them a much better game than we did. I was really disappointed in the way we played."

Marhall County Central, 2-0, hosts Roseau Thursday and visits Greenbush Tuesday. Grygla, 3-1, hosts Greenbush Thursday and visits Clearbrook Tuesday.

Middle River - Badger

Middle River ran its record to 3-0 Tuesday with a 3-2 win over visiting Badger.

"Any time you win, you have to be pleased with it, but I'm hoping to do better," said Middle River coach Steve Holmes, who wasn't particularly impressed with the way the Skippers played.

Middle River won the marathon 15-12, 10-15, 15-13, 0-15, 15-13.

Renee Walsh of Badger led all servers with 24 points. Karen Dahl led Middle River with 12 service points.

Middle River visits Lake of the Woods Thursday and drives to Roseau Tuesday.

Grygla-Badger

Grygla was a 15-5, 15-13, 11-15, 15-3 winner over Badger in a late-reported Friday night match.

"Our setting and spiking looked good," said Grygla coach Mike Gast, "but our serving and bumping wasn't so good. Badger is really improved, though. They gave us a good game."

Local DNR forestry personnel have returned from fire duty in Oregon, where fires were caused by a spectacular, multiple-strike, dry, lightning storm.

Special lightning detectors recorded more than 20,000 strikes and 2,000 fires. Some 47 crews were sent from the northeastern U.S. Minnesota sent nine crews, three of which were 20-person, DNR crews.

All were involved in a lot of "hot-line" construction. This consisted of building a fire break by hand, since the terrain was too steep for equipment. Chainsaws lead the way, clearing a path. Crews with hand tools followed, Pulaskies loosened the dirt and cut off roots. Finally, shovels were used to clean up a good break to mineral soil.

On steep slopes (which there was plenty of), a cup trench was necessary to catch burning embers, preventing them from roping down across the break. Once the fire had a good firebreak around it, "dry-mopping" 100' in from the line was done. Most western states don't have the luxury of a close water source like we do in Minnesota, so the fires are put out by mixing the hot spots into cooler, mineral soil. This is a slow, tedious, time-consuming process that takes a lot of work.

Fuels vary with elevation but most commonly consisted of white fir and lodgepole pine. The white fir is much like our balsam fir and the lodgepole pine like our jack pine. The timber was larger, taller, and the lodgepole pine had a very high mortality rate from beetle infestation. This made the fuels even more explosive. Except for a day to recuperate and wash clothes, the fire fighter averaged nearly 15 hour days!

August was dry in northwestern Minnesota, a welcome to the farming communities, however, several innocent fires turned into wildfires. Field fires began to run in the grass and catch in peat.

A fire on a beautiful little island of Lake of the Woods with stunted; but beautiful, white pine was all but destroyed. It is suspected the fire started from a shore lunch cooking fire that was not put out August 24. Locals reported it to Foresters on August 25. After pumping large quantities of water and "cold-trailing" for hot spots with bare hands, it was felt the fire was out with only a small part of the 2-3 acre island burned. Warroad Airways checked the fire daily, finding no smoke. On August 28, less than two hours after the aircraft checked the fire, the island was again ablaze. This time foresters found the entire island burning and decided not to expend funds to suppress the fire.

However, local residents responded and requested vehemently that the fire be quenched if only to save a single pine and what soil was left for reseeding. With 7-8 volunteer Islanders and Angleites, the fire was suppressed. In the process it was discovered that though burned, the old pines were full of cones and even a lone seedling was discovered on a small, unburned portion.

Thanks to several concerned resorters and locals there may still be a place to enjoy a shore lunch — even if it is severely scarred.

NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Kermit and Peggy Genereux, have applied for a variance to the zoning regulations governing side yard setbacks. The property, located at 310 Cardinal Avenue North, is legally described as Lot 5 in Block One of Gunderson-Iverson First Addition.

Granting of the variance request would allow the petitioners to construct a two-stall, attached garage with a seven feet (7') side yard setback which would be a three feet (3') variance to the ten feet (10') minimum side yard setback as required by Sec. 11.31, Subdivision 5, for the R-1 Suburban Residential District.

Notice is further given that the Board of Zoning Appeals will hold a hearing on the variance request at 7:00 P.M. (C.D.T.) on Monday, September 22, 1986, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the variance request shall have the opportunity to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

Dated this 8th day of September, 1986.

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this way to thank all of my wonderful friends, my children and grandchildren for all they have done for me after my fall and since I got home. Especially Dr. Clayborn and the hospital staff in the United hospital in Grand Forks and for the food brought to the house since I came home and for the beautiful flowers.

May God bless each and every one of you.

NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Julian Gunderson has applied for a variance to the zoning regulations governing front yard setbacks. The property, located at 9th Street west of State Avenue, is legally described as Lots 1 and 2, in Block One of Gunderson's Second Addition.

Granting of the variance request would allow the petitioner to construct a 24-unit apartment building with a twenty feet (20') front yard setback from the platted cul-de-sac at the westerly end of West 9th Street. The requested setback would be a five feet (5') variance to the twenty five feet (25') minimum front yard setback as required by Sec. 11.34, Subdivision 5, for the R-4 Multi-Family Residential District.

Notice is further given that the Board of Zoning Appeals will hold a hearing on the variance request, at 7:00 p.m. [illegible], Monday, September 22, 1986, in the City Council chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the variance request shall have the opportunity to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Uniform Building Code and Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code that Lester and Janet Schneider have applied for a variance to the regulations governing side wall regulations for residential garages. The property, located at 130 Pine Avenue North, is legally described as Lot 3 of Forsberg's Rearrangement.

Granting of the variance request would allow the petitioners to construct a single stall garage with a 10 foot (10') high side wall, rather than an eight foot (8') high side wall, an 8' ceiling to provide an upstairs storage area (7' high at peak), and a standard 7' x 9' door.

Notice is further given that the Board of Zoning Appeals will hold a hearing on the variance request at 7:00 P.M. [illegible], Monday, September 22, 1986, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the variance request shall have the opportunity to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. On September 2 at 7:08 p.m. a car driven by Thomas McGlynn Jr., route 2, Mentor, and a pickup driven by Susan P. Anderson, route 1, Greenbush, collided in the intersection of Duluth avenue and Fourth street. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to McGlynn and $2,500 to Anderson vehicles.

On September 1 at 4:48 p.m. a car driven by Leslie Grisanti, Thief River Falls, and a car driven by Scott Hemmestvedt, Thief River Falls, collided. Grisanti was going north on Markley and stopped for a sign and proceeded to make a left turn onto highway 59 and Hemmestvedt, who was going east on highway 59, went around another vehicle into the adjacent lane and collided with the Grisanti car.

Thefts. On September 2 Charlie Oakes, Thief River Falls, reported the theft of a campaign sign from the 300 block of Fifth street. On September 3 Kmart caught two females, ages 20 and 26, from Detroit Lakes, shoplifting. A pair of tennis shoes, valued at $23, and four video tapes, valued at $40, were taken. The items were recovered and charges are pending in court.

On September 4 police received a report of some wood stolen from a wood pile belonging to Walter Leach. Wood was recovered and the case is under investigation. The loss was estimated at $43. On September 4 Orville Trontvet, Thief River Falls, reported the theft of four hubcaps from his 1982 Chevrolet pickup over the weekend while either in Thief River Falls or in Grand Forks. The loss was placed at $240. On September 5 Faith Lutheran Brethren church officials reported the theft of a battery from their van sometime within the last two weeks. The loss was placed at $50.

Vandalism. On September 3 Trinity Lutheran church reported that a small window pane was broken, apparently with a fist. Damage was estimated at $3. On September 3 Narverud Cleaners reported that a car drove by and the occupant threw a beer bottle and broke one of their back windows. The damage was estimated at $40. A vehicle license was obtained and the case is under investigation.

On September 4 police received a report that some damage had been done during the night to a lawn sign and post and ruts left in the lawn at Countryside trailer court. Robby Jay Nesteby, formerly of Greenbush and now of Thief River Falls, was contacted and charges are pending. On September 7 police received a report that a car used by Tracy Larson was stalled in front of lot 47 at Countryside court and was vandalized. A set of jumper cables was also taken from the car. Damage was estimated at $75 and theft loss at $50.

Other. On Setpember 2 at 4:41 p.m. Nancy Nordling, Thief River Falls, reported that someone hit her car while parked in the Chapparal parking lot. The car was damaged on the right rear, and estimated at $200. The other car left the scene.

On September 4 charges of disorderly conduct are pending against Kristian Kallesoe, 22, route 1, Brooks and Denmark, for an incident at the Best Western when he refused to leave and became disorderly.

SHERIFF NEWS: Accidents. On September 1 at 5:30 a.m. a car driven by Conrad Joppru, Thief River Falls, was traveling east on county road 62 south of Thief River Falls when the vehicle missed a curve and went into a ditch, hitting the culvert. Damage to the culvert was $50 and damage to the front left of the vehicle was $350.

On September 4 at 5:42 p.m. a vehicle driven by Nancy Jorde, Thief River Falls, and owned by Donald Jorde, Thief River Falls, was traveling south on county road 77 approximately one-half mile north of county road 64 when the driver lost control. The vehicle continued south, swerving back and forth on the roadway, hit the ditch on the west side, rolled at an angle and ended up on its wheels back on the roadway. The accident was believed to have been caused by a front right tire blowout. The car was totaled and the driver complained of a minor sore back.

Vandalism. On September 2 Pat Wangsnes, St. Hilaire, reported vandalism to her mailbox sometime during the night of September 1. The mailbox had been spray painted blue on one side and yellow on the other side. Inside the mailbox were a number of spent firecrackers. The damage and loss was estimated at $5. On September 7 a resident reported someone slashed tires on two Yamaha three-wheelers and an Allis Chalmer's riding lawnmower tractor sometime between the afternoon of September 5 and when he found the damage on September 7. The loss was estimated at $510. It is under investigation.

On September 7 a resident reported damage to his mailbox sometime during the night of September 6. It appeared that someone had kicked it on the south side. Damage was estimated at $15.

On September 2 a resident reported that he had gone to visit another resident and was met by a large dog which grabbed his wrist. After the resident got into his vehicle the dog nipped and barked around the left rear of the car. After he drove away he noticed that his left rear tire had gone flat and he found a big tear in the sidewall. It was felt that the dog had punctured the tire. The two parties agreed to this and the tire will be replaced by the dog's owner.

On September 6 at 9:21 p.m. a resident reported that there was a car rolled over in the ditch on county road 55 south of St. Hilaire. In checking with the owner it was discovered that the car had been missing from her residence sometime after she had parked it in her yard the night before. The car was totaled. It is under investigation.

On September 7 at 8:35 p.m. Craig Folkedahl, Thief River Falls, was traveling west on state aid 3, approximately one-half mile east of highway 32 when a deer ran out in front of his vehicle and was struck and killed. The damage to the car was estimated at $495.

Plan Emergency Medical Services Week At Hospital

September 21-27 has been declared emergency medical services week at Northwest Medical center. Sponsored by the American College of Emergency Physicians, the week is designed to encourage the public to learn more about emergency medical resources in their communities.

During the week, professionals from Northwest Medical center, Lifestar Ambulance service and the Thief River Falls police department will be visiting each local restaurant to teach employees the Heimlich maneuver. This maneuver will enable employees to administer the necessary treatment in the event one of their patrons should choke.

"All of us at Northwest Medical center are pleased to assist in teaching the Himlich maneuver. At some future date, this procedure may result in a life being saved," says Richard Spyhalski, president and chief executive officer.

Any questions may be forwarded to Gail Holland, public relations coordinator, at 681-4240, extension 210.

Social Security Representatives In TRF On Sept. 16

Neil Rowe and Ted Hoversten, field representatives of the Grand Forks social security office will be in Thief River Falls from 9:30 to 2 p.m. September 16 at the city auditorium.

There are five times when social security should be contacted. Social security advises that they be contacted: for a social security number, when a card holder changes their name, if a cardholder becomes disabled and can't work for a year or more, when a cardholder is ready to apply for retirement benefits, and when a family member dies. Business with social security can be conducted by phone. The toll free number in Grand Forks is 1-800-826-6502.

A CLOUD OF DUST rose from the rubble of the 1919 section of Lincoln high school after the first section of the smokestack fell during demolition last week. The windowed wall at the right is the south side of the 1910 addition. During demolition, workmen discovered a structural flaw in the building where a portion of the second story floor was not supported by any supportive beams. About three floor joists were simple fastened on the ends without beam support, and when they were removed during salvage operations about three-fourths of one classroom floor collapsed into the old gymnasium.

Little Interest Shown In SWCD Office At Grygla

Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district reports that there was little interest shown in filing for the position of supervisor. Lloyd Wiseth filed for reelection for supervisory area three (Agder, Moylan and Grand Plain townships in Marshall county). He is the only candidate to file for that area.

In supervisory area five (Espelle township in Marshall county and Lee, Benville, Northwood and Big Grass townships in Beltrami county), no one has filed for this position. It will be filled by a write-in vote at the general election on November 4. This position was held by Lyndon Magnuson until his death last February. Harold Schulz was appointed to complete his term which expires Dec. 31, 1986.

Those interested in a supervisor position and who would like to learn more about the duties of a supervisor may contact the district office in Grygla.

Fosston Man Dies In Motorcycle, Truck Accident

Kevin Maruska, 23, Fosston, died from injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident near Fosston shortly after arrival at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls Monday night. Polk county sheriff's office reports that a pickup driven by Bruce Hanson, 28, Fosston, and a motorcycle driven by Maruska, collided at about 12:45 p.m. four miles north of Fosston on county road six. At the time of the accident, Hanson was northbound on county road six and Maruska was traveling on a township road.

Sparby Attends Meet Of State Legislatures

Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls recently attended the annual meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) in New Orleans, LA. NCSL represents the nation's 50 state legislatures, and the annual meeting is the largest gathering of state legislators and legislative staffs in the nation.

U.S. Senator Gary Hart (D-CO) and Congressman Jack Kemp (R-NY) opened the conference with a debate on national priorities in a changing political system.

As a member of NCSL's agriculture committe, Rep. Sparby was involved in discussions on agriculture and food policy. Among the issues were creating a secondary market for agricultural loans; upgrading the rural infrastructure; preserving local rail service for agricultural producers; and the development of opportunities in aquaculture.

Sparby said one of the most interesting and valuable aspects of the conference was the release and discussion of a report on the liability insurance crisis and how states are responding to the crisis.

Daniel Newland Of MCC Is Merit Semi-Finalist

Daniel L. Newland of Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden has been named a semi-finalist in the National Merit scholarship program. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newland.

Names of some 15,000 semi-finalists were included in the list and all will have an opportunity to advance in the 1987 competition for about 6,000 merit scholarships worth over $21 million.

In the fall of 1985, more than one million juniors in some 19,000 U.S. secondary schools entered this competition by taking the PSAT-NMSQT qualifying test for the Merit program. The top scorers in every state, representing about half of one per cent of the state's high school graduating class, are included in the nationwide semifinalist pool. In publicly recognizing this select group, NMSC hopes to broaden the higher education opportunities of these young people and to focus a spotlight on the academic achievements of able students in the nation's secondary schools.

To be considered for Merit scholarships, these semifinalists must advance to finalist standing by documenting high academic performance, being endorsed and recommended by their high schools, taking the scholastic aptitude test and confirming their qualifying test performance, and submitting informatin about their school and community activities, personal interests and goals.

About 90 per cent (or 13,500) of the semifinalists are expected to meet the rigorous standards required to become finalists in the Merit program and to compete for one of several types of Merit scholarships to be offered in 1987. About 40 per cent of the finalists will receive an award and all Merit scholars will be chosen from the finalist group.

Every finalist will be considered for one of 1,800 single-payment National Merit $2,000 scholarships, allocated on a state representation basis in proportion to each state's total of U.S. high school seniors. Winners in each state will be chosen by a selection committee of college admission professionals who will judge which finalists have the strongest combination of academic and extra-curricular accomplishments. The "national" awards are supported by grants to NMSC from companies and businesses and by undesignated Merit program funds.

Corporations, foundations and other organizations also will underwrite some 1,400 Merit scholarships for finalists who meet preferential criteria the grantors specify. Only finalists with particular qualifications -- such as children of employees, residents of areas a company serves, or finalists with career goals a sponsor wishes to encourage -- will be considered for these awards. Most corporate-sponsored Merit scholarships are renewable annually and provide between $500 and $8,000 for each college undergraduate year; a few are one-time awards of $2,000.

Approximately 2,800 four-year Merit scholarships will be offered by colleges and universities and only finalists who wish to attend a sponsor institution will compete for these awards. Winners will receive stipends ranging from $250 to $2,000 for each of the four years of study at the sponsor college.

The National Merit scholarship program, initiated in 1955, is financed independently by over 600 sponsor organizations. The 6,000 academic champions who will be named Merit scholars next April and May will bring the program's 32-year total to more than 100,000 young Americans who have received Merit scholarships worth $308 million.

FmHA Collection Efforts Outrage Farmer Groups

Farmers Home administration (FmHA) announcement that it has hired a private agency to collect farm debts has outraged agricultural leaders across the country. The FmHA, the USDA's lending agency, has turned over 6,000 delinquent farm accounts to Capital Credit corporation, a private collection agency in Fairfield, NJ. About 200 of the accounts are in Minnesota.

The agency began sending letters to farmers the last week in August demanding they pay the entire balance of their accounts or face further, unspecified, collection activity. In many cases, the agency gave farmers one day to respond.

Officials of the National Farmers Union (NFU), Minnesota Farmers Union (MFU), National Farmers Organization (NFO) and the Minnesota department of agriculture immediately expressed their displeasure.

"It's the USDA policy of depressing farm prices which put farmers in this position in the first place," MFU president Willis Eken said. "Now many of these farmers who are struggling to start a new career and provide for their families will face additional pressure from a merciless collection agency whose only concern is to collect its commission from any money it can squeeze out of these people."

Most of the borrowers the FmHA has turned over to the collection agency have already left farming and turned over their machinery and land to the lender. The FmHA now wants the Capital Credit corporation to collect any remaining debt above and beyond property and equipment farmers pledged as collateral.

Some farmers who received the threatening letters say they agreed to voluntarily liquidate their assets and reached agreements with the FmHA to repay the remainder of the debt over a five-year period.

NFO President DeVon Woodland said many of these farmers could have used the strategy employed by corporations and declared bankruptcy to avoid their creditors, but chose not to do so out of respect for local creditors.

"Those FmHA borrowers who voluntarily released their assets to FmHA no doubt did so expecting to be treated fairly. Now, they apparently have been double crossed and will be plagued by professional bill collectors," Woodland said.

"This is a major departure from present policy," Eken added. "The FmHA, as the borrower of last resort for farmers, has a responsibility, expecially in these difficult times, to work one on one with farmers to resolve any credit problems. The administration has once again shown its insensitivity to the farmers' plight by turning over this responsibility to an east coast collection agency which has little interest or knowledge of conditions in the farm belt."

Minnesota agriculture commissioner Jim Nichols said he is considering court action to force the FmHA to follow guidelines in the state's mediation law for collection of outstanding debt.

WHITE ELEPHANT SALE and auction in the Thief River Falls sports arena for the Kidney Foundation attracted over 600 people during the two-day event. According to Marilyn Winters, Kidney Foundation treasurer, there were 382 bidding numbers issued and over $9,000 raised.

SOLD. Several area auctioneers volunteered their time to sell items at the Kidney Foundation auction which was held last weekend at the TRF sports arena. According to Marilyn Winters, Kidney Foundation treasurer, the auction was a success, making over $9,000. Those funds will go to area kidney dialysis patients. Winters said there are about nine patients now and about $1,000 a month is spent to help them. They also give money out on a one to one basis for special occasions.

Medical Ass'n. Urges Public To Be Organ Donors

Thousands of people all over the country, hundreds in Minnesota alone, are in a race against death because they need lifesaving organ transplants. However, many of those people will probably die because the great demand for donor organs surpasses the current supply and, many times, the needed organs are not found in time, according to the Minnesota Medical association.

Recent surveys show that nationally more than 94 per cent of the population has heard of organ transplantation, but only 19 per cent carry donor cards. In Minnesota over 20 per cent of the population carry donor cards.

With the need for donor organs so critical, there are cases where families of transplant candidates have gone to the public, through the media, to plead their cases. For example, in 1983, Charles Fiske of Boston, made a plea at the annual meeting of th American Academy of Pediatrics, asking for help in finding a liver for his dying infant daughter Jamie. The nationwide publicity was successful and Jamie received her new liver during transplant surgery at the University of Minnesota hospitals. But, while Jamie Fiske continues to do well medically, statistics show 40 to 50 children a day, many in the same condition Jamie Fiske was in, need new livers and often die before receiving one.

To help ease the shortage of donor organs, many medical organizations have been urging the public to sign donor cards, specifying upon the donor's death, with family permission, any needed organs may be removed for transplantation.

How can you become an organ donor? One easy way is to check off the organ donor box on the driver's license application when you go to renew your license. To receive donor cards, interested potential donors can call or write their local Lion's club or the National Kidney foundation. Outstate Minnesotans can also call the St Paul Red Cross. The special hotline at the Red Cross is 1-800-336-6283. It is also important to inform your personal physician about your wishes. This can then be indicated on your medical charts.

Minors also can legally carry donor cards. Earlier this year, the state Legislature passed a law allowing minors to become organ donors, but only after receiving permission from both parents or a legal guardian.

Donating your organs after death can mean life for someone else, but before you make the decision to become an organ donor, remember to talk to your family. Under state law, a physician has to have the family's consent before donor organs can be removed from the deceased. While most people are uncomfortable discussing their own death, informing family members about a willingness to donate an organ can be a positive experience, the association adds.

STAR . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Rindahl and Eshter Rindahl brought belated birthday greetings to Tilla at Teloy Johnsrud's Monday evening.

Mrs. Tim Lundeen, Shannon and Allssa were Sunday dinner guests with Barbara Olson.

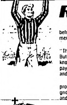
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marquis of Minneapolis were dinner guests Saturday at Bennie Johnson's.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson visited Monday evening at Vernon Iverson's.

Mrs. Gene Marquis and Andrea were coffee guests at Edythe Solberg's Monday morning.

A week ago Saturday Mrs. Darwin Eidelbes, Jared, Arlen and Michelle visited at Larry Kotrba's.

Mrs. Marlin Kotrba, Jennifer and Tiara visited Monday at David Sjulestad's.



Really Winning . . .

A university head football coach gathered his team around him before the game. "It's going to be a tough one today," he said as the men looked intently, readying themselves for the gridiron.

Then he made a statement that widened eyes and opened minds. "The easiest thing today will be running into the end zone with the ball. But your hardest challenge will be getting up off the ground when they knock you down short of the goal line. Any boy can walk that ball into pay dirt; only THE MEN will get up, brush themselves off when they fail, and go at it again."

Five years of standing on the football sideline as team chaplain proved to me the wise coach's philosophy. The guys who made it on the gridiron were the ones who could get up time after time, play after play, and do their job all over again.

The Apostle Paul never played football, but he was a great athlete in the service of his Lord. Said he: "We are afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not driven to despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed . . ." (II Cor. 4:8,9)

Winning is not always possible, but winning the battle with yourself "to keep on keeping on" is victory in any stadium.

SAVING ENERGY TIPS

Saving Energy With A New Baby

Each family member plays an important role in the amount of energy consumed in a household. Many new parents are often surprised to find that even the arrival of a new baby brings changes in life-style leading to higher energy bills.

The amount of energy a baby consumes is largely determined by the time of year in which it is born. Babies born in the Spring and Summer months most often require less energy than those arriving in the Fall and Winter.

Regardless of the time of year in which your baby is born, try to keep in mind the following energy and safety tips in your home:

- Keep the temperatures between 75-80 degrees in the baby's room.
- When bathing the baby never use water above 90-100 degrees.
- Instead of using bottle warmers, try putting bottles in hot tap water for a few minutes to warm them. If using powdered formula, mix with warm water at the time of each feeding.
- Wash bottles in cold water. If using a dishwasher pre-rinse bottles in cold water. Open door after final rinse cycle; let bottles air dry.
- Wash only full loads of baby clothes at a time. Use cold water detergent.
- Keep shades closed in the baby's room on really hot and cold days.
- To maintain comfort make sure the baby's room is properly insulated. If walls feel cold to the touch in winter or unusually warm in summer, additional insulation may be required. Since walls are finished off, however, it's best to hire a contractor to do the job. He'll install quality products such as CertainTeed's pure white, noncombustible and thermally efficient INSUL SAFE III® fiber glass insulation.

For more information on saving energy write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA, for a free copy of the brochure "Warm Winters, Cool Summers."

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

VIDEOS: MEMORIES TO LAST A LIFETIME

Making home videos: get everybody into the act.

Lights, camera, action: Is your family ready on the set? Your TV set can be the silver screen for your very own collection of video home movies.

Home movies can be a more vivid and exciting reminder of important occasions than photographs. Imagine watching baby's first steps with "baby" when he or she is 20 years old or so — or even just a few years from now. When it comes to making home movies these days, just about everyone can get in on the act: mini video camcorders are so lightweight and easy to operate, all family members can take turns playing "director."

One of the newest and most popular of the video camcorders, the Minolta CR-8000S AF, can help you make home video movies with ease. Advanced technology, such as the newly developed MOS (metal oxide semiconductor) image sensor provides high-quality images. This compact camera, employing the 8mm video format, features a full range of convenient and versatile automatic features for smooth zooming, prefocusing and lighting adjustments.

Elmer and Anna Holmstrom visited with Elmer's mother, Bertha Holmstrom, Sunday at KMNC.

Single-Issue Voters

People of voting age in the United States have been categorically divided into four groups — single-candidate voters, single-party voters, single-issue voters and non-voters. The tendency is to say that the first two groups are fashionable and the latter two are either unfashionable or even suspect.

While people of voting age should be encouraged to vote, it is true that membership in a democracy should give them the right to decide not to vote for any of the candidates offered if they don't want to. And those who choose to vote can cast their ballots for candidates for any reason they like — there is no place on the ballot to list a reason for voting in a particular way.

Emergence of the single-issue voter added an estimated two million voters to the national election in 1980 and another two million in 1984. Single issues which have stirred voters to go to the polls include the Equal Rights Amendment, abortion, gun control, tax limitation and the Panama Canal giveaway.

The single-issue voter is no more to be criticized than the single-party voter (who ignores the comparative qualifications of the candidates and votes a party line) or the single-candidate voter (who ignores the party and votes on the basis of personality). The latter is usually the staunchest supporter of incumbents.

The late Congressman John M. Ashbrook of Ohio wrote an article entitled "Why Liberals Hate 'Single Issues' " shortly before his death. In the article he stated the following:

"On issue after issue, in every part of the country, movements are rising against the liberal establishment. From abortion to taxes, from bureaucratic regulations to busing, groups are spontaneously erupting from the grassroots, each representing a major and growing challenge to a different aspect of liberal policy being forced on the country by the Washington establishment.

"Liberals dismiss these groundswells as 'single-issue movements.' But what really disturbs the powers that be is that they know they are not.

"The single-issue movement is exactly that — a single movement — and the issue common to all the groups is a revolt against what liberals have done to their country. Our servants have made their masters servants in their own homes and the masters have arisen. It isn't the word 'single' that bothers the liberals although that is their usual lament. It is really the other word — issue! Their issues have wrought disaster. Their issues are dead. That we are going to win frightens them. The new wave of reform in America scares them to death and oh, how they hate our issues, every single one of them."

When Socialism Doesn't Work

There are a lot of advocates of socialism in the world today, including no small number in the United States where capitalism has been the basis of economic success. We recently read a little story which brings the issue into the clearest focus yet.

"You're always talking about socialism," one farmer said to another, "but I can't get the theory through my head. What does it mean, anyway?"

"Well, let's put it this way," the other said. "Suppose I have two cows and you don't have any. Under a system of socialism, I give you one of my cows."

"By golly, that sure sounds fair," the first farmer agreed.

"Likewise," the second farmer continued in his explanation, "suppose you have two pigs and I don't have any. Under a system of socialism, you would give me one of your pigs."

"Wait a minute there," the first farmer cautioned. "I've got two pigs!"

That farmer found out very quickly that socialism is attractive to those who believe they can benefit from the sharing of something they don't have but can get from someone else. The system bogs down when it becomes necessary to share with the have nots whatever has been worked for and earned. When it comes to that part of the system, by golly, it doesn't seem nearly as fair any more.

Borrowed Nonsense

The prospective customer at a large bank was being encouraged by a bank officer to open an account. "Rest assured, sir," he said, "that at Upfront Federal you will not be merely a number to us. You will be two digits, a dash, a letter of the alphabet and three more digits."

Professional Football: A game for which 60,000 people pay $900,000 to sit in a stadium that cost $150 million and watch 22 players being paid $7 million a year dispute the possession of a ball that costs $16.95 in any chain store.

Leader Of The PAC

Role of political action committees (PACs) in election of candidates and in influencing actions of those candidates once elected has been hotly debated for a number of years. Arguments pro and con are no stronger or weaker than the individuals who accept PAC contributions and support in their election campaigns.

One of the leaders in support of PACs is Phyllis Schlafly, a strong conservative who is the author of "A Choice Not An Echo", which sold three million copies in 1964. As might be expected, she blames liberals for most of the opposition to PACs because, in her words, "more Americans contribute through PACs toward the election of conservative candidates than liberal candidates." That is quite a persuasive argument.

It also stands to reason that if the situation were perceived to be reserved, that the reversal of support and opposition would be true. More conservatives would object to PACs if liberals were greater beneficiaries.

Schlafly contends that liberals want to replace voluntary financing of election campaigns through PACs with taxpayer financing of elections. "In other words," she says, "make the taxpayers pay for what the PACs are paying for now. It's quite an exercise in campaign chicanery to try to force citizens to finance campaigns of candidates they don't like, while prohibiting citizens from making voluntary contributions to the campaigns of candidates they do like.

"In the peculiar inverted ideology of the liberals," she writes, "it is bad for American citizens to spend $100 million of their own money on candidates of their own choice, but it would be good for the federal government to tax you and spend a similar amount of your money to elect candidates most of whom are not of your choice."

It is Schlafly's belief that the First Amendment to the Constitution was written to protect political speech in order to retain our individual right to elect candidates and choose policies in a free society. "PACs are simply one manifestation of your personal First Amendment rights to express your political beliefs and to participate in the political process," she says.

The right of individuals to voluntarily band together in support of candidates should be considered basic in a free nation. The issue becomes a little more gray when political action committees involve funds extracted non-voluntarily and used without regard to the individual's political choice. Use of union dues for political candidate support is a prime example of the latter.

Schlafly observes, quite correctly, that the unions had almost a monopoly on PACs from the time the first one was formed in 1943 by the CIO until the mid 1970's. Only when conservative-oriented groups found that they could use the system and did so successfully did the liberals become upset. It was the liberals who voted for union-backed legislation who were the early beneficiaries of political action committees.

It would stand to reason that the more political action committees there are and the more ideologies they represent, the greater their effect will be diffused in the total operation of government. It is estimated that there are now 4,000 PACs in the nation raising campaign contributions and pouring $100 million a year into congressional campaigns.

The $100 million spent voluntarily on PAC contributions is much less, Schlafly points out, than the $144 million the taxpayers were forced to spend to pay for mass mailings by senators and congressmen to their constituents, most of which are directly related to getting themselves reelected.

"Some of the anti-PAC rhetoric comes from the two major political parties because the average candidate now gets about three times as much money from PACs as from a political party," Schlafly said. "PACs have risen in influence as the parties diminished in their effectiveness in dealing with the issues that voters really care about.

"Let's hear no more from those who complain that other Americans are giving their own hard-earned money to PACs. How could there be a more constructive way to spend money than to try to elect candidates who will give us the kind of government we want?"

Spending money doesn't always guarantee election, although just about any candidate would rather have it than not. But in 1980 when 12 Republican challengers unseated incumbent Democrats for U.S. Senate, they spent a combined total of $14.7 million while the incumbents spent $19 million.

"The anti-PAC liberal reformers are trying to persuade the taxpayers to assume the responsibility for electing candidates to Congress so you will never know whom to blame when you don't like how the money is spent," Schlafly writes. "The best way to keep Congressional elections 'clean' is to keep them as far away as possible from government control and taxpayer financing."

Looking Backward

1926 - 60 YEARS AGO

Farmers in the area are reporting grain yields of more than 20 bushels an acre, with excellent quality. — Duck hunters are preparing for the season, which opens September 16 with a limit of 12 ducks per day, or 120 game birds of all kinds in aggregate.

1936 - 50 YEARS AGO

Northern State Bank celebrated its birthday with deposits of almost $500,000. — Paul A. Lundgren was the principal speaker at the dedicatory exercises held for the new Smiley Bridge. — City council applied for a federal grant to aid in financing construction of a new sewage treatment plant.

1946 - 40 YEARS AGO

Thief River Falls board of education levied 53 mills for school purposes, up three mills from last year. — Andrew Anderson, chairman of the local polio chapter, stated that reports had been received to date of 19 cases of polio in this area. — Glendon Ahre was named president of the local Toastmasters Club, succeeding J.J. Roche.

1956 - 30 YEARS AGO

Jake Barnick announced the opening of his furniture store on Highway 59. — Approximately 400 persons attended a farm bureau gathering in the armory to hear Frank L. Wooley, legislative counsel of the American Farm Bureau Federation, speak on farm programs. — Renold Johnson, pioneer resident of the Town of North since 1904, died at Northwestern Hospital at the age of 83. — It looks as if the summer is over, with the city receiving more than five inches of rain the past week when temperatures dropped as low as 33 degrees.

1966 - 20 YEARS AGO

Long-time resident and former Chief of Police of Thief River Falls, Leonard C. Hanson, 71, died at the Veterans Hospital in Fargo. — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson of Holt celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. — Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Manger of Thief River Falls observed their 67th wedding anniversary.

1976 - 10 YEARS AGO

(Reprinted columns written by Norman A. Holen, longtime city editor of the Times.)

—Hard to explain item — Slot machines are illegal in Minnesota, and yet the federal government collected $875,900 on machines operated in this state last year.

—Hitler's yacht is for sale, due probably, according to a commentator, to the fact that he missed the boat.

—The west end of a boy is defined by the Red Lake Falls Gazette as the end the son sets on.

—Those who complain in the loudest about the soap shortage aren't necessarily the largest contributors of salvaged household fats.

—Times want ads bring results. A local party advertised a washing machine for sale last week and got 39 calls for it.

—It doesn't seem possible, but they tell us that the U.S. budget director has ordered a reduction of 104,000 in the number of federal workers.

—Bob Lund judges from the numerous broken lamp standards about the town that automobiles as well as dogs have an affinity for posts.

—Better keep your fingers crossed tomorrow. It's Friday the 13th.

—Minnesota citizens are now collecting a generous dividend on their contributions to the March of Dimes.

—An Argyle store advertises ladies' dresses one-third off. They won't attract more than passing attention in these free-and-easy days.

—Extra! Extra! A Tennessee bathing beauty contestant refused to pose for photographers in a swim suit.

—We join with Billy Noonan of Baudette in sympathizing with the county 4-H champions who were cheated out of their free trips to the Minnesota state fair this year.

—Simile — As scarce as a sack of cement these days.

—Paper bags that hold water will soon be on the market, we read. But right now a lot of shoppers would settle for paper bags.

—Appropriately enough, Mississippi's Senator Bilbo recently was operated on for a mouth infection.

—Six tons of dishes, we read, are washed annually in the average home. And yet they tell us ma hasn't anything to do.

—A headline in a neighboring paper tells us that there is a dear season in Minnesota in 1946. We believe it, judging by the number of marriage licenses issued this summer.

—World War II veterans may get their state bonus, but they probably will have to take a sales tax with it.

—These are the days when a man can get in solid with his family by bringing home a roll of toilet tissue.

N.A.H.

Name the new addition to the city contest was won by Miss Lois Taggert, 101 Crocker Ave. S., with the name, "Merriam Addition." More than 100 entries were received in the contest.

Speaking of "dear season," the Sept. 12, 1946 issue of the Times had announcements of seven weddings, two post-nuptial celebrations, a stag party for one of the grooms, one stork shower, and a grand total of 21 births. Dear me!

Canning supplies were on sale this week — Atlas quart jars for 55 cents a dozen; caps, 21 cents per dozen; lids, three dozen for a quarter; and rubber or regular lids, three dozen for 10 cents. A lug of pears cost $1.79; plums, $1.39; and peaches, $1.79. You could buy a gallon of vinegar for 29 cents and 10 pounds of sugar for 79 cents.

New, "vinylite miracle plastic" kitchen curtains were being touted as the housewife's new dream: "Gay, translucent colors that will not fade," made of "Magic plastic that sheds dirt and won't crack, shrink, mildew, get sticky or harden. It is unaffected by steam, smoke or dust."

Wetch Appliance and Furniture company announced they just received 500 new phonograph records of the nation's top tunes and Hit Parade: "To Each His Own," "Doin' What Comes Natur'lly," "Surrendered," "They Say It's Wonderful," "Five Minutes More," "All Thru the Day," "One More Tomorrow," "Artistry Jump," "The Boogie Woogie Barnyard" and "Sioux City Sue."

Poppler Piano and Furniture company was celebrating its seventh birthday with a sale. You could buy the phonograph on which to play your new records, combined with a radio, table model, for $123.85. Radios alone were sale-priced as low as $43.85, or as high as a walnut cabinet, push-button, short wave with large speaker for $133.85.

WATER FIGHT. Oklee and Plummer fire departments got a little wet in a friendly water fight and cleaned the streets of Brooks at the same time. The water fight was only part of the festivities held during the Blast to Brooks last Saturday.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

"The best minds are not in government," Ronald Reagan said in 1976. "If any were, business would hire them away."

The passage of years has not diminished his bias against bureaucracy. When President Reagan wants something important done, such as restoration of the Statute of Liberty, he turns to the private sector.

We are fortunate that he does. Many have complained about the so-called commercialization of Miss Liberty, but private initiative did a marvelous job on the grand old lady, and got her ready in time for her 100th birthday party. Does anyone really believe a government agency could have done that?

Come on now. You and I know full well that if the bureaucrats were in charge, it wouldn't be done by next Christmas. And I shudder to think what the cost would have been.

Now President Reagan is turning to the private sector again to help preserve and protect our heritage. Our nation's public lands afford us irreplaceable opportunities to enjoy nature and savor America's natural beauty. But with more than 700 million acres to supervise, Uncle Sam simply cannot watch over everything.

Over the years, too many of our priceless resources have been littered, vandalized, looted, burned and otherwise misused. Many natural, historical and archeological resources have been lost forever, and others are in danger.

In his "Take Pride In America" program, the President is calling on private businesses and volunteer groups to assume responsibility for preserving our heritage. As happened with the Statue of Liberty, the response is enthusiastic. Major corporations — such as Exxon, Kodak, Goodyear, Mobil and Monsanto are donating money, resources and time to clean up our public parks, protect endangered species and educate the public about our heritage and the need to protect it. Private associations and clubs are donating their time and energy for similar worthy projects.

Of course, some will say the government should do all these things. But there could never be enough bureaucrats to protect our natural resources from the capriciousness of those who are indifferent and careless. "Take Pride In America" will not only produce tangible results at minimal cost, it will foster the notion that public lands belong to all citizens, and that we all share responsibility for preserving them.

That will be the grandest achievement of all.

"Oh God, that men should put an enemy in their mouths to steal away their brains."

Shakespeare was referring to alcohol, but his anguished cry could apply even more aptly to heroin, cocaine and other illegal drugs that are running rampant in our society today.

The recent deaths of two prominent young athletes have underscored the hazards of drug abuse, focusing the nation's attention on what can only be described as an epidemic.

This is a grave crisis that will not yield to government action alone. The Reagan administration is doing all it can to stem the flow of drugs into this country; the first lady devotes practically all of her public life to educating young people about drugs; and government agencies at the state and local level are applying herculean efforts to the problem.

All of which seems to have no more effect than spitting on a forest fire. The grim truth is that the war on drugs is being lost and no turnabout is possible until every sector of society — schools, businesses, churches, social groups, charities, all of us — acknowledge the threat and join hands with government to deal with it.

Business in particular must shoulder a major share of the responsibility. By some estimates, the direct cost of drug abuse to business is over $60 billion a year, measured in lost productivity, increased absenteeism, rising medical costs, more workplace accidents, and stealing by employees desperate to support their expensive addictions.

More importantly, business bears an obligation to society that transcends its economic interests. Business people wield significant power and influence in their communities. They are looked to for leadership in setting standards of personal behavior and participation in public affairs.

This is not a role that all business people seek or enjoy, but it is ours whether we want it or not. It is imperative that business people take the lead in the campaign against drug abuse in our society.

We must begin with a concerted effort to eliminate drugs from the workplace. It will not be easy and our efforts are certain to stir up a hornet's nest of controversy. But our nation, and especially our young people, face a great peril that will not yield to cautious measures.

I am certain that when business gets out front on this issue, other groups and organizations will rally to our cause and work with us. I am certain also that government officials at all levels are eager to work with us in every way they can to help rid our country of this pestilence.

We have no alternative but to commit ourselves to this cause and resolve to see it through.

Summer Session At 'U' M Campuses Shows Increase

Summer session enrollment at the University of Minnesota was up, compared with the same time last year.

Total enrollment for the first five-week session of classes increased by 507 students, from 15,480 last summer to 15,987 this year. During second summer session, 9,561 students attended all university campuses, up 681 from last year.

Enrollment increased at three of the university's four coordinate campuses both sessions.

On the Twin Cities campus, first summer session enrollment was up by 458 students, from 13,189 last year to 13,647 this year. During the second session of classes, 7,697 students took classes, up 693 from last year.

At Crookston, the number of students attending first session classes doubled from 172 to 345 this year. Second summer session enrollment tripled with 35 attending last year at the same time and 103 attending this year.

Duluth's first session enrollment dropped 127, from 2,000 to 1,873. During second session, 147 fewer students attended the school, making enrollment 1,076.

At Morris, three more students enrolled in first summer session classes than did last year, making enrollment 122. Second summer session enrollment increased by 67 students to 148, compared with the same time last year.

Waseca has only one quarter of summer classes and enrollment was the same as last summer with 537 students.

AWARE Gold
HMO Gold

The pressure of running your company's health care plan can have some unpleasant side effects. Like different rates—and a different set of paperwork—for each plan.

For fast relief, call Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Through our affiliate HMO Minnesota, we've taken many of the features of AWARE Gold and added them to the special cost efficiencies of an HMO plan. HMO Gold. So you can offer a choice of quality health care plans without all the administrative headaches of working with multiple companies.

Everything you expect from an HMO. And more.

With HMO Gold, your employees are covered in full for services provided by a doctor chosen from a network of HMO Gold physicians. If they choose to see a physician other than their selected HMO Gold physician, they still receive 80% coverage for services within the AWARE Gold network—Minnesota's largest physician network. Even services outside the AWARE Gold network are covered at 80% after a deductible. And HMO Gold is backed by Blue Cross and Blue Shield worldwide, so your employees are covered wherever they travel.

We've made two plans as easy to run as one.

When you offer AWARE Gold and HMO Gold in combination, your employees enjoy the choice of fee-for-service or HMO health care. And you get the convenience of two plans from a single source, which means lower costs and streamlined paperwork. Of course, HMO Gold and AWARE Gold are also available as separate plans.

The Little Gun With Big Results

There is no question that the most popular shotgun in use today is the 12-gauge. But there are more and more folks every day that are discovering the joy of owning a 20-gauge.

To begin with, a 20 is no longer considered a gun just for the gals and the kids. There is no question that the twenty is the perfect gun for a youngster or a woman, but it's usefulness doesn't stop there. Now men are discovering that the 20 will do almost everything that the big old 12-gauge did, and more.

Consider the matter of weight. A twenty is just plain lighter, making it a lot easier to carry, particularly if you're after upland game. That couple of extra pounds can make a big difference at the end of a long day's walk for pheasant or grouse.

When it comes to fire power, many people underestimate the potential of the twenty gauge. Just for the record, take a look at the ballistics of the 3-inch twenty compared to the 2¾ 12-gauge. The results are simple. With a 3-inch twenty gauge you have almost the identical fire power that you would have with the larger 12-gauge.

Last, but certainly not least, try the new 20 copper loads in #6 shot, combined with a short barrel and an improved cylinder choke. You will find the 20-gauge to be a first class gun if you're shooting ducks from a favorite slough or hunting big, tough ringnecks in the field. When it comes to putting game on the table the 20-gauge can be man's best friend.

Watering Tip for Dog Lovers

Here is a helpful hint for dog lovers. Before you head out to your hunting grounds, make a waterbowl out of a large bowl that has a cover on it. Cut a large hole in the cover so that your dog can get at the water. ~~The lid will still~~ cover the edges of the bowl, eliminating much of the water spill problems.

Game Management's Success; The Canada Goose.

Today is a far cry from the not too distant past when the big "honkers" were on their way to becoming a rarity. Through excellent planning and a great deal of diligent work, the various people involved in game management have produced a major miracle.

Canada goose today migrate in such numbers that many areas actually have a problem with too many geese. These heavy migrations aided by a proliferation of locally bred flocks have made the fields and waters around Alexandria and Fergus Falls, Minnesota excellent hunting grounds.

Migrations of Canada geese are principally along the western border of Minnesota. The Lac Qui Parle Wildlife Management Area and the adjacent goose zone is one of the most heavily hunted areas in the state. During the peak of fall migration, upwards of 75,000 geese have been seen in the wildlife area at one time.

Easy and Inexpensive Camouflage

If you do not have a deep tan or a good growth of whiskers, here is a simple but effective method of camouflage.

Burn the end of a cork until very black and rub over the hands and face, gun barrel, or anything else that might reflect sunlight.

In contrast to greasy camouflage materials, a burned cork application washes off readily with soap and water.

He's One Smart Bird — The Ringneck

Modern day ringneck pheasants are smarter than you think. They are wise, sly and know every trick in the book to evade the hunter. They will run on the ground far more often than they will flush. When they do flush they will get up wide and wild with no predictable pattern. Ringnecks also have a habit of burrowing into heavy cover and remain motionless. The one predictable and uncanny ability they possess is to know exactly when and which trick to use to outsmart the approaching hunter.

Since many full grown cocks must be taken with fairly long shots your best pheasant gun is probably a full choke barrel and magnum loads of 4 or 6 shot. The full choke is not absolutely essential because a modified choke will handle most shots that are in range.

Pheasants like most game will spend most of their day time hours feeding and will concentrate in fields of harvested grain. A hunter alone or with a buddy must cover a lot of territory to flush a bird or two. Most will run far ahead of you or get up out of range. Here is where you really need a good dog that will work close in and is a good retriever.

Pheasants roost and often take a noontime siesta, usually in heavy cover or hedgerows. They are more likely to hold better in these areas than in an open field. Early and late hours as well as mid-day is a good time to work those isolated areas of heavy cover. The best patches being near or next to fields of grain.

In late season when snow is on the ground and it is a windy cold day — the birds will hold all day in dense cover and will tend to concentrate on the side of the patch of cover that is out of the wind. If you are hunting in a party, surround the cover and send the dog and handler in to comb the brush. It's a good bet that the birds that do flush will fly over the hunters on the outside edges of the cover.

Shooting Range for Waterfowl

With normal eyesight and using a traditional standard 12 gauge shotgun and ammunition, there are two good rules of thumb for determining ranges for ducks and geese.

1. If you can distinguish the eye of a bird it is within range.
2. Long-range experts contend that the average person can see the feet on a goose at 80 yards.

Sighting in Your Scope Mounted Rifle

Use a well-padded rest, under calm wind conditions, resting forearm, not barrel on the pad.

FOUR STEPS IN ADJUSTING MICROMETER AND TELESCOPIC SIGHTS AT 100 YARD RANGE.

1. Locate on the target the exact center of at least three carefully fired shots, using same hold and sight setting. For example, suppose center of grouping is small circle in upper right hand quarter of the target, as indicated by arrow.

2. Measure the horizontal distance from the center of the target. In this example it is about 3" to the right of center. This means that to bring the next group onto the vertical center of the bulls-eye, requires that you move your rear sight 3 minutes-of-angle to the LEFT. If your sight reads in minutes-of-angle this means you must give it 3 clicks to the LEFT. If in ½ minutes-of-angle, 6 clicks, and if in ¼ minutes-of-angle, 12 clicks.

3. Measure the vertical distance from the center of the bulls-eye. In this example it is about 3" above center. This means that you must move down the sight 3 minutes-of-angle to bring your next groups onto the horizontal center line.

4. If your aim was steady and correct on first groups, and no puff of wind blew any of your shots out of the groups your next group should be around the center of the bulls-eye. Your rifle is then sighted in for range and ammunition used.

NOTE: changing your sight makes a change in where the bullet strikes of ½ inch at 50 yards, 1 inch at 100 yards, 1½ inches at 150 yards and 2 inches at 200 yards. Fire your groups slowly and let rifle cool a few minutes between groups.

Turkey Hunting Requires Good Sense and Caution

In addition to following all the safety regulations for general hunting, the turkey hunter must use even more caution when in the field.

When hunting the wild turkey, most hunters wear camouflaged clothing to reduce the possibility of being seen by these smart and very wary birds. At the same time this extra camouflage also reduces the ability of hunters to see each other.

Other safety precautions include:

1. Never shoot at a movement or sound in the brush. That could very easily be another hunter. Even though you know or think you know where all the hunters in your party are located, you cannot know if and where other hunters are staked out.

2. Identify your bird before shooting. Make sure it is a wild turkey and, of course, you must be able to determine the sex.

3. Keep constant control of your gun muzzle while moving out of your hunting spot or stand. Don't forget you will be walking around in timber before day light.

Preparing Game For the Table

Many home cooks, even those with special culinary talents, find preparation of game intimidating. Whether it be venison, waterfowl, rabbit or what ever game you bag, the preparation can be basically the same as "supermarket" meat and poultry. If the game is young and tender it can be roasted, sauteed or fried in much the same manner as their cultivated counterparts.

Some cuts of game demand the use of a marinade that will tenderize the meat before cooking as well as enhancing the flavor. Use the same marinade as you would on any meat, or try some of the special marinades found in many wild game recipes. The decision to marinade or not will depend a great deal on the age of the animal.

In the preparation of some notoriously "tough" small game animals such as older squirrels, jackrabbits and the like, parboiling before frying is a good tenderizing method.

There are many methods used for preparing wild game. Some cooks say that freezing venison for 2 or 3 weeks before cooking does a lot to tenderize the meat and take away some of the gamey taste. Others swear by soaking in salt water. Another method (for frying venison loins) is to soak overnight in milk then dip in a mixture of pancake mix, salt and pepper and fry in hot grease.

While many people, including some hunters, are not especially fond of venison, try substituting well tenderized venison for beef in your favorite recipes for burgers, meatballs and spaghetti and meat loaf, seasoning the same as you could if using beef. Your family and friends may be pleasantly surprised.

Defeat that Old Enemy — Rust

A good rifle or shotgun, if properly cared for, will last you for a lifetime as it practically never wears out from firing. Rust is a different matter. It can and will take its toll.

Understand clearly the effect of rust. Many people think that rust can be removed. Not so; red rust is the evidence of the eating away of the surface of metals. You can remove the red evidence but you can never repair the damage the rusting has caused. Rust is always the result of neglect and or lack of knowledge. A clean steel surface oiled to protect from moisture will never rust.

When you return to your cabin or shelter after a day's hunt, always wipe your gun first with a dry cloth and then with an oiled one. Rain, wet foliage, even perspiration. All are perpetuators of rust. Never let your gun remain wet overnite. If your gun has been subject to very cold temperatures all day do not take inside a heated shelter. This will cause condensation and the rusting process begins. Taking a gun inside a cold shelter, then building a fire for the night will warm your gun gradually and you will have no condensation problem. Even under those circumstances, you still need to dry and oil the gun.

Oil all the interior mechanisms you can reach with your cloth. It is not necessary to clean the barrel every day, since most ammunition made today is non-corrosive. Always clean the barrel when the gun is out of use for any period of time, or when left where the air is excessively damp and of course when the gun is stored. Never store your gun in a gun case. A case is for transporting a gun, not for storage. Moisture can build in a gun case with resulting rusting to begin. Always store your gun in a safe place but where the air can get to it.

Aim for the Deer's Neck

Deer hunters have known for years that the best area to place your shot is in the neck of the deer. Far too many deer are hit in the main body and end up traveling a great distance before dying. If you can't make a good kill shot, it is best to wait until you can.

How to be a Good Sneak

If there was a kindergarten class for hunters, the first day of school you would learn that the main ingredient of a successful hunt is to walk quietly through the woods.

This may sound like a good idea, but it's easier said than done. Walking through the woods without making a sound is like trying to toss a lit match into a can of gasoline without getting an explosion, it is impossible. But there are some things you can do to make yourself a good sneak when you go into the woods.

Start out by trying to think like a deer. Deer will react to three basic danger signals; Sight, Sound and Smell. More often than not, at least two of the three signals must be noticed before the deer will head for cover.

Of the three danger signals, the human voice is the one that will obviously give you away first. It sounds like nothing else in the woods. There is no way to disguise it, and to a deer ... it means DANGER! Rule number one is simply: Keep Your Mouth Shut!

Smell is a danger signal that is reasonably easy to deal with. First and foremost is to always use the wind to your advantage. To a deer, you smell just like a neighbor that is barbecueing a big steak at 8:00 in the evening. Wind carries odor — use it to help you, not hurt you. There are also a number of good artificial scents on the market today that will help. It is hard to imagine a man wanting to smell like fox urine or skunk squeezings, but both of these are far better than smelling like a human when you are out hunting game.

Last, but certainly not least, is sight. While a certain amount of motion is necessary, the average hunter can easily cut down on his or her visability by merely thinking, and being conscious about movement. Of course you need to turn your head to see, but think about unnecessary movements - particularly with your arms.

Time of day is another factor that you can use in your favor. An early, pre-dawn walk to your favorite deer stand will be much more productive than waiting until the sun is up and Mr. or Mrs. Whitetail can spot you three blocks away.

Being a good sneak takes time, patience and lots of practice. But the thrill of walking within twenty or thirty yards of a trophy whitetail will make all of your trouble instantly worthwhile.

Your Gun's "Safety" Doesn't Think for You

The safety on your gun is very important and firearm manufacturers are to be commended for the invention and installation of this device. A safety device is, however, not automatic. You must control it yourself.

There are times when you may "think" your safety is on, but it isn't and they have also been known to malfunction. Therefore, except when actually firing, put your safety on and then handle that gun as though the safety was off.

Never point a firearm at anything you do not intend to shoot. Always unload when climbing a fence or any other obstacle. Even if you lay the gun down to go over, around or under the obstacle, unload it!

When your hunt is over take extra care to unload it before you enter your car.

Upon arriving at home, double check before storing. Keep your guns locked up and be sure to lock the ammunition in a separate place.

Play it safe always. Use that gun safety religiously, then add that "human touch" of caution. Remember one rule — "A gun is always loaded."

Your Dog May Have Good Manners — But Do You?

The owner of a good hunting dog knows all too well the work and dollars that go into making Rover a good companion in the field. Often, though, by the time a hunting trip is over, the owner is the only person that gives a hoot for old Rover, and it is the owner himself who is at fault.

If you're going to take your dog out hunting, keep in mind that there are some things you are going to have to do in order to make him an acceptable companion. Go into any town that attracts hunters and talk to the local motel owner as to how he feels about hunting dogs. Odds are that you will hear about tables that were chewed on like steak bones, carpet that turned into straw, as well as ruined bedding and towels. Certainly you will hear about complaints from guests who were trying to sleep while someone's dog is trying its darndest to get the old man to let him out. Little did the barking, clawing canine know that his owner was down at the local bar learning about country music.

While the dog is the one that winds up being disliked, the fact is that the owner is really the one at fault. If you're going to travel with your dog, there are some basic rules and equipment you are going to need.

The first problem to deal with is housing. While a kennel trailer is ideal, a wire crate will do just as well. If you're staying in a motel or as a guest in someone's home, all you need to do is put your dog in the crate for the night or whenever you are not going to be around. Amazingly, a dog can be extremely comfortable in a small space, and of course it keeps trouble at arm's length.

Also to be considered are the dog's eating habits. Don't change your dog's diet when you go hunting. If the dog is used to eating the same kind of dog food, a sudden switch can result in an untidy change of bladder and bowel habits. Aside from the obvious problems for the owner, think about how you would feel if you were trying to put in a good day's work when you were sick. Also, pay close attention as to the time of the day you choose to feed your dog. Ten minutes before bedtime is not a wise feeding time. The best time is immediately after leaving the field. This gives the dog plenty of time to relieve himself before bedding down for the night.

The last and most basic tool is a leash. Your dog may be a perfect pet around home, but get him out in the country, and look out! If your dog runs through a prized garden in hot pursuit of a farmer's chicken, your chances of getting permission to hunt on the farmer's property will be greatly decreased, if not totally diminished.

Remember, a dog is man's best friend. But you have to help keep it that way!

Rules-of-Thumb For Ice Safety

The Minnesota Safety Council suggests the following guidelines for ice safety. All are band on CLEAR BLUE ice.

1. Two inches of clear blue ice will support one person, walking.
2. Three inches of ice will support a group walking single file and spread out with plenty of space between each person.
3. Four inches of ice are needed if stationary fishing on foot.
4. Five inches of ice is necessary to hold the combined weight of a snowmobile and rider.
5. Eight inches is absolutely necessary to support a two-ton automobile.

Warm weather can reduce the thickness of ice very quickly, so check and re-check — Don't follow someone else's tracks, you just might end up in the same hole as they did.

When it Rains, Sometimes it Pours . . . Ducks

During years of heavy rainfall in August and September, rising water in your favorite puddle duck areas can affect the feeding habitat of ducks.

Do some leg work just before opening day and check the areas for flooded fields of crops. Locate them and you may be in for a hunting bonanza. Flooded wheat, barley and millet are irresistable to hungry waterfowl. If you are able to find flooded fields of standing crops, such as corn and soybeans, so much the better. Standing crops provide both food and cover as well as the water.

If possible, select a high point and observe the movement of ducks in the area and you can probably establish a pattern of where they will congregate.

It's very likely ducks will leave their normal habitat, to find in these flooded fields and bunch up in sizeable numbers. They may retire for the night in old reliable marshes, but will feed all day in their newly found smorgasbord. Hunting pressure in the usual habitat will also help drive them to the "newly created" feeding areas and many may change their habits and remain there as long as the flood water remains. You may need fewer than a dozen decoys in these spots and hip boots will often replace a boat.

Flooding streams spilling over into low brushy or weedy areas and lowlánd crops are also often real hot spots.

Don't just go to last year's blind and wait – Look around! Of course if there are no heavy rains, well – There is always next year.

WHEN WADING IN UNKNOWN WATER, BE CAREFUL OF WHAT IS BELOW!

If you are wearing hip boots or chest waders and find yourself out in an unknown marshy area or bog, be careful to pay attention to where your feet go. Move slow and deliberately and always concentrate on keeping your balance. Short, sure steps is the best way to go. And always make sure that your gun's safety is on!

Don't Overexert Yourself Walking Through the Woods

If you're one who seems to tire easily when walking in the woods, here's a hint that can make hunting easier. When you come to a log or rock, instead of stepping up onto it, try to step clear over it. Every time you step up on a rock you will need to lift the weight of your entire body to bring your other leg over. By stepping over the rock or log, you will use less energy and seem less tired as the day goes on.

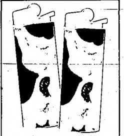
Properly Aged Venison Will Taste Better

Do you like tender venison? The key to good meat is the way it is aged. When the weather is cool, hang the deer with the skin still on the meat to avoid drying out. Hang the deer for five days to a week to let the meat cure. This delay in cutting the meat will also improve its flavor.



CAMOUFLAGE LIGHTER

Your Compass Can Lie

The old adage — always believe your compass does not always hold true. While the odds are that the compass is always right, you can cause it to malfunction.

Keep in mind that the compass is magnetic. If you a carrying a gun, the metal in the barrel can cause the compass to be off as much as 90 degrees.

The best way to make sure you get a good reading is to set your gun down, along with any other metal objects you may be carrying, and move five to six feet away before taking a reading.

The Fall Bonanza Hunters Forget

It's late morning on a warm fall day. You have been on the lake since before dawn, and as the sun rises, every single duck for 20 miles has found a secret hiding place to rest until nightfall. As you go about picking up your decoys you get to thinking about what to do until late afternoon. Suddenly you hear a giant splash as a big old large-mouth bass comes to the surface for an easy meal.

Once the leaves start to fall it's time to get the dust off of your favorite scatter gun and sort out the decoys. But don't hang up your favorite fishing pole yet. Fall means action galore when it comes to catching fish as well as shooting fowl.

What happens in the fall that turns the same spot you got skunked in July into a real honey hole? For one thing the lake was plum full of fish food in July. Insects, minnows, young pan fish and crayfish were there for the taking. As the fall season approaches all of that changes. The cold nights have killed off most of the insects, while the young pan fish and most of the minnows have been pretty well depleted. That same old bait that couldn't catch a branch in July has suddenly become an irresistable attraction in October.

In addition, game fish will go on a virtual feeding spree, knowing that before long the lake will freeze over and food will be scarce until spring.

For the most part try shallow water when it comes to fall fishing. Bass, in particular will form into large schools, prowling the shoreline in search of food. Remember that if you hook into one fish the odds are that there are plenty more right in that same spot.

If you're using live bait, the minnow really shines come fall. Make sure you cover as much territory as possible until you locate a good size school.

Whether you are after Northerns, Walleye or Bass, fall fishing can be as good, or better than any time of the year. The best part of all is that during the fall you can hunt ducks in the morning, fish during the day and take a late afternoon walk for ringnecks or grouse. Now That's Living!

Getting Ready For Bow Season

As the days grow ever shorter there is no question that fall is just around the corner. For the bow hunter that means action. Success or failure often depends on what you do now to get ready. Here are a few tips to make this your best bow season ever.

Equipment

Make sure your equipment is ready to go. Start out by carefully checking your bow for things like worn strings, sight mounts, and limb damage. If you're using a compound bow it's a good idea to take it in for a [illegible]-up to make sure everything is up t[illegible]. Things like draw length, cam adj[illegible] and cable replacement can be taken [illegible] in a matter of minutes.

Arrows should be checked to [illegible] that they are matched as to [illegible] and weight. Remember, all arrows don't shoot the same. Also, check your [illegible] to make sure they are in place. And [illegible] get to replace or sharpen your [illegible]

Practice

Archery hunting takes plenty of practice. You use a different set of muscles, particularly back muscles to shoot a bow. The only way to make sure those muscles are ready is to use them before opening day.

While practice with expensive broadheads can be impractical, it is easy to get field tips that match perfectly to the weight of your normal tips. It is important that you get sighted in, and the only way to do so is to make sure you are using the same weight arrow and tip as you will be hunting with.

Also take the time to practice estimating yardage under different conditions. Time of day, and type of terrain can make a big difference in correctly identifying distances.

Selecting the correct kind of clothing in which to practice is also important. Often archers will practice on a warm day wearing summer clothes, only to find out that when they get in the field with hunting clothes on things don't work the same. The clothing you are wearing does have a major effect on how you shoot. Practice in the same clothing you will be wearing in the woods.

Scouting

Go into the woods and check out your favorite hunting area. Look for signs of change, as well as feeding habits and fresh bedding areas. When you have selected an area to hunt, take the time to find the right stand. Visibility is of extreme importance, and of course flexibility of movement also is a major factor.

Remember that wild game will notice changes. The more time they have to get used to changes you need to make, the better your chances of success come opening day.

Check Your Steel Shot Zones

Over 60% of the 142 hunters arrested for hunting violations in the Lac Qui Parle goose zone were arrested for violating the steel shot only restricted area. Remember lack of knowledge of the law is not admissable as defense. Know where those zones are located.

Deer, Dogs and Snow Do Not Mix

Minnesota state law says, "Any person may, and it shall be the duty of every conservation officer to kill any dog pursuing or killing deer or moose; and no action for damages shall be maintained against the person for the killing"

If you own a dog that has access to areas where deer winter, make sure they are not running loose. This is doubly important when there is a heavy snow cover. Light fluffy snow may give the deer as much chance as the dog, but when snow has crusted over the dog has the distinct advantage of being able to run on top of the snow, while the deer will break through.

Deer chasing dogs are not seeking food. Quite the contrary. They are simply having fun chasing deer, much as they do chasing squirrels in your back yard. There are times when good ol' Rover is better off at home.

Proper Field Care of Game Pays Off at the Table

A wild duck or pheasant that spends his life flying and eating a variety of wild foods will naturally taste different than poultry raised in captivity and fed a diet of vitamin and hormone enriched processed food.

The same holds true for deer that feed on nuts, apples and tree leaves, as compared to cattle that eat grass and hay, and their muscles are merely for standing or lying down.

For this reason there are many people who find the taste of wild game not exactly to their liking. Proper field care of downed game will however, add much to the taste and could make converts of some palates.

Especially in early season hunting, the weather is often warm and meat will spoil rapidly, or at the least develop a bad flavor, if not properly handled in the field. Take time to dress animals and draw birds quickly. Large game taken on warm days should be dressed and wrapped in a cool covering. If you can, put small game in a cooler. Be sure to wrap them first. Do not place directly on the ice.

When cleaning use extra care to keep contaminants off the meat, especially when eviscerating the cavities. Pheasant and waterfowl should be dressed at the end of a drive and back at the blind.

Taking this time for proper field care of your game can double your hunting pleasure. Long after the season is over, a well prepared wild game dinner can bring back pleasant memories of the hunt.

Bow Hunt Stalking a White-Tail Deer

Considering the short range of bow hunting, here is one method of slow stalking to reach the minimum distance to a feeding deer. This method requires the ultimate in time and patience

First you will have to locate a feeding deer, and when you do it will almost always be out of bow range

Begin your stalk when the deer drops its head to feed. Advance toward your target until the head starts up. At the precise moment you see the head start to size, FREEZE! Hold motionless until the head is down again waiting until it is completely down, then advance again. Repeat the process until you are within your range.

Depending on your patience, and we mean patience, this can be a very effective stalking procedure. This method is, of course, for hunters who take time to enjoy the hunt. If you are just after meat, you can save a lot of time and money by just stopping by the meat market.

Upland Ruffed Grouse Looking Up for 1986

Don't expect 1986 to be good or even fair for grouse hunting. After these years of extremely low grouse populations, 1985 showed a slight incrase. That rise has given hunters hope that the Ruffed Grouse is on its way to another cyclical peak. There are some small pockets of grouse in the state, and for those who pre-scout their potential areas, there can be some moderate success.

Develop a Relationship with Land-Owners

It is often difficult for urban hunters to understand the importance a land-owner attaches to his property. Stop and think, then realize that a land-owner's property is much more than just land. It's his love, his job, his kingdom and his entire life. He feels for the land the same as he feels for his family. Just imagine a boisterous, careless, and sometimes even destructive group of hunters traipsing all over your city dwelling back yard. Needless to say you would "run them off".

Although some states, by law, require permission to hunt on private land, this is certainly no guarantee that you will automatically be allowed to do so. Try to develop a sincere relationship with the land-owner. Introduce yourself politely and ask what his requirements are, also asking what he expects of you.

Keep your group small. Sit down and have a friendly chat both before and after hunting. Show your appreciation for the opportunity to use his land. You may find you can often develop a real friendship.

Once you have established a good relationship, continue with it. If the farm or land produced a successful hunt do not return to the city and brag about the area. Next year the place could be overrun with hunters and could become off limits to all hunters, including yourself.

Always drop a note of thanks and perhaps a Christmas Card. Treat your new friend the same as you would any other friend that does you a favor.

If Your Boots Get Wet, Dry Them Fast

When you come home from a hunting trip with boots that are wet on the inside use a hair dryer to do a fast job of drying them out. The movement of the hot air doesn't stiffen the leather as some other methods do.

Full Time Crack Shot

If you're a crack shot on the trap range but miss a few too many while hunting, remembering one fact might improve your success in the field. While shooting trap or skeet, the clay bird is slowing down as you shoot, but a flushing bird is increasing in speed. A good swing as you shoot should compensate for the increase in speed.

Know Your Range

Knowing if a duck is within range is a hunting necessity. If you're able to see the color on the bird, then it is within range for a shot. Don't go sky busting at every duck in sight; you will only waste shells and cause other hunters to loose their chance at getting a good shot.

The Tried and True Bolt Action Rifle

Although lever-action rifles have been the traditional favorites of hunters in this country, the majority of the more serious riflemen elect to use the bolt-action models.

While lever actions are lighter weight, well balanced and excellent brush guns, they are also limited to the shorter range of the 30.30 class of cartridges.

Bolt-action rifles have the tendency to be stronger and more accurate. This reliability and accuracy offsets the disadvantage of being slower for follow-up shots. The hunter who has more patience and takes the time to learn to make that first shot count instead of spraying the countryside with lead, will be a much more effective rifleman and will usually choose the more reliable bolt-action models.

The simplicity of the manual operation is much less prone to create problems with the chambering and ejection mechanisms of lever, auto-loading and the slide or pump action rifles. An added advantage of bolt-action rifles is that they are available in practically every caliber. This advantage gives you a much wider choice of power and range to fit your particular game preference.

Taxpayers Helping Wildlife

The DNR reports that of 33 states that have nongame wildlife check-off donations on state tax forms, Minnesota is the only state to show annual increases for the last 5 years. Minnesota tax returns for 1984 also showed that the state was the highest in percentage of tax payers using the check-off on their returns.

Excellent Deer Hunting Forecast for 1986.

Minnesota deer populations have made such amazing progress since the 1960's and early 1970's that the 1983, 1984 and 1985 deer harvests set all-time records. Expect this trend to continue in 1986.

The above statistics should be enlightening to the uninformed skeptics who claim that hunting is rapidly depleting the population of wildlife in this country. With proper management and control man may actually be more efficient than nature in producing abundant wild-life. In fact a recent count of deer in the metropolitan area of the Minnesota River Valley revealed 70 deer per square mile. That is probably more deer than the early settlers found in 25 or 30 square miles.

Timely Hunting Will Aid Squirrel Gunners

Squirrel hunters are best advised to be in the woods when squirrels are the most active. Squirrels, like many creatures in the woods, prefer to move about at dawn, dusk or on days when the wind is light.

Stock Length is Important

Take the time early in the season to have your new gun matched to fit you. The length of the rifle stock can cause you to shoot high or low. To get the most out of your guns, it will pay to have a skilled gunsmith check the length of the stock for you.

Senior Hunters get State Discount

Minnesota senior citizens who hunt are entitled to a special "Senior Citizen Small Game License" which costs less than the standard small game license. To be eligible for the senior citizen license you must be at least 65 years of age and a resident of Minnesota.

This state's older hunters also are entitled to another saving if they are waterfowl hunters. Senior citizens are not required to purchase the state migratory waterfowl stamp. They are, however, required to purchase the federal duck stamp sold at U.S. post offices.

Try Squirrel Hunting, You Might Like It

If you are one who enjoys the solitude of the woods all by yourself, but likes hunting as well, try squirrel hunting.

You can travel light, since you need very little equipment. No boats, motors, decoys, tree stand equipment, heavy shotgun shells, etc. All you need is a light weight .22 rifle or .410 shotgun, perhaps some mosquito repellent and a lot of patience.

Most squirrels are found in patches of mature woods near farming areas. One of the best habitants for squirrel is in woods containing nut bearing trees, corn fields and with a stream or pond nearby.

Move very slowly and quietly looking for nests, trees with hollow holes, and movement in the branches — A squirrel running through the branches will stop at intervals. When he stops, you stop, repeating the process until you are within range.

If you can locate a "squirrel tree" you have found the "mother lode". Look for a large tree with some holes or concentration of nests. Check the base of the tree for signs of feeding activity — empty nut shell's, tracks and other feeding activity. When you locate such a tree, back off and sit down with another tree at your back that will give you a view of the entire tree. If the squirrels are there and you remain quiet and with a minumum amount of movement the squirrels will venture out. When you bag one squirrel do not leave. Start over, and wait for the next one. There are almost always several in that tree.

Try it. It's a great way to set your own hunting pace, ease some of the frustrations of life and put some very delicious meat on the table.

Whitetails are Dense Forest and Edge Deer

When hunting whitetail, take a stand at times when they move and expose themselves. Stalk them when they rest in cover. Whitetails will usually expose themselves along the edges of dense cover during feeding times. They will sometimes venture further out if there is not a lot of activity around, but they seldom stray too far from cover.

Feeding times are usually dawn until about 10:00 a.m. and again from 3:00 p.m. until dusk. During those hours hunters should probably be on-stand. If there is an abundance of food the feeding time will be shorter and vice versa. Less food, longer feeding time.

After feeding, whitetails will seek cover away from feeding grounds and will be more difficult to locate, unless you have done your homework and have located an area that shows a concentration of bedding signs where deer relax and chew their cud between feeding periods. Locating their areas and with the use of careful stalking, you will find some movement at mid-day but mostly in cover. Therefore it is a good idea to leave your stand between feeding times and enjoy the often profitable stalking of whitetails when they are less alert. When they aren't exposed, they feel safer, & you have somewhat of an advantage. You will, however, have to work for that advantage. So if you want to be a hunter, then hunt. If not, go fishing. You'll find that fishing is not all that easy either!

Pheasants Prefer the Prairie

The northwoods of Minnesota are not a habitat for pheasants, but the near northwoods lake regions of Alexandria and Fergus Falls are close to some of the state's best pheasant hunting.

For Best Taste, Don't Bag Rabbits

Rabbits always taste better if they are gutted and left to hang as soon as they are shot. If you drag the rabbit around in a game bag all day, you will not permit the rabbit to cool down.

Gun Care Tip

To insure a long, rust free life for your gun, remember that a gun case is used for protecting your firearm while in the field. When you get home, be sure to clean your gun and store it in the open air.

Patience is a Hunting Virtue

One of the biggest reasons bird hunters miss a flushing bird is that they shoot too quickly. In all of the excitement it can be very difficult not to become anxious. Even if you try to get off a quick second shot, you often miss the bird again because you didn't get a good bead on it. Skilled bird hunters have learned to enjoy the thrill of the flush, but to wait until they can get a good swing on the bird before shooting.

Get the Dirt Out

If you drop your shotgun in the sand or dirt try to clean the action mechanism as soon as you can. If a piece of the wall of your goose pit sheers off and drops on your gun you may not even get through the day without jamming the action. This is especially true of autoloaders, and disastrous if the breech is open.

To clean, pour gasoline into the mechanism and slosh around as much as possible, do this several times to insure washing out as much dirt as possible. Do not use oil to try to remove the sand or dirt, oil will just make it stick all the more. After washing with gasoline, apply a coating of oil, and work the action several times to distribute oil — Wipe off excess oil as much as possible, leaving only a thin coating.

When you return home, strip down the gun completely and clean the areas you could not reach in the field.

Public Land — Great Asset to Hunters

While there are objections by some to the acquisition of land by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, public land ownership plays an important role in providing outdoor recreation opportunities. As a result, hunters in the state of Minnesota, especially those seeking deer, grouse and other forest game, have an abundance of areas where they can find good hunting.

State forests contain over three million acres, more than one million acres of federal forest land, 900 state wildlife management areas and hundreds of federal waterfowl production sites. Adding all these together gives the hunter in Minnesota many many places to hunt without ever setting foot on private land.

This is not so in many other states where there is very little publicly owned land. In these states hunters pay as high as $50 to $100 per day for the privilage of hunting on private lands.

Large corporations and wealthy hunting clubs lease vast tracts of thousands of acres, paying $30,000 or more for a season of hunting.

The next time you hear someone object to the acquisition of land by the state, remind them of how fortunate they are to be able to pursue their own particular outdoor sport free of charge.

Lazy Duck Days of Summer

Have you ever watched ducks floating around on a hot summer day, seemingly half asleep? They really aren't that lazy. Most species of ducks molt during the summer months and cannot fly during that time.

Cows May Not be as Cute as Deer, But ...

Most hunters have the utmost respect for vegetarians who prefer not to include meat in their diet. It is equally true that most sportsmen do object to those who expound their personal opinions to the extent of crusading against all hunting of wild animals.

May these same anti-hunting enthusiasts be reminded that they do wear shoes and most likely other leather clothing. Many also ride on leather upholstered automobile seats and use a variety of leather products, even including some watchbands.

Leather comes from only one source — the hide of an animal. Once you get the hide off and you do choose to eat meat, you may as well use what's left. It will only spoil and rot if you don't.

Animals on a ranch and wild animals are not much different when viewed as a food supply. Those who have one animal should love all animals, domestic or wild, and never wear anything other than plastic or paper shoes.

Wildlife Trivia

You may not see some antelope, but they are most likely seeing you. An antelope with normal vision can see as far as a man using eight-power binoculars.

Dress, Don't Bleed Deer

Many hunters prefer to bleed their deer after they shoot it. The fact is that you won't need to bleed your deer as long as you field dress it promptly. Trying to bleed a deer by cutting the throat can damage the cape of the trophy needlessly.

Minimize Duck Boat Dangers

Statistics have shown that duck hunters are more at risk from drowning than being shot by a fellow hunter.

With that in mind there are some precautions you can take to avoid falling over board or capsizing your boat. When on your way to the blind, remain low in the boat. Don't overload with hunters, dogs and hunting gear and avoid large expanses of open water.

Always wear a personal flotation device. They are available in camouflage and with full sleeves. These will keep you afloat and will also help retain body heat which aids in increasing your survival time in cold water.

If you do go overboard, don't panic. Even though you are wearing heavy clothing and waders, you won't necessarily sink immediately. Layers of warm clothing and waders will contain pockets of air that can increase buoyancy. Water trapped between clothing and skin is warmed by body heat that provides a measure of insulation.

Try to re-enter or, at least, get back to your boat. A good idea when traveling in open water is to tie a line from the boat to yourself. This will prevent the boat from floating away from you. If the boat capsizes and you are not wearing a safety line or flotation device, look around for other items that can keep you float. Empty or partially empty gas tanks, thermos jugs and decoys. Always carry your decoys in a bag. A full bag of decoys makes a good substitute flotation device.

Perhaps your best is to hunt in a group with more than one boat. Odds are with you that all boats will not capsize at the same time and another boat can pick you up.

Wet Wood? — Try This.

A good idea for starting a camp fire after it has been raining all day and the woods are full of wet wood. Thoroughly mix a can of sawdust with motor oil. Both new and used oil are equally effective. Light the oil, stack rainsoaked fire wood over the can and you'll have a camp fire in no time.

CHANGES AT THE TIMES. Changes being made at the Times include a new nameplate which was designed by Times employee Mary Kotta, left. According to Times Publisher John Mattson, right, the public can continue to look for changes and adjustments in the Thief River Falls Times.

TRF Times Changes Style Of Nameplate

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Dynamic is almost too weak a word to describe the changes being made at the Times. Many people have commented on some of the changes, but the recent nameplate change is an unavoidable eye-catcher.

Mary Kotta, a photo typesetter at the Times, designed the new nameplate. Mary enjoys art work when she finds the time. Designing the new nameplate, however, was the kind of combination of work and hobby that she enjoys. It was a challenge which also took a lot of work.

The new nameplate began with an idea-open face letters could be screened or used in color when available, and Thief River Falls could be reduced in size reflecting an effort to regionalize the news coverage. Mary began by looking at what many area newspapers have already done. She liked the idea of open face letters because it would allow for color or screen behind the letters and adding a drawing of some kind, like those that appear in the Warren Sheaf, the Greenbush Tribune, Erskine Echo, Blackduck American and Williams Northern Light — to name a few.

She eventually arrived at the current typeface from among hundreds of alternatives. Arriving at the typeface was not as easy as it is to talk or write about because of the many choices. Each newspaper has a distinctly different appearance. Mary had to consider what reflected the unique qualities of the Times and the direction it will take in the future. Once type was chosen she had to determine the specific size, height, width of letter, length of line, and spacing between letters and words.

Mary looked at many area newspapers to get an idea of what she liked and disliked as well as type styles. She finally settled on a round letter which she had reversed, leaving the center open. The open face letters can be screened gray or used with color, so in future issues the public may see a nameplate emblazoned in red, blue, orange or other colors.

Mary believes the nameplate and small page nameplates need more work. She hopes bolder lines will make it stronger. She dropped the idea of a figure or representative drawing for the meantime, but plans to give it some more thought.

Why reduce the name, Thief River Falls, in the nameplate? The Times, although still loyal to Thief River Falls, is attempting to reach out further and provide a forum for news and advertising in a number of communities outside of Thief River Falls. It reflects a new attitude by the Times to provide more space for regional news. The Times will provide these communities, which may or may not have a local newspaper, with a forum for their local news and at the same time let news and advertising reach a larger audience.

The change in the nameplate is also representative of the many changes happening within the pages of the Times and the newspaper operation itself. Changes within the pages of the Times include a new calendar of events, lighter typeface for headlines, news briefs from around the region in a new section called Times Around The Region, and also reprinted columns written by former Times City Editor Norman Holen.

The community calendar will be published in both Monday and Wednesday editions of the Times and updated for each issue. Events will be listed for approximately two weeks in advance of the event if there is widespread community interest and one week in advance for regular meetings of organizations.

People who have events to be listed on the calendar are asked to mail or bring them to the Times office so they arrive by 5 p.m. Tuesday for the Wednesday edition or 5 p.m. Friday for the Monday edition. There is no charge for this service. Telephone calls with calendar items cannot be accepted.

The community calendar is in-

911 Starts Today As Emergency Service Number

Have an emergency? Call 911. At least that's what residents in Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire can do starting today.

After testing a new 911 system which was installed last August and training law enforcement personnel, the Pennington county law enforcement center in Thief River Falls is now able to connect callers on the 911 calling system with emergency services such as ambulance service, police, sheriff, fire and hospital.

The Penningtron county law enforcement center has two 911 dedicated telephone lines for the 681 service area and one each for the 378 and 964 service areas. The new 911 service, however, is not designed to replace the 681-6161 number at the law enforcement center, but to enhance the law enforcement center's capabilities.

Richards does not want to discourage anyone who feels they have an emergency from calling on 911 but advised that only emergencies should be called on 911, not loose dog calls or car keys locked in cars.

Under a Minnesota law passed in 1977, emergency 911 telephone operations must connect Minnesotans to emergency services by Dec. 15, 1986. As of August there were 56 counties and eight city systems in operation in Minnesota. This means that 80 per cent of the population, or 3.26 million people are now connected to 911 service.

School Election Filings To Open September 22

Filings for Thief River Falls board of education will open Monday, September 22, and close on Tuesday, October 7, at 4:30 p.m. it was pointed out at the regular board meeting last Monday in the school district service center. The meeting followed a get-acquainted coffee session for new staff members.

School election in District 564 will be conducted in conjunction with the November 4 general election. Terms of Greg Pribula, Rev. Paul Bortnem and the late Myrle Carlson expire this year. The board has not appointed a replacement for Carlson pending outcome of the November election. Filings will be accepted beginning September 22 at the office of Frank Hamerlinck, assistant superintendent.

Blood Drive In TRF Sept. 17-18

Telephone Pioneers of America in Thief River Falls are sponsoring a blood drive for United Blood Services of the upper midwest from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. September 17 and from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on September 18 at the Northwest Medical center chapel.

By giving blood, a donor helps replenish a community resource used by a neighbor, relative or friend. The donation assists in providing tomorrow's patient with the same recovery opportunity that was made available to today's patient. This gesture helps assure proper quantities of blood will be available on each hospital's shelf at the time of need.

In this area, 3,000 units of blood are needed each month to supply the needs of patients served by United Blood services. This blood can only come from caring individuals — the human body is still the only source.

Conservation Programs May Become Mandatory

Protecting America's farmland from erosion and poor farming practices are more than just words blowing in the wind. According to a recent release from the United States Department of Agriculture soild conservation service, while participation in conservation programs is increasing, participation may soon become a prerequisite to receiving farm subsidies.

Voluntary participation in soil and water conservation measures has continued to grow, especially in Minnesota, but those days of voluntary participation may be over especially if the farmer wishes to receive farm subsidies. "Provisions within the recently passed Farm Security Act of 1985 (the Farm bill), now require landowners and operators who want to stay eligible for most federal farm programs to control soil erosion on their highly erodible land," according to Donald G. Feren, State conservationist for USDA's Soil Conservation service (SCS) in Minnesota.

Farmers in Minnesota continue to show support for conservation practices and one example of that support is the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

The CRP is a voluntary, environmental program aimed at reducing excessive soil erosion from crop land and improving water quality by reducing sedimentation. On and off-site erosion effects will be reduced. Wildlife habitat and forest land will be developed and increased through the CRP.

To participate in CRP, a land user must sign a 10-year rental contract with the USDA, agreeing to take eligible land out of crop production and put it into perennial grass, wildlife plantings, windbreaks or trees.

Figures just released from the third CRP signup, which ended August 14, show that 368,112 more acres of highly erodible land in Minnesota have been accepted by the USDA's agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) according to Don Friedrich, ASCS state executive director.

Adding that figure to the first wo CRP signups in 1986, Minnesota now has 661,179 acres enrolled in the CRP.

Some of the key farm conservation provisions are in effect now, and others are scheduled to begin in 1990 and 1995. Under the "sodbuster" provision, farmers who apply for next year's farm programs must certify that they have not broken out highly erodible land in order to produce agricultural commodities since December 23, 1985, unless they follow a conservation plan developed by the landowner with technical assistance from the SCS. That plan must be approved at the county level by a soil and water conservation district board of supervisors. Sodbuster applies to land where farmers did not produce a crop from 1981 through 1985.

Under the swampbuster provision, land users must certify that they have not drained or converted wetlands since that same date in order to produce crops.

The sodbuster and swampbuster

MARY ANNE LINDER of Plummer, adopted at age 5, spent 27 years looking for her natural parents and family. The search for answers was nearly completed recently when she visited relatives on her natural mother's side of the family in Louisville, KY.

Mary Anne Linder Searches For Family

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Mary Anne Linder of Plummer has no memory of family before age five. She was separated from her family and brother at an early age, placed in Ormsby Village Orphanage, Louisville, KY, and adopted by another family in Chicago. Recently some light was shed on all her questions, she took a lot of pictures and then shed many tears.

It began in 1953 when Mary Anne was adopted by Betty and Amos Meland. She didn't find out she was adopted until she was 10 when her adoptive parents told her she was adopted and somewhere had a brother. And then by accident she ran across her adoption papers which for some reason listed her real parents. Her curiosity was aroused.

When she was 21 her curiosity was sufficiently aroused to lead her to begin to search for her real family. Her adoptive family supported her decision to look for her real family but would not help her search. She had no way of knowing then that it would take almost 17 years to complete most of her search.

In 1969 she wrote a letter to Action Line, a newspaper service which helped people solve problems like hers. Within six months she found her brother, Raymond Stokes. The reason they found each other so fast, Mary

Snowmobiling Couples Promote Sport

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Enthusiasm for snowmobiling is personified in two couples from Mosinee, WI, who have become the self-appointed ambassadors of good will for family snowmobiling. They have selected Arctic Cat snowmobiles as their preferred machines and sought out company approval for their efforts on behalf of the sport as family activity.

Harlan Mannigel, Dick Smith and their wives Bev and Shirley were in Thief River Falls Monday to pick up four 1987 model Arctic Cat El Tigre snowmobiles for the coming year. Arctco provides them with the machines at a discount and offers encouragement and support, but the Smiths and Mannigels are not employed by Arctco.

"Each of us rides a snowmobile about 4,000 miles a year," Harlan explained, "and we think it's about the greatest recreation anybody can have. We really want to build good will for the sport and we chose Arctic Cat because we like the machines they build and their attitude toward family snowmobiling."

It was in 1985 at Cable, WI, when Harlan approached Dave Thompson of the Arctco staff and suggested some sort of alliance. Many hours of phone conversations and planning with Arctco officials, including Ole Tweet and Joel Hallstrom, have led to the official formation of "The Trail Seekers" and a schedule of eight events the group will attend this season.

"Most snowmobile companies have been more heavily involved in racing and activity geared toward that phase of snowmobiling," Tweet said. "The Trail Seekers are riders who can hold their own on the trails but are geared to a more leisurely pace and some of the creature comforts that snowmobilers need no longer be deprived of having. It is an area that we agree needs to have more emphasis."

"We want to advocate more long distance riding for women," Harland Mannigel said. "With the comfort and dependability of today's sleds it is no macho thing to travel a good distance by snowmobile and therefore no excuse to let the wives sit at home. Bring them along and let them in on the fun. They can handle it."

"But don't give the wife a hand-me-down sled," Bev Mannigel chimed in, "and expect her to perform the way you can on a new one. Get her a machine that's comparable and you won't have to look around to see how she's doing; she will probably be out in front of you."

Neither Bev nor Shirley were snowmobiling enthusiasts before they were married. But both have been riding for a number of years and have had their own new machines each year for several years.

"My first introduction to snowmobiling wasn't all that pleasant," Bev confided. "Harlan forgot to tell me he had to pull the rope to start it and I caught his elbow on the nose on the first pull. As I picked myself up and stood there bleeding, he told me, 'Come on, get on, we gotta get going!' It has been much better lately, believe me."

All the Trail Seekers have been willing to experiment with several types of snowmobiles. Harlan, for instance, has had 27 different machines. Dick and his wife have had more than a couple dozen in their family. All are convinced that today's machines are vastly improved over

ARCTCO, INC
Home of the Cat

"THE TRAIL SEEKERS" is the name adopted by this group of snowmobilers from Mosinee, WI, whose objective is to promote the family and social aspects of snowmobiling. The two couples (left to right, Harlan Mannigel, Dick Smith, Shirley Smith and Bev Mannigel) are primarily self-supporting in their efforts and are not company sponsored, although they chose Arctic Cat snowmobiles and Arctco Incorporated for affiliation. Arctco allows a discount on their snowmobiles and encourages their efforts. This is the third year the group will be promoting family snowmobiling and they were in Thief River Falls Monday to pick up four 1987 model El Tigre snowmobiles.

Society and Clubs

Vows Exchanged August 16 By Kathleen Kjos-William Coit

Kathleen Marie Kjos and William Roger Coit were united in the sacrament of matrimony August 16 at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city. Rev. Dave Super officiated at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Lucille Kjos of this city and the late Herman C. Kjos, and Mr. and Mrs. William Coit, Englevale, ND.

Organist was Christie Flatland, and soloist, Lora Dusek. Both are friends of the couple. Processional was "Canon in D," with vocal selections of "Time For Joy" as prelude and "Wedding Song" as the couple lit the unity candle. Eileen Geske provided piano selections.

Two large lighted candelabra, along with a floral arrangement of white and orchid gladioli and greenery in memory of the bride's father, decorated the altar. Pews were adorned with orchid and white bows.

Lector at the service was Beverly Reinertson, aunt of the bride. The bride's cousin, Wade Sabol, served as banner carrier, and friends, Mary Smolinski and Nancy Howenchild, distributed programs to the guests. Diane Angermeier, cousin of the bride; and Bonnie Preszler and Sandi Thies, both friends of the bride, were her personal attendants.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Brian Kjos, Chicago, IL. She wore a white taffeta gown with a Queen Anne neckline and lace and pearl-trimmed, closely fitting bodice leading to a basque waist with 35 pearl buttons accenting the back. Shirred leg-o-mutton sleeves were trimmed with lace and pearl buttons matching those on the bodice back. A full, gathered skirt flowed to a chapel-length train. To compliment her gown, the bride wore her mother's wedding pearls and earrings. Her bridal hat was fashioned of Chantilly lace and trimmed with pearls matching those on her gown, with an illusion net veil and blusher falling from the back. Her bridal bouquet was composed of white and orchid roses, babies' breath and greenery, with trailing white satin ribbon streamers.

Kristine Kjos, the bride's sister, served as her maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Katy Kinsman, friend, and Paula Kjos, sister of the bride, both of Thief River Falls; Valerie Coit, sister of the groom, Englevale, ND; and Greta Kjos, cousin of the bride, River Falls, WI. Their dresses were of orchid taffeta featuring a sweetheart neckline with deep V back and self fabric bow, and short, gathered sleeves. The close-fitting bodice and basque waist topped a full, gathered skirt. They wore wreaths of orchid and white flowers and babies' breath in their hair, and pearl necklaces, their gifts from the bride. They carried bouquets in wedding colors of orchid and white.

Misty Coit, Aitkin niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a long, white, dotted Swiss gown with orchid sash, and a wreath of orchid and white flowers in her hair. Her golden locket necklace was a gift from the bride. Michelle Coit and Bridget Coit, nieces of the groom, were rose carriers.

The groom wore white tails with orchid bow tie and cummerbund, and a boutonniere of orchid and white rosebuds, greenery and babies' breath.

His best man was a friend, Brian Anderson, Minneapolis. Other attendants were his brother, Rory Coit, and Terry Bachman, Englevale, ND, Dale Wick, Fergus Falls, and Dean Anderson, Clinton, all friends. They wore black tails with orchid bow tie and cummerbund. Serving as ushers were Richard Coit, Pierre, SD, and Jeff Coit, Carrington, ND, both brothers of the groom; and Doug Henke, Red Lake Falls, and Marty Anderson, Minneapolis, both friends of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length gown of pale blue, with a full, belted skirt and long sleeves. The groom's mother was attired in a soft yellow gown. Their corsages were white and orchid rosebuds, greenery and babies' breath. Flowers for the wedding were designed and fashioned by Diane Angermeier, cousin of the bride.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kjos, Thief River Falls, grandparents of the bride; Edward Rasmusson, grandfather of the groom; and Julia Nicholls, the bride's godmother.

A dinner reception was held in the church hall for the guests after the ceremony, given by the mother of the bride. Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sabol, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Nealand Coit, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

A three-tiered orchid and white wedding cake highlighted the serving table, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake featured bridal stairs with miniatures of the wedding party leading to adjoining cakes and a flowing fountain at the base. Julia Nicholls, aunt of the bride, and Arlene Rufsvold, aunt of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake. Lee and Kay Kjos, aunt and uncle of the bride, poured, and wine was served by Mike Kjos, Mark Hjelle, and Scott Sabol, cousins of the bride, and friends of the couple, Bob Kinsman and Don Walloch.

Jennifer Kjos, cousin of the bride, and Patty Kinsman, friend of the couple were in charge of the gifts. Marcy and Lisa Coit, sisters-in-law of the groom, registered the guests. Punch was served to the guests by Alex Heiser and Beka Wollenzien, friends of the couple. Flower attendants were Deb Dallmann, Johna Schlenker and Cheryl Kreisien, all friends of the couple. Waitresses were Julie Hayes, Tanya Schob, Dawn Schob, and Alanna Altepeter, all of Thief River Falls.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from River Falls, WI; Grand Forks, Englevale and Carrington, ND; Revenna, NE; Chicago, IL; Tucson, AZ; Pierre, SD; Walnut Grove, CA; and Eagen, Minneapolis, Warren, Red Lake Falls and Crookston.

After their wedding trip to Tucson, AZ, the couple is at home at 3401 N. Columbus Blvd, Unit 23-G, Tucson, AZ where the bride is a school of law student at the University of Arizona and the groom is employed as a television news photographer. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Moorhead state university, and the groom of Verona high school and Moorhead state university.

Home Study Groups Forming For 1986-87

Extension home study groups are forming for the 1986-87 program year. Home study groups meet on a monthly basis to learn new information about many topics related to Extension home economics. Some topics scheduled for this year include "Cooking With Less Fat," "Children and Money," "Stress Management" and "Are You Listening?"

In Marshall county, home study groups are divided geographically, east and west. Groups meet monthly at a time and location convenient to the members.

The East Council met in Holt September 3 to discuss issues for the year. Annual banquet was discussed with two possible dates under consideration. Also, programs for Middle River and Grygla are being changed to second-Tuesdays. Officers elected for the year include president, Carol Benitt; vice president, Bette Peterson; secretary-treasurer, Marge Bakke; and historian, Nathalia Orpen.

Membership in home study groups is open to all interested adults. To join an existing club or start a new one, contact any of the above officers or the Marshall county extension service at 745-5232.

Kristen Joy Sook Mestery Baptized September 7

Kristen Joy Sook, infant daughter of Don and June Mestery, was baptized at Redeemer Lutheran church September 7 with Rev. Luther Anderson officiating. Kathy Bousu composed and sang "Our Child" in honor of Kristen's baptism.

Sponsors were Kristen's aunt from Winnipeg, Judy Marscella, Marlys and Francis Anderson and Al and Orlette Gjerde.

Kristen was born Apr. 23, 1986, in Seoul, Korea. She arrived at her home in Thief River Falls July 22 at the age of three months and was welcomed home by her brothers, Kyle and Brent, and sister, Megan.

There will also be a display table with pictures from the past. Everyone is welcome to attend. For rides call the church office at 681-1310.

St. Hilaire Library Reports Fun-Filled Summer Schedule

Director Bonnie L. Cota reports a busy summer at the Community Memorial library in St. Hilaire. An open house was held August 22, with refreshments served and fresh floral arrangements provided by Myra Nessland. The next meeting of the Community Memorial library will be held September 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the library.

In June, Mrs. Myra Nessland of Oklee came to the library to serve as librarian, and was at the library three days each week throughout the summer. She held a story hour every Thursday for younger children, and held a reading contest for students in grades four through seven. A six-week summer recreation program was held by the community education department in June and July, sponsored by the St. Hilaire Lions club. Twenty-three children attended the sessions, enjoying arts, crafts games and field trips.

Reading contest prizes were awarded for participation to Angela Hasnedl, Cristi Cota, Lisa Swenson, Diane Erickson, Alecia Bernier and Shannon Ratliff; second place Pizza Hut gift certificates were awarded to Branden Nelson as fourth and fifth grade winner reading 11 books, and to Toni Benson, sixth and seventh grade winner with 13 books.

First place winners were Margaret Meyers, fourth and fifth grade winner with 13 books, and Chandra Nelson, sixth and seventh grade winner with 52 books.

Bonnie said she especially wished to thank Jane Mackenroth of the Community Education department, teachers of the summer recreation program, Mrs. Myra Nessland, city clerk Jill Overbye and the St. Hilaire Lions club for helping the library have a very successful summer, and asks everyone to drop by the Community Memorial library of St. Hilaire.

School Election Filings To Open On September 22

The school board at its last meeting agreed to purchase the property located at 223 Zeh st. W. and enter into an agreement with Flynn Realty for management of the property.

Sue Kotz, representing a newly-organized group of parents of elementary students, reported on activities of the organization and noted that a get-acquainted open house had been scheduled for September 29 at Northrop and Knox schools and September 30 at Mark Twain and Washington schools. All of the sessions will be from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

A policy on building level management was approved as presented and discussion held concerning policy on student discipline. Draft of a new board member orientation program was also presented for discussion and review.

A bargaining team headed by Paul Bortnem as chairman and including Harry Sjulson and Archie Cameron was named to negotiate with the teacher bargaining unit.

Resignations were accepted from Claudia Nielsen, health occupations instructor; Scott Revier, agriculture instructor at Lincoln; David C. Peterson, assistant high school hockey coach; Pat Johnson, Lincoln drama director; and Denise Larson, kitchen helper at Franklin.

Hired were Michelle Geske, pool director; Vicki Lindberg, substitute secretary at Lincoln; Kathy Newumann, ushers advisor; and Sheryl Novacek, yearbook advisor. Lorie Shuck was employed as AVTI drafting instructor from Aug. 28, 1986 through May 25, 1987.

Lane changes were approved for 156 faculty members who have upgraded their educational experience prior to the beginning of the 1986-87 school year.

A special meeting of the board was scheduled for Saturday, September 27, at 9 a.m. at the Best Western inn to review community data and continue the process of developing mission and goal statements for the district. Next regular meeting will be September 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the school district service center.

The INSIDE SCOOP
by GAYLE BORCHERT

One of the main activities last week at Lincoln was the distribution of yearbooks. Michelle Kertz was editor of the yearbook, and Lynda Jochims was advisor. They are titled "Yesterday, Today," and feature photographs of the first classes and sports teams that were at Lincoln.

After the yearbooks were picked up, a signing party was held. The 1986-87 yearbooks are currently in the design stages. Twyla Svendsgaard is the chief editor and Mrs. Novacek is the advisor. Other people involved include Kay Kainz, copy editor; Lisa Erickson, page design editor; Pam Maki, sports editor; Michaun Johnson, photo editor; and Jeff Garske, business manager. Melissa Tripp and Wayne Borsheim are two more of the returning staff members.

This week's column will be the start of our interviews with new teachers and students from Lincoln.

NEW TEACHER, Miss Angie Sinn

Miss Sinn is a new mathematics teacher at Lincoln. A native of Thief River Falls, she attended and graduated from Lincoln high and Northland community college. After Northland she went to Bemidji state university where she majored in mathematics and minored in computer science. She also holds a coaching certificate which she uses as head middle school girls track coach, and assistant girls and boys swimming coach. During the summer she works at the beach and enjoys playing softball and volleyball.

In the winter she is active on a bowling team. Her hobbies include crocheting, knitting and baking. Teaching is nothing new for Miss Sinn; before beginning at Lincoln she taught computers at Franklin middle school for two years.

NEW STUDENT, Terri Grove

Terri moved here from Red Lake Falls last May. She had lived in Red Lake Falls all her life before that. She is currently employed at McDonald's where she started in June. Her hobbies include biking, reading, listening to music and dancing. In Red Lake Falls she participated in a program called HEART. This stands for Home Economics and Related Training. Terri really likes Lincoln. She also said she has met many new, and friendly people.

This week's activites

September 15 — Junior varsity football (at EGF);

September 16 — Girls volleyball (at EGF); Girls swimming (home); Girls tennis (at Detroit Lakes); Cross Country (at Bagley);

September 18 — Girls tennis (home); Cross Country (at Detroit Lakes);

September 19 — Varsity Football (at Valley City); High school dance (sponsored by German Club);

September 20 — Girls swimming (at Fargo).

Conservation Programs May Be Mandatory

regulations are in effect now. Ferren emphasized, however, that "Many, many more farmers are going to be affected by the cross-compliance provision of the farm bill. That provision applies to anyone farming highly erodible land. It states that anyone farming highly erodible land has until January 1, 1990 to develop and begin to apply a SCS developed conservation plan. The landowner will have until January 1, 1995 to have the conservation plan fully implemented.

A conservation plan will require the landowners to reduce soil erosion to tolerable levels. The tolerable soil loss level in Minnesota, often referred to as "T", is generally from two to five tons of soil loss per are per year.

SCS and other USDA agencies are encouraging farmers to bid highly erodible land into the federal conservation reserve, another USDA program established by the 1985 farm bill. In that program, landowners are paid annual rental fees by USDA for converting highly erodible cropland to grassland or planting trees. Minnesota has 1.9 million acres of highly erodible land that are eligible for the conservation reserve program.

According to Ferren, state conservationist, of the 1.9 million acres eligible for the CRP, 35 per cent of the land is enrolled. Presently there are 7,308 landowners and-or operators participating in the CRP.

Nationally, for the third signup, USDA officials in Minnesota said that Minnesota ranked first in total number of farms bid into the CRP; first in the number of acceptable bids; third in total cost (dollars coming into Minnesota) of the CRP; and fourth in total acres accepted into the CRP. Only Texas, Colorado and Kansas have enrolled more acres into CRP than Minnesota.

The 1985 Farm bill provisions require that a farmer take care of his land if he wants to receive loans, price supports, disaster payments, crop insurance and participate in other USDA programs.

"Though we and other USDA agencies are still working with interim rules, we still want to do the best we can to be sure farmers and others understand what is being required for cross-compliance. We know this is coming, and the last thing we want is 50,000 Minnesota farmers on our doorstep in 1989 asking for a conservation plan so they can remain eligible for other USDA programs," Ferren said.

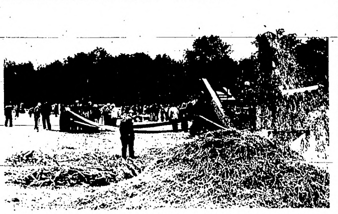
Farmers who fail to comply with the conservation compliance, sodbuster or swampbuster provisions will be excluded from the following programs: price and income supports; disaster payments; crop insurance; Farmers home administration loans and guaranteed loans; commodity credit corporation storage payments; farm storage security; and other programs in which USDA offers payments related to commodity production, including the conservation reserve.

For more information about the 1985 farm bill provisions or about the USDA's CRP, contact any of the following offices: Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Soil Conservation Service, Federal Crop Insurance corporation, Farmers Home Administration, or the Minnesota department of natural resources, forestry and wildlife divisions.

Hamre Employed In Graphic Arts

Perry Hamre, a recent Moorhead state university graduate from Thief River Falls, has accepted a position in graphic arts with American Life Insurance of Fargo, ND. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hamre, he is a 1981 graduate of Lincoln high school and received a degree in industrial illustration at MSU.

SENIORS attending the "Friends and Neighbors" outreach day at the nutrition center in Northwest Medical center on Friday enjoyed a special program prior to a dinner of salmon loaf, parslied potatoes, mixed vegetables and cherry crisp. The program featured Jan Peterson soloist and Ed Leiran doing a reading entitled "Shh. . .! The Wife is Speaking," which was enjoyed by all. Peggy Brown, Ann Irvin, Evelyn Homewood and Sigmi Sevre also performed a skit promoting the meals and the new center. Morris Howick, Ed Sisler and Jon Metusalem also spoke briefly about the new Heritage community center.



NORTHLAND STEAM threshing bee—the annual threshing bee at Strathcona, was bigger and better than ever on Sunday. Shown here is an advance Rumely threshing machine powered by a Rumely oil pull tractor. The crowds, who braved a chilly day, were treated to numerous demonstrations and antique farm machinery displays and working exhibits.

Mary Anne Linder Continues Search For Relatives

said, was because her brother had been looking for her and a file had been created with his letters, which could not be released until she was 21 and wanted to find her family.

In July of 1969 the brother and sister were reunited. "It was the best reunion. You can't imagine what it was like to see someone that looks like you and that you weren't sure existed. We talked, cried, compared toes, finger nails and childhood diseases," Mary Anne said emotionally.

Her brother, Raymond Stokes of Louisville, KY, was able to answer many of the questions she had. He explained that he had been raised by her real dad's sister in Louisville, KY, but she was put up for adoption from what Mary would only explain as a bad situation. He was able to provide her with information about her dad's family. Her father, an ex-boxer named Kid Schmeltz, had died the year before she was put up for adoption in 1952.

It helped but did not answer the nagging questions about her mother that followed her, but all she had was her mother's name, Marcella Clark. She didn't discover anything new until 1980. She dug through everything she could find but with a family name like Clark it was a difficult chore. When she sent for her brother's birth certificate she found out that her mother had been born in Nelson county, Kentucky, finally a lead to follow.

Emotionally, she was ready to give up at this point, but her good friend, Karen Longtin, also of Plummer, persuaded her to keep looking. One night she decided to do some calling. On her first call she contacted a second cousin who referred her to a first cousin and he in turn referred her to her mother's sister. Though happy to hear from her, at no time did any of them discuss her mother.

Her mother's sister, Nellie Boon, was so much in shock that she referred her to another of her mother's sisters, Mary Carolyn. Mary Carolyn carefully explained that her mother had died two years earlier.

"You can't imagine how much that hurt after looking for so many years only to find out that she had died not too long ago," Mary Anne said.

Over the past few years Mary Anne exchanged letters with her brother and Mary Carolyn but she was determined to visit her blood relations. On September 2 of this year she screwed up her courage and finally realized her dreams. They weren't easy to achieve and weren't without a lot of mental anguish, creating questions like — "will they like me, what do they look like, and what am I getting myself into?"

Mary Ann is now 38, married to Ronald Linder who works for the American Crystal Sugar company in Crookston, and has three children, Kristina, a senior at Plummer high school, Eric, a junior at Plummer high school, and Eron, an eighth grade student. Mary Anne works at Sears in Thief River Falls. Her brother Raymond is 44 and lives in Louisville, KY, with his wife Mary Lou and two boys and one daughter where he is a courier.

During the time she spent with her relatives they held a family reunion or at least it seemed that way. Her Aunt Mary has nine children and her Aunt Nellie Boon has 14 children and 30 grandchildren, many of whom came to the reunion. She also visited many places in the area where her family once lived.

She said it went much better than she dreamed. When her great uncle told her she looked like her mother she cried. When they laughed she laughed because they all sounded like the same family. She said she took over 75 pictures to remember her family and add to her family tree which now stretches back five generations, and did a lot of crying. Mary said she did more crying when it was time to leave, but she left with a lot of new friends and another family.

During her search Mary Anne discovered that she had a sister who died at an early age and has a half-sister she hasn't been able to locate. She continues to search.

Deaths And Funerals

Axel Stark, 86

Thief River Falls — Funeral services were held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Belmont Funeral home for Axel Stark, 86, who died Tuesday evening at Northwest Medical center.

Rev. Gary Moore, pastor of Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire, officiated at the service. Organist was Mrs. Arnold Hammer and vocalists were Melvin Swenson and Solveig Swenson, rendering selection of "Den Store Vide Flok" and "Under His Wings."

Frank Dobias, Earl Swenson, Merle Rafteseth, Alfred Jensen, Rubert Wolfgram and Clarence Fromm served as pallbearers. Interment was in Riverside cemetery, with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Axel Stark was born Sept. 19, 1899, in Pennington county, son of Nels and Christina Anderson Stark. He grew up in Sanders township where he farmed until 1981, when he entered the CNC unit of Northwest Medical center.

Survivors include three nieces, Alice Erickson, Lockport, IL, Wanda Eneboe, Seattle, WA, and Shirley Erickson, Duluth. Axel Stark was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers and three sisters.

Frances Janousek, 71

Greenbush — Funeral services for Frances Janousek were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Aloysius Catholic church in Leo. Frances Janousek died September 6 at the United hospital in Grand Forks, ND, at the age of 71.

Rev. Ray Palcisko officiated at the mass, and pallbearers were Gene Janousek, Gale Hanson, Greg Pulczinski, George Chyle, Arlen McDonald, and Emil Tomasek, with friends attending the service considered honorary bearers.

Interment was in the church cemetery. The Collins Funeral home of Greenbush was in charge of arrangements. A prayer service was held Tuesday evening at the funeral home.

Frances Stella Janousek, daughter of John and Stella Blazek, was born Oct. 1, 1914, near Greenbush. She attended school and grew to womanhood in that community, and was baptized and confirmed in the Catholic faith.

Oct. 27, 1936, she was united in marriage to Frank Janousek at Leo. After their marriage, the couple puchased the former Theodore Haug farm in Soler township of Roseau county, near Greenbush, and farmed there for many years.

Frank Janousek died in March of 1977, and she continued to make her home on the farm. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic church of Leo, and of the Holy Rosary society.

Frances Janousek is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Adrian (Marlene) Pulczinski, Greenbush; two sons, Leonard and Ernest, both of Greenbush; 10 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; one sister, Mary Kukowski, Greenbush; and several nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, parents and two brothers in infancy.

John Hamilton, 55

Las Vegas, NV—John Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Hamilton of this city, died Thursday at his home in Las Vegas at the age of 55, having suffered from multiple sclerosis for some time. Memorial services will be held in the Green Funeral home chapel Wednesday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Josh Nelson officiating.

Organist at the service will be Dorothy Larson, with LeRoy Aasland singing. Military honors will be accorded by the Thief River Falls American Legion and VFW posts. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery, with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

John Hamilton was born Oct. 27, 1930, in Thief River Falls, to Art and Mildred Engen Hamilton. He attended school here and Breck Military academy in Minneapolis. In 1947, he joined the Navy and was discharged in 1951, then working for the U.S. government and later in the family store in Thief River Falls. He also worked in the Twin Cities area, Louisville, KY, Los Angeles, CA, and Las Vegas, NV.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; two sons, Patrick, Bloomington, and Michael, Denver, CO; a daughter, Mrs. Jim (Beth) Enge, Owatonna; three grandchildren; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art (Mildred) Hamilton, Thief River Falls; one sister, Mrs. Kenneth (Kathleen) Wedul, Seal Beach, CA; and one brother, Paul, of Bloomington.

Oliver "Cy" Mattson, 83

Warren — Oliver "Cy" Mattson, 83, died Thursday at the Warren hospital after a long illness. Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at First Lutheran church in Warren with Rev. David Christensen officiating.

Organist was Chrystal Hendrickson, with Iner V. Johnson as soloist, rendering musical selections of, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save," "How Great Thou Art," "Children of the Heavenly Father" and "A Mighty Fortress." Inerment was in Greenwood cemetery, Warren, with the Quanrud Funeral home of that city in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Marshall county fair board members, William Crow, Wilfred Johnson, R. H. Quanrud, Art Knutson, F. C. Larson, Vernon Olson, Cliff Stafslien, Reynold Erickson and Robert Graham. Serving as active bearers were Craig Nelson, Keith Nelson, John P. Mattson, Kendall Mattson, Edward Turn and Dr. W. L. Lamb.

Oliver M. "Cy" Mattson was born July 12, 1903, at Warren, the son of John P. and Josephine Oberg Mattson. He graduated from Warren high school in 1922, and attended Gustavus Adolphus college for two years and then the University of Minnesota for one year, returning to Warren in 1925 to assume the managing editorship of the Warren Sheaf from his father. July 2, 1932, he married Esther Jorgenson in Moorhead.

He was editor of the Sheaf until 1984, and was active in community and state affairs during this time. He was a member of the Marshall county fair board for 53 years, serving as president for 38 years and secretary prior to that time, was president of the Minnesota Federation of county fairs for two years and a member of the Minnesota state automobile association for 12 years.

He was an officer of the Marshall county Republican party, member of the Marshall county historical society board of governors and an officer of that organization, master of the Warren Masonic Lodge, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, and served on the First Lutheran church council.

He was Marshall county war bond chairman during World War II, a member of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity and he and his brother, Edgar, received the Warren Chamber of Commerce Builder of the Year award in 1980.

Oliver Mattson is survived by his wife; daughter, Mrs. Clement (Marlys June) Nelson, St. Paul, three grandchildren, Craig Nelson, St. Paul, Keith Nelson, Glenville, and Carol, a freshman at Gustavus Adolphus college; brother, Edgar N. Mattson, Warren; and nieces and nephews, E. Neil Mattson, Warren, Mrs. William (Mary Ann) Hanson, Sun City, AZ, Clarence W. Mattson and Robert Mattson, Thief River Falls, Mrs. John (Imogene) Nuoci, Westminister, Co, Mrs. Harlan (Beatta) Knatvold, Edmond, OK, Donovan Mattson, Nampa, ID, John Mattson, Lyons, CO, Warren Schoen, Ortonville, and Mrs. Claude (Barbara) Fassani, Reno, NV.

He was preceded in death by his parents and seven brothers and sisters, Alice and Astrid, who died in infancy, Alvin E., Lilly Schoen, Edith, C. Waldemar and Adolph W.

BROOKS . . .

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Berberich to help their son, Jason, celebrate his 8th birthday were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roman Kostrzewski and Sherryl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berberich, an aunt, Mrs. Anita Capp and family of Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. David Kostrzewski and son Josuah of Stephen.

Among those who attended the Red Lake county aging group held in the senior citizen hall in Plummer on Tuesday were Mrs. Veronica Boucher, Agnes Robidoux and Pearl Laniel. Agnes turned in her resignation as she is moving away.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burthwick of Red Lake Falls were Saturday guests of her mother, Mrs. Lillian Hince.

A birthday party was held on Friday after school in honor of Jason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Berberich, with friends Jess and Brad Determan, Travis and Jacob Larson, Chris and Jennie Morinville and Tara Berberich to help him celebrate his birthday. Games were played with prizes, and pizza, ice cream and cake was served in the closing of the party. Happy birthday, Jason.

Dear Readers,

Today's funeral service has evolved through the years as a result of man's instinctive wish to give tribute to the deceased. It embraces the customs, hopes and ideals, the religious precepts of our society. It is affected by government laws and regulations. It involves religious, social, fraternal, civic, and military organizations. Funeral service is an essential element in the American way of life.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

TONI GILLMAN, veteran Broadway and Hollywood movie and television actress, bears a remarkable resemblance to Eleanor Roosevelt in her highly acclaimed role as star in the upcoming production, "Eleanor: a celebration."

Artists' Series At NCC Begins With Eleanor Roosevelt

Toni Gillma, veteran actress in the Northland community college Artists' Series' upcoming play, "Eleanor: a celebration," says she finds it "challenging, nostalgic and a sheer delight" to portray the former first Lady, Eleanor Roosevelt. The play, to be presented Saturday, September 20, 8 p.m. at Northland community college theatre, has received positive reviews and standing ovations in its tours in the Midwest.

"I became acquainted with Eleanor in 1957 when we appeared together on a series of ABC television shows," the actress reminiscences. "I have never understood why she referred to herself as an ugly duckling. Love, warmth and good humor radiated from her. She is perhaps the most gracious lady I have ever met and, yes, one of the most beautiful."

In preparation for the part, Toni Gillman read many books written by and about Mrs. Roosevelt, carefully researched clothes and hair styles as well as newspapers and magazines of the time. She insists on portraying her as a wife and mother, as Mrs. Roosevelt saw herself, not as the celebrity the world remembers so well.

"She was a humble woman who never wanted to be the First Lady," Miss Gillman says, "because she knew in advance that living in the White House could have an adverse effect on her children. Yet she faithfully filled the role when it was obvious she must."

A veteran of dozens of Broadway shows, films and television series, Toni Gillman couldn't resist the opportunity to play the role. She and her playwright husband, Gordon Davis, who was commissioned to write "Eleanor: a celebration," had left Hollywood to escape what they call "the madness of the big cities" and live in quiet retirement of Cloquet.

A professional actress all her life, she was born into a fifth generation theatrical family, making her Broadway debt when she was 12 in "Let Freedom Ring" with the late Will Geer of "the Waltons." In 10 Broadway shows she appeared with Jackie Gleason, Joan Caulfield, Imogene Coca, Henny Youngman, Betty Furness and Celeste Holm. Her appearances on the popular TV soap opera, "Days Of Our Lives," had been preceded years back by the many child roles she played in radio's most famous soaps: "Little Orphan Annie," "Women In White," "Ma Perkins," "Young Widder Brown" and "Backstage Wife" among others. She appeared regularly in radio with Humphrey Bogart, Miriam Hopkins, Fredric March, Spencer Tracy, Myrna Loy and William Powell.

But the role of Mrs. Roosevelt represents to her the high point of a long career. "She was truly a great woman," Toni says. "When she shook your hand and asked how you were, you knew she was really interested. I hope I do justice to the most remarkable woman I have ever known."

Tickets for the play are $7.50 for adults and $4 for students and are available at Larson Music Co. and the NCC theatre deparment. They will also be available at the door prior to performance.

This event is co-sponsored by the Northland community college foundation and Northland community college.

"The Woman in the White House" by Marianne Means.

Couples Promote Snowmobiling As Family Sport

the models of even five years ago.

"Every year I fall in love with my snowmobile," Bev Mannigel said, "and the next year it happens all over again. We never really give a second thought to starting out on a trip because the machines are so dependable. Any woman who tried and gave up on snowmobiling a few years ago because of the machines deserves to get on a new one. It's a whole new experience and a very delightful one."

The greatest distance the couples have traveled in a day is somewhere over 200 miles, and Harlan logged 384 miles on one day's jaunt. But they don't rush it and they don't rough it; they try to make it enjoyable.

"That means that we carry everything we need for a week in our saddlebags," Dick Smith said. "We have learned how and what to pack so that isn't any problem. We stay at good motels with nice rooms, nice people and good food. Our snowmobiles are equipped with hand warmers, thumb warmers and mirrors and our helmets are equipped with 'Defroggers' which plug into the snowmobile and keep face masks clear much like a rear window de-fogger on a car."

But they take conditions on the trail as they come and don't let a little harsh weather bother them. "One day it was 42 degrees below with a wind chill of 103 below zero so we only rode about 120 miles that day," Harlan laughed.

This year the Trail Seekers will attend the snowmobile show in Oconomowoc, WI, October 31, November 1 and 2, then rest up until December 12, 13 and 14 when the Hurley (WI) rally is held. From December 27 through January 1 they will be involved with the Taconite Trail ride and from January 9 through 11 will be at Rhinelander, WI.

January 16, 17 and 18 they will promote snowmobiling at the Tip Up Town festival in Michigan, then head out for Thunder Bay, Ont., where they will serve as the advance group for the Thunder Bay to St. Paul cross country race. They will ride the trail a day ahead of the racers and report back on conditions.

On February 3-11 they will travel to Valcourt, Quebec and on February 13-15 will be at the AWSC convention. Most of the time they will ride from their homes in Mosinee to the events by snowmobile, promoting along the way. When time does not permit that mode of travel, they will trailer sleds part way and ride the remainder.

Needless to say, the Smiths and Mannigels are hooked on snowmobiling and the social activity and camaraderie it provides. They encourage others to sample the fun and excitement they have experienced. "Don't just sit there," they said. "Get on it!"

Sign-up For RIM Reserve Program To Begin Sept. 29

Official sign-up period for the Reinvest in Minnesota (RIM) reserve program will begin September 29 and continue through October 10.

Farmers interested in enrolling marginal farmland under RIM reserve may do so at their local Soil and Water Conservation district office. Farmers should bring along information on the total amount of land they own in Minnesota, and the 1981 through 1985 cropping history of the land they wish to enroll.

The purpose of RIM Reserve is to reduce critical soil erosion, improve water quality and enhance fish and wildlife habitat throughout the state by retiring marginal croplands from agricultural production.

In addition to payments for easements, approved landowners will receive up to $75 an acre to establish a perennial grass-legume or native grass cover on enrolled land. An additional $75 an acre will be provided for tree planting as required by the agreement. All enrolled land will be restricted from crop production, alteration of wildlife habitat, grazing, and spraying with chemicals or mowing, except where necessary to comply with noxious weed control laws.

Minnesota Soil and Water Conservation board (SWCB) has announced several actions formalizing the start-up of the 1986 Reinvest in Minnesota reserve program.

In recent meetings, the SWCB approved emergency rules, land values for perpetual easements and conservation practice specifications for enrolled lands. Approved cover includes grass and legume mixture or native prairie species or either of these in combination with trees and other fish and wildlife habitat practices.

In a recent meeting, the SWCB also established a seven per cent discount rate and county-based payment amounts for 10-year RIM reserve easements.

County RIM reserve screening committees have also been farmers to develop local conservation priorities, review RIM reserve applications and recommend acres for enrollment. With the board actions, the screening committees, chaired by the local soil and water conservation districts can complete preparations for the enrollment period, expected to begin in late September.

Local districts are currently being notified about which type of soil will qualify farmland for the RIM reserve, so interested farmers can be notified about which of their acres are eligible for the program.

The RIM reserve, a portion of the Reinvest in Minnesota resources act of 1986, provides $9.4 million for conservation easements on marginal agricultural land. Easement acres will be used to control soil erosion and protect water quality be being planted to wildlife habitat.

WHIRLING SAWBLADE quickly turned logs into lumber at the Northland steam threshing bee in Strathcona Sunday. This was just one of many working exhibits at the event now in its 22nd year.

Kids Week Events In Newfolden Called Successful

Events sponsored by the Marshall County Central Women of Today in conjunction with National Kids' Week were a big success, according to Barb Harstad, president. About 100 children attended the free movie night, while 115 attended a teen dance in Newfolden.

The city of Newfolden allowed the WOT to have "movie night" at the community center. Children viewed two movies, played games and were served popcorn and soft drinks.

Sunday night's dance featured music by disc jockeys from Thief River Falls and Ron Kragness, owner of the Hobo Haus, donated the use of his building in Newfolden for the dance. Londa Moen, Newfolden, won the dance contest and received a gift certificate. Deb Davidson served as chairman of Kids' Week activities.

CATARACTS

Cataracts are one of the most common causes of loss of vision. They cause a gradual loss of vision, making it difficult to focus well, and often cause problems in bright light. They can occur at any age, but are more common the older we are. Many people think that a cataract is a film growing over the eye, but actually a cataract is a clouding of the natural, living human lens inside the eye. When the lens clouds over, we call it a cataract. No one knows for sure what causes a cataract, but they are more common with aging, and with years of exposure to the sun. They can also be seen after an injury.

Fortunately, modern surgery enables us to safely remove a cataract, and replace it with an implant lens, to restore good vision in the great majority of cases. We no longer have to wait until a cataract is "ripe", surgery can be done when vision is blurred for everyday activities such as reading or driving. Nowadays an overnight stay in the hospital is not required, and patients are back to their normal routine in a short time.

Head Librarian Chosen For TRF Branch Library

Deanna Swanson

Deanna Swanson has recently been hired as the new Thief River Falls branch librarian. She replaces Alyce Pollick who resigned to begin a career in Minneapolis in jewelry retail.

Mrs. Swanson has a bachelor of science degree from Bemidji state university in elementary education. She lives with her husband Roy in Warren. They have two children.

Deanna, who has always been active, is currently involved in the American Legion auxiliary and serves as president of her local Lutheran church women group—As branch librarian for the Thief River Falls public library, which is the headquarters library of the Northwest regional library system, Mrs. Swanson supervises all Thief River Falls library circulation operations and all Thief River Falls staff members.

She notes she is enjoying her job and comments, "Everybody's been very friendly and helpful." She invites everyone to drop in to the library, because she enjoys meeting and serving her patrons.

The Job Training Partnership Act is sharply focused on training with a legislatively mandated requirement that at least 70 per cent of all funds be used for this purpose, according to the U.S. Labor Department's annual report for fiscal year 1985.

Pork Producer Checkoff Will Start Nov. 1st

A federal order formally initiating the new 100 per cent national pork producers checkoff was published in the Federal Register on Friday, September 5. The publication officially sets in motion the events that will lead up to implementation of the new checkoff November 1.

Effective that date, all U.S. pork producers will be required to check off all classes of swine at the first point of sale, at a rate of no more than .25 per cent of value. Importers of hogs and pork producers will also participate in the uniform national checkoff.

The nation's pork producers have had a checkoff program for a number of years, but in most states it has been voluntary. The new checkoff is expected to initially generate approximately $16-$18 million annually, compared to the present $10 million. A referendum of all pork producers will be held 24 to 30 months after the new checkoff goes into effect. Until that referendum, pork producers will be entitled to a refund upon request. If the referendum is approved, no refund would be offered from that point on.

Publication of the pork order in the Federal Register paves the way for Secretary of Agriculutre Richard Lyng to officially notify producers of their appointment to the 160-member pork producers delegate body, elected in July at producer elections in each state. A letter to each elected delegate is expected to go out immediately.

The delegates will hold their first meeting Septembert 17-18 in Kansas City, MO. The delegates will have three main items on their agenda at that meeting: (1) Establish the new national checkoff rate, which by law may not initially exceed .25 per cent of one per cent of value, (2) establish a level of state funding (by law the return to states can be no less than 16.5 per cent of the funds collected in a state), and (3) nominate a minimum of 23 individuals for consideration to the national pork board. That 15-member board, to be appointed by the secretary of agriculture later this year, will have the responsibility of collecting the new producer checkoff and disbursing the funds.

Private Schools Plan Marathon For October 4th

Marathon for non-public schools in Thief River Falls will be conducted on Saturday, October 4, according to officials in charge of arranging the event.

The marathon includes a trash pick-up along 30 miles of highways in the Thief River Falls community with the public encouraged to pledge money toward each mile of road-side cleaned. Kick-off for the event was held last week and students are now seeking pledges toward the effort.

Non-public schools in Thief River Falls include St. Bernard's Catholic school, Our Saviour's Christian academy and the Seventh-day Adventist school. Each determines annually if it will participate in the marathon.

Independent Thinker Or Party Misfit?

Perhaps we shouldn't be too hard on Sen. Dave Durenberger whose news releases identify him as (R-Minn.), but we frequently wonder if both the R and the Minn. might not be at least slightly in error. Any federal elected official becomes more a resident of Washington than his or her home state, and Durenberger appears to come down more and more frequently on the liberal side of the tracks.

Consider the lead paragraphs of his two most recent news releases:

"The Reagan Administration's plan to resolve the Latin American debt crisis works against the goal of strengthening the region's fragile democracies, U.S. Senator Dave Durenberger (R-Minn.) said Wednesday."

"A Reagan Administration decision to increase Medicare payments to hospitals by 0.5 per cent next year 'will only throw additional burdens on the nation's elderly,' U.S. Senator Dave Durenberger (R-Minn.) said Friday."

A third release in the same bundle (all mailed in separate envelopes, of course) carries the senator's lamentations about senate approval of President Reagan's proposal to provide $100 million in military aid to the Nicaraguan Contras and $300 million in economic assistance to Nicaragua's Central American neighbors.

Perhaps we should congratulate the senator on his independent thinking and his open-minded approach to legislation, but we are not inclined to be that charitable. We think the releases not only reveal his liberal tendencies but expose his attempt to disassociate himself from a President in his last term. With his six-year term expiring after the next election (1988), Durenberger is apparently trying to establish a base for reelection. As we have observed his actions during this term, he could more easily run under the DFL banner than the Republican standard.

There is no law that says Durenberger has to think like a conservative, but if he wants to claim the Republican label he should occasionally try to act like one.

Tax Triumph, Budget Failure

Following comments were written by David Broder in the Washington Post:

When Congressional members come back in September, with their elections just 60 days away, they have to face decisions on the basic federal fiscal plan for next year — spending decisions that can make few voters happy but can no longer be postponed. Their only consolation is that they will get to put their final stamp of approval on the tax-revision bill that will be remembered as the major accomplishment of this 99th Congress.

If you ask yourself why Congress has done so well bringing off a massive and overwhelmingly constructive overhaul of the tax system but has bogged down so badly on the routine budget and appropriations bills, one answer leaps out. In the first case, it had the president's cooperation, but in the second it has been fighting against Ronald Reagan every step of the way.

No other explanation holds water. Chairmen Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Bob Packwood, R-Ore., of the Senate Finance Committee, are astute politicians. They deserve the praise they are getting for bringing off the biggest redesign of the tax system since World War II. Along with such early flat-tax advocates as Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., who intervened at crucial moments to keep the effort from failing, they negotiated the measure past all the traps that industry, economic, regional and ideological pressure groups designed to block it.

But no one, I think, would claim that Packwood and Rostenkowski are better legislative craftsmen or more diligent workers than the chairmen of the two budget committees, Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., and Rep. William H. Gray III, D-Pa. Domenici and Gray forged agreements inside their committees on spending plans for the coming year every bit as sound and workable as the tax plans Packwood and Rostenkowski devised. Left to themselves, they could agree readily on the fiscal blueprint for next year.

The difference — the crucial difference — is that Reagan was aboard the tax plan and he has blockaded the budget-spending blueprint.

Reagan set the stage for the September triumph on taxation with his own original proposal, 16 months ago. It was a bold and sweeping design, keyed to the clear, economically sound and socially desirable principle that rates could be lowered dramatically for everyone if privileged persons, corporations and categories of economic activity were made to pay their fair share of the tax burden.

In the budget he submitted to Congress last February (as in its four predecessors), Reagan did exactly the opposite. His budget was not only false in its economic assumptions and spending calculations, it was flawed in its fundamental concept.

Instead of saying no to special privileges, Reagan actively sought privileged status for his cherished military buildup and the politically popular Social Security benefits. Because of their size, protecting these two categories of spending dictated politically impossible and socially objectionable reductions in unprotected domestic programs — which Congress had to reject.

Please remember that Ronald Reagan is just as deeply — and vitally — involved in the budget stalemate as he is in the tax-bill triumph. He made the tax victory possible. And he also made a budget fiasco inevitable.

Courtroom Bloopers

Mary Louise Gilman, editor of the National Shorthand Reporter, collects bloopers made in the transcripts of court reports. Following are some of the choice selections:

Q. James stood back and shot Tommy Lee?

A. Yes.

Q. And then Tommy Lee pulled out his gun and shot James in the fracas!

A. (After a hesitation) No sir, just above it.

Q. You say you're innocent, yet five people swore that they saw you steal a watch.

A. Your Honor, I can produce 500 people who didn't see me steal it.

Q. I understand you're Bernie Davis's mother.

A. Yes.

Q. How long have you known him?

Q. Did the lady standing in the driveway subsequently identify herself to you?

A. Yes, she did.

Q. Who did she say she was?

A. She said she was the owner of the dog's wife.

Q. At the time you first saw Dr. McCarty, had you ever seen him prior to the time?

Q. Now I'm going to show you what has been marked as State's Exhibit 2 and ask you if you recognize that picture.

A. John Smith.

Q. That's you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you were present when that picture was taken right?

Q. Please state the location of your right foot immediately prior to the impact.

A. Immediately before the impact, my right foot was located at the immediate end of my right leg.

Judge: I rarely do so, but for whatever purpose it may serve, I will indicate for the record that I approached this case with a completely open mind.

Borrowed Nonsense

Most women would insist they have cleaner minds than men. Most men would insist it's because women change them more often.

"There was a burglar in my house at 3 o'clock this morning," an office worker told his friend.

"Did he get anything?" the friend asked.

"Lacerations, contusions and a concussion," the man replied. "My wife thought it was me coming back from bowling."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On September 9, I presented testimony at the public hearing in Grand Forks for the proposed central radar system. I am concerned about the possible selection of the Thief River Falls site for several reasons.

The location of the radar receiving facility within the Thief River Falls area would require either the loss of productive agricultural land or the loss of wetlands and wooded areas or a combination of the two.

The loss of 2,400 acres of productive farmland would be felt primarily by the township in which it is located. I would assume that the tax burden no longer chargeable to these acres would be shifted to the other land owners in the area. At a time when local farmers are having a difficult time financially, this increased cost is potentially devastating.

The loss would be felt in a more indirect way for local businesses by a potential $240,000 less in spendable income for farmers (40 bushels per acre of wheat at $2.50 per bushel) on an annual basis.

The loss to the area when wetlands are drained and graded is much more difficult to calculate. It is very hard to tell how changes in the drainage system will affect the surrounding farm land. The loss of many of the small wooded areas can mean increased erosion and wind damage to crops. The environmental impact statement states that one possible mitigation procedure for drained wetlands is to establish new wetlands in the surrounding area. Thes new wetlands would be located on "disturbed" agricultural land.

It is not difficult to imagine the impact on the wildlife if this amount of natural habitat were lost. This part of Minnesota supports a large number of deer, moose and many species of smaller animals. This project would interrupt feeding patterns and natural treks and flight paths. It would also destroy many of the wooded areas that these animals use as shelter.

A more indirect result of this destruction would be felt in a possible decrease in the number of large game and waterfowl hunters from other parts of Minnesota coming to this area. Those who use the wetland and wooded areas for recreational hunting will probably be less likely to choose Pennington county if the feeding sites and habitat have been disrupted.

The environmental impact statement addresses the possibility of people living near the site developing health problems by saying that no long term studies have been done and no one knows what the effects might be. (page S-5)

In the environmental impact statement (page 2-9) the statement is made that "if the land was purchased, it would be made available for other federal use," when the radar project is decommissioned. This could happen as early as twenty years from the onset of the project. The question arises as to what other federal use might be made of this land. A nuclear waste disposal site? This, too, is a federal project and the local area has heard a great deal of information recently regarding this possibility.

Is the possibility that a few of the employees at the radar site might choose to live in Thief River Falls, instead of Crookston or Grand Forks, worth the risks of:

(1) Increased tax burden to local farmers;

(2) Damage to cropland and natural resources;

(3) The likelihood that in a few years the radar site would be replaced by nuclear wastes?

It also concerns me that the public hearing was held on the same night as the primary election which precluded the attendance at the hearing of many local township officers who might have expressed the concerns of the rural community. Information about the issues and distribution of copies of the environmental impact statement were not effectively done in the rural area.

I feel that it is a mistake for anyone to commit their land to this project until they are fully informed about the implications to the future of this area. Although the public hearing is over, copies of the environmental impact statement are still available. Written comments will still be received until October 6, 1986. I strongly urge people to take the time to become informed and make comments. Requests for the environmental impact statements and comments may be addressed to: HQ Electronic Systems Division-SCO, OTH-B Systems Program Office, Attn: Lt. V.G. Brown, Hanscom AFB, MA 01731-5000.

Sincerely,
-s- Donavon Dyrdal

AVTI To Sponsor Creative Designs Workshop Oct. 7

Fall merchandise is arriving daily at local stores which poses the challenge of how to display it most effectively. To give business owners new ideas for displaying merchandise, a workshop on "Creative Displays For Main Street Businesses" will be offered on Tuesday, October 7, 7 to 10 p.m. in the Gallery of the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

The presenter for the workshop is Harold Alexander, extension specialist in interior design with the University of Minnesota's extension service. Alexander has authored books on design and has guided tours emphasizing design to Western Europe and Greece. In 1985 his design of the restaurant Alexander's in downtown Minneapolis was singled out for special acclaim in the Restaurant and Hotel Design Maghzine's awards competition.

Alexander will share ideas on designing creative window displays and in-store merchandise arrangements to most effectively catch the consumer's eye. Inexpensive design ideas will dominate the presentation. Slides of main street businesses in rural Minnesota and the Twin Cities will serve the basis for discussion during the presentation.

The workshop is sponsored by the Retail business association, the Pennington county extension service, and the AVTI small business development center. Registration fee is $10. Additional employees from a business may register for $5 each. Pre-registration is requested. Reserve your place by sending a check for the appropriate amount made payable to the SBDC and mail to the Small Business Development Center, highway One East, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701. For further information call the small business development center at 681-5424, Ext. 29 or toll free 1-800-222-AVTI. Registration forms are available at the AVTI small business development center office and at the Pennington county extension office in the courthouse.

AAUW Sponsors Forum On Meet The Candidates

Thief River Falls branch of the American association of university women will meet on Monday, September 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin Middle school library. The program "Meet the State Senate Candidates from District 1" will feature a debate between DFL Senator LeRoy Stumpf and IR Candidate Jim Butler.

Program coordinator for the evening is Shelly Steva, AAUW legislative chairman. This meeting is open to the public. The debate is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

T. Schoonhoven Passes Pro Exam

Tim Schoonhoven, former Thief River Falls resident, has passed his professional engineering examination and is a registered professional civil engineer in the state of Wyoming. He has been employed by the firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff engineering in Casper, WY, for the past three years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Schoonhoven of Thief River Falls and is a graduate of Montana state university in Boseman, MT.

TIMES AROUND THE REGION

New Manager at Greenlin

Greenbush—The Greenlin Supper Club will be undergoing extensive redecoration as well as operating under new management. Jeff Pieterick has purchased the club from John and Helen Novacek, who started the club in 1977 and have decided to retire. The Greenlin will reopen September 15 and will serve from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. daily, except Sundays. Sundays will feature a smorgasbord from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and full menu service from 5 to 10 p.m. evenings. Pieterick plans to continue the club as it has been, except to provide more entertainment in the future.

Itasca Court Sentences

Grand Rapids—Judge John A. Spellacy stayed the imposition of sentence of five years an Anoka man who was sentenced on two charges involving the sale of marijuana recently in Itasca county district court. Steven Jay Knott, 25, was placed on supervised probation during the stay. Judge Spellacy also sentenced Jack Wilhelm Glaudel to one year in jail on charges of attempted use of a minor in sexual performance and child neglect. Glaudel was accused of attempting to use a minor for a strip show in the back of his camper truck. Execution of the sentence was stayed for two years and Glaudel was placed on supervised probation. Two counts of criminal sexual conduct in the second degree were dismissed.

Truck-Pickup Collision

Williams—A pickup and a grain truck were both totally destroyed in a collision north of Williams August 29. Drivers of both vehicles were held overnight for observation at Trinity hospital and a passenger in the pickup, Larry Barrett, was taken to United hospital in Grand Forks. Gail Olson, Williams, was attempting to pass a grain truck driven by LeRoy Carlson of Williams on county road 2 when the grain truck turned into the path of the pickup. The truck burst into flames after the collision. A passenger in the truck, Allen Johnson, was examined and released. Investigations are pending in the accident.

Fall Appreciation Day

Oklee—Annual Oklee Fall Appreciation Day is planned for September 27, with activities beginning at 1 p.m. Events planned are kids' tractor pull, band concert, street games, sidewalk sales, flea market and a free meal with beverage from 5 to 8 p.m. The community club sponsors the event.

Horseshoe Tourney Winners

Grygla—The annual Grygla Lions horseshoe tournament was a success, with 35 pitchers competing for trophies and cash prizes. Top pitcher in class A was Kenny Lindberg of Roseau with 60 per cent ringer average; second place was a tie between Ardell Slominski, Ardoch, ND, and Nick Audette of Red Lake Falls. A playoff game put Slominski in second with 48 per cent ringers and Audette took home third place honors with 41 per cent. Class B champion was Calvin Kolling of Gully, 33 per cent; class C winner, Leland Larson, Grygla; and class D, Lloyd Horgen, Warren. Dale and Bob Magner of Thief River Falls placed second in classes C and D, bringing home trophies.

3 Injured In Roof Collapse

Grand Rapids—The roof of the Alliance church of Grand Rapids collapsed August 30, injuring three men who were working on it at the time. Peter Kauther, 28, Timothy Palkki, 30, and Richard Schultz, 33, all of Grand Rapids, were taken to Itasca Memorial hospital. Kauther received a fractured psine and the other two men were treated and released with minor injuries.

Lagoon Dilemma

Red Lake Falls—The city may be forced to riprap the sewage lagoon at a cost of $300,000. The Minnesota Pollution Control agency is demanding eight-inch rock all around the lagoon and perhaps a liner, says Mayer Ken Tischart, because of some erosion in the lagoon. Red Lake Falls has until September 30 to appeal the MPCA demands, which state that a contract for the project must be let by July 1, 1988. The law states that lagoon projects must be paid out of revenue from water bill and not out of general taxes. Alderman Allen Bertilrud states, "A project this size would at least double and maybe triple the present water bills."

Beware of Bites

Grygla—The Marshall County Sheriff's department has released a special animal bite bulletin. The department has received and investigated several animal bite complaints during the past month, and warns that rabies is found in most counties in Minnesota, in cattle, horses and bats as well as cats and dogs. It is most often found in wild animals and the greatest concern is bites from skunks, rabbits, squirrels and most rodents. The department warns that the disease is spread from animal to animal and from animal to human by the bite of an infected animal. The disease virus is contained in the animal's saliva.

Greenwing Day For Kids

Middle River—Greenwing Day was held August 23 at Thief Lake refuge near Middle River, sponsored by the Marshall County Ducks Unlimited organization. All participants between the ages of four and six received a coloring book, and everyone attending received a waterfowl identification guide. The group toured the Thief Lake refuge and nearby fields by bus, and heard presentations on dog obedience and wing identification.

Float Entries Needed

Newfolden—The Newfolden Lions club is seeking entrants for the Newfest '86 parade scheduled for September 27. There is no entry fee for the 11 a.m. parade, and trophies will be awarded to groups and individuals in five categories: antique vehicle, marching unit, best commercial entry, best non-commercial entry and horse or other animal entry. For more information call Rodney Hagenbeck, 874-8281.

New School In Warroad

Warroad—Opening ceremonies were held September 7 for a new high school in the city of Warroad. Well over 1,000 students attend school in the city and 100 new students have registered since last May. Warroad is one of very few school districts in the area experiencing growth. The new school is the second new school facility since 1982.

Plans For St. John's

Red Lake Falls—Plans for turning St. John's hospital into an emotional behavioral development center have been abandoned by the strategic planning committee organized by Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls, who own the facility. The reason for abandoning plans was a projected low utilization from county social service directors and area school districts, said Richard Spyhalski, NMC administrator. Using the facility as an in and out patient treatment center for chemical dependency is still a possibility.

Loggers Out Of Work

Williams—Approximately 45 loggers will be unemployed as the Champion International paper company (formerly St. Regis) has ended all contracts for wood in the Williams area. They will be purchasing wood closer to their Sartell location, they said.

Karlstad Walk-A-Thon

Karlstad—A Karlstad Community Walk is being planned for the afternoon of October 19. The benefit walk-a-thon will raise funds to be used for new buildings and remodeling of existing buildings at three Bible camps in northern Minnesota, and the purchase of specific items needed at the Valley Group home in Karlstad.

Newfolden Newfest

Newfolden—Newfest '86 will be held September 26 through 28 in Newfolden. Events Friday include a variety show and homecoming at the high school gym and dance at Hobo Haus to "After the Fact." Saturday will feature a country market, kiddie parade with storybook character theme, regular parade at 11 a.m., food stands, Hot Wheels races for children, games for all ages, pony rides and a church supper. That evening the homecoming football games will provide entertainment, along with another dance at the Hobo Haus. Sunday's agenda will be softball, tennis and horseshoe tournaments, music fest jam session and free movie and snacks for kids.

Charlie Brown And Snoopy

Mizpah—A 15-year-old boy shot what may well be the biggest black bear in history on the opening day of bear season, September 1, near Mizpah, a city advertised as the Bear Capital of the World. The bruin weighed 687 pounds and measured 7 feet, 7 inches in length, was six feet around and had paws measuring seven inches across. Charlie Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Motley, plans to have the bear mounted in a standing position and has nicknamed him "Snoopy." This was the first bear hunting expedition for Charlie.

Darcie Caswell 2nd In Regional 4-H Horse Show

Two Pennington county 4-H'ers participated in the regional 4-H horse show held September 6 at the winter shows building in Crookston.

Darcie Caswell of the Smiley 4-H club tied for reserve champion high point winner in the games classes. Her other class placings were: Halter showmanship, white; Western horsemanship, red; Western pleasure, red; Western riding, red; trail riding, fifth place, blue; English equitation, white; English pleasure, red; egg and spoon, first place, blue; pole weaving, red; Barrels, white; and keyhole race, fifth place, blue.

Loralee Iverson of the Happy Acres 4-H club also participated in the regional show. Her placings were: Halter showmanship, red; Western horsemanship, blue; and Western pleasure, red.

The show was organized by the Northwest district horse program development committee made up of 4-H volunteers from several counties.

MEA President To Visit Lincoln This Wednesday

Bob Astrup, president of the Minnesota Education association, will give Thief River Falls teachers an overview of this expectations for the year when he meets with them Wednesday afternoon in Thief River Falls.

A reception for Astrup will be held at 4:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school cafeteria. He succeeded Martha Lee Zins as president of the state organization September 1 and his comments here are expected to include views of the future for non-metro area teachers in Minnesota.

Following the appearance at Thief River Falls, Astrup will continue to Middle River where he will be guest speaker at the fall drive-in session of the Kramer Brown Cnserve unit.

Marshall-Beltrami SWCD Report For Year Issued

Operation of the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district had both encouragement and disappointment during the past year as it issued its annual report, according to Ralph Rundell, district soil conservation technician.

The district noted 35 years of service to the area in November of 1985 and honored Oliver Howland and Lyndon Magnuson as charter board members who were still serving on the board. Magnuson died less than a week after the observance and Harold Schulz was appointed to fill his term.

The 1985 agricultural bill resulted in much time being spent with farmers in explanation, screening, sign-ups and writing of contracts. The law included swampbuster and sodbuster provisions which have important implications for district members.

Much effort was also extended by staff in conservation education with sessions of one type or another in Grygla, Gatzke, Oklee and Goodridge schools and in Thief River Falls.

Tree planting program was reduced as farmers battled costs and other pressing problems while several state cost-share projects were approved to treat some serious erosion problems in identified troubled spots. A number of informational and input meetings were held to help the staff and district members keep up to date on programs and needs.

AMY ISAACSON stretched to return a shot against Bemidji Thursday during a high school tennis match on the Northalnd Community College courts. Isaacson was teammed with Stacy Breuer at No. 2 doubles for the Prowlers, who beat both Bemidji and Roseau in the triangular event.

Tennis Team Defeats Lumberjacks, Rams

Junior Sharon Dosser came up with a tie-breaking three-set victory at No. 4 singles Thursday to lift the Thief River Falls girls past Bemidji 4-3 in the first part of a high school traingular tennis meet in Thief River Falls.

The Prowlers handled Roseau 7-0 to close out the afternoon match. Bemidji also beat Roseau 6-1.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji were tied at 3-3 when Dosser and Danelle Moen of the Lumberjacks were locked up in a 2½-hour encounter. Moen won a 7-4 tie-breaker to win the first set 7-6, but Dosser battled back to win 6-1, 6-3 for the victory.

"Sharon played with good determination," said Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson. "It was a real gutty, key win for us."

Kelly Cornell turned back one of the top challengers to her North Sub-Region 8AA singles championship reign with a 6-4, 7-5 decision over Dana Erickson at No. 1 singles, and the Prowlers' Monica Haapoja rallied by Bobbi Lynn 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 at No. 2 singles. The Prowlers also picked up a win at No. 2 doubles, where Amy Isaacson and Stacy Breuer beat Heidi Ohman and Neiole Skjerven 6-2, 6-2.

All the Prowlers won in straight sets against Roseau as Thief River Falls' dual meet record climbed to 6-0 for the year.

Thief River Falls will play Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls Tuesday in a 2 p.m. triangular meet at Detroit Lakes.

A Thief River Falls appearance at the Bemidji Invitational, which appeared on the schedule for Saturday, was dropped from the Prowlers' plans.

TRF Volleyball Team Third At Roseau Invitational

Wins over Greenbush and Hallock were sandwiched around a loss to Plummer Saturday as Thief River Falls came up with a third place finish in the Roseau Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Coach Helen Anderson's Prowlers beat Greenbush 15-3, 15-4 in the opening round quarterfinals with a solid team effort and a team-high 11 service points from Bekah Bortnem.

A strong Plummer team edged Thief River Falls 15-13, 15-12 in the semifinals, with the Prowlers overcoming a 7-2 second game deficit to gain a 12-12 tie before surrendering three straight points.

"Both sides had a good team effort," reported Anderson. "It was a good volleyball match. It was very evenly matched. It could have been anybody's game. We had some costly mental errors that really hurt."

Bortnem again led the Prowlers with eight service points.

Ther was just a five-minute rest before the Prowlers were back on the court for the third place match against Hallock, won in easy 15-9, 15-8 fashion as Bortnem collected eight more service points.

Plummer handled Badger 15-7, 15-2 in a one-sided championship match.

"It was a good tournament," said Anderson. "The kids did a good job."

Pioneers Win Opener

Thursday's 14-13 win over the Moorhead State University junior varsity Thusday night provided the Northland Community College football team with its first season-opening victory since 1979 — the first year the school fielded an intercollegiate football team.

Northland beat Fergus Falls 7-2 in that 1976 opener, but the Northmen, now the Pioneers, then lost nine straight season-openers before knocking off the Dragons last week.

Although Northland lost to Vermilion 26-0 to open 1978 season, a 19-6 win over the Bemidji State University junior varsity and a 12-7 decision over Fergus Falls produced a 2-1 season start. But five straight losses closed out a 2-6 season.

Northland is still trying to establish itself as a competitive Minnesota Community College Conference football program. Its been tough. A 3-5 finish in 1981 and a 3-6 record in 1979 represent the school's best won-loss showings. There were winless campaings in 1977 and 1983, while the 1980, 1982, 1984 and 1985 teams all won but one game.

The past four years have produced just three Northland wins, all against Hibbing. Northland beat Hibbing 34-3 in 1982, 19-8 in 1984 and 22-0 in 1985. Northland even beat Hibbing in 1983, but had to give it up when it was discovered an ineligible player was used, resutling in a 7-0 forfeit loss.

Saturday the Pioneers begin their Minnesota Community College Conference schedule with a 1:30 p.m. game against Mesabi in Vermilion when Northland will be trying to beat an MCCC foe other than Hibbing for the first time since 1981.

Northland's 1986 home opener will be played Saturday, September 27, when the Pioneers host Itasca in their homecoming game, which will also double as the annual Pepsi Bowl.

Tennis Results

Crookston and Thief River Falls coaches apparently have different ideas what constitutes a high school tennis match.

Last Tuesday Crookston hosted Thief River Falls and Moorhead in a three-team match that was interrupted by rain. The Thief River Falls girls beat Moorhead 7-0, but trailed Crookston 3-2 when rain stopped play.

Rains ended a No. 3 singles match where Thief River Falls' Kaye Dondelinger and Crookston's Jeannette Johnson were tied 3-3 in the first set, and halted a No. 4 singles match where Thief River Falls' Sharon Dosser and Crookston's Kristie Hegg split a pair of 6-4 decisions in the first two sets.

"Inconclusive," was the way Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson reported the results. In his books the Prowlers are still unbeaten in head-to-head dual meet formats with a 6-0 record. "If we would have finished it, I think we would have won," he said.

Crookston coach Ardell Knudsvig took a different approach. He put it down as a 4-2 Crookston win, rushing a tie-breaker in the rain between Dosser and Hegg instead of playing a complete third set. The No. 3 singles match he left tied.

"The win over Thief River Falls was a real milestone," Knudsvig told the Crookston Times. "We haven't beat them since 1981. Our depth really paid off."

Crookston and Thief River Falls, separated in the Minnesota State High School League two-class tennis competition, will see each other only one more time this fall, when the Prowlers host the annual Northwest Division Quadrangular Tuesday, September 23. Bemidji and East Grand Forks will also be here.

Miscellaneous

Freshmen Lose To GF Schroeder 8-6 In 1986 Opener

Grand Forks Schroeder Junior High scored with 2:16 remaining in the game Thursday to beat visiting Thief River Falls 8-6 in a freshman football game.

Thief River Falls had a 6-0 halftime lead when Kurt Kainz and Paul Lofberg hooked up on a 40-yard touchdown pass.

But a Thief River Falls fumble near midfield set up the Schroeder tying touchdown and winning two-point conversion.

It was the 1986 season opener for the Thief River Falls freshmen, who visit Grand Forks South Junior High Thursday at 4:15 p.m.

GOING TO THE right with a reverse, Thief River Falls wingback Brian Christianson tried to turn the corner as Bemidji defensive end Rod Roberts gave chase in the first quarter of Friday's high school football game at Bemidji State University. The Prowlers' Chris Nelson (96) tried to help out with a nice block on the play, but the Lumberjacks stopped Christianson after just a three-yard gain. Bemidji won the game 12-3.

Pioneers Trick Dragons 14-13 To Open '86 Football Season

A little trickery produced a game-winning touchdown with just 2:11 remaining in the fourth quarter Thursday night as Northland Community College opened its 1986 football season with a come-from-behind 14-13 non-conference win over the Moorhead State University junior varsity. The game was played at Alex Nemzek Stadium in Moorhead.

Trailing 13-7, Northland won it when quarterback, Scott Willoughby, dropped back to pass from the Moorhead 40-yard line, hit receiver Dean Brandon at the 25. Brandon, in turn, timed a planned lateral to teammate Scott Groven perfectly and the sophomore from Goodridge went the rest of the way down the sidelines untouched for a 13-13 tie.

Ron Dass, a sophomore from Ely, added his second conversion kick of the game for the win.

It was a case of scoring early and late for the Pioneers.

Northland jumped out to a quick 7-0 lead when defensive end Dean Zimmel recovered a Moorhead fumble at the Dragons' 43-yard line on the game's first possession. Willoughby went to Brandon for a 9-yard touchdown pass with 12:39 remaining in the first quarter.

That was all the scoring in the first half, but Northland missed out on two other opportunities when the Pioneers failed to score after enjoyhing a first-and-goal situation at the Moorhead 3-yard line, and had an apparent 67-yard touchdown run by Deon Schmidt called back on an offside penalty.

"We felt we played better in the first half than the score indicated," explained Northland coach Rick Nelson.

A blocked punt set Moorhead up at the Northland 8-yard line in the third quarter and Jay Yates scored on a 6-yard run, followed by a Vill Vollmer conversion kick for a 7-7 tie with 6:03 left.

Moorhead went ahead 13-7 in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter when Scott Hambrook scored on a 4-yard run. But on what turned out to be a key play, the Pioneers' Greg Bieganek, Mike Stennes and Steve Wiskow broke through the line on the conversion kick, with Bieganek getting there first for the block.

Northland won it on the Willoughby-to-Brandon-to-Groven combination, but that wasn't the end of the excitement.

Chad Ekeberg gained some valuable time for the Pioneers with a pass interception on the ensuring Moorhead possession, but Northland was quickly forced into a punting situation.

Moorhead put on a strong rush and was in position to block the punt by Schmidt at the Dragons' 40-yard line. Schmidt, though, saved yardage, and possibly a touchdown, by simply throwing an incomplete pass on the play instead of trying to punt in the face of the hard rush.

The Dragons did reach the Northland 14-yard line, but Wiskow stopped them with a pass interception with 37 seconds left.

"Give a lot of credit to our defensive coaches Steve Bengston and Paul Williams," said Nelson. "They kept our defense in position to win the game for us. They could have rolled over and quit when we fell behind, but the coaches kept pumping them up. They did a great job."

It wasn't a particularly well-played game. Moorhead had seven turnovers and Northland lost the ball five times. "A lot of that had to do with being the first game," noted Nelson, "but some of it was because of the hard hitting. It was a physical game."

Schmidt, a freshman from Fargo, led the Pioneers with a modest 36 yards on 15 carries. Willoughby, a sophomore from Erskine making his first start with Northland, was 6-for-17 passing for 150 yards, but he also had three interceptions. Groven caught four passes for 128 yards, getting credit for all 40 yards on that touchdown pass according to the rule book.

Northland starts Minnesota Community College Conference play Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. game against Mesabi in Virginia.

Northland Volleyball Team Wins By 3-0

There was a little bit of everything in Friday's Northland vs. Rainy River community college volleyball match in Thief River Falls, including a 3-0 win for the Pioneers to square their record at 1-1 at the end of the first week of the 1986 season.

It started with a closely contested first game, included a second game shutout and finished with a remarkable third game rally as Northland won 15-13, 15-0, 15-13.

"With one more day of practice (Thursday, following a 3-0 season-opening loss to Itasca, Wednesday), we were able to work on defensive positions and clear up some offensive problems," explained Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We worked on a one-setter offense, and the team handled it pretty well."

The setter was Patty Odberg, a freshman from Marshall County Central.

A series of good volleys made for an interesting first game, but it was all Northland in Game 2 when Rainy River went through six servers without scoring a point. Janell DeHaan, a freshman from Red Lake Falls, got the Pioneers off to a good start by serving 11 straight points — two of them aces.

A third game letdown put Northland in a hole as Rainy River jumped out to an 11-0 lead and enjoyed a 13-1 cushion as the game wore on.

But Northland then ran off 14 unanswered points for the win and the sweep.

"It was a great come-from-behind victory," acknowledged Jacobson. "Everyone contributed. They worked hard and deserved the win."

Northland played without Kathy Nelson, one of just three sophomores on the team, who has been ruled ineligible for the season, but the Pioneers added Brenda Kraska of Lancaster to the roster, and they hope to have Angie Enerson in the line-up soon. She has been sidelined by an ankle injury.

The Pioneers will make two trips to Crookston this weekend, participating in the annual Northwest Division Quadrangular Friday at 5 p.m. and then competing in the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

ONE OF THE KEY plays in Friday's high school football game at Bemidji State University developed when Thief River Falls quarterback Chris Bjorgaard (17), rushed by Bemidji defensive tackle Roy Spino (36), rushed his option pitch to halfback Paul Brandt (43), creating a poor toss that resulted in a fumble. Making matters worse for the Prowlers, Bemidji defensive end Rod Roberts (54) grabbed the loose ball and ran 29 yards for a touchdown with 6:43 remaining in the first quarter. It was the first score of the game, won by the unbeaten Lumberjacks 12-3.

Lumberjacks Stop Prowlers 12-3

Teams with 1-2 records don't get ranked. But if you put any stock in the polls, and if you figure the best high school football teams in the state are in Class AA — the largest of the five classes operated by the Minnesota State High School League — you've got to tip your hat to a game Thief River Falls outfit Friday in a 12-3 loss to unbeaten Bemidji, ranked No. 10 in the latest Associated Press Class AA listing.

And the Class A Prowlers, who have lost twice to Class AA-size schools, could have been even closer to the rival Lumberjacks. Thief River Falls had a first-and-goal situation at the Bemidji 7-yard line with 3:14 remaining and had three shots at the end zone from the 1-yard line, but came up short against a stone defensive line that got the ball back for the Lumberjacks with 1:50 left.

"We gave them a game," offered Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "That's all we wanted to do. They're big, and they're tough. But if they're tenth in the state in AA, where does that put us?"

In the end, it was the Prowlers' inability to capitalize on a number of scoring opportunities that proved fatal. The Thief River Falls defense recovered four Bemidji fumbles and blocked a punt, but the Prowlers' offense, after making some noise in two earlier outings, netted just 173 yards and a field goal. Seven penalties didn't help, either.

"We were intimidated by their size for a while," admitted Mumm. "They're big and they took away the things that had been working for us, like the outside, the traps and the reverses."

But Bemidji had just as much trouble with the Thief River Falls defense in the hard-hitting affair, as witnessed by the fumbles. Rod Hinrichs had two of those fumble recoveries, Paul Brandt and Elliot Baker one each; Baker and Leon Lundstrom had quarterback sacks; and Jason Lee blocked a punt.

It was the Bemidji defense that scored first. A fumble recovery by Hinrichs at the Thief River Falls 31-yard line with 7:08 remaining in the first quarter was quickly wasted when the Thief River Falls offense gave the ball away on the very next snap — an errant pitch-out by quarterback Chris Bjorgaard on the option to the right with halfback Paul Brandt. Bemidji defensive end Rod Roberts picked up the loose ball and ran 29 yards for the touchdown with 6:43 to play. The conversion kick attempt failed.

Only Thief River Falls points of the night came after Bemidji punter Tim Knudson dropped the snap from center and Lee blocked the kick, giving the ball to the Prowlers at the Bemidji 26-yard line with 9:16 remaining in the first half. Three plays netted just six yards, though, and Chris Nelson was called on for a field goal try from the Lumberjacks' 27-yard line. The kick was good, cutting the Bemidji lead to 6-3 with 8:15 to play.

Bemidji finished the scoring on the next offensive possession, a 10-play, 72-yard drive climaxed by Rob Aitken's 9-yard touchdown run with 3:49 to play in the first half. Big play on the drive was a 29-yard gain on a pass from Len Henry to Aric DeYoung. The pass over the middle actually only netted 14 yards, but an additional 15 yards were tacked on for a face mask penalty against the Prowlers, setting the Lumberjacks up at the Thief River Falls 14.

Two plays later the 205-pound Aitken bounced off tacklers on the right side and hit the corner of the end zone for the 12-3 score. Linebacker Scott Vedbraaten's blitz on the extra-point try nailed Henry as he tried to drop back for a two-point pass play.

Neither team presented another serious scoring threat the rest of the night until that late-game Thief River Falls shot.

What went down as the fifth Bemidji fumble of the night was a short punt by Thief River Falls' Rick Rosetta that bounced off a Bemidji player downfield and was recovered by Brandt at the Lumberjacks' 48-yard line with 6:41 remaining in the game.

Facing a fourth-and-17 desperation play at the Bemidji 44, the Prowlers struck when Nelson, after making a short out move that beat the Bemidji secondary, went down the right sideline and hauled in a 37-yard pass from Bjorgaard for a first down at the Bemidji 7-yard line with 3:14 left.

Fullback Mike Bendickson banged his way for six tough yards to the Bemidji 1-yard line on first down, but that's as close as the Prowlers got to the end zone. Bendickson was stopped for no gain on second down; Bjorgaard was stopped on a quarterback sneak; and on fourth down from the one, Bjorgaard, after making the fake inside, tried to go to the right. As he planted his foot to make the cut around the end, he slipped. He tried to stretch the ball across the goal line, but the officials ruled his knee touched, ending the play, at the 2-yard line, giving the ball back to the Lumberjacks with 1:50 to play.

"It (the loss) hurt," acknowledged Mumm. "The kids were crying. They wanted it bad."

Thief River Falls visits Valley City, ND Friday.

Huskies' Volleyball Team Has 1-2 Start

It's a case of feast or famine for the Goodridge girls this fall in high school volleyball. The Huskies either win or lose in three straight games.

Thursday Goodridge fell to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 15-1, 15-2, 15-7 in the Huskies' 1986 home opener. Earlier they lost to Plummer and beat Redlake in 3-0 road matches.

"We're playing a lot of young girls," explained Goodridge coach Patti Johnson, who has just one veteran varsity performer on hand. "It takes time to adjust to the varsity level. It's a good case of stage fright for most of them. But they all try hard."

Goodridge will be at Warren Tuesday and will host Gonvick-Trail Thursday.

Grygla - Greenbush

Grygla, after absorbing a 3-0 loss at the hands of Marshall County Central earlier in the week, bounced back into the win column with a 15-13, 15-4, 8-15, 15-4 victory over visiting Greenbush.

"We didn't play that well," acknowledged Grygla coach Mike Gast. "I think we were still shell-shocked from Newfolden."

Senior Tammy Schulz did a good job serving, said Gast, but the Eagles still need work on the play-starting bumps on their side of the net.

Grygla, 4-1, visits Clearbrook Tuesday and drives to Lake of the Woods Thursday.

MCC - Roseau

Marshall County Central upped its record to 3-0 Thursday with a 3-1 win over Roseau at Newfolden.

It was a little closer than what might have been expected as the Nordics triumphed 15-9, 14-16, 15-6, 15-8.

"It wasn't that we played poorly," reported Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "They played pretty well. But we didn't attack the net like we should have, and we did miss some serves."

Sophomore Kelli Anderson and junior Nikki Leach led the Nordics with 14 service points apiece.

Marshall County Central visits Greenbush Tuesday and drives to Badger Thursday.

Outdoor News

The label "chicken" is usually pinned on non-aggressive people, but National Wildlife magazine reports that real chickens can be aggressive and even violent. A good example is the chicken's "pecking order." The strongest hens shower blows on the lesser ones, winning priority over feed, dusting areas and roosts.

TRF Cross Country Co-Captains Named

Captains have been named for the 1986 Thief River Falls cross country teams, announced coach Lynn Dyer of the Prowlers, who said senior Ryanell Johnson and junior Shayne Anderson will lead the boys, while juniors Cindy Kruta and Peggy Cruz lead the girls this fall.

Thief River Falls runners participated in the Crookston Invitational Thursday, the Prowlers' second outing of the year.

Detroit Lakes boys were winners with 45 points, followed by Kelvin of Winnipeg with 90, East Grand Forks 93, Park Rapids 106, Bagley 114, Moorhead 137 and Thief River Falls 154. Crookston, Grafton and Ada fielded incomplete teams.

Moorhead girls were also winners at Crookston with 48 points, followed by Crookston with 83, Kelvin 88 and Detroit Lakes 148. Incomplete teams were fielded by Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Ada, Roseau, Grafton, Bagley and Park Rapids.

Troy Larson of Park Rapids led the boys with a 16:13 three-mile run, while Heather Doyle of Moorhead led the girls with a 12:17 two-mile run. For the Prowlers, Anderson led the boys with an 18th place 17:42 and freshman Lynn Mueller led the girls with a sixth place 13:02.

Freshman Lucas Soine of Thief River Falls won the boys junior varsity race Thursday with a 12:21 two-mile run.

Thief River Falls will run in invitational meets Tuesday at Bagley and Thursday at Detroit Lakes, both starting at 4:30 p.m.

Swimmers Set For Home Opener Tues.

Thief River Falls girls will host Grand Forks Red River and Central high schools Tuesday in a 5 p.m. triangular swimming meet at the Franklin Middle School pool that will be the Prowlers' 1986 season opener.

A 91-78 win at Bemidji Thursday pushed the Prowlers' dual meet season record to 3-0.

Line-up changes found a number of Thief River Falls girls switching events Thursday, making for a closer meet than maybe what might have materialized if the Prowlers had stayed in the events they normally specialize in. They didn't clinch the win until the final event.

But the Prowlers still turned in 25 season personal-best performances, and had sectional qualifying standards met by Brenda Russell in the 50 freestyle, Marci Turenne in the 100 freestyle and both Christy Puetz and Russell in the 500 freestyle.

DNR NEWS

Continuing a research project started in 1984, waterfowl biologists at the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will be dyeing the plummage of a number of lesser scaup (bluebills) a variety of bright colors this fall.

They are asking duck hunters and bird watchers to report sightings or recoveries of dyed scaup.

"The information is being used to gain a greater understanding of the migration patterns of scaup in Minnesota so as to improve management of the species," said Alan Afton, DNR waterfowl biologist, Bemidji.

Observers are asked to report band number (if bird is recovered), color, sex, locale, and date of sighting or recovery to: DNR Scaup Project, 102 23 St., Bemidji, MN 56601; or phone collect 755-2868 (weekdays) or 243-2898 (evenings and weekends).

Afton said he would especially like to obtain body weights and other information on recovered dyed scaup.

To donate recovered dyed scaup to the project, freeze whole intact birds in a plastic bag and then call the Bemidji DNR office to arrange a pick up. All persons providing information on dyed scaup will receive a complimentary pen-ink art print.

Waskish Campground

Department of Natural Resources Forestry Division is planning to rehabilitate the popular Waskish campground and recreation area located off Highway 72 on Upper Red Lake, and would like to hear the public's opinion of the proposal.

The plan written to guide the redevelopment notes that most of the people using the area are fishermen and that in recent years it has been the second most heavily used forest campground in the state.

There are 32 campsites, a boat launching facility, a picnic area and a segment of shoreline used by swimmers.

Foresters said the area suffers from underdevelopment and heavy use. The planned improvements are designed to protect the natural resources of the area and upgrade toilet and other facilities, not to increase the capacity of the campground.

Among the planned improvements are installation of boat docks, a parking area for boat trailers, new toilets, picnic tables and fire rings, erosion control along the river bank, level parking spurs and tent pads, and grading and graveling of the road and parking area.

The facility will be closed for reconstruction in mid-October and may not be ready for use in time for the opening of the fishing season in May 1987. (A better estimate of the reopening date will be available from the DNR next spring.)

Funds to finance the proposed improvements were appropriated by the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources (LCMR).

Persons seeking information or who wish to comment on the planned work are asked to contact the following forestry officials:

Dorian Grilley, Forest Recreation Planner, St. Paul (612) 297-2445; or John Mathweg, Area Forest Supervisor, Blackduck 835-6684.

Shoreland Regulations

Department of Natural Resources has scheduled 11 public meetings around the state during September to present proposed revisions in regulations controlling development and use of lands bordering lakes and streams.

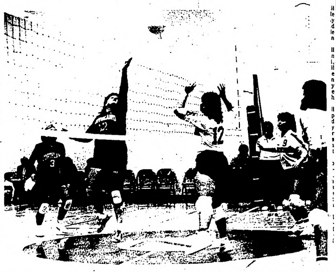
Shoreland regulations for counties have been in effect since 1970 and for cities since 1976. Among the revisions being proposed is the combining of the two sets of rules.

Officials said the proposed revisions are the result of several years of evaluation of the regulations, with funding provided through the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources (LCMR).

DNR officials will give a 30-minute presentation explaining the proposed revisions and then open the meetings to general discussion and questions.

Meetings will be held at 2 p.m. for the convenience of public officials and again at 7 p.m. for the benefit of private citizens and groups at the following sites:

Brainerd, Sept. 16, Washington Middle School; Detroit Lakes, Sept. 17, National Guard Armory; Alexandria, Sept. 18, County Courthouse; St. Paul, Sept. 23, State Office Building, Room 10, 435 Park St.; and Rochester, Sept. 25, Friedel Building, Room 120, 1200 So. Broadway.



NORTHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE freshman Janell DeHaan deflected the ball over the net against Itasca Wednesday in the 1986 volleyball season opener for the Pioneers. Patty Odberg of Northland (3) looked on, while Itasca's Kari Person (12), Meme Costello (9) and Patti Fitzgerald (14) played defense on the play. Short on numbers and practice time, the Pioneers came out a 3-0 loser.

Pioneers Lose Opener 3-0

It went into the books as a 3-0 loss Wednesday, but Northland Community College volleyball coach Deb Jacobson was far from unhappy with the play of the Pioneers in their 1986 season opener against Itasca in Thief River Falls.

Short on numbers and practice time together, the Pioneers did remarkably well despite the 15-10, 15-12, 15-13 one-hour defeat.

A shortage of players earlier in the week had threatened to force the Pioneers into a forfeit. Three additions Tuesday allowed Northland to field a team, but left little time to develop teamwork — one of the most important ingredients needed for a successful volleyball team.

Northland looked the part of a patch-work team when Itasca quickly jumped out to a 6-0 first game lead.

But the Pioneers suddenly jelled, running off seven straight points, and stayed within striking range the rest of the night. The Pioneers trailed only 11-10 late in Game 1; but surrendered four straight points to lose it 15-10.

Itasca had another early lead in Game 2, going up 5-1, but Patty Odberg, a freshmen from Newfolden, served the Pioneers to a 6-5 lead and the stage was set for a long, very even game. Itasca led only 10-9 in the late stages of the contest, eventually winning 15-12.

Northland had the early edge in Game 3 as sophomore Julie Bergsnev from Greenbush served a 5-0 lead, and Nancy Nordling, a sophomore from Alvarado, followed with an ace that made it 6-0.

Itasca came back, though, tying it finally at 11-11, taking a 14-11 lead and winning it 15-13 on an ace by freshman Kari Person of Grand Rapids.

"Not bad for one day of practice," smiled Jacobson. "I thought they did an excellent job. I was really happy with them."

Northland received particularly strong play from Janell DeHaan, a freshman from Red Lake Falls, Becky Knutson, a freshman from Newfolden, and Bergsnev, who provided instant leadership as one of just three returning sophomores. "Janell did a nice job, Becky is a real smart player and they looked to Julie a number of times for leadership," acknowledged Jacobson.

Prowlers Win Swim Meet Title

A sting of seven straight Moorhead wins at the Park Rapids Invitational ended Saturday when the Thief River Falls girls won the six-team high school swimming meet.

Thief River Falls finished with 80 points, followed by Moorhead with 68, Detroit Lakes 44, Park Rapids 35, Fargo South 33 and Bemidji 26.

"It's really nice to bring back the hardware," noted Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney after the Prowlers ended the Spuds' title reign. A year ago Moorhead out-pointed Thief River Falls 104½ to 94½ for the top spot.

Thief River Falls won the meet while picking up just two race victories, simplying acquiring the points with depth that landed a bundle of finishes among the top six point-producing spots in each event.

"It was a great team effort," said Forney. "The girls fought for those top six finishes.

Thief River Falls won the meet-opening 200-yard medley relay, and then waited until the next-to-the-last event of the day before coming up with another first place finish when Jenny Ness took the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Prowlers' Pete Kuyath had a very good meet, according to Forney, as she met Section 8 qualifying standards in the 100 and 200 freestyle races. The Prowlers had 21 seasonal personal bests during the day.

HITTERS POSITIONED themselves as Thief River Falls setter Stephanie Benson (14) put the ball up for a spike during the Prowlers' 1986 high school volleyball home opener against Fisher Thursday. Looking for the shot were Bekah Bortnem (3), Susie Ulrich (11) and Jill Olson. The Prowlers rallied for a 3-2 come-from-behind victory.

TRF Rally Tips Fisher 3-2

Only consistent thing about the Thief River Falls volleyball team Thursday was the Prowlers' inconsistency in their 1986 high school home opener against Fisher.

Thief River Falls won the two-hour marathon in come-from-behind fashion 13-15, 5-15, 15-6, 15-9, 15-3.

"Very inconsistent," admitted Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "The first game wasn't so bad. The second game they were really off, but the last three games they did a really nice job. It was a good all-round team effort. I was proud of them to be able to come back like that. It was fun to watch."

Thief River Falls started in impressive fashion when the serving of Susie Ulrich and kill spikes delivered by 5-4 Bekah Bortnem and 5-10 Vikki Weigand staked the Prowlers to a quick 6-0 lead. The stage was set for a runaway victory for the Prowlers in front of a good-sized, enthusiastic crowd.

But thoughts of a three-game Thief River Falls sweep disappeared when the Prowlers went through their next 12 service rotations without a point, falling begind 12-6 in the process.

With Bortem at the service line and Weigand doing some heavy hitting at the net, Thief River Falls came back to tie it 12-12 and went ahead 13-12 on a block at the net by Jodi Anderson.

Last three points went to Fisher, through, with 5-3 Kim Hollands getting the 15th point with a drive through a Thief River Falls block.

It was all Fisher in Game 2 as a variety of Thief River Falls mistakes led to an 8-0 start for the Flyers, who made it 11-1 and finished it off at 15-5.

At that point, Fisher appeared to be headed for the three-game sweep.

But Thief River Falls benefited from an unexpected break to take the momentum away from Fisher when half of the Lincoln gym vapor lights were accidently shut off at the end of the second game. The 15-minute delay in waiting for the lights to come back on full strength definitely helped the Prowlers, acknowledged Anderson. "I think they needed that time to get their thoughts together. I think it helped," she said.

It must have, because Thief River Falls out-scored Fisher 45-16 the rest of the way.

Fisher had a 4-1 lead in Game 3, but Stephanie Benson served the Prowlers to a 7-4 lead, with Bortnem providing front-line hitting, including a solid kill for point No. 7. An ace served by Ulrich closed out the 15-6 win.

A 3-0 Thief River Falls lead in the fourth game wound up an 8-4 deficit when Fisher rallied. But a couple of spikes by Weigand produced a 9-8 lead for the Prowlers, and they slowly pulled away for the 15-9 win to tie the match 2-2.

Fisher had an early 3-1 lead in Game 5, but it was all Thief River Falls after that as Bortnem served the Prowlers to an 8-3 lead, Paulie Wegge came off the bench to serve up an 11-3 cushion, then Benson got an ace for point No. 14 and Jill Olson's tap at the net capped a 15-3 victory.

"That was a long way to come back," said Anderson, who had special words of praise for the play of Weigand at the net, the spot-serving duties assigned Wegge and the match-high 22 point serving performance of Bortnem. Benson contributed 19 service points.

It was the second win in three starts for the Prowlers, who visit East Grand Forks Tuesday in their only start this week.

Thief River Falls junior varsity record climbed to 3-0 with a close 15-12, 16-14 win over Fisher and the C squad also went 3-0 for the year with a 15-12, 7-15, 15-3 win.

UND Basketball Coaches Clinic Is Slated Nov. 7-8

Dates for the eighth annual University of North Dakota basketball coaches clinic have scheduled Nov. 7-8 at the Westward Ho Motel in Grand Forks, according to UND head basketball coach Dave Gunther.

Clinicians for the event include Gene Anderson of Grafton, whose team played in the 1986 North Dakota state Class A tournament; Ray Rozek of Milwaukee Madison, who had had his teams in the Wisconsin state tournament four of the last six years; Ziggy Kauls of Mounds View, a participant in the 1986 Minnesota state tourney, and Gunther, who will be coaching his 17th UND team this season and is considered one of America's premier NCAA Division II coaches.

Gunther, who will direct the clinic, assisted by Don Rockstad and Jim Keating, UND assistant cage coaches.

By pre-registering for the clinic coaches pay only $20, while registration at the door will be $25, Gunther said.

For more information coaches may contact the UND men's basketball office at UND by calling 701-777-2974, or by writing to Gunther at the UND Athletic Dept., Box 8175, Grand Forks, N.D. 58202.

Plummer Record 3-0 After Conference Win Over Redlake

Plummer ran its record to 3-0 Friday with a big 42-8 North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school football win over Redlake.

It was the Cardinals' 1986 home opener and a Parent's Night crowd watched Plummer rack up six touchdowns and a 42-0 lead through three quarters.

"When our first unit was in there, I thought we did extremely well," mentioned Plummer coach Gary Brantl. "We minimized our mistakes. We looked crisp. We executed well."

Short touchdown runs by Dan Wichterman, Wade Grinde and John Fisher gave Plummer a 24-0 first quarter lead. Neil Huotari scored on a 1-yard run and Shane Freyholtz pulled in a 17-yard touchdown pass from Grinde as the score mounted to 36-0 by halftime.

Joe Peters returned an interception 47 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter to close out the Plummer scoring. That was one of seven turnovers by the Warriors, who lost four fumbles and threw three interceptions.

Plummer rushed for 125 yards, with Fisher getting 56 yards on 13 carries. Grinde, like most of the starters, played about half a game on 13 carried. Grinde, like most of the starters, played about half a game and still had a productive 10-for-14 passing performance for 110 yards. Freyholtz caught four passes for 43 yards and Peters caught four passes for 21 yards.

"Wade had an excellent night while he was in there," said Brantl.

Defensively, Huotari was in on nine tackles and had a fumble recovery and defensive tackle Tom Hesse had eight tackles, along with a fumble recovery, a blocked punt and a quarterback sack. Peters had two interceptions.

"Everybody got a chance to play a lot," pointed out Brantl.

Plummer visits Fisher-Climax Friday for a key 7:30 p.m. conference showdown. The Cardinals are 2-0 in the North Tri-County Conference.

Middle River 22
Badger 14

Middle River built up a three-touchdown lead, then hung on at the end for a 22-14 Northern Lights Conference win over visiting Badger.

A pair of touchdown passes from Tom Blazek to Mark Gram and Mickey Nelson provided Middle River with a 16-0 halftime lead and a blocked punt by Tom Gullikson that was recovered in the end zone by Brent Peterson made it 22-0 in the third quarter.

But Middle River reserves had trouble holding off Badger in the fourth quarter as Blair Jensen scored a pair of short-yardage touchdowns, pulling the Rockets to within 22-14 with 1:30 remaining. And a successful on-side kick gave Badger another shot at a possible tie, but this time the Middle River starters stopped the Rockets in four plays.

"It was a good performance until the fourth quarter," reported Middle River coach Eldon Sparby.

Middle River could have built a bigger lead, but three times the Skippers had the ball inside the Badger 10-yard line without scoring.

Gullikson led a balanced Middle River ground game with 10 carries for 44 yards, while Gram had 10 carries for 42 yards and Blazek had 10 carried for 33 yards. The Skippers rushed for 140 yards and passed for 80 yards as Blazek completed five of 20 pass attempts. Gram caught three passes for 60 yards.

Defensively, Gullikson was in on 12 tackles and Nelson was credited with 11 stops. They play middle linebacker and defensive end, respectively.

Middle River, 2-1, will host Kennedy Saturday in a 7:30 p.m. homecoming game.

Oklee 18

A late-game Oklee rally fell short Friday in a 20-18 North Tri-County Conference loss to visiting Gary.

Gary owned a 20-6 lead with eight minutes left in the game before Oklee struck on a six-yard touchdown run by Todd Bergeron and a five-yard touchdown run by Greg Bishop, who had earlier pulled in a 25-yard touchdown pass from Bergeron.

But an incomplete two-point conversion pass followed each of the Oklee touchdowns, including a controversial incompletion following the last touchdown with just over one minute left. Many of the Oklee followers felt the ball was caught and held long enough to be ruled a reception before it was dropped in the end zone.

Gary scored from long range, including a 55-yard run by Mike Narum, a 60-yard kickoff return by Narum and a 35-yard fake punt pass play from Narum to Perry Gunderson.

"The big plays killed us," said Oklee coach Dale Svaren, who watched his team surrender its second kickoff return touchdown of the year.

Bishop carried the ball 45 times for 154 yards and Bergeron carried 10 times for 41 yards, while completing 7 of 11 passs attempts for 93 yards. Kyle Cantwell caught three passes for 28 yards.

Bishop and Bergeron were also the leading tacklers on defense with 14 and 10 respectively, and defensive end Jeff Hamm was credited with eight unassisted tackles.

Oklee has a tough draw this week, visiting Gonvick-Trail for a 3:30 p.m. meeting with the unbeaten conference-favorite Bulldogs.

Hallock 41
MCC 7

Hallock out-gained Marshall County Central 308 yards to 140 and the Bears out-scored the visiting Nordics 41-7 Friday night in Top of the State Conference nine-man play.

A 26-point second quarter did the trick. "They're a good team," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Sam Gebhart. "They're big, and they execute well."

Marshall County Central trailed 41-7 until Lee Pemberton scored on a 12-yard fourth quarter run.

"I might be prejudiced," said Gebhart, "but I actually felt we played with them until our mistakes caught up to us. We had some breakdowns on defense, and we had a couple of turnovers on offense."

Danni Halvorson led the Marshall County Central defense with 19 tackles, five of them unassisted. Pemberton was in on 11 stops and defensive back Greg Grahm played a strong second half with eight tackles.

Marshall County Central, 0-3, faces Goodridge-Grygla Friday at 4 p.m. in Grygla.

Stephen 28
Goodridge-Grygla 12

Goodridge-Grygla fell to 0-3 for the year following a 28-12 Friday night Top of the State Conference loss at Stephen.

Shawn Groven scored on a pair of short touchdown runs for the Blue Devils, who showed improvement over a 40-6 drubbing at the hand of Hallock a week erlier, but still came out a loser.

"We played better, but we gave up the big play," said the Goodridge-Grygla coaches.

Tony Moen played well in the Goodridge-Grygla defensive line, while Groven, Jeff Wayne and Steve Kriel all had solid defensive efforts, according to the coaching staff.

Goodridge-Grygla hosts Marshall County Central Friday in a 4 p.m. homecoming game at Grygla.

About 56 per cent of the 58 million children under age 18 had mothers in the labor force in 1984; 48 per cent of all children under age 6 (9.3 million) had working mothers, according to "Working Mothers and Their Children," a fact sheet issued by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Reference Books Are TRF Library's Stock In Trade

(1986 marks the 20th anniversary of the Thief River Falls public library in its present building. To celebrate this event, the library is holding an open-house during the week of October 6-11 with special programming, and the introduction of a new service: Toddler books.

1986 also marks the 85th anniversary of the public library's existence in Thief River Falls. Following is another installment in a five part series on the library. For more information contact the Thief River Falls Public Library at 101 East First Street; Thief River Falls, MN 56701.)

When readers need readily-available information, answers to specific questions or the start of a research paper, the reference area is the place to go. Reference books are located in the low shelving units in the main portion of the library.

Encyclopedias

Encyclopedias are a good source of ready information. Three good reasons for using an encyclopedia when you're looking up information on a subject or topic are:

(1) Get a handle on the topic. If you are writing on a topic which is unfamiliar to you, an encyclopedia can get you started by giving you an overview of the whole topic. The more you know about a topic, the easier it will be to find additional information. When you know little about the topic it is hard to know how to start reasearching it. . so start with the encyclopedia.

(2) Narrow the topic. The article in any encyclopedia will give you a good idea of how broad the topic is. Often the way in which the information on the topic is organized in the article will provide ideas for narrowing the topic.

(3) Discover sources of additonal information. The bibliography often found at the end of an encyclopedia article gives suggestions for additional sources of information on the topic.

There are basically two types of encyclopedias, general and subject. The "Encyclopedia Britannica" and the "Encyclopedia Americana" are general encyclopedias. The "Encyclopedia of World Art" and the "McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology" are subject encyclopedias.

Scope is the main difference between these two types of encyclopedias. General encyclopedias try to cover all subjects, while the subject encyclopedias give more in-depth coverage to a specific subject area. Despite this difference, you will usually find the following attributes common to both:

(1) Multivolumed; (2) comprised or relatively long articles; (3) articles arranged in alphabetical order; (4) articles written by a variety of contributors who are specialists in their fields; (5) bibliography following many of the articles; and (6) an index to all of the volumes.

To find general encyclopedias, check the card catalog for the subject heading Encyclopedia and Dictionaries. If you want a Spanish-language encyclopedia, check the subject heading Encyclopedias and Dictionaries, Spanish.

To find subject encyclopedias, check the card catalog for the subject followed by the subdivision Dictionaries. (It sounds strange, but that's what you do.). Both the dictionaries and encyclopedias for a subject are listed under the same subheading: Dictionaries. Many works have some of the attributes of the encyclopedia and some of the dictionary. Since many works are definitely borderline cases, having both dictionaries and encyclopedias listed under the same subheadings is actually a good idea.

Example:: Looking under the subject heading Economics, Dictionaries, you will find both dictionaries and encyclopedias focusing on economics.

Note: Usually subject encyclopedias exist for the various branches of knowledge rather than for every specific subject area. If no encyclopedia is listed under such a specific heading as the one in the example above, broaden the subject heading: try Social Sciences dictionaries.

Dictionaries

Just as there are two types of encyclopedias, so are there two types of dictionaries: language and subject. Language dictionaries define the words of a specific language, while subject dictionaries focus on those words which have special meaning in the context of that subject. Both have the same attributes:

(1) Brief word definitions; (2) authoritive word spellings; and (3) Words arranged alphabetically. Note: Such an arrangement is so synonymous with our idea of a dictionary that the phrase "dictionary arrangement; is another way of saying alphabetically.

To find language dictionaries, check the card catalog for the language you want and add the subdivision Dictionaries. Example: English Language, Dictionaries; French Language, Dictionaries.

To find subject dictionaries, check the card catalog for the subject you want and add the subdivision Dictionaries. Example: Economics, Dictionaries; Chemistry, Dictionaries.

Other Reference Books

Thief River Falls library has a number of reference books to meet more specific needs than can be met by encyclopedias and dictionaries. They include almanacs, gazetteers, atlasses, handbooks, biographical reference tools and statistical abstracts. If you have questions, ask the librarian or library assistant for help in using these materials.

Information Networking

A library is no longer only a collection of books. It is also a collection of audiovisual software and hardware, magazines, newspapers and artifacts as well as being a provider of programming and information. The provision of information is becoming increasingly important to library patrons as technology speeds us ahead.

Sometimes information is not available at a particular library. Does that mean the informational needs of library patrons cannot be met? No! As a member of the Northwest Regional Library system, the Thief River Falls public library can obtain information and material from libraries across the country through interlibrary loan. This is done by regional library systems sharing materials and information with each other. A computer terminal is located in the central services area in Thief River Falls. This terminal is used to transmit requests received from anyone in the region for materials which the region does not own.

The St. Paul public library receives the request, searches its collection and those of other metropolitan libraries. If the material is more technical in nature, a request can be directed to MINITEX, the research service based at the University of Minnesota which accesses information in academic institutions in Minnesota and neighboring states. These interlibrary loan services are all provided at no cost to the user.

A final note: Visit the Thief River Falls public library soon, use any or all the library's services, ask questions and input any suggestions that may help the library serve you better. After all, the library's main emphasis is you.

AVTI To Offer Expanded Career Choices Program

Thief River Falls area vocational technical institute (AVTI) will offer, free of charge, expanded career choices as part of its fall class schedule. The class, offered through adult extension, is provided free of charge to single parents and homemakers and is designed for those who want to enter or re-enter the work force.

"I think it's important for those considering a career choice to realize the choices available to them," said Cherilyn Sorum, expanded career choices instructor. "This will assist students in building the self-esteem necessary to make their choices."

The 50-hour program is organized into three sections: Personal development, career development and employment preparation. Designed to help participants strengthen their self-concept and interpersonal skills, the personal development unit ranges from building self-esteem to making decisions and handling stress.

Focusing on strategies that culminate in individually-tailored career plans, the personal development unit examines participants' attitudes regarding money. Other unit topics include motivations for working, nontraditional job opportunities, the current and future job market, skills and interest assessments and steps in developing a detailed career plan.

Employment preparation, the final unit, includes the job application process, conducting a successful job campaign, transition to work and program evaluation.

Classes will begin October 7. For more information, contact adult extension at 1-800-222-2884 or 681-5424.

As of 1985, 69.0 per cent of women maintaining families were white, 28.8 per cent were black, and 8.9 per cent were of Hispanic origin, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

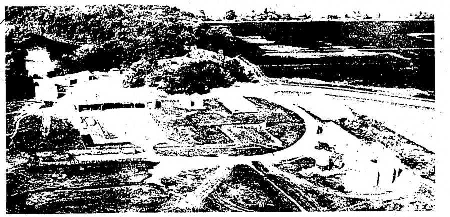
Bob Walds Win Farm Beautification Honors



FARM BEAUTIFICATION award winners for 1986 in the Pennington soil and water conservation district are the Bob Wald family of St. Hilaire. The farm is located on the east bank of the Red Lake river five miles south of Thief River Falls on the airport road and a mile west. The modern split level farm home is hidden by trees in the upper center of the above photo, next to a circular driveway which encircles the trees. Wald has storage for about 70,000 bushels of grain on the farmstead and for another 35,000 bushels on farms which he rents. The Walds farm about 1,800 acres, including 450 acres which they own. The farm was previously owned by Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wald. A pole barn and cattle feedlot are located at left in the photo above, and are maintained although no cattle have been raised commercially on the farm for several years. The field in the upper right is planted to alfalfa.

Grooming of approximately seven acres of farmstead to family satisfaction has resulted in naming of the Robert Wald family of rural St. Hilaire as farm beautification winner of the year by the Pennington county soil and water conservation district.

Bob and Rita Wald and their 14-year-old daughter Kari and 12-year-old son Darin farm in Rocksbury township, three quarters of a mile east and one mile north of St. Hilaire or five miles south of Thief River Falls on the airport road and one mile west. Their building site is snuggled against the east bank of the Red Lake river.

For the first few years after Bob married Rita Storbakken, they lived in a mobile home about half a mile east of the present farm which was occupied by Bob's father, Frank Wald. Frank, who is remarried following the death of his first wife, now lives in Thief River Falls.

Bob and Rita drew up their own plans for their four-bedroom house which they moved into in 1978. It was built just a few feet north of the original Wald farm home and features a kitchen and family room toward the front of the house, overlooking the yard and farm-related activity. The original house was moved away after the new home, a split-level design with a wood basement, was completed.

This year the Walds are farming 1,800 acres, including 450 acres which they own. About 1,400 acres are planted to small grain and row crops, the latter including about 200 acres of corn and 250 acres of sunflowers. Some acreage is devoted to government reserve programs and about 50 to 75 acres of alfalfa are harvested for hay.

For a number of years the Walds had livestock on the farm, feeding up to 200 head of feeder calves to finishing weight. This is the third year the farm has had no livestock other than for personal use as the efforts are concentrated on raising grain.

While Bob admits much of the yard maintenance falls to Rita during the busy summer months, he does get involved in tree planting and care, some flower selection and planting, and a good share of the mowing around the grain bins, machinery and now empty feedlot. Rita weeds the flower beds and does much of the mowing near the house, using the riding mower as her tanning equipment.

In addition to the expensive grass area which is kept attentively mowed, the yard includes flower beds, a vegetable garden, circular driveway and a number of trees. Future plans are to build a rock garden and plant it with perennials.

Although no well-kept yard just happens, the Wald farmstead has evolved without a long-range plan or a specific thought in mind.

"We have tried to pick up the junk and keep the place looking nice," Bob said, "but it has been for our own satisfaction. We sure weren't looking

45 Attend Forum On Federal Food Act Here Monday

Approximately 45 persons attended the public forum on the 1985 federal food security act Monday morning at the Thief River Falls city auditorium with Joan Growe, Minnesota secretary of state, as the main speaker. She was assisted by Tom Durand, office manager, who presented explanation of the situation.

Growe explained that the federal food security act has a provision repealing the "double jeopardy" clause in the uniform commercial code which applied to farm products. The cause provided that buyers of farm products were responsible for paying liens that may have existed against the product.

"This clearly was," Growe said, "in many cases, an unfair burden on purchasers of farm products who had in good faith purchased goods with liens against them and then ended up paying for them twice."

The food security act shifted the burden to the lender who must now ensure that the buyer is notified of the lien. "This, of course," Growe added, "is a substantial burden on the lender. Alternately, the federal law provides for the state, as an option, to adopt a central notice system for farm product liens. If this action is taken by the state, it shifts the burden back to the buyer and at the same time makes it somewhat easier for the buyer to obtain information about existing loans."

The Thief River Falls session was the second of a series of five. Secretary of State Growe also spoke to the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club and answered questions about elections and the food security act provisions.

Early Childhood Group To Meet

CONTINUING THERAPY for Amy Kilhan, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kilhan of rural Plummer, is being conducted with many volunteers on a daily basis. In the photo above, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Votava of Thief River Falls assist Amy in attempting to walk, using a head sling and track. Amy was born with hydracephalus (water on the brain) which caused brain damage and has been involved in the intensive therapy program for more than two years. Her progress and response has been gratifying to her parents and all who have assisted. A campaign is currently underway to assist the Kilhan family in completing a new home which had been started the year Amy was born and then put on hold because of expense involved with her situation. The Kilhan family, which includes five other children besides Amy, lives in a 16x24 one and one half story house with a 24x14 single story addition put up "temporarily" in 1978. Amy's therapy center is the downstairs bedroom. A story about the home building project will be carried in Monday's edition of the Times.

Two TRF Students At NDSU Receive Honors Recognition

Two area students have been listed among more than 260 entering freshmen recognized by the "entrance with honors" program at North Dakota state university in Fargo.

They are Lynell Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armstrong, and Michelle Kertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kertz, all of Thief River Falls.

Students receiving this honor have been ranked among the top 10 per cent of their high school classes or have had a composite score of 25 or more on the ACT or an equivalent score on a similar entrance examination.

The entrance with honors program is a statement of recognition and appreciation of an individual's high academic achievement and a vote of confidence in the student's continued academic success.

Lori Lundin - Stephen Schwartz United In Marriage Sept. 13

Lori Lundin and Stephen Schwartz were united in marriage September 13 at Trinity Lutheran church on this [illegible]. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lundin of Thief River Falls and the late Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz of Fond du Lac, WI.

Rev. D. Josh Nelson officiated at the [illegible] p.m. candlelight ceremony. The [illegible] was decorated with flowers in [illegible] of bronze, rust, yellow and [illegible]. Dorothy Larson served as organist with a mixed octet from Trinity choir singing, "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," "While They Are [illegible]," and "Time For Joy."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin accented with lace, featuring a bodice that was hand-pearled by the bride, and full, Princess Diana sleeves. The full skirt flowed to a cathedral-length train. Her pearl-beaded headpiece was fashioned of delicate, white silk flowers and blue and rust Starfire flowers, with a chapel-length veil flowing from the back. She carried a bridal bouquet of [illegible] lilies, yellow roses and babies' breath.

Jocelyn Trontvet, friend of the bride from Grand Forks, ND, served as her personal attendant.

Jeri Lundin, Brooklyn Center, was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were cousin of the bride, Kathy Dalager, Brooklyn Center; and friends, Sara McCumber, Superior, WI, and Kelly Storhaug, Thief River Falls. Their identical, floor-length gowns were of royal blue crepe, fashioned with self-ruffled sleeves, and featuring a short train and back ruffle. In their hair they wore wreaths of royal blue straw flowers and status flowers, and carried bouquets of rust lilies and mums interspersed with yellow pompon mums and babies' breath. The mother of the bride designed and fashioned the bridal gown and those of the bridesmaids.

Landsay Smith of Thief River Falls distributed candy kisses, wearing a floor-length royal blue gown similar to those of the bridal attendants with self ruffle at neckline and hem. Her brother, Wyatt Smith, distributed lace hearts filled with birdseed.

The groom's brother, Bill Schwartz, LaCrosse, WI, served as his best man. Other attendants were his brother, Joe Schwartz, LaCrosse, WI; brother-in-law, Jay O'Connor, Brookfield, WI; and the bride's brother, Mark Lundin, Thief River Falls. John O'Connor, nephew of the groom, Brookfield, WI, and Wayne Smith, Thief River Falls, escorted the guests. All gentlemen of the wedding party wore black tuxedos and white shirts with black bow ties and cummerbunds. The groom wore a boutonniere of yellow roses, and all other attendants wore rust and yellow pompon mums.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of teal blue silk in a mock-wrap style with ruffled front detail and three-quarter length sleeves.

Guests of honor were the groom's aunt, Fern Schultz; and aunts and uncle of the bride, Alice Lundin and Morris and Ginko Lundin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held by the parents of the bride in the church parlors. Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mattson of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Deterling of Fairmont. Arlene Thune, friend of the family from Thief River Falls, arranged the fresh flowers decorating the reception hall.

Linda Bernhardson, Angle Inlet, registered the guests and Stacie Hansen of Thief River Falls and Chris Schwartz, LaCrosse, WI, were in charge of the gifts. Punch was served by Cindy Swanson, Lakeville, and Brad Swanson, Cockysville, MD.

The wedding cake was a three-tiered confetti cake, decorated with rust and yellow mums and asparagus ferns. Topping the cake was a golden Christogram. The cake was baked and decorated by the bride's mother, Izzy Melin and Arlene Thune. Marilyn Garry, Euclid, and Hilda Bartz, Ada, cut and served the wedding cake, with Jean Tureson, Greenbush, and Birdie Wheeler, Brooklyn Center, pouring. Waitresses were Molly O'Connor, Stacie Hansen and Sue Tureson.

Special guests attending the ceremony were Fern Schultz, Mukwanago, WI; Kathy and Chet Dickow and Brad, Kenosha, WI; Alice Lundin, Denver, CO; Grace Lundin, Marine on the St. Croix; Gladys and Ordean Kiltie, Fort Wayne, IN; Stewart and Arlene Whelan and Theresa, New Hope; Gladys Bartz, Ada; Jordan and Birdie Wheeler, Brooklyn Center; Hilda and Wallace Bartz, Ada; and Hilda Benson, Grand Forks, ND.

Other out-of-town guests came from Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Fond du Lac, LaCrosse and Superior, WI; Chicago, IL; Grand Forks, ND; and the Minneapolis area.

The bride and groom will be at home at 7001 Crest Drive in Maple Grove. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, and St. Luke's hospital school of nursing in Duluth, and was a registered nurse at Sacred Heart hospital in Eau Claire, WI, prior to her marriage. The groom is a graduate of St. Mary's Springs high school, Fond du Lac, WI, the University of Wisconsin at Oshkosh, WI, and is a data processing supervisor with ITT Consumer Finance in St. Lo[illegible] Park.

A Bed Race And Sunflower Keep VH Residents Guessing

Residents of Valley Home enjoyed cheering for staff members who participated in the Moonlight Madness bed races August 19. Those who took part were Floyd Dalzell, Francis Gustafson, Judy Gustafson, Pam Walker and Bill Hawkyard. The group also had its picture in the Times. Also, a contest was held to guess the August first height of a sunflower plant growing in front of the home. Hilda Johnson was the lucky winner with her guess of six feet, 10 inches.

New residents welcomed to the home were Olene Mathson of Oklee, Helmer Melhouse and Ella Roy of Thief River Falls and Augot Wagner of Middle River. Serving as hostesses for Sunday dinners during the month were Elida Eliason, Mildred Walker, Olga Benson, Mary Welch, Marie Anderson and Marion Herrian.

On the thirteenth, 23 residents, along with Verna Rood and Naomi Rolf, visited Oakland Park to root for the Valley Home team in the monthly bowling game. Oakland Park kept the honors this month. After the game, a picnic dinner was served to all in the shelter at Oakland Park, consisting of potato salad, fruit salad, pickles, hamburger or hot dogs, strawberry or vanilla ice cream cones, pears and bananas.

Craft shop and outdoor workshop helpers were treated to a special dinner in their honor in the picnic area at Valley Home August 4. About 20 workers enjoyed corn on the cob, barbecued turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, fresh buns and sherbet with the residents.

Celebrating birthdays in August were Ingeborg Beckman, August 3; Julia Alexander, 14; Selma St. Martin, Janette Helle and Elphie Anderson, all August 17; Leverne Underdahl, 19; Otto Causin, Alfred Sparby and Myrtle Vistad, all August 20; Floyd Mathieu, 24; Alpha Baranowski, 25; and Amanda Hinden, 29. The monthly celebration was held August 29 with Rev. Arthur Ortmann of Warroad showing a gospel film. Honored guests, seated at the birthday table, received a special gift from the home and fresh cinnamon rolls for afternoon coffee in their honor.

Treats served by birthday celebrants were sherbet and cookies by Janette Helle; marble cake and ice cream by Selma St. Martin, and cake and ice cream by Myrtle Vistad, Otto Causin, Alfred Sparby and Alpha Barnowski. Other treats during the month were homemade doughnuts by St. Bernard's guild, muffins by Esther circle of Trinity Lutheran church and breads served by Mary circle of Trinity church.

Visiting during the month with Hilda Hauge Johnson were Mr. and Mrs. Magne Norbo and daughter, Elizabeth, of Stavanger, Norway; Rev. and Mrs. Ron Wendell Phillips (Mrs. Johnson's grand-niece) and sons of Whitefish, MT, who were on their way to New York to visit his father; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tepper of Klamath Falls, OR; Mrs. Sam Hauge of Seal Beach, CA, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Johnson; and a grand-nephew, Mr. and Mrs. James Moffett and daughters, Rebecca and Marlene of San Diego, CA.

Entertainment provided during August were the Silvertones from Zion Lutheran church, the Happy Seniors rhythm band, and Mary circle of Trinity presenting a program. The Silverton 4-H club and leaders visited and displayed clothing, crafts, quilts, art work, pictures, flowers and food preservation that had won ribbons at the Pennington county fair. They served homemade cookies to all who came to the demonstration.

Religious services were conducted by area clergymen and churches. Visiting were Rev. Ollie Urdahl with singers Mark, Kelly and Barry, Rev. Floyd Dalzell, Rev. Sheldon Lorenson, Rev. Berton Hushagen of the Abundant Life church, Deloris Berg and Carol Waswick presenting a sing-along, Rev. Dan Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Staie of the Assembly of Good church, Rev. John Beck of St. John Lutheran church, Rev. Gary Moore of Calvary and St. Pauli Lutheran churches, Dean Paskewitz and Don Johnson of Faith Lutheran Brethren church.

Also conducting services were Arthur Joppru with Esther Hagen as pianist and Wayne Peterson singing, Jennings Jensen of the Evangelical Free church, Dennis Pederson and a group from the Evangelical Covenant church, Bible studies in the morning by Judith Wold and Art Grimstad of Our Saviour's church, mass by Revs. Dave Super and Stan Bourassa of St. Bernard's Catholic church, Harvey Dyrud, and ladies from the Ebenezer Lutheran church of rural Oklee.

THEN and NOW!

A SILKY STORY

Silk has been associated with romance and royalty, passion and power for millenia. It is considered among the most beautiful and precious of all fabrics.

Silk was discovered in ancient China.

THEN: Silk had its beginnings in the mysterious East where tiny silkworms spun a continuous filament of delicate beauty but amazing strength.

For about 3,000 years, the Chinese kept their silken secrets — and their silkworms — within their own borders. By about 200 B.C., however, foreign fingers got hold of their precious fabric. Camel caravans carried their gossamer cargo across the Gobi Desert and traveled the "Silk Route" through Baghdad and Damascus, where silks were sent on to the ruling centers of Europe.

In 553 A.D. the Emperor Justinian of Constantinople persuaded a pair of Persian monks to go to China as missionaries to learn the secrets of the silk industry and to smuggle out silkworms in bamboo walking sticks. The supply of silk in the West increased, but so did demand.

NOW: Today, silk is as desirable and luxurious as ever. No longer restricted to royalty as in old Byzantium, it can be enjoyed in ethereal silken blouses, elegant silk suits, sinfully sensuous silk lingerie and even in hair care products.

One leading hair care company has discovered a method of putting silk in a bottle so it can enhance and enrich the effects of shampoos and conditioners. The same opulent qualities of silkiness and shimmer, strength and resilience found in silk fabric, can now be transferred to hair by using new Alberto Natural Silk Shampoos and Conditioners from the Alberto-Culver Co.

Many modern Americans have discovered a way to make hair shimmer in the light and feel silky.

For what many consider the ultimate in luxury, today's fortunate woman can literally cover herself in silk from head to foot! Long or short, hair that is shiny looking and silky to the touch reflects an image of someone that is in control. First impressions do count.

MN Waste Board Approves Grant To Polk County

Minnesota waste management board has approved a $1.5 million grant to Polk county for the development of a solid waste resource recovery facility in Fosston. The board approved the grant request during a special meeting Thursday in Crookston.

The proposed $7.9 million facility will process about 100 tons of municipal solid waste per day from Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater and Beltrami counties. The waste-to-energy plant will house two mass-burn incinerators, each with a capacity of 50 tons per day, and will be constructed on a three-acre site in the Fosston industrial park adjacent to a Land O'Lakes milk processing plant. Land O'Lakes has agreed to purchase steam generated by the facility.

The $1.5 million grant is funded through the waste management board's $15 million capital assistance program, which is designed to help local governments finance waste-to-energy incinerators, recycling plants and other alternatives to landfills.

"The praise belongs to county and city officials for a fine job in putting this project together," Sen. Roger Moe said. "They have done well to search out available financial assistance. The future success of projects like this will depend on two factors, flexible state policy in establishing rules and regulations for solid waste management and the continued cooperation of local officials."

Minnesota department of energy and economic development will provide a grant of $356,000 for the project. Polk county will raise almost $5.8 million through the sale of general obligation bonds.

Roseau Library Friends Sponsor Artist Series

Friends of the Libraries of Roseau county will sponsor a five-session series of art appreciation programs entitled, "Let's Look at Art." The programs will begin September 18 and continue on alternate Thursday evenings, featuring either a movie or slides from the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. A local artist will be program host for each session and will expand upon the topic by means of discussion, display or demonstration related to the movie or slide.

Programs are designed to appeal to the general public, not only to people intending to become artists. The series will be a simple, informal sharing to help viewers see art works with an appreciative eye through an improved understanding of artistic elements such as color and composition.

First session will be "Introduction to Understanding Art," with local artist-host, Shelly McMillin, a commercial artist employed by Polaris. It will be held Thursday evening at the Roseau public library meeting room from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Second session, October 2, will be "Color and Light in Painting" and "Monet," with Marvin Espe, Wannaska artist, as host. Espe will also host the third session on October 30, "Impressionism." Fourth session will be October 16 with Paulette Harms Christianson, former teacher now living in Badger, as hostess. The session is entitled "Adventure in Art." The final program in the series will be "Art in the Western World," November 13, with Frances Karlsson, Roseau watercolor artist, and Annette Hermansen, who earned her art degree at Concordia college, as co-hostesses.

Donations to the coin basket will help pay postage on slides and movies, but there will be no admission charged.

National Adult Day Care Week Sept. 21 to 27

National adult day care week will be observed September 21 through 27. A relatively new service, adult day care consists of a variety of social and-or health-related services provided during the day in a group setting to older or chronically ill persons who return home in the evening.

"Adult day care allows people who are not totally independent to remain in the community and receive the support they need," explained Sherryll Irvine, who administers Oakland Park nursing home which offers adult day care.

While day care participants usually are not able to live without some assistance, they do not require 24-hour nursing care. Many live with relatives who work or need a respite from the responsibilities of care-giving. Others live alone and require periodic assistance or simply desire the opportunity for social contact they get through adult day care.

According to Sherryll Irvine, older people, their families and the community all benefit from adult day care for these reasons:

1. Adult day care enables chronically ill or disabled persons to receive the care they need in a community setting. This can prevent inappropriate or premature nursing home placement.

2. Day care provides a coordinated program of services, often including restorative care as well as socialization and preventive care, in a single setting.

3. It offers the older person an opportunity to be with other people and provides an enriching educational and social experience.

4. Day care gives family members access to counseling services and provides relief from the 24-hour responsibilities of caregiving.

"Smaller families, increased number of women who work and greater family mobility mean there are fewer people available during the day to care for growing numbers of older people," she explained. "Adult day care helps fill that need. It enhances lives and helps the elderly stay socially active and involved in the community." For further information contact Sharon Hoglo, social worker, who coordinates the home's adult day care program at 681-1675.

Bob Wald Family Wins Award For Beautification

for any awards. It seemed like each year we would just sort of branch out a little more and that would mean more grass to mow or more trees to plant."

The care and neatness exhibited in the yard itself also carries over to the tractors and line of machinery. Recognizing that equipment he purchases will likely have to last for a good long time, Bob keeps it cleaned and well maintained so that it looks newer than it actually is.

Bob has served on the St. Hilaire Cooperative elevator board for nine years and was a charter member and first president of the St. Hilaire Lions club. He was president of the Thief River Falls Livestock Cooperative shipping association for seven or eight years until it merged with the Middle River shipping association.

Bob chairs the charitable gambling effort at the St. Hilaire liquor store for the Lions club, served on the adult agriculture advisory committee at the Thief River Falls AVTI, has been a member of the Thief River Falls Bowling association and enjoys hunting, fishing and golf when he can find the time. In recent years the spare time for his recreational pursuits largely disappeared but he continues an interest in them.

Rita's activities include running errands, accounting, gardening, and the yard work. She is a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church guild.

Bob's father, Frank, works on the farm both spring and fall. Gary Boman also works seasonally for the farm.

"We have enjoyed getting our yard in the shape we want it in," Bob said, "but we honestly haven't had the time to enjoy it like we would have wanted to do."

The Walds will receive a recognition plaque at the spring annual meeting of the soil and water conservation district.

All Invited To Curling Fun Night

Fun Night will be held at the Thief River Falls curling club at 7 p.m. The evening is for persons who are interested in joining the club, as well as for those who have curled in previous years. Food and beverage will be provided.

LEC News Reports TRF Store Thefts

Several thefts were reported among incidents in Thief River Falls police news during the past week, including a burglary at Florence's cafe in which about $1,600 in cash and stamps was taken.

On September 14 Florence's cafe reported that a burglary had taken place sometime overnight. About $1,600 in cash and a number of stamps was taken. Entry was gained by breaking a window. The burglary was discovered by personnel when the cafe opened in the morning. It is under investigation.

Thefts: On September 9 Vernon Anenson, Thief River Falls, reported a bike taken from his yard. It was a boy's 20-inch tan Huffy valued at $40.

On September 8, after an investigation into a theft at T-59 Motel, Kevin Gerholdt, 23, Thief River Falls, was questioned. Charges for theft over $250 will be filed against Gerholdt. Some of the property was recovered.

On September 10 Lakeview Construction, Glenville, reported the theft of a roll of chain link fence, 24 inches by 320 feet, which was located near the east side of the First street bridge in the construction area. The fencing was valued at $624.

On September 10 Michael Bongard, Thief River Falls, reported some gas stolen from his vehicle and also some vandalism done to his vehicle while it was parked in Knight avenue parking lot. Damage was estimated at $120.

On September 13 an on-duty officer found a phone book cover laying on the roadway in the Pamida parking lot. Upon checking, he found the phone book missing, as well as the handset and cord, from the pay phone booth located in the lot. The theft loss was estimated at $29 and damage at $65.

On September 14 a burglary was reported at D-and-H-market which happened during the night. An estimated $300 in merchandise was taken and damage to the building was also estimated at $300. It is under investigation.

On September 15 Northland Village reported a sign taken from the manager's office sometime Friday night. Value of the sign was $10.

Theft—recovery. On September 10 a bicycle reported by Cheryl Kees as stolen on July 27 was located in a swamp in the Parkview area.

On September 9 two females from Grand Forks were brought to the attention of the police department when they attempted to return merchandise under suspicious circumstances. The merchandise was found to have been shoplifted in Crookston and the investigation will be continued by the Crookston police.

Accidents. On September 9 at 2:50 p.m. a car driven by Cy Thompson, Thief River Falls, turned south onto Columbia from Parkview and struck a parked car owned by Harold Burrell, Thief River Falls. Damage was estimated at $700 to the Thompson car and $2,000 to the Burrell car. Thompson also complained of back pain and was taken to the hospital.

On September 11 at 7:44 a.m. a car driven by Terry Rasmussen, Thief River Falls, who was going north on Kendall and a car driven by Tracy Ostby, Thief River Falls, who was going west on Anne street, collided in the intersection. Ostby then hit a street sign. Damages were estimated at $1,000 to each vehicle. Rasmussen also received a cut on the hand.

On September 13 at 11:11 p.m. a car driven by Mark Kreuter, Thief River Falls, and a van driven by Douglas Booth, Thief River Falls, collided in the intersection of First street and Maple avenue. Damages were estimated at $10,000 to the Kreuter vehicle which was totaled and $200 to Booth's van. Kreuter and a passenger in his car, Mitch Hemmesch, both sustained bumps to their heads.

Other. On September 10 after an incident in Riverview trailer court Lonnie Ray Lane, 30, Thief River Falls, was charged with assault. On September 12 after an incident behind the Rusty Nail, Nathan Eugene Olson, 23, route 3, was charged with disorderly conduct. On September 14 at 2:49 two juveniles were found in the area of the Curling club and they had been drinking. Charges against the juveniles, ages 14 and 16, are pending in juvenile court.

420 Farmers Will Share $65,000 In AVTI Scholarships

Sixty-five thousand dollars in scholarships are now being divided among 420 farmers and farm families across Minnesota on behalf of the governor's rural development council and the state board of vocational technical education.

Active farmers who have been primary operators of their farms for less than five years have been selected to receive beginning farmer scholarships for participation in their local adult farm business management program offered through the state's area vocational technical institutes and high schools.

"I feel honored to be able to make the scholarship awards this year. Minnesota farmers represent the best in agriculture," said Tom Johnson, chair of the governor's rural development council. "As an active farmer, I understand the challenges of farming in this time of crisis. I am confident that by participating in an adult farm business management program, farmers will gain the skills that will be needed to keep improving their operation and maintain their family businesses."

Money for the governor's council scholarships is the interest on a trust fund established from monies paid back from state crop loans during the Depression.

Due to special funding of vocational farm business management programs by the 1986 Minnesota legislature, more farmers and farm families benefit from the same amount of scholarship funds. Last year, the same $65,000 in scholarship monies provided for 392 scholarships.

Pig And Sheep Production Will Be UMC Courses

Pig production as an alternative enterprise is being offered at the University of Minnesota at Crookston. The course will discuss what it takes to begin raising feeder pigs.

Sheep as an alternative enterprise will also be a course offered at the University of Minnesota at Crookston November 17 to 25. The course will discuss what it takes to enter sheep production.

Professors Harvey Peterson and Truman Tilleraas will coordinate teaching of the courses in five two-hour sessions starting November 17 and ending November 25 at the vocational agriculture department at the Fosston high school. The course will be taught on a pass-no credit basis.

Funds to support the offering of the course were provided by the 1986 Minnesota legislature. Instead of $40.80 for the one credit class, the cost will be $5 for each participant, according to Gary McVey, chairman of UMC's agriculture division.

The Minnesota extension service and adult and high school vocational agriculture instructors have assisted the ag division in planning this course.

Registration is required by Thursday, September 26. To register, write Gary McVey, Agriculture division chairperson, Hill Hall, University of Minnesota, Crookston, MN 56716. To register by phone, call McVey at 218-281-6510, extension 302.

Teacher From TRF Participates In BSU Workshop

Tom Lawrence of Thief River Falls participated in a tests and measurements workshop offered this summer at Bemidji state university. The workshop was designed to provide an analytical survey of tests and measures in health, physical education and recreation. It also provided students with development of a testing program.

Lawrence is the electronics instructor of grades nine through 12 in School District 564. He felt the workshop enabled him to produce accurate tests for his students.

School Boards Ass'n. Meetings Slated In Area

Regional meeting of the Minnesota School Boards association will be conducted Tuesday beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Fertile high school cafeteria.

The session of Norman, Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties is one of 24 area meetings being conducted throughout the state. Session for Kittson, Marshall, Lake of the Woods and Roseau counties will be held next Wednesday at the Tri-County high school cafeteria in Karlstad.

Annual meetings are the first step in developing MSBA's 1987 legislative program. Over 2,000 school board members and administrators representing Minnesota's 434 public school districts will participate in the meeting series.

Conference On Upper Mississippi Set At Bemidji

A public conference addressing the past, present and future of Lake Bemidji and the upper Mississippi river ecosystem will be held September 25-26 in Sattgast hall at Bemidji state university.

"This forum will allow governmental, private and public interests to share knowledge and concerns about the status and future of the lake and river," commented Dr. Steve Spigarelli, director of the center for environmental studies. "The presentations will be non-technical in nature and will be made by groups or individuals who are actively involved in various aspects of the assessment, management and use of this resource."

Among the conference topics are the development of the region, ecological aspects of the watershed, water quality, fisheries and wildlife, land use and regulation, and economics in the natural or environmental sciences.

"The sessions will interest anyone who recognizes the value of this natural resource," said Dr. Charles Holt, coordinator of the BSU aquatic biology program who is co-chairing the conference. "It will be of specific interest to professionals interested in the management of the resource as well as educators."

While there is no registration charge for the conference, individuals planning to attend a specific presentation or the entire program are encouraged to contact Spigarelli or Holt. The registration desk in Sattgast hall will be open at 8 a.m. each day.

Pre-registration materials and more information are available by writing Dr. Steve Spigarelli or Dr. Charles Holt, Sattgast Hall, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601-2699, phone 218-755-2910 or 218-755-2877.

ACCEPTING AND FRIENDLY. Four baby squirrels were recently found motherless by Scott Heatherington and Sheryl and John Novacek. Their mother was killed by a car when crossing the street near Peterson-Biddick Co. Workers said the mother used to eat fermented grain in the area and then stagger back across the street, which probably accounts for her untimely death. The baby squirrels have adapted well to their new environment. They were quite friendly and accepting to students at Lincoln high school.

SHERYL NOVACEK holds one of four orphaned baby squirrels that were recently shown to students at Lincoln high school. Sheryl and Scott Heatherington, a teacher at Lincoln high school, found the baby squirrels and are caring for them until they can make it on their own. They were found after their mother was run over by a car near Peterson-Biddick. Workers at Peterson-Biddick said the mother used to cross the street and eat fermented grain and then stagger across the street again, which probably accounts for her untimely death. The Novaceks and Heatherington said they have no intention of keeping them as pets and the only reason they adopted them was because they were too young to survive without a mother and had no food stored for winter. They are being fed only food they can find in nature and will later be released.

More Films Now Available At NW Regional Library

CPAs Give Tips For Investment In Stock

Some people know when to make a move in the stock market by the position of the planets. Others depend on intuition. For those who would rather give common sense a try, the Minnesota Society of CPAs recommends some simple guidelines that can give you a winning advantage on Wall Street.

(1) Don't invest more than you can afford to lose. CPAs remind you to keep enough money aside to meet your everyday needs as well as emergencies. Picking a winning stock won't help you if you are forced to sell before its price goes up.

How much money to invest in the stock market depends on your financial situation, the nature of your other investments, your investment strategy and several other factors. Whatever you invest, to be safe, first build a financial base by putting your money into low-risk stocks. Then move on to growth, aggressive growth and speculative stocks only when you feel comfortable doing so.

(2) Be sure to set some goals. Do you want to invest for short-term profit or long-term appreciation? Once you decide, buy only those stocks that fit your strategy.

(3) Don't hold on to losers. No one can invest without running into at least some disappointing deals. The trick is to cut your losses by getting out before you lose too much money. Many investors find this hard to do. After all, no one likes to take a loss, much less admit they picked a sour investment. Others become attached to a favorite stock and won't sell it. Remember, if a stock loses half its value, its price will have to double for you to break even.

(4) Diversify. One basic rule for gaining in the stock market is to diversify your holdings. Too many investments of different types, however, can be difficult to track. A good mutual fund is one recognized way to diversify.

(5) Look to the future. Looking only at a stock's history is not the best way to measure future performance. You may find a clue in the past, but the business and economic forces the company faces in the next few years could hold much of the stock's fate. Take the time to consider what lies ahead. By the same token, don't wait until it is too late to make a purchase.

(6) Don't take tips. Rumors abound in investment circles as individuals hunt for those rare deals that will double or triple their money. The serious investor is not apt to act on questionable advice.

(7) Be patient. While some investors are slow to sell, others are too quick to unload. Even the best investments need time to pay off. Don't panic or react too quickly to adverse news unless it relfects serious problems at the company and in its industry. The company may very well survive bad headlines.

(8) Be realistic. If you are prudent, your goal will not be to make a lot of money in a short period of time. Those great buys that produce hefty overnight profits are rare. Better to follow your strategy closely, be patient, and enjoy the profits when they come.

(9) Find a stock broker you can trust. The personal chemistry between you and your broker, and subsequently how easy it is to communicate, can make the difference between success and failure. Find one who listens and understands your goals.

(10) Buy what you know. Many people fail to tap their own expertise and knowledge when choosing stocks. If, for example, you are involved in the publishing industry and know all about the industry's problems and opportunities, don't buy stocks in the food industry where you may have less practical knowledge. If you are a regular customer at a large company, you may already know enough about the company to evaluate the prospects for its securities.

Purchased wisely, stocks can be an important part of your financial plan. But choosing the winners is not easy. It will help to follow a clear strategy and make careful choices.

Yield Prospects For Grain Crops Show Big Drops

September report shows a production increase from the August report for soybeans only, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. All other commodities either held steady or decreased. Small grain yield prospects have dropped sharply in the past month.

Corn is forecast at 695.4 million bushels, the same as a month earlier. Yield is forecast at 122 bushels per acre.

Soybeans, on the other hand, jumped to an anticipated new record production of 174.6 million bushels. Acreage for harvest is down 100,000 acres from the earlier forecasts due to drown out and hail damage. However, yield at 36 bushels is up two from August and matches the record yield set in 1978.

Oats yields led the landslide with a drop of 13 bushels per acre to 49. Production at 41.7 million is down 21 per cent from last month. Humid weather increased incidence of rust in the oats crop, affecting a decline in yield.

Barley followed with a nine bushel drop in yield to 55 bushels per acre. A new production of 55 million would be down 14 per cent from August 1.

Spring wheat yield was next in line with a six bushel drop to 39. Production now at 109.2 million would be down 13 per cent from August.

Last in yield declines is durum wheat. Yield is now forecast down five bushels per acre to 41. A production of 1,394,000 bushels would be down 11 per cent.

All wheat production nationally is forecast at 2.12 billion bushels, the lowest level since 1978 and down 13 per cent from 1985. The 90 per cent confidence interval for this production forecast is 2.08 to 2.16 billion bushels.

TRF Library Lists Saturday Films

Children's films will be shown each Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Thief River Falls public library.

On September 20 "Everybody Knows That" and "The Little Prince" will be shown. "Everybody Knows That" is about a girl named Patty who has exciting new experiences in kindergarten, but also encounters stereotypes about what girls can and can't do. "The Little Prince" is a colorful clay animation about the popular book written by Antoine de Saint-Exupery.

On September 27 a film called "Mom and Dad Can't Hear Me" will be offered. The story is about a young girl and the adjustment she must make because her parents can neither hear nor speak.

On October 4 "Peter and the Wolf" will be shown. It is a story about an enchanting new version of Prokofiev's musical classic, featuring real people and real animals in a colorful, turn of the century American setting. "Where Time Is A River," an excellent art film, will also be shown.

Say Emergency Storage Benefits Only Temporary

Based on August 1 surveys, the U.S. department of agriculture indicated that this year's corn crop could be the second largest on record. Despite the drought in the Southeast, the fall corn harvest is expected to yield 8.32 billion bushels, down six per cent from the 8.87 billion bushel record harvest of 1985.

The soybean harvest is estimated at 1.98 billion bushels, down six per cent from a year earlier. In an effort to accommodate the increasing glut of farm products, the agriculture department has been examining a variety of emergency storage measures.

Most recently, President Reagan surprised attendees of the Illinois state fair by announcing an extension of short-term price-support loans to farmers who leave unprotected grain on the ground because their crops exceed local grain-storage capacity. According to this program, farmers can place harvested crops under federal loan and store the crops unprotected on the ground for four months, after which time they must be moved into better storage for the normal nine-month crop-loan period. This is the first time that such a program has been implemented.

The program is intended to alleviate pressure on farmers to make distress sales on the open market, thereby strengthening prices. While the program may, in fact, minimize expected harvest price declines. Grain analysts agree that the benefits derived directly from this program will be short-lived at bdst.

Faced with a second consecutive year of bumper crops and sluggish export demand, this program may only accentuate a poor demand picture for U.S. grain. The nature of the program will probably reduce the quality of the grain, said David Bartholomew, soybean specialist. "Foreign buyers know that the U.S. ships its poorest quality anyway and will avoid grain of U.S. origin even more."

The farmer will take a five cents-per-bushel discount if his grain is stored in a non-approved facility, Bartholomew said. The loan document requires delivery of good qusality. Regardless of whether the farmer sells to the government or to the industry, he wil, have to deliver poor quality and take further discounts, he explained. "The five-cents-per-bushel discount is minor compared to what the ultimate discount could be," he added.

Mark Meyer, grain analyst, feel that there will not be much farmer participation in the expanded crop-loan program. Certificates will be the better alternative, he said. "Farmers will be putting their grain under loan, redeeming the corn, selling it on the cash market, cleaning out the bins and then starting to fill them up all over again," he explained. Farmers are not familiar with on-ground storage, whereas the certificates do not change their way of storage.

Bartholomew expects soybeans to go into good storage facilities and very little to be stored outside because they are worth more per unit of volume than corn. "One thousand cubic feet of soybeans at $4 75 per bushel is worth more than 1,000 cubic feet of corn at $1.60 per bushel," he explained. The farmer will dedicate his approved storage space to the higher-priced commodity.

While there is likely to be less pressure on prices during harvestime as a result of this program, there will be more pressure early next year because the grain has to come off ground in four months, said Harlan Krumpfes, grain analyst. The program will cause a "secondary harvest movement" when the gruin comes to the marketplace in February, keeping the market on the defensive for some time.

With huge grain stocks looming ahead this year, the expansion of the crop-loan program my provide some temporary respite for the farmer. But it is apparent that it will not be the cure-all for growers. Farmers are trying to avoid low harvest prices, but Bartholomew pointed out that they will have low prices anyway due to potential quality problems resulting from on-ground storage.

"The farmer might as well deliver good quality at harvestime and get the grain into consumption if he is serious about trying to improve demand for U.S. products," Bartholomew added.

SHADOWS FALL on the back yard of the Bob Wald family home located in Rocksbury township about five miles south of Thief River Falls on the airport road and a mile west. The approximately seven acre yard is snuggled against the east bank of the Red Lake river. The Walds have been named farm beautification winners by the Pennington soil and water conservation district.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The harvest of the 1986 sugarbeet crop has begun in the Red River Valley. Along with the harvest an unusual amount of comment, much of which is totally inaccurate, has started as well.

Contrary to what some news reports indicate, the new sugar program is a "no cost to the government program." There are no subsidies to the grower nor to the sugar companies. The program provides for CCC loans, if necessary, that must be paid back with interest. The government cannot sell any forfeited sugar at less than 105 per cent of cost. A system of import quotas, set by the Secretary of Agriculture, keeps the supply and demand situation in balance.

During these difficult times for American farmers we cannot, as farmers, afford dissension among outselves. The Red River Valley Sugarbeet Growers are totally committed to a farm program that will provide all United States commodity producers the opportunity to make a fair profit.

Consumers are receiving a bargain in the food they purchase today. A little patience on the part of the consumer now will help all of us find a solution to the totally inadequate income many farmers are trying to live with.

Yours very truly,
-s- Patrick Mahar
President, R.R.V.S.G.A.

Three Cases In District Court Involve Sentences

Three defendants were sentenced by Judge Warren A. Saetre in district court in Thief River Falls at the Pennington county court house during the past week.

In Minnesota vs Marvin Bakken of Thief River Falls, one count of motor vehicle driver under the influence, a gross midemeanor, was dismissed and the court for the same offense carried a sentence of one year in the county jail plus a fine of $1,000 and $107.50 in court costs.

In Minnesota vs. Brian Wyman Wilde of Thief River Falls, a charge of disorderly conduct carried a sentence of 60 days in jail with a $700 fine, but the jail term and $400 of the fine were stayed for one year and he was placed on informal probation.

In Minnesota vs. Jarrod Theodore Wilde of Thief River Falls, a charge of disorderly conduct carried a fine of 60 days in jail and a $700 fine with jail term and $400 of the fine stayed for one year on conditions of an informal probation.

Bookmobile Gets Large Selection Of New Books

Northwest Regional library bookmobile is stocked with a large selection of new titles. All selections are based on popular demand, and reflect high interest areas from library materials requested most often plus topic suggestions taken from a recent survey of bookmobile patrons.

Many more new books are on order and these will also be added to the bookmobile collection as they arrive. Processing new books requires a number of staff with special skills and good team work. But much like the old story about the shoemaker and the elves much more gets done between taking patron's requests and delivering the finished product than many people realize. New titles on order will be processed as soon as Northwest Regional library headquarters receives them.

Young patrons will be pleased to find a large new color-illustrated book collection about dogs, cats, horses, airplanes, cars, trucks and other surprises.

Young adults will find a larger selection of favorite paperback romances to choose from. Adult mystery, romance, science fiction, fantasy and westerns are other topics readers will find in paperback.

Other new arrivals include books with topics on cooking, decorating and craft ideas, American history, parenting, quilting, collecting, self-help, inspirational and many others.

Heart Patient Support Group Forms At Erskine

A new support group for heart patients (attacks or surgery) and their families is being organized in the Erskine area. The first meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on September 28 at the Win-E-Mac apartments at the intersection of highways 2 and 59.

Goals of the new group are to provide (1) an informal atmosphere in which heart patients can obtain emotional support through interaction with others who have had similar experiences and (2) continuing education through presentations given by area professionals on topics related to heart health.

Specific topics will include how the healthy heart functions, what happens during a heart attack, diagnostic lab tests, medications, cardiovascular surgery, exercise and diet. Several panel discussions are also planned. Meetings will be conducted the fourth Sunday of each month through May of 1987.

Stan Murray, one of the founders of the Grand Forks heart support group will speak at the September 28 meeting. All meetings are free and open to the public. For more information, contact Dan Peterson, R.N., at 687-4663.

THE BOB WALD HOME is a four-bedroom split level house with a wood basement, built in 1978 and featuring the kitchen and family room toward the front of the house where farmyard activity can be observed. Bob and Rita Wald designed the house themselves. The home is located in a spacious yard which is well-trimmed and contains a number of floral and other plant accents. The Walds have been named farm beautification award winners for 1986 by the Pennington soil and water conservation district.

TRF Kiwanis Club Contributes To Camp Courage

Thief River Falls Kiwanis club recently contributed $100 to Courage Center to provide camperships for children and adults with physical disabilities and sensory impairments. The camperships will help sponsor campers at Camp Courage and Courage North, two residential camps for people with disabilities operated by Courage Center.

Camp Courage, located near Maple Lake, Minnesota, consists of two separate units — one for children and adults with physical disabilities and one for children with speech, hearing and language impairments. Established in 1955, it is the largest, most comprehensive facility of its kind in the nation. A second residential camp, Courage North, is located on Lake George in Northern Minnesota and features special sessions for hearing impaired teenagers in addition to programs for people with physical disabilities.

Candidates For Minnesota Fire Marshall Sought

Public safety commissioner Paul Tschida is seeking applicants who qualify for the position of state fire marshal. Tschida said he will accept applications until Dec. 1, 1986 and the appointment will be made in January.

classified position to manage the fire marshal division in the department of public safety include: (1) Fire service background; (2) management experience; (3) public relations background; and (4) ability to deal with the legislature and the media.

Tschida said he is looking for someone who is creative, innovative and open to change. The individual selected will be expected to promote the mission and mandates of the fire marshal division and must be an advocate of fire safety. It will be essential that the person filling the position be able to communicate with all fire services throughout Minnesota and be representative of them, Tschida said. The position opening follows the retirement of Wes Werner in June.

"Wes had more than 30 years experience in fire fighting and prevention. He was state fire marshal for 14 years during which time he managed an equal and equitable enforcement of the uniform fire code on a statewide basis and strengthened the fire marshal division and developed training programs for fire-fighters," Tschida said.

The fire marshal division has a staff of 50. It is responsible for fire safety inspections statewide, fire investigations in cooperation with local officials and fire prevention training and education.

Interested applicants can submit resumes to Commissioner Paul Tschida, Department of Public Safety, 211 Transportation Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

VFW And Heart Ass'n, Join In Scholarship Fund

VFW Heart scholarship applications currently are available through the American Heart association, Minnesota Affiliate. Applicants must be Minnesota high school seniors, college freshmen or sophomores interested in health sciences.

Established in 1981, the VFW Heart scholarship program is funded by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its ladies auxiliary and sponsored by the Minnesota affiliate of the American Heart association.

Scholarships will be presented to a minimum of three students. Each recipient will receive $1,200 and will work with an American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate researcher during the 1987 summer months. The recipients will be chosen on a merit basis by a Minnesota affiliate committee of medical professionals and lay people.

Research plays an important role in the fight against heart disease. Throughout the years, researchers have discovered new treatments and have recommended specific ways for Americans to reduce their risk factors of heart disease. With the VFW scholarships, the American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate encourages students to pursue a research career, and join in the battle against heart disease.

Application forms for the scholarships are available from local high school and college counselors, or from the American Heart Association, Minnesota Affiliate, 4701 West 77th Street, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55435, 612-835-3300.

All applications must be submitted to the Minnesota affiliate office by Nov. 1, 1986. Notification of scholarship awards will be made by Feb. 1, 1987.

Aune Participates In BSU Workshop On Teaching Skills

Reduced Tillage Gains Popularity As Money Saver

In 1984 18 per cent of Minnesota's corn acreage was produced by use of reduced tillage practices, and in 1985 accounted for 41 per cent, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

Since 1980 there's been a trend toward increased adoption of reduced tillage. But the recent increase may also be attributed to factors other than farmer's technological acceptance and implementation, notably the prices received and paid at the farm gate.

For example, the average farm price for U.S. corn dropped from $3.2[illegible] per bushel in 1983 to $2.60 in 1984, so production decisions for 1984 and 1985 probably reflect the previous year's farm price for corn.

A USDA survey in 1983 showed that 40 per cent of the farmer survey participants said that soil and water conservation and cost time savings were of equal importance in using reduced tillage.

However after a year of low crop prices, a greater percentage of farmers may choose reduced tillage for next season due to cost considerations alone. Reduced tillage systems may enhance income through using less machinery, energy and labor.

Washington Report

Sen. Dave Durenberger

At this year's Minnesota state fair, several dozen fair-goers stopped to question me about the future of this country's fuel ethanol industry.

Is the future of ethanol threatened, for example, by continuing low gas prices? And, what about all the claims that ethanol hurts automobile engines?

As one who has been a strong supporter of fuel ethanol, my confidence is not shaken by either of these tough challenges.

National security and U.S. economic interests insist that we continue to reduce our dependence on foreign sources of oil.

I'm extremely wary about the strategy of the Saudis, in particular, to use the current downturn in world oil prices to drive other oil producers out of business and eventually recapture their ability to control prices.

Expanding our use of fuel ethanol is an important part of beating this strategy and continuing our efforts to become more energy independent.

I'm also afraid I regard the concerns which have been raised in recent months about bad effects of ethanol on auto engines to be largely due to misinformation and misunderstandings.

Several studies have shown that cars run even cleaner and smoother on ethanol blended fuels than on straight gasoline.

Beyond the impact on energy independence, of course, expanding the use of ethanol is critical to the future of hard-pressed American farmers.

In 1985, about 240 million bushels of corn were used in the production of more than 600 million gallons of fuel ethanol. The National Corn Growers association has a goal of increasing the volume of ethanol produced so that, by 1990, it would consume one billion bushels of corn. That target is about equal to the amount of surplus corn that has been annually produced in the U.S. prior to the last two years.

Already, it's been estimated that ethanol production is responsible for an increase of about 10 cents per bushel in corn prices. If the goal of producing one billion gallons of ethanol was reached by 1990, the General Accounting Office estimates that $3.59 billion would be added to net farm income.

U.S. farm policy must continue to support exports of corn and other farm products as a way of reducing domestic surpluses and increasing farm income.

But, the realities of today's world economy — and the tough competitive situation U.S. farmers face in the international marketplace — suggest that expanding domestic non-food uses of corn and other farm products must also be an important part of U.S. farm policy.

But, the goal will never be realized as long as American motorists are being told that fuel ethanol fouls spark plugs, hurts fuel injection systems, makes cars harder to start in winter, and causes vapor lock in summer.

Detailed responses to each of these concerns are contained in an information pamphlet which I have prepared using farm, automobile, and petroleum industry sources. To obtain a copy of this informational pamphlet, please write or call my Minnesota office at 1020 Plymouth Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55402 or 800-752-4226.

To The Voters Of Pennington County

I would like to use this letter to introduce myself to the voters of Pennington county who do not know me and to let you know that I am a candidate for Pennington county recorder.

Seventeen years of practical experience which includes five years in real estate sales, seven years in bank mortgage and loan department and five years as deputy county auditor qualifies me to serve you as your county recorder.

I have been a resident of Pennington county for the past 26 years. I am married to Leonard A. Olson and own a farm in Rocksbury township.

I believe that voters should have a choice on who serves them in county government. I would like to personally meet all voters but this is almost impossible before November 4. But I will try to meet as many of you as possible.

Your vote and support in the general election on November 4 will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Consequences Of Bankruptcy Need To Be Considered

Some people think of bankruptcy as a deeply embarrassing situation. But for many, declaring bankruptcy may mean a fresh start, with protection from creditors or time to repay debts. If you think you are so in debt that personal bankruptcy may be your only course, the Minnesota Society of CPAs says you should be aware of some general guidelines about the financial aspects of the bankruptcy laws and the ramifications of filing under those laws.

Last year, nearly 340,000 debtors sought refuge under Chapters 7 and 13 of the federal bankruptcy law. If you are considering relief through personal bankruptcy, first understand the consequences.

Filing for bankruptcy could help you get back on your feet, but don't expect to be granted credit right away. A declaration of bankruptcy is a serious matter, and one that is reflected on your credit record for many years. During that time you will have to reestablish credit.

Doing so is difficult, but not impossible. You may want to build up your savings, and use them to secure a loan. Then, repay the loan promptly to start building a new credit history. But before you take out any loan, CPAs advise, make sure you will be able to repay it and that the money is put to good use.

Als, apply for a credit card at a local retailer. If you are issued one, use it wisely. If you are like some people, it may have been the poor use of credit cards that got you into trouble in the first place.

Which chapter of the federal law should you file under? Chapter 7, the more drastic course, wipes out all debts except taxes, alimony and child support. Debts secured by property, such as a home or car, normally have to be paid or you may lose the property, according to CPAs. However, an individual will usually be allowed to keep a certain amount of equity in a home, a car or professional equipment, for example.

Under Chapter 7, most of your assets will be sold by a court-appointed trustee to clear as much of your debt as possible. This course may be best when there is no income at all, or when there is too little income left over to fund a repayment plan.

Under Chapter 13 you would be allowed to keep your property and personal belongings. You will also be able to consolidate nearly all debts, plus taxes, and put forth a trustee-supervised plan for repayment over three to five years. The plan must include a budget showing how much of your money will go toward paying creditors.

Why do some people overextend their credit? Uncontrolled spending, emergencies, poor investments, an unexpected layoff from work or an extended hospital stay could lead to bankruptcy. By establishing an emergency fund, or some other provision, families have a better chance at surviving the unexpected. Many consumers who have declared bankruptcy may not have had adequate financial information, an effective budget, nor a simple accounting method that helped them keep track of their spending.

How do you know if your finances are in trouble? Warning signs will begin to appear when families have difficulty paying their bills on time. The prospect of bankruptcy appears when the family is in debt to the point where there is simply no way to meet obligations in the foreseeable future.

Once declared, bankruptcy holds most creditors at bay. Your home may be safe from foreclosure, and your car normally cannot be repossessed during the time you are involved in bankruptcy proceedings. Declaring bankruptcy may give people relief from the severe mental strain that results from serious financial problems.

Sunday Mrs. Harryet Larson was a dinner guest at the home of Marlo Solberg. Later in the afternoon visitors at the Larson home were Orlando Solberg, Lance and Keith of Plummer.

Marzella Jorde and Olive Rondorf assisted in the kitchen with the reception following the Lori Lundin-Stephen Schwartz wedding ceremony Saturday at the Trinity Lutheran church.

Mrs. Clifford Jorde attended a meeting of the Miriam circle at the Fireside room of the Trinity Lutheran church Thursday afternoon. Lunch was potluck.

Alpha Halvorson was a coffee guest at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Maxine Langved, at Fertile Thursday. Her sister, Mrs. Vernon Fahey, from Rosemount, who had been visiting there returned home with her. Friday Alpha took her to Oklee to visit her sisters; June Larson and Donna Kvasagers and families, before returning home.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Harold Halvorson attended a meeting of the Esther circle of Trinity Lutheran church at the home of Idella Samuelson.

The Thief River Falls Saddle Club participated in a Play Day at the local fairgrounds Sunday. Harold and Alpha Halvorson took part in it.

LITTLE OAK . . .

Irvin Hangaard of Warroad was an overnight guest at the John Nelson home on Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs. John Nelson attended the funeral services for Olaf Olson at the United Lutheran church at Berner on Tuesday.

Mrs. Annie Arveson and Linda Arveson visited with Kate Knutson at the CNC and at the Northwest Medical center a week ago Friday.

Callers at the Arnold Haugen home on Monday were David Arveson, Orville Christianson, Ardith Kloth and Lorraine Mostrom.

Mary Lou Wolden and boys and Annie Arveson of Gonvick visited at the Lester and David Arveson home last Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson called at the Gene Marqus home on Monday.

Mr and Mrs. Arnold Haugen were callers in Thief River Falls on Thursday. They also called at the Bud Homme home near Thief River Falls in the forenoon.

Jared Haugen called at the Arnold Haugen home Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. Clyde Moen and Daren of Thief River Falls were lunch guests Saturday at the Orville Christianson home.

Valley City Next Foe

A trip to Valley City, ND Friday probably won't rank as a highlight of the 1986 Thief River Falls football season. It's a long trip against an unfamiliar opponent, and it won't be a factor in the Prowlers' post-season Section 8A playoff position.

Nevertheless, Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm looks at it as an important game for his club.

"We definitely have to beat Valley City," said Mumm. "We've got to beat them and set the tone for the Section 8 games coming up on our schedule."

Thief River Falls is 1-2, but both losses were against larger Class AA-size schools Grand Forks Red River and Bemidji. The win came against Section 8A foe Detroit Lakes. Eliminate some mistakes and the Prowlers could be 2-1 or even 3-0 at this point.

With the larger schools out of the way, the Prowlers can gear up for the 1986 regular season stretch run against Class A-size schools. None of them will be easy games, particularly for a team that has won just one of its last 15 games, but the Prowlers' much improved play this fall should put them in position to at least have a shot at winning each one. After driving to Valley City, the Prowlers finish the schedule at home with games against Crookston, Grafton, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks.

"We've got a tough schedule, but there's no way anybody will dominate us," said Mumm. "We're not a bad football team, but we're still not satisfied. We want to get better."

Mumm is trying hard to get the Prowlers to concentrate on Valley City this week and not look ahead to the September 26 home opener against rival Crookston. The Pirates looked to be one of the favorites in Section 8A this fall, but they stumbled against an unheralded Park Rapids team 29-6 last week.

The Pirates were their own worst enemy that night, losing five fumbles, most of them, in turn, setting up touchdowns for a Park Rapids team that had been shut out in two previous starts.

Crookston fumbles included one at the Pirates' 20-yard line that led to the first Park Rapids touchdown; one at the Park Rapids 3-yard line; one deep in Park Rapids territory that went into the end zone for a touchback and was promptly moved 80 yards on a Panthers' scoring drive; one on the second half kickoff that led to a 21-0 deficit; and one at the Crookston 34 later in the third quarter and wound up making it 29-0.

Park Rapids, on the other hand, might not be all that bad. A football power in recent years, the Panthers lost those season-opening games to a pair of unbeaten Class AA teams — Grand Rapids and Bemidji.

Section 8 Committee

Frank Hamerlinck of Thief River Falls is serving as chairman of a nine-member committee appointed to student the Section 8 high school hockey tournament format.

The committee was named recently by Jack Luoma of Bemidji, chairman of the Region 8AA committee of the Minnesota State High School League. Committee members include school board representatives Dave Billberg of Roseau and George Jernberg of Detroit Lakes; administrators Ben Trochlil of Moorhead and Bob Bester of Warroad; athletic directors Ron Stolski of Brainerd and Larry Selk of East Grand Forks; and hockey coaches Bryan Grand of Bemidji and Jon Bittner of Crookston.

"The committee has been instructed to study all tournament formats recommended to the section committee, and may even originate a plan of its own," Luoma told Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune.

LAURA BEITO of Thief River Falls swam the 200-yard freestyle Tuesday as the Prowlers hosted Grand Forks Central and Grand Forks Red River in a triangular high school swimming meet at the Franklin Middle School pool. Beito was second in the event in 2:17.49. The Prowlers won their 1986 home opener.

Tennis Team Beats Lakers, Otters In Dual Meet Format

Identical 5-2 wins over Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls Tuesday should help secure a top draw in the post-season North Sub-Region 8AA high school tennis tournament in early October for the Thief River Falls girls, according to coach Whitey Olson of the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls' matching wins over the Lakers and Fergus Falls under less-than-ideal weather conditions in Detroit Lakes yesterday boosted the Prowlers' dual meet record to 8-0 for the year, including four wins against North Sub-Region 8AA rivals Bemidji, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls.

"They were important matches for us," acknowledged Olson after the wins were secured, in cold, wet weather. "The conditions were miserable, but we did what we had to do to win. I think they played with good intensity."

Swimmers Beat Grand Forks

Jay Forney admitted he was concerned about Thief River Falls' point-scoring capabilities Tuesday when the Prowlers' 1986 high school swimming home opener was switched from a dual meet format into a triangular.

Originally scheduled to host Grand Forks Red River in a dual meet encounter, the Prowlers added Grand Forks Central to the line-up upon the Redskins' request.

Traditionally weak in numbers, but usually blessed with strong individual swimmers, the two Grand Forks schools together, he feared, would rob the Prowlers of their depth — their strong point.

But those fears proved unfounded when Thief River Falls girls won nine of 11 events enroute to an easy win. The Prowlers finished with 148 points, followed by Central with 76 and Red River 36. The Redskins won two events and the Roughriders were shut out of the winner's column.

It was a good outing for the Prowlers. "We're very pleased with the girls' times at this point of the season," said Forney. "It's encouraging seeing these kinds of efforts turned in as we start the second half of the season."

There were 13 career personal bests turned in by the Prowlers and nine season personal bests, along with a sectional-qualifying effort by diver Jenny Nelson.

Good efforts, said Forney, were turned in by Marci Turenne, backstroke and on her 400 freestyle relay leg; Christy Puetz, 50 freestyle; Brenda Russell, 100 freestyle; Jenny Ness, breaststroke; and Colleen Belmont, in her first varsity diving performance.

A number of younger Thief River Falls swimmers were also able to perform in front of an audience in exhibition races, and Forney said they performed well, too. "We're very excited by what we see for the future," he noted.

Thief River Falls will compete in the Fargo Shanley Relays Saturday at 10 a.m. at North Dakota State University and will host Detroit Lakes Tuesday in a 5 p.m. dual.

Prowlers Will Visit Valley City Friday

Thief River Falls and Valley City, ND have a blind date arrangement Friday when the Prowlers and Hi-Liners meet in a 7:30 p.m. high school football game in Valley City.

They've never met before, and because of the distance involved, they've never seen each other play, either.

Thief River Falls hedged, though, when the Prowlers traded their Grand Forks Red River game films with Jamestown for the Blue Jays' films of their season opener with Valley City. Hopefully the trade will work out better for Thief River Falls; Jamestown lost to Red River 20-12 Friday.

"They're quick," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm after watching the Valley City team in action on film. "They're not a bad football team."

Valley City went 8-2 last year in winning the North Star Conference against the likes of Minot Ryan, Rugby, Devils Lake, Bottineau, Harvey, Grafton and Belcourt, but the Hi-Liners lost heavily to graduation, including quarterback Mike Boschee, who passed for 1,300 yards, and Jason Hardy, who rushed for 1,000 yard. All-conference receiver Terry Kadrmas, who had 25 catches for 531 yards and 82 points, is the top player back from last year's potent offense that averaged 39.2 points per game. (The Prowlers, on the other hand, averaged 1.1 points per game a year ago). Valley City lost its 1986 opener to Jamestown, then beat Belcourt 32-20 last week.

Thief River Falls is 1-2 for the year after losing a tough 12-3 decision at Bemidji Friday. The Prowlers opened the year with a 35-7 loss to Red River, then beat Detroit Lakes 39-15 before running into the highly-regarded Lumberjacks.

"Defensively they (Prowlers) played an outstanding football game at Bemidji," pointed out Mumm, who said defensive tackles Elliot Baker and Bill Dicken really stood out. "They dominated the line of scrimmage," he said.

Offensively the Prowlers weren't as effective. Bemidji took away a number of things Thief River Falls had been able to do on the ground, and the Prowlers hurt themselves by accumulating seven penalties, duplicating a figure they also reached in the Red River and Detroit Lakes games.

"Penalties are really killing us," acknowledged Mumm. Elimination, or at least a reduction in the number of penalties the Prowlers take is a must if they're going to become a winning football team, he noted.

Thief River Falls could have been more effective, too, if the Prowlers' passing game would have clicked. It sputtered most of the night as quarterback Chris Bjorgaard and his receivers found it difficult to mesh.

"We've changed some things on the passing game," explained Mumm. "We've worked on it a lot. We're going to shorten the patterns, and try to get the ball to the receivers quicker."

The trip to Valley City will end a string of four straight season-opening road games for the Prowlers, who will play their final four regular season games at home beginning Friday, September 26, vs. Crookston.

LHS Chemical Awareness Program Planned Monday

Keith Nord

Keith Nord, a former defensive back for the Minnesota Vikings, will be a guest speaker Monday, September 22, at the annual student and parent chemical awareness meeting in the Lincoln High School auditorium.

The 1-hour, 15-minute program begins at 7:30 p.m. Registration will not be taken, but every student involved in a Lincoln activity, together with their parents, are expected to be in attendance, pointed out Bill Stock, Lincoln chemical awareness coordinator.

Students expected to be on hand for the meeting include all those involved in fall, winter and spring sports program, band and orchestra students, vocal students, student senate member, drama students, class officers, cheerleaders, FFA members, VICA members, DECA members, yearbook staff members and usher club members.

Coffee and cookies will be served by the Sports Boosters Club following the program.

Six years in the National Football League has given Keith Nord a unique insight into the world of professional athletics, a world which is filled with exhilarating success and disheartening failure, notes promotional material on the scheduled guest speaker.

In the hottest hours of the August training camps when it is a battle just to make the team, in the daily practice sessions when one must fight for a starting spot, in the final seconds

Pioneers Open Conference Schedule At Mesabi Saturday

Buoyed by its first season-opening win since 1976, the Northland Community College football team, a 14-3 nonconference winner over the Moorhead State University junior varsity last Thursday, will begin its 1986 Minnesota Community College Conference schedule Saturday when the Pioneers face Mesabi in a 1:30 p.m. game at Virginia.

Mesabi lost a 12-0 nonconference season-opening decision to Mt. Senario (WI) last week, but Northland coach Rick Nelson doesn't figure that gives the Pioneers an edge. "Mesabi is big, as usual," he warned, "and they have a couple of quick kids in the backfield."

On top of that, Northland has beaten Mesabi just once in ten previous meetings — a 21-12 victory here in 1980. Northland has never won a game in Virginia.

Nelson was naturally happy with the victory over the Dragons, but knows fully well that improvements must be made. "We felt at times we played well, but at times, especially on defense, we didn't play our positions as well as we should have. Offensively we have to execute better and eliminate the mental mistakes."

Center Chad Swenseid, a sophomore from Grand Forks Central, reinjured himself in the Moorhead game and will miss the conference opener. A nerve problem in his back and the 5-9, 200-pounder listed as questionable for the opener, but he played, only to be shelved this week.

Linebacker Steve Boushee, a freshman from East Grand Forks, was also injured in the opener, but he will be back in the line-up this week, said Nelson, who reported a recent addition the the Northland roster is Curt Chaffee, a 6-2, 190-pound freshman from Fargo North. He was an all-conference linebacker for the Spartans, and also earned all-state honors as a goalie in hockey.

Offensively, Nelson said he wants to find enough playing time for Darrin Johnson, Deon Schmidt and Steve Ristau in the backfield. All three are top-quality backs, and he wants to utilize the skills of each of them. Johnson is a 5-8, 185-pound sophomore from Kennedy; Schmidt is a 6-0, 195-pound freshman from Fargo North; and Ristau is a 5-10, 195-pound sophomore from East Grand Forks, a transfer student from the University of North Dakota.

Schmidt, slowed by injuries in early drills, will probably be the starting fullback, with Johnson switched to a halfback, where Ristau still is listed as a starter.

While he juggles playing time for his runningbacks, Nelson is also looking for quarterback Scott Willoughby, a 6-1, 170-pounder from Erskine, to throw the ball more. The Pioneers attempted 19 passes against Moorhead, and that figure may go as high as 25-30 passes against Mesabi, hinted Nelson.

That will mean more action for receivers like Dean Brandon, a 5-9, 165-pound sophomore from Thief River Falls, and Scott Groven, a 5-9, 175-pound sophomore from Goodridge, both excellent pass-catchers.

A new feature added to the Northland program this year is the Pepsi-Cola Player of the Week awards, explained Nelson. For the opener, the awards went to Brandon, offense; sophomore Chad Ekeberg of McIntosh, defense; and freshman Greg Bieganek of Kelliher, specialty teams.

Northland's 1986 home opener is scheduled Saturday, September 27, vs. Itasca.

Sports Briefs

Sports Boosters

Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club will hold its first noon luncheon meeting of the 1986-87 season Thursday in the basement of the Rex Cafe.

Lincoln High School football coach Jeff Mumm will be the guest speaker.

Football Fan Bus

Thief River Falls Touchdown Club will sponsor a fan bus for the Prowlers' high school football game in Valley City, ND Friday at a cost of $4 per person. The bus will leave Lincoln High School at 3:30 p.m.

Reservations should be made by noon Thursday. Lincoln students may reserve seats at the student affairs office and adults may call Linda Spyhalski at 681-8731.

TRFAHA Meeting

First general membership meeting of the 1986-87 season for the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) will be held Monday, September 22, at 7 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

All members are urged to attend. Help is needed to prepare for the upcoming hockey season, stress TRFAHA officials.

Deer Permits

Permits to take antlerless deer and to participate in special hunts will be mailed out about Oct. 25 to persons who were successful in the permit drawings, the Department of Natural Resources has announced.

DNR Wildlife officials said those who applied for permits should not call the Department to see if they were chosen in the drawings until at least Oct. 28, because the information will not be accessible in the computer before that date.

"By Oct. 28," said DNR Wildlife Chief Roger Holmes, "successful applicants will have recieved their permits in the mail."

Skippers Host Rockets Saturday In Homecoming Football Game

Middle River will stage its 1986 high school homecoming football game Saturday when the Skippers host Kennedy in a 7:30 p.m. Northern Lights Conference match-up.

The Rockets (3-0) and Skippers (2-1) rank 1-2 in Northern Lights Conference play.

A pair of conference games were played Tuesday when Kennedy beat Badger 38-14 and Kittson County North defeated Oslo-Alvarado 34-14.

Kittson County North (1-2) visits Badger (0-3) in another Saturday conference game, while Oslo-Alvarado (2-2) draws a weekend bye.

EGF Squad JV Football Game

East Grand Forks defeated Thief River Falls 20-6 Monday in a junior varsity high school football game at East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls trailed 6-0 at halftime and fell behind 14-0 in the third quarter before scoring on a 4-yard run by quarterback Rick Looker.

East Grand Forks padded the lead with a touchdown with just 11 seconds left in the game.

Thief River Falls, 1-2, will wait until Friday, September 26, before returning to action at Prowler Field.

Plummer Faces Fisher-Climax

Plummer, after getting off to a 3-0 start this fall, will face its toughest test to date Friday when the Cardinals visit Fisher-Climax for a 7:30 p.m. North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school football game.

Fisher-Climax, after ruling the conference race the past two years, is off to a 1-2 start in 1986, but still presents a formidale challenge for the Cardinals, who have taken their lumps in recent years from the likes of the Knights.

"They're a tough team," acknowledged Plummer coach Gary Brantl. "We know we'll have to play well. But I think we'll match up pretty well with them."

Plummer owns wins over Akeley-Laporte 28-24, Clearbrook 16-12 and Redlake 42-8. Fisher-Climax, while beating Gary 22-6, has lost to a pair of tough teams — 16-6 to Finley-Sharon, a North Dakota power, and 36-8 to Gonvick-Trail, the 1986 North Tri-County Conference favorite.

While Brantl figures the Cardinals can match up physically with the Knights up front, he doesn't hide the fact Plummer is small in the backfield. "We're a bunch of smurfs back there," he said, citing the size of 5-7, 140-pound John Fisher, 5-7, 125-pound Craig Brantl and 5-8, 135-pound Dan Wichterman. In contrast, quarterback Wade Grinde is 6-4, 175.

Elsewhere in the North Tri-County Conference Friday, Gonvick-Trail (3-0) will be hosting Oklee (1-2) in a 3:30 p.m. game and Redlake (0-3) entertains Clearbrook (0-3) in a match-up of winless teams. Gary (1-2) has a bye this week.

In addition to the Gonvick-Trail and Plummer wins last Friday, Gary edged Oklee 20-18 and Clearbrook lost a 28-20 nonconference game to Akeley-Laporte.

Meanwhile, a pair of Top of the State Conference nine-man teams will both be looking for their first win Friday afternoon when Goodridge-Grygla and Marshall County Central meet at 4 p.m. in Grygla. It'll be an interesting meeting, the first match-up between the two since the Blue Devils joined the Top of the State Conference this fall after leaving the North Tri-County Conference. They're both 0-3. It's a homecoming game for the Blue Devils.

Elsewhere in the Top of the State Conference Friday, Hallock (2-1) will be at Tri-County (2-1) and Argyle (3-0) will visit Stephen (2-1).

Last week, Argyle hammered Tri-County 50-8, Hallock handled Marshall County Central 41-7 and Stephen defeated Goodridge-Grygla 28-8.

Volleyball Team 3-0 Winner Against EGF

Accurate serving and hitting carried Thief River Falls to a 3-0 sweep over East Grand Forks Tuesday in a high school volleyball match played in the Green Wave gymnasium.

Thief River Falls won 15-11, 15-7, 15-8 to lift the Prowlers' record to 5-2.

"It was great," was the way Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson described the Prowlers' performance. "They really showed some determination. We're real happy with the win."

Bekah Bortnem was 22-for-22 at the service line for 14 points and Jill Olson was 24-for-25 at the service line for 18 points to lead the Thief River Falls attack.

Vikki Weigand was just as accurate at the net as she connected on 26 of 27 spike attempts. Anderson said Weigand performed just as well in the back row, too.

Anderson also cited the solid all-round play of Bobbi Thompson, the net play of Jodi Anderson and the serving of Shalla Otteson and Paulie Wegge, who would come off the bench to take a spot in the service rotation.

Thief River Falls junior varsity and C squad teams both went to 4-0 for the year with two-game sweeps over East Grand Forks. The junior varsity team won 15-5, 15-12 and the C squad won 15-13, 16-14.

It was the lone Thief River Falls outing of the week. The Prowlers will be idle until Tuesday, September 23, when they host Crookston.

Mueller Leads TRF Runners At Bagley

A second place finish by freshman Lynn Mueller in the girls' portion of the event highlighted Thief River Falls' performance at the Bagley Invitational high school cross country meet Tuesday.

Bagley boys and Crookston girls were team winners. Thief River Falls boys finished fifth in a field of six complete teams and the Thief River Falls girls fielded an incomplete team.

Troy Larson of Park Rapids led the boys with a 15:38 three-mile run. The Prowlers' Shayne Anderson, a junior, was ninth in 16:51.

Heather Aubol of Crookston led the girls with an 11:44 two-mile run, with Mueller second at 11:56.

Thief River Falls' Lucas Soine, a freshman, was a second place finisher in the boys' portion of the junior high competition with an 11:09 two-mile run.

Coach Lynn Dyer's Prowlers will compete in the Detroit Lakes Invitational Thursday beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Oklee Is 3-0 Volleyball Winner Over RLF Monday

Oklee was good on 51 of 54 serve attempts Monday as the Bobcats defeated visiting Red Lake Falls 15-5, 15-4, 15-2 in high school volleyball action.

"We played pretty well," said Oklee coach Brad Borene. "Our serving was good and our passing was real good."

Seniros Cici Olson and Julie Murack led the way. Olson turned in a strong performance as a setter, said Borene, and Murack was credited with 13 kills. Senior Joelle Enerson contributed four kills, and cotinues to impress with her improved play this fall, according to Borene.

Oklee, 5-3, has the rest of the week off. The Bobcats will participate in the Win-E-Mac Invitational Monday and Tuesday, September 22 and 23, where Plummer and Grygla will also be on hand. Win-E-Mac, this year's new combination of McIntosh-Winger, Erskine and Mentor students, beat Oklee 3-0 last Thursday.

MCC — Greenbush

Marshall County Central rebounded from a first game loss to beat Greenbush 11-15, 15-8, 15-8, 15-10 Tuesday.

"We started a little slow," admitted Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, "but we picked up steam in the second game."

Andrea Kragness, with 17 kills, and Jodi Foss, with a perfect 23-for-23 night at the service line, led the Nordics.

"They both played real well," mentioned Mjelde. "If we can get the rest of them to play that well, we'll be able to develop a little more consistency. I know what we can do, we just have to go do it for three games each night."

Marshall County Central, 4-0, visits Badger Thursday and will host Warren and Middle River in Monday and Tuesday matches.

Grygla — Clearbrook

Clearbrook surprised Grygla 3-2 Tuesday, dropping the visiting Eagles to 4-2 for the year.

"We started bad and went down hill from there," said Grygla coach Mike Gast.

Clearbrook won 16-14, 13-15, 7-15, 15-10, 15-7.

"Basically we play well, but we make a lot of mistakes," said Gast, whose squad has been hampered by an assortment of ankle and knee injuries.

Nikki Lian played a strong all-round game in defeat, said Gast, and Wendy Lawrence did a good job spiking.

Middle River — Roseau

Middle River outlasted Roseau 5-15, 15-6, 2-15, 15-9, 15-7 in a back-and-forth match Tuesday at Roseau.

"We didn't play real well," admitted Middle River coach Steve Holmes, "but you have to win ugly once in a while. We have a ways to go on consistency."

Setters Lorie Dahl, Tammy Cwikla and Becky Beito played well, said Holmes.

Middle River, a 3-1 loser to Lake of the Woods last Thursday to end a season-opening three-match winning streak, will host Warroad Thursday.

Franklin Middle School

Franklin Middle School seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams opened their 1986 home schedule Monday by splitting a pair of matches against Marshall County Central.

Marshall County Central won the A match 15-11, 16-14, while Franklin won the B match 15-10, 16-14.

Franklin A teams is 0-2 and the Spartans' B team is 2-0 for the year. They host Warren Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

Eighth Grade Football

Franklin Middle School eighth grade football team opened its 1986 season Tuesday with a 20-0 win over Crookston in Thief River Falls.

Corey Howe scored two touchdowns and Paul Borchert added one for the Spartans, coached by Ron Novak and Myron Peterson.

Franklin eighth-graders will visit Grand Forks Valley Junior High Monday for a 4:15 p.m. game.

Prep Bowl Programs Are Planned For November 29

KMSP-TV, Minneapolis (Channel 9), has been awarded the television rights for the fifth annual Minnesota State High School League Prep Bowl, the five championship football games that will be played Saturday, November 29, at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis.

Scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m., the Prep Bowl coverage will include all live action from the Class AA, Class A, Class B, Class C and nine-man title games.

MSHSL officials also announced that marching bands from Blaine, Sartell, St. Francis, Rosemount and Luverne have accepted invitations to perform before the Prep Bowl fans and the statewide television audience.

Bands from those high schools were selected from among those with reputations for providing colorful and exciting halftime programs. Over 1,000 musicians will gather for the gala sports spectacular.

The day will begin with the opening ceremony at 9:15 a.m. when the Blaine marching band will perform prior to the start of the nine-man championship game at 9:30.

Sartell band will entertain the fans at halftime of the nine-man game.

Second game of the day, the 12-noon Class C final, will find the St. Francis band on the field at halftime.

At intermission of Prep Bowl Game 3, a 2:30 p.m. Class B contest, the Rosemount band will provide the muscial entertainment.

Luverne's band will be the halftime show for the 5 p.m. Class A title game.

Pre-game ceremonies for the evening's Class AA championship game, scheduled to start at 7:45 p.m., will feature the 1,000-member massed band, composed of all the bands on hand that day, and will be under the direction of Dr. Earl Benson, Bloomington Jefferson High School, who has been coordinator for Prep Bowl music activities since its inception in 1982.

Halftime presentation for the Class AA final will again feature the massed band.

Also performing with the bands at the Prep Bowl will be six dancelines selected by the Prep Bowl music committee. They include girls from Brainerd, Burnsville, Alexandria, St. Cloud, Northfield and Fridley.

Roseau Wildlife Area

A major project to replace dikes and install new water control structures at the Roseau River Wildlife Management Area in northwestern Minnesota has required the draining of one waterfowl impoundment (Pool 3) and drastic lowering of the water level in the middle pool (Pool 2).

Wildlife officials at the Department of Natural Resources said hunters may have some problems this season, but after this fall the work remaining should not interfere with their sport.

They said the project will allow for better control of the water levels, improving waterfowl habitat and hunting opportunities in the future. In addition, there will be less time and money spent on maintenance.

1987 Pheasant Stamp

A panel of judges has selected a painting by Brian Jarvi of Floodwood as the design for the 1987 pheasant habitat stamp, required of all nonresidents and residents ages 18 through 64 inclusive who hunt pheasants in Minnesota.

The annual art contest was conducted in St. Paul on Thursday, Sept. 4.

Winning design shows a hen and rooster pheasant together in deep snow next to a fence post and was chosen from among 81 entries.

Pheasant stamp costs $5 with the revenue from stamp sales dedicated by law to the development, restoration, maintenance and preservation of pheasant habitat on public and private land.

Second place in the pheasant stamp contest went to Beverly Scalze, Little Canada; third place to Mario Fernandez, Orono.

Jarvi also submitted the design chosen for the 1986 Minnesota migratory waterfowl stamp.

when the difference between winning and losing in an ultimate effort over the opponent, Nord has learned how to push beyond the self-imposed limits we all set, says the material.

But Nord talks about more than just football. His talk is about sheer determination, about how people must commit themselves to believing in their own dreams, believing in their ability to achieve their dreams and most of all, believing in themselves.

Nord signed as a free agent with the Vikings in 1979. He not only made the team, but he went on to become captain of the special teams in 1983.

During a 1983 Minnesota-Tampa Bay game, Nord ruptured his achilles tendon, which sidelined him for the year. However, his hard work in rehabilation while on the injured reserve list earned Nord the Terry Dillion Award for dedication shown towards recovering from a serious injury. He came back to earn a starting spot as a safety, but was a training camp cut this fall.

Every day I competed against players who were bigger, quicker and more talented than I saw myself to be," said Nord, "but no one ever outworked me."

Nord was a 1979 honors graudate of St. Cloud State University, where he won team MVP and all-conference football honors. He earned Athlete of the Year awards from the March of Dimes and Muscular Dystrophy organizations and was nominated for NFL Man of the Year.

Hawk Migration Underway

Minnesota's annual hawk migration has started, according to wildlife officials at the Department of Natural Resources.

Carrol Henderson, DNR Non-Game Wildlife Specialist, said the best place to view the migration is in the Hawk Ridge Nature Reserve in Duluth. The Reserve, managed by the Duluth Chapter of the Audubon Society, is at the intersection of Skyline Parkway and the Seven Bridges Road.

Ultrasound Used To Measure Need For Heart Bypass Surgery

Ultrasound technology is being used by University of Minnesota researchers for a more accurate assessment of coronary damage, which could aid doctors in deciding which patients will benefit from heart bypass surgery.

The method uses a type of ultrasound crystal that can be placed directly on or in an artery and — through untrasound emissions — gives a much better picture of an artery's actual obstruction than has been available through use of coronary arteriography, a method that involves dyes and X-rays.

Researchers Carl White and Robert Wilson developed a device called a Doppler velocity probe while they were at the University of Iowa, in conjunction with that university's bioengineers. They are currently the only researchers in the world who have approval to use the probe. The probe has also been found to be useful for patients who have vessels that are anatomically correct but may be physiologically unsound.

White, co-director of the university's Heart and Lung Institute, clinical cardiology services director and heart catherization director, and Wilson, co-director of heart catherization, have approval for clinical trials of the probe to be done at the University of Minnesota hospital and clinic. A multi-center test that should include about 400 patients is scheduled to begin later this year. Medtronic Inc. will manufacture the probe when the study is completed.

Coronary bypass operations were performed on 170,000 people in the United States in 1982 to treat cardiovascular disease, which is still the leading cause of death in this country. In most of these cases, the decision to operate was based on the results of coronary arteriography, which involves injection of a radiopaque dye to obtain X-rays of coronary arteries so the extent of any blockage can be determined.

As valuable as coronary arteriography has been since its introduction in the early 1960s, the method has many shortcomings, including a lack of consistency in interpretation. Both overestimation and underestimation of the severity of coronary obstructions occur.

During their initial studies more than three years ago, White and Wilson used a probe applied by suction to a coronary artery during open-heart surgery. Surgeons obstructed the vessel for approximately 20 seconds and then released it. The overshoot in blood flow, measured by the probe, that occurs after the transient obstruction, provides an excellent measure of the real level of coronary obstruction.

"Although the use of the probe in the operating room was a big step above what had been done previously, we wanted to be able to use it to complement arteriography before we even scheduled surgery," White said. "So we developed a catheter that would hold the probe and could be used in patients with a minimum amount of risk."

The catheter is about two feet long and about as thin as a stereo speaker wire. The probe, roughly the size of a diamond chip, is contained in the catheter's end. When the probe is used before any surgery, a special fast-acting drug that increases blood flow to its maximum rate is used so physicians can see any possible obstruction under the best circumstances.

"This probe has been used over two years' time in approximately 200 patients, and we have found it to be an excellent way to deal with the problem of arteriography, which really just produces a picture that is subject to very broad interpretation," White said. "In many cases we have found that patients have not needed either bypass surgery or balloon angioplasty (a method that dilates blood vessels).

The probe also helps doctors come to grips with a more pressing problem — underestimating the amount of obstruction.

"With arteriography alone, there was a tremendous gray area regarding determination of occlusion," White said. "Working with the probe in addition to arteriography, we can tell if the patient needs more in the way of bypass reconstruction or vessel dilation, and we can do it. We can also use the probe later to see if bypass grafts are working as they should or if we have dilated the vessels sufficiently."

Initial research results from the probe's use have been presented at American Heart Association meetings in 1984 and '85 and were published in the March 29, 1984, issue of the New England Journal of Medicine and other cardiology journals.

Poll Checks On Consumer Choice Of Domestic Food

Who brought home the bacon used to be a sign of the times, but now the more important question may be where the salty strips came from in the first place.

With food imports to the U.S. reaching record levels, some people are starting to take a second look at the source of the bounty on their dinner table.

This is shaping up to be the first year since 1959 that imported foods have outnumbered food exports. Americans are consuming ever increasing amounts of imported pork, wheat, beef, vegetables and fruits. Imported beef now takes a 10 per cent bite out of the market, and foreign produce accounts for the fruits and vegetables in 20 per cent of the nation's shopping carts.

Alarmed at the implications of this trend, many farm groups, cooperatives and concerned consumers are seeking to ensure consumers have the opportunity to choose American goods at the grocery store. The $24 billion in farm products imported this year has spurred Cenex to examine the potential of a labeling system to alert consumers as to the origin of both fresh and processed foods.

To aid in the evaluation of such a labeling system, the cooperative would like readers to take a few minutes to fill out the following questionnaire and send your responses to: Cenex Community Relations -- Station 630, P.O. Box 64089, St. Paul, Minn. 55164-0089.

(1) Would you choose American fruits, vegetables and meets over their imported counterparts if they were labeled as such? —Yes —No — Undecided.

(2) Would you chose labeled American processed foods over imported processed foods? —Yes —No — Undecided

(3) Would you choose fresh and processed foods labeled as American products over imported products even if the American products cost slightly more? —Yes —No —Undecided.

(4) How do you perceive the quality of American farm products versus imported farm products:

(a) Fruits and vegetables: —American is superior —Imported is superior —Equal —Undecided.

(b) Beef: —American is superior — Imported is superior —Equal — Undecided.

(c) pork: —American is superior — Imported is superior —Equal — Undecided.

(d) Poultry: —American is superior —Imported is superior —Equal — Undecided.

(e) Processed foods: —American is superior —Imported is superior — Equal —Undecided.

Grain Prices At Lowest Levels In Many Years

Minnesota's all wheat price plunged to just $2.25 per bushel in mid-August for the lowest level in nine years. The decline continued the trend of weak wheat prices in both the state and nation.

Mid-August prices were lower for all crops except hay. Corn prices were the lowest for all crops except hay. Corn prices were the losest since October of 1977. Oat and flax prices were the lowest since 1973 while barley prices were at 1972 levels.

In contrast, meat animals showed more strength, especially hogs. The preliminary August hog price at $63.30 per hundredweight is above the historic record high monthly price of $62 in August of 1982. Minnesota's index of prices received for all farm products was above a year ago for the first time in two years.

Nebraska Joins Minnesota In NFO, FU Market

Leaders of the Nebraska Farmers Union (NeFU) and the National Farmers organization (NFO) unveiled a joint livestock and grain marketing plan, whereby NeFU members would market their commodities through the NFO collection point system. The first such marketing agreement was made between NFO and the Minnesota Farmers Union in February.

The agreement marks the second move by major farm organizations to extract higher prices from the marketplace for farmers' commodities through collective bargaining and the NFO marketing structure. The plan is expected to improve the competitive positions of the two organizations' livestock and grain producers as NFO bargains with larger volumes.

According to President Devon Woodland, NFO marketed $385 million in livestock nationally and $38.8 million in Nebraska in fiscal year 1985. With the addition of NeFU livestock and grain, he expects those numbers to increase significantly in 1986.

Nebraska Farmers Union President Larry Hall said, "Farm groups are often criticized for not working together. This agreement shows we can cooperate while maintaining our individual identities."

National Farmers Union President Cy Carpenter noted: "Farmers have again demonstrated their leadership and cooperation by entering into this joint marketing effort — far ahead of those efforts by elected officials."

Crime In State Continues Rise By 9.7 Per Cent

Crime in Minnesota continued to rise for the second quarter of 1986. Public safety commissioner Paul Tschida announced today that figures for the first six months of the year showed an increase of 9.7 per cent. Rural crime dipped slightly by 1.5 per cent while urban crime was up 11.8 per cent.

There were 35 murders in Minnesota the first half of the year compared to 32 for the same period in 1985, an increase of nine per cent. Reported rapes numbered 517 for January through June in 1986, an increase of four per cent over the previous year for the same period.

Duluth, with a 20 per cent increase in its crime rate, topped Minneapolis which had an increase of 14.5 per cent. St. Paul's figures are not included in this report because its procedures do not comply with uniform crime reporting procedures.

Authorities report that streets and alleys are where most 865 of the state's 1,614 robberies took place, followed by residences, 175; commercial houses, 151; gas or service stations, 79; convenience stores, 63; and miscellaneous places, 259.

In January to July there were 2,407 aggravated assaults, a 15 per cent increase over the 2,097 for the same period last year. Larceny went up 12 per cent and vehicle theft was up 21 per cent for the first six-month period. Arson increased two per cent but burglary was off two per cent from a year ago.

"Crime this year, as close as we can place a value on it, has cost Minnesotans $40,691,865," declared John Erskine, superintendent of the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension.

Grant Erickson Advanced To Rank Of AF Sergeant

Grant M. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. James Erickson of rural Thief River Falls, has been appointed a sergeant in the U.S. air force.

The new non-commissioned officer completed training in management, leadership, human relations and NCO responsibilities before being awarded this status.

Erickson is an information systems programming specialist in West Germany, with the 2062nd information systems squadron.

WE HAVE "HELPED" ABOUT 36% OF THE BUYERS INTO HOMES AS OF SEPT. 1 . . . WE NEED YOUR HOUSE AND BUYERS SEE OUR UNADVERTISED "EXCLUSIVE PRIVACY" LISTINGS . . . PROPERTIES "LISTED AND SHOWN ONLY BY THIS OFFICE." WE NEED APPOINTMENTS FOR WEEKENDS . . . CALL EARLY!!!

IT'S STILL CHEAPER TO OWN THAN TO RENT!!!

In most cities, tax savings more than off set the lower costs of renting a property, rather than owning it, according to the Runsheimer International, a management consultant.

A family of four with a $42,000 annual income would have the following after tax savings if they owned a 2,200 sq. ft. home instead of renting it. In Los Angeles the savings would be $750 a year, in Atlanta, savings would be $2,427 a year; in Boston, $654 and in Chicago, $3,186. . . "Just thought you may want to know!!!"

POINTS BRINGS GOOD YIELD!!!

The points lenders charge may yield more than you think. When a lender charges 3.5 points on a $100,000 loan at 9.5% over 30 years, the yield is actually a little greater than 10%. Lenders and investors know the average life of a 30 year fixed-rate mortgage loan is 12 years before it is paid off!!! "Interesting!"

412 . . . Close to Mark Twain . . . 3 BR rambler with att. gar. . . . full basement . . . lovely 75x200 yard, very nice kitchen with stove, fridge and dishwasher . . . draperies included . . . $49,900. See by appt. . . . you will like!!!

COUNTY COURT
PROBATE DIVISION

In Re Estate of Allen O. Iverson,
Deceased.

ORDER AND NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE IN SUPERVISED ADMINISTRATION AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS

It is Ordered and Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of October, 1986, at 10:30 o'clock P.M., a hearing will be held in the above named Court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for the appointment of Irene A. Iverson whose address is 916 North Knight, Thief River Falls, MN, as personal representative of the estate of the above named decedent in supervised administration, and that any objections thereto must be filed with the Court. That, if proper, and no objections are filed, said personal representative will be appointed to administer the estate, to collect all assets, pay all legal debts, claims, taxes and expenses, and sell real and personal property, and do all necessary acts for the estate. Upon completion of the administration, the representative shall file a final account for the allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the Court, and close the estate.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

Dated September 16, 1986.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice is hereby given, That default has occurred in the conditions of that certain mortgage, dated the 21st day of August, 1985, executed by Kathryn Fournier, a single person, as mortgagor to Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls as mortgagee, filed for record in the office of the County Recorder in and for the County of Pennington, and State of Minnesota, on the 22nd day of August, 1985, at 2:10 o'clock P.M., and recorded in Book 194 of Records, page 40 as Document No. 123939; the original principal amount secured by said mortgage being $45,000.00; that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; that there is due and claimed to be due upon said mortgage, including interest to date hereof, the sum of Fifty one Thousand One Hundred Seventy and 54/100 ($51,170.54) Dollars, and that pursuant to the power of sale therein contained, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the tract of land lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to wit: Lot Sixteen (16) of Block Twenty-eight (28) in the Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, according to the official plat thereof, will be sold by the sheriff of said county at public auction on the 5th day of November, 1986, at 10:30 o'clock A.M., at the Law Enforcement Center, in the City of Thief River Falls in said county and state, to pay the debt then secured by said mortgage and taxes, if any, on said premises and the costs and disbursements allowed by law. The time allowed by law for redemption by the mortgagor, her personal representatives or assigns is six (6) months from the date of said sale.

PART OF THE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD CONTAINS YOUR HOUSE. YOU MAY DESIGNATE THE AREA OF HOMESTEAD TO BE SOLD AND REDEEMED SEPARATELY.

YOU MAY DESIGNATE THE HOUSE YOU OCCUPY AND ANY AMOUNT OF THE PROPERTY AS A HOMESTEAD. THE DESIGNATED HOMESTEAD PROPERTY MUST CONFORM TO THE LOCAL ZONING ORDINANCES AND BE COMPACT SO THAT IT DOES NOT UNREASONABLY REDUCE THE VALUE OF THE REMAINING PROPERTY.

YOU MUST PROVIDE THE PERSON FORECLOSING ON THE PROPERTY, THE SHERIFF, AND THE COUNTY RECORDER WITH A COPY OF THE LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE HOMESTEAD YOU HAVE DESIGNATED BY TEN (10) BUSINESS DAYS BEFORE THE DATE THE PROPERTY IS TO BE SOLD.

Back To School Parent's Night Set At Franklin

Back to school night for parents of sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in Thief River Falls public schools will be conducted Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. at the Franklin middle school cafeteria, according to Dr. Milton Hoff, principal.

During the evening parents will have an opportunity to visit each child's classrooms and meet with each teacher. The schedule involves 50-minute periods during the regular school day, but these have been abbreviated to 10-minute sessions for the evening program. Three minutes will be allowed between each class period.

Coffee and cookies will be served in the cafeteria following classroom visits. Parents will meet in the cafeteria to begin the schedule at 7:30 p.m.

Northwest Senior Federation Sets 7th Convention

Northwest Senior federation will hold its seventh annual convention on September 25 at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls.

Special guests are Archie Wilcox, president of the Minnesota Senior federation and Barbara Ecklund, staff director of the Minnesota Senior federation.

Issues concerning senior citizens of our area will be discussed along with legislative action proposed to further the welfare of senior citizens.

Election of officers will be held, rate of dues considered and a budget adopted for the coming year. Music will be provided by the Kitchen band from Thief River Falls and there will be a drawing for door prizes at the close of the convention.

All clubs in the northwest are urged to send delegates to the convention. Registration should be mailed to the Northwest Senior Federation at P.O. Box 778, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

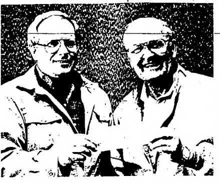
Constance Grovum Earns Scholarship To Northland CC

Northland community college student Constance Grovum of Thief River Falls has been awarded a scholarship donated by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Beito of Thief River Falls. The scholarship is awarded to a Lincoln high school graduate ranking in the upper 20 per cent of the graduating class. Constance was ranked third in the 1986 senior class.

"Individuals such as the Beitos who donate to the scholarship program at Northland community college illustrate the excellent community support given the college," states Kelsy Richards, financial aid officer. "Their participation in the scholarship program is appreciated" by Northland's students, faculty and staff."

For information on how a fund might be established in someone's name, contact Mrs. Heidi Hoks, Northland community college foundation, at 681-2181, extension 44.

A scholarship donation need not be a large sum of money; any amount is appreciated and useful. Full and-or part-time student scholarships may be established based on the donor's criteria.



VOLUNTEER FIREMEN in Thief River Falls added a check for $1,000 to the fund being accumulated for purchase of Jaws of Life rescue equipment for the city's fire department. Fire chief Dave Bjorkman (left) delivered the volunteers' check to Mayor Bob Carlson. Jaws of Life equipment is hydraulic powered and used to free accident victims from wrecked automobiles as well as other rescue work. The equipment costs about $12,000 and the fund now stands at $10,600, including a matching challenge gift of $4,500 from the L-B. Hartz foundation.

Song Fest Sunday At Ev. Covenant

An evening of singing and scripture reading will take place Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls, using the new songbooks recently received by the congregation. Public attendance is invited.

Special solos, instrumental numbers and congregational singing will be included in the program. Coffee and fellowship will follow the service.

Extension Home Council Sponsors RRV Tour Tues.

Pennington county extension home council is sponsoring a one-day tour of the Red River Valley on Tuesday, September 23. The tour will include a visit to the Spring Prairie Hutterite colony near Hawley, which was established in the late 1970's. The 15-family colony raises small grains, vegetables, dairy cattle and turkeys.

Three commercial enterprises on the colony include a book binding and print shop, a shoe and canvas repair shop and an electric appliance repair shop. German is spoken by all members of the colony and children learn English as a second language when they attend school in the colony.

Second stop of the tour will be the Heritage-Hjemkomst interpretive center which recently opened in Moorhead. The center houses the Hjemkomst Viking ship which is a replica of the original dragon ships of 1,000 years ago. Built by the late Robert Asp of Moorhead, the Hjemkomst sailed from Duluth to Bergan, Norway in the summer of 1982.

A visit to Bonanzaville in West Fargo will complete the tour. Bonanzaville features a museum and many buildings which depict life in the pioneer days of the Red River Valley.

The tour will leave from the Floyd B. Olson parking lot at 7:30 a.m. and return by 9 p.m. Cost is $15. Call the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116 by September 19 to register.

Lincoln H.S. Open House Sept. 25

Senior high staff of Lincoln high school invites all parents of students grades nine thru 12 to attend an open house at Lincoln high school Thursday, September 25. More information will be sent home with Lincoln high school students.

NATIONAL SCHOOL BUS
Safety Week
September 21-27

It bothers you to wait for a school bus?

. . . it may bother you for the rest of your life if you don't.

The Thief River Falls School District operates 21 bus routes, employing 22 drivers who transport 1,479 students per day. Last year our buses traveled 280,364 miles with no accidents.

Evacuation drills are conducted twice per year on each route. Weather permitting, the first drill is scheduled to take place the first week in October.

Winter Bus Safety Tips

The cold weather months are the most hazardous times for transporting students. The "School Bus Danger zones" picture below show the most critical areas. Many more students are injured or killed in the area outside the bus than while riding the school bus. It is time once again to join forces to protect our students.

PARENTS:
Dress students in bright, easily seen clothing.
Warm clothing is certainly necessary but should not obstruct their vision.
Remove high snow banks from school bus stop areas.
Equip students with backpacks or book bags so students do not endanger themselves recovering dropped items.
Students should be at bus stop a few minutes before bus arrives but not more than five minutes before.
Remind students of their responsibility for proper behavior on the bus so the driver will not be distracted.

STUDENTS:
Do not play on snowbanks while waiting for the bus.
Do not push or shove when getting on or off the bus.
Use your book bag to carry all your belongings.
When crossing the road, cross at least ten (10) feet in front of the bus.
Wait for the Driver's signal before crossing the road.
Always check for traffic yourself before crossing the road.
Walk directly away from the bus when you get off.
Never walk alongside the bus or hang onto the bus when it is moving.
If you drop something, wait until the bus leaves, check for traffic and then go back to get it.

School Bus Danger Zones

BUS DRIVERS:
Count the students before and after they get off the bus.
Double check the side and front crossover mirrors for "all clear" before moving the bus.
If distracted by actions on the bus, check the mirrors again before moving.
Constantly watch and listen for anyone trying to alert you to a hazard.
Report students who are disruptive to school officials.
Notify school officials when students do not comply with safety rules.

MOTORISTS:
Use extra caution when travelling in an area where you see school buses.
Slow up and prepare to stop when a school bus has the amber lights flashing.
Stop at least 20 feet from a school bus travelling either direction when the red lights are flashing.
Remember there are children on that bus who are depending on you to stop and allow them to get off or on the bus safely.

Your cooperation in following the above rules and suggestions will help us continue to provide safe transportation for our students. Thank you.

HITCHING UP the team for a demonstration at the 22nd annual Northland Steam threshing bee in Strathcona Sunday took a little patience but was appreciated by young on-lookers.

Representatives Of Regional Co-ops To Hold TRF Meeting

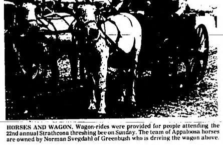
Represenatives of co-ops in this region will attend a district meeting of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives (MAC) in Thief River Falls on Monday night, September 22.

The meeting is scheduled for the Best Western motel at 7:30 p.m., according to Jack Jensen, Roseau, MAC director for district 15.

Co-op leaders from Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Roseau and northern portions of Beltrami and Polk counties will take part in the meeting.

Edward E. Slettom, St. Paul, MAC executive director and Allen J. Gerber, executive assistant, will report on MAC acitivities and legislation affecting cooperatives.

The Thief River Falls meeting is one of 15 district meetings leading up to the annual MAC meeting and youth conference which will be held October 27 and 28 at the Radisson St. Paul hotel.



HORSES AND WAGON. Wagon-rides were provided for people attending the 22nd annual Strathcona threshing bee on Sunday. The team of Appaloosa horses are owned by Norman Svegdahl of Greenbush who is driving the wagon above.

Land O'Lakes Has New High-Quality Premium Program

Land O'Lakes has just announced a new quality-premium program that will pay producers up to 24 cents per hundred weight extra for marketing high-quality milk. The program is based on the bacteria count and the somatic cell count of the milk.

In addition, the Land O'Lakes solids-non-fat premium has been strengthened to further recognize the value of high-solids milk. Both progrmas went into effect September 1.

"These new programs will increase the income of farmers producing high-quality milk," said Don Berg, vice president of Land O'Lakes milk procurement.

"Land O'Lakes was one of the first organizations in the United States to provide producers with quality-premium and solids-non-fat programs. These new programs are a continuation of the commitment Land O'Lakes has to provide dairy farmers with equitable milk-pricing systems," Berg said.

Farmers, Ranchers Attend Conference

Resolutions concerning farm prices, moratoriums on farm foreclosures, tax incentives for sustainable agricultural practices and soil and water conservation, conservation and the protection of the environment, special land reform measures, importing and exporting farm products, rural community services and public education on agricultural issues were approved by the general assembly of the United Farmer and Rancher Congress Saturday September 13 in St. Louis.

The Congress, a convention of more than 1,500 grassroot delegates from all parts of the United States, met for three days to define the severity of the current farm crisis, and develop the resolutions that will be used as a platform for a campaign to modify national farm policy.

"The most important thing to come out of this meeting, in my estimation, is the unity and motivation of these delegates," said Anne Kanten, chair of UFRC. "Some delegates saw this congress as their last chance to save their way of life. We have turned their desperation into personal commitments to fight for the integrity of the family farm and rural life." Kanten is the assistant commissioner of agriculture in Minnetsota.

The program included the stories of farmers, ranchers ad growers from all sectors of the American agriculture community.

"Whether corn growers or cattle ranchers, rice planters or dairymen, our delegates face the same reality. They are not able to make a living in agriculture," said Toni Kelly, project director for UFRC and a rancher from Deer Lodge, MT. "American farmers have fed the world, but they are now going hungry, and we have to turn the tide on this national tragedy."

Texas commissioner of agriculture Jim Hightower addressed the general session Friday, encouraging delegates to rally behind the "Save the Family Farm Act," a new grassroots farm bill that will be introduced in Washington by Senator Tom Harkin (D-I), Rep. Richard Gephard, (D-MO) and others. Harkin and Gephardt both addressed the assembly on Saturday.

"Passing this bill is the single most important step that we can take to put profit back into production and to put the family farm back into America's future," Hightower said.

Willie Nelson, country music star and Farm Aid organizer, presented a special concert to the delegates, guests and public Friday evening.

Proceeds from the concert went to a special delegate scholarship fund, which helped defray the travel expenses of those delegates who found the trip to St. Louis a financial hardship.

"The United Farmer and Rancher Congress is the most important thing that Farm Aid has done so far," Nelson said in a press briefing prior to his preformance. "We've got to work to get these farmers' message to Washington, and make sure they hear us." Nelson suggested a Farm Aid III might be produced to correspond with debate on farm legislation in 1987.

The more than 1,500 delegates to UFRC, elected to the Congress in some 500 regional caucuses conducted in July and August, returned to their constituents with the full text of the resolutions for disbursement in their own communities.

Special Weight Permits For MN Haulers Available

Permits that allow sugar beet and potato haulers to increase their normal load limits by 10 per cent during the 1986 harvest will go on sale beginning September 22, according to Mary Bates, area maintenance engineer for the Minnesota department of transportation in Crookoon.

The permits will be available throughout the harvest at the department of transportation office in Crookston and at the following locations on September 22, 23, 24 and 25: 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. September 22 at the Hallock truck station; 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Warren truck station; 9 a.m. to 12 noon September 24 at Fisher's landing travel information center, and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon September 25 at the Halstad fire hall.

The permits will cost $60 each and will become effective on October 1. The overweight benefit will be limited to the first haul from the field to the storage point and vehicles must be licensed for the increased weights they will carry. The permits will be good for trips on state highways only.

LHS Students To Attend Career Day

Choosing a career can be exciting, complex, frustrating, frightening, time consuming and most of all, a very real education. Over 200 Lincoln high school juniors will begin to experience some of these emotions Wednesday, Spetmeber 17 when they will have the opportunity to hear and question speakers representing 43 career areas.

The fifth annual career information day is again being sponsored by the chamber of commerce, area vocational technical institute, school district 564, and Northland community college. Committee members Sue Lillevold, Vern Treat, Jane Mackenroth, Whitey Olson, and Sverre Solheim have designed this day as a first experience in career exploration. Community business and professional people have graciously consented to take time from their busy schedules to give these young people a brief insight into the personality traits and education necessary or helpful in preparation for the career; along with a description of a typical work day. What better way exists for this experience to occur than by means of a live, in-person dialogue with someone actively working in an occupation?

Beginning the career search process as juniors gives students the time and the opportunity to make use of available resources, counselors, career libraries, and to have contact with people in careers, which may in turn lead to wise and satisfying career choices.

Good Marriages

Some years ago a young woman, struggling with her marriage and the demands of family life, asked me, "Do you really think there are any good marriages and healthy families today?"

After more than three decades counseling people with marriage and family problems—and being married 30 years—I have some observations if not conclusions.

If you mean by GOOD MARRIAGES and FAMILIES that there are no cross words, disagreements, and verbal fights: no, I don't know of any.

If you mean families in which there are no misgivings (at times) about having married each other, about having had children, or wanting to run from it all: no; I know of none.

If you mean families in which the males and children have never wanted to change each other, make each other over, and felt at times like hurting one another: no, I know of no good marriages and families.

But if you mean by GOOD FAMILIES that there are creative tensions, heartaches that bring them closer, disagreements that are realistically dealt with, yes, I know of many.

If you mean by GOOD FAMILIES those who are pulling together in the same direction without losing individuality and willing to allow each other to develop their own special gifts even though risks are involved, yes, I know of many.

Time For Compassion

Bob Palmer, president of Farm Credit Services of Grand Forks, wrote in a recent "Update" column about a recent telephone call he received. He admitted it was unique, and he explained it as follows:

It was from a long-term loan customer in central North Dakota. He had received a letter suggesting he might qualify for a new, lower, more competitive rate on his loan because his loan, in spite of a serious drop in land values, was still about 50 per cent of market value. He wanted to tell me he appreciated the opportunity to lower his interest rate, and then he said something very unique. He said, "You know I can afford to pay this, and I'm not moving my loan anywhere because you people put me in business 20 years ago. What I'd like to have you do is give that low rate to some guy who's really having a tough time making it." You can imagine I was almost speechless.

When I explained to him I couldn't do that because of the restrictions the Farm Credit Administration in Washington had put on how we can adjust rates, he said he understood. He wasn't going to apply for the new rate and he hoped some other people wouldn't also because, as he put it, "If we're lucky enough to be able to pay it, we ought to be willing to do it for those, who through no fault of their own, are having a tough time at the moment."

The whole conversation got me thinking about other conversations with people in the past nine months. I remember the farmer who told me as far as he was concerned he hoped the land values fell a whole lot more because he was sitting on some money and he wanted to buy land. When I said to him, "Do you realize the price everybody is going to pay if that happens?" He said, "I'm not worried about everybody. I'm worried about me." Or the guy who said to me, "It isn't fair. I make my payments. I pay my interest, and now you're talking about reducing interest rates on a guy who hasn't made his payments and can't pay his interest."

I know it isn't fair. I never said it was fair but at the moment, given the circumstances we're in and my responsibility to all of our stockholders to hold losses down and keep our assets viable, it's the best deal I can make. But, you're right. It isn't fair. I know all the reasons why — we're busy looking out for ourselves. I know it's a tough-world out there. I know most of us think if we don't look out for ourselves, nobody will. But it is certainly refreshing to have a customer like that one who, even though things aren't great for him, was more concerned about his neighbors who are having a tough time.

Norman Cousins, former editor of Saturday Review said, "The highest expression of civilization is not its art, but the supreme tenderness that people are strong enough to feel and show toward another." Compassion, he said, is "the basic form of energy in society." This is a good time for many of us who have an awful lot to be thankful for, to think about compassion. Wouldn't it be nice if a real epidemic of compassion swept across northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota?

A special thanks to all of those hundreds of people, friends and neighbors in our territory, who have reached out in dozens of ways in love and concern and compassion for neighbors who, for one reason or another, are having a tough time at the moment.

Burning History

Following editorial is from the Milwaukee Journal:

What an absurd, haunting image: The 92-year-old man who was Hitler's personal secretary, sitting alone in West Berlin's Spandau Prison, watching "Dynasty" and "Dallas" on television and re-reading "War and Peace." Rudolf Hess' other diversion, according to a German newspaper, is writing in his diary.

And what does this living relic of Nazism have to say? The world apparently will never know. "As soon as he has filled three volumes, they are taken from him and burned," the newspaper Bild said.

The report, if true, is mind-boggling. Hess' written reflections might have shed new light on one of the most grotesque periods in human history, and perhaps even on the mind of Hitler himself. In his four decades in the prison, where he was sentenced for planning and waging aggressive war, Hess surely has had time to ponder his own role as one of the early theoreticians of the Third Reich. Even if his diaries amounted to little more than incoherent scribbling, they would have some historical interest.

How ironic that book-burning, which the Nazis employed in an effort to stamp out "impure" ideas, should now erase the thoughts of someone who might possibly contribute to public understanding of that frightful time.

English Spelling Made Easy

The July issue of CHEMTECH carries with the permission of the Royal Aircraft Establishment a speculation on the evolution of English spelling that appeared in 1982 in RAE News. English, the periodical said, had been chosen as the preferred language in the European Economic Community. It would thus be useful to resolve anomalies in English spelling/pronunciation (e.g., cough, plough, rough, through, and thorough). RAE News outlined a phased program of changes to be administered by a committee staffed by participating nations.

"In the first year, for example, the committee would suggest using 's' instead of the soft 'c'. Sertainly, sivil servants in all sities would reseive this news with joy. Then the hard 'c' could be replased by 'k' sinse both letters are pronounsed alike. Not only would this klear up konfusion in the minds of klerikal workers, but typewriters kould be made with one letter fewer.

"There would be growing enthusiasm when in the sekond year it was announsed that the troublesome 'ph' would henseforth be written 'f'. This would make words like 'fotograf' 20 per cent shorter in print.

"In the third year, publik akseptanse of the new spelling kould be expekted to reatsh the stage where more komplicated tschanges are possible. Governments would enkourage the removal of double letters, which have always been a deterent to akurate speling.

"We would al agre that the horible mes of silent 'es' in the languag is disgrasful. Therfor we kould drop thez and kontinu to read and write az though nothing had hapend. By this tim it would be four yearz sins the skem began, and peopl would be reseptiv to steps sutsh as replasing 'th' with 'z'. Perhaps zen ze funktion of 'w' kould be taken on by 'v', vitsh iz, after al, half a 'w'. Shortly after zis, ze unesesary 'o' kould be dropd from words kontaining 'ou'. Similar arguments vud of kors be aplid to ozer kombinationz of leters.

"Kontinuing zis proses yer after yer, ve vud eventuale hav a rele sensibl riten styl. After 20 yers zer vud be no mor trublsm difikultiz, and evrivum vud find it eze to understand etsh ozer. Ze dremz of Mr. Orvel vud finale hav kum tru."

Borrowed Nonsense

As the two hikers saw a female grizzly bear with two cubs approaching up the narrow trail, one immediately knelt and tightened up the laces on his hiking boots. "That won't help," the other criticized. "You could never outrun that bear." "I don't have to outrun the bear," the first hiker replied. "I just have to outrun you."

Although the farmer was near the end of his meager finances, he purchased a piece of abstract art at a traveling exhibit and brought it home. "It's the best picture I've ever seen of the government farm program," he explained to his wife. "No matter which way you look at it, it doesn't make any sense at all."

Quotes from the Bawl Street Journal, published by the Bond Club of New York: "The best way to make a killing on the market is to shoot your broker . . . Installment Loans: Two years to pay, five years if you don't . . . We are pleased to announce that we now have more account executives that accounts.

Today's teenager, when told he must shift for himself, thinks he is being deprived of an automatic transmission.

Answer To Puzzle:

Looking Backward

1926 - 60 years ago

Lars Furan took over the management of the Ogahmah Hotel, succeeding George Lemmers, who left for Little Falls. Lincoln High School closed its first week with an enrollment of 405 -- Rev E.H. Lorenz will be installed this week as pastor of the Presbyterian church. Mrs T. Reep succeeded Mrs. H.A. Pratt as president of the Woman's Club.

1936 - 50 YEARS AGO

Leaf Sahl, who won the horseshoe pitching championship at the county fair here, went on to compete at the state fair. Marjorie Mathson of Rocksbury 4-H Club won top honors at the state fair with her meal planning demonstration. City council bought the winter's supply of stoker coal for municipal buildings at $7.45 per ton. Dr A.E. Jacobson became a member of the local school board, succeeding E.M. Bennes, who resigned after 12 years of service.

1946 - 40 YEARS AGO

Thief River Falls public schools opened with an enrollment of 1,644. Fleming S. Gibson opened the Hub Clothing Store in the Elks Building. Math Barzen Co. elevator at Goodridge collapsed, spilling a huge quantity of grain on the ground, but much of it was salvaged. Brush fires which covered a large area in the vicinity of Mud Lake were extinguished by general rains. Tommy Jorde defeated Vic Jung to win the annual Thief River Falls short stop golf tournament, which featured 104 participants.

1956 - 30 YEARS AGO

Only 1,452 votes were cast in the Pennington County primary election. Geraldine Swick of the Rocksbury 4-H Club won a red ribbon in the state 4-H dress revue. — School board purchased at a price of $10,000 a 34-acre tract of land in the southeast corner of town for a new grade school.

1966 - 20 YEARS AGO

Pennington County joined the statewide landslide in the DFL primary election in which governor Karl Rolvaag swamped his endorsed opponent, Lt. Gov. A.M. Keith. State-topper at the 17th annual purebred ram show and sale in Thief River Falls was a Hampshire ram consigned by Edgar and Arlen Olson of Fosston, with the 240-pound state fair champion selling for $170. Curt Geatz, a teacher for five years at the state school and hospital at Cambridge, has begun work as the state corrections agent in the Thief River Falls district office, succeeding Joe Brooks.

1976 - 10 YEARS AGO

Extremely light turn-our of 1,062 voters made the Pennington County primary election a ho-hum event for nearly everyone except the candidates involved. — Fall and part-time credit enrollment shows 402 students, an increase over 1975 at Northland Community College of 12 students. Kim Jelle, 18, of Grygla was named Beef Princess for 1976-77 as representative of the Northwestern Stockmen's Association. - Nancy Qualley was named homecoming queen at Plummer.

Topics Of The Times By Norman A. Holen

September 19, 1946

(Reprinted columns written by Norman A. Holen, longtime city editor of the Times.)

– A fellow can't help wondering how the Indians managed to run this country without levying taxes.

-The third atomic bomb test, we read, has been called off. It has been pretty definitely demonstrated that the thing is destructive.

--A western paper publishes reports of births, marriages and deaths under the heading, "Hatched, Matched, Dispatched."

Conditions must be improving. At least, nylon hose shortages are no longer front page news.

—Bemidji folks must have been in a terrible plight recently when employees of the three municipal liquor store went out on strike. In its settlement, incidentally, Dr. Crawford Grays, formerly of this city, served as arbitrator.

-When the boss told his stenographer her punctuation was terrible, she retorted that she never yet had been late for work.

The U.S. Secretary of state announces that this country will continue to extend aid to Yugoslavia. That seems to be a case of feeding the hand that's biting you, or something like that.

—With the schools again in session mother knows where her youngsters are part of the time, at least.

—In these flush times, a lot of people take more than passing interest in the stock market slump.

If you don't believe Christmas is approaching, you now can find Christmas cards and tree decorations on sale in a local store.

Remember way back when the purchase of Alaska from Russia by the United States was referred to as Seward's Folly. But in today's atomic age, and in view of the tense relations between this country and Russia, folks have a different opinion.

-And it's soon time to check up on the storm windows.

This letter was published in the Public Opinion section of the September 19, 1946, Times. It was written by a Mrs. C.A. Ward, no return address. Care for a bit of real history?

Editor the Times:

Thank you for the copy of the Times for Aug. 15 which you sent me. I found it very interesting and the Thief River of today is certainly very much different from the town I last saw in the winter of 1898 and still more from the place so named in 1884 when I first saw it.

But what pleased me most was the movement to make Squaw Point a state park. In my day it was the home of chief Moosedung, and also the Indian burial ground, if you could call it that, as the early Indians put their dead securely wrapped in blankets high up in the trees. Also at that time the Thief River was the boundary between the reservation and the homesteaders so we saw alot of them. They would come bringing fresh fish. The deal was made in sign language as no Indian would admit of knowing any English. And at this time of the year the Indians had their fall festival and we could hear their tom toms for many miles.

But another matter has come to my mind. What if anything has been done to preserve beautiful wild flowers that grew so abundantly on the prairies when the first settlers came? I know some have been protected and I don't suppose anything could possibly have been done to preserve all of them as the early settlers didn't care much about such things. His ambition was to get as much sod broken and into crop as soon as possible. But nowhere have I seen such brilliance of coloring in wild flowers as there.

I saw but few names in the paper that I knew. One was Victor H. Swenson. I remember him as a small boy and can still see him proudly plowing with his first yoke of steers, his head nicely clearing the plow handles and I have heard that his sister Annie married and they bought my father's homestead. And this place at Steiner. Wonder if that was named for our old neighbor, Martin Steiner. Also wonder if there are any of the people of my age who remember me and would care to write to me? I would surely like to hear from them.

Yours truly,
Mrs. C.A. Ward

I certainly hope she received some replies!

PENNINGTON COUNTY NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 1985

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Pennington County was established November 23 1910 and is an organized county having the powers, duties and privileges granted counties by Minn. Stat. ch. 373 (1984). The County is governed by a five-member board of commissioners elected from districts within the County. The Board is organized with a chairman and vice-chairman elected at the annual meeting in January of each year. The County Auditor, elected on a county-wide basis, serves as the Clerk of the board but has no vote.

The Welfare Board governs the activities of the Welfare Department and consists of seven members: five county commissioners and two lay members appointed by the commissioners and approved by the Minnesota Department of Human Services.

The financial reporting policies of the County conform to generally accepted accounting principles.

A. Financial Reporting Entity

Pennington County has implemented the National Council on Governmental Accounting's Statement No. 3, Defining the Governmental Reporting Entity. In accordance with Statement No. 3, for financial reporting purposes the County's financial statements include all funds, account groups, departments, agencies, boards, commissions, and other organizations over which County officials exercise oversight responsibility.

Oversight responsibility includes such duties as appointment of governing body members, budget review, approval of property tax levies, responsibility for outstanding debt secured by Pennington County's full faith and credit or revenues, and responsibility for funding deficits.

As a result of applying the criteria of Statement No. 3, certain organizations have been excluded from the County's financial statements.

The Pennington County Agricultural Society was created for the purpose of planning and administering the County Fair. The Agricultural Society is made up of a board elected at the society's annual meeting and is responsible for adopting its own budget and preparing financial statements. The County contributes to the Agricultural Society yearly to assist with the payment of fair premiums and with carrying out the society's activities. The Society is responsible for any debt it issues.

The Pennington County Historical Society was created for the purpose of preserving and restoring artifacts to show and tell the history of the County. The Historical Society is governed by its own board, which prepares and adopts its budget. The County annually appropriates funds to the Historical Society to carry out its goals but has no legal obligation to continue funding these activities.

The Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District was created pursuant to state and federal laws to assist in soil and water conservation practices. The board is elected by the voters of the County from districts within the County. The District is responsible for adopting a budget, preparing financial statements, and for any debt it issues.

B. Basis of Presentation - Fund Accounting

The accounts of Pennington County are organized on the basis of funds and account groups, each of which is considered a separate accounting entity. The operations of each fund are accounted for with a separate set of self-balancing accounts that comprise its assets, liabilities, fund equity, revenues and expenditures or expenses, as appropriate. Government resources are allocated to and accounted for in individual funds based upon the purposes for which they are to be spent and the means by which spending activities are controlled. The various funds are grouped, in the financial statements in this report, into seven generic fund types and three broad fund categories. A description of the fund types and account groups used by the County follows.

Governmental Funds

The General Fund is the general operating fund of the County. It is used to account for all financial resources except those required to be accounted for in other funds.

Special Revenue Funds are used to account for specific revenue sources that are legally restricted to expenditures for a specific purpose or required for internal management purposes.

The Debt Service Funds are used to account for the accumulation of resources for, and the payment of general long-term debt principal, interest, and related costs.

The Solid Waste Facility Capital Projects Fund is used to account for financial resources to be used for the acquisition and construction of the solid waste facility.

The Ditch Special Assessment Fund is used to account for the financing of construction and repair of the ditch system, which is deemed to benefit the properties against which the special assessments are levied.

Proprietary Fund

The Nursing Home Enterprise Fund is used to account for the operations of the Oakland Park Nursing Home. The Nursing Home's financial position and operations are presented as of and for the year ending September 30, 1985.

Fiduciary Funds

Trust and Agency Funds are used to account for assets held by the County as a trustee or agent for others. These include expendable trust and agency funds. Expendable trust funds are accounted for in essentially the same manner as governmental funds. Agency funds are custodial in nature (assets equal liabilities) and do not involve measurement of results of operations.

Account Groups

The General Fixed Assets Account Group is used to record the County's fixed assets other than those accounted for in the proprietary fund. Public domain ("infrastructure") general fixed assets, consisting of certain improvements other than buildings, are not capitalized.

The General Long-Term Debt Account Group is used to record the County's long-term liabilities other than those accounted for in the proprietary and special assessment funds.

C. Basis of Accounting

Governmental, expendable trust and agency funds are reported on the modified accrual basis of accounting, in which revenues are recognized when they become both measurable and available. Available means collectible within the current period or soon enough thereafter to be used to pay liabilities of the current period. Revenue sources susceptible to accrual include property taxes, intergovernmental revenue, and investment earnings. Expenditures are recognized when the corresponding liabilities are incurred, except for principal and interest on general long-term debt, which are recognized when due.

The proprietary fund is accounted for on the accrual basis of accounting; revenues are recorded when earned and expenses are recorded when incurred.

D. Budgetary Data

General Budget Policies

The County Board adopts estimated revenue and expenditure budgets for the General and Special Revenue Funds.

The budgets may be amended or modified at any time by the County Board. Comparisons of estimated revenues and expenditures to actual are presented in the financial statements for the General and Special Revenue Funds.

Encumbrances

Encumbrance accounting, under which commitments for the expenditure of monies are recorded in order to reserve that portion of the applicable appropriation, is used in the governmental funds. Encumbrances outstanding at year-end are reported as reserved fund balances since they do not constitute expenditures or liabilities.

Budget Basis of Accounting

Budgets for the General and Special Revenue Funds are adopted on a basis consistent with generally accepted accounting principles.

E. Assets, Liabilities, and Fund Equity Accounts

1. Assets

Investments

Pooled (in lieu of cash) investments are stated at cost, which approximates market.

Taxes Receivable

Taxes receivable consist of uncollected taxes payable in the years 1980 through 1985. Taxes receivable are offset by deferred revenue for the amount not collectible within 60 days of December 31, to indicate the contingent nature of the asset. No provision has been made for an estimated uncollectible amount.

Special Assessments Receivable

Special assessments receivable consist of:

— Unapportioned special assessments held in the Taxes and Penalties Agency Fund.

— Delinquent special assessments payable in the years 1980 through 1985; no provision has been made for an estimated uncollectible amount.

— Current special assessments levied in 1985 and payable in 1986.

— Deferred special assessments payable in 1986 and after.

Advance to Other Funds

Noncurrent portions of long-term interfund loans receivable, reported as "advance to other funds," are equally offset by a fund balance reserve account which indicates that they do not constitute available spendable resources.

Inventory

The Road and Bridge Special Revenue Fund inventory is valued at cost using the first-in, first-out method. When inventory items are purchased, their cost is recorded as an expenditure. The reported inventory values are equally offset by reserved fund balance to indicate that they do not constitute available spendable resources.

Food stamp inventory reported in the Welfare Special Revenue Fund is valued at face value of the stamps. Food stamps are held by the County until they are issued to qualified individuals, as prescribed by federal guidelines. The Welfare Special Revenue Fund food-stamp inventory is offset by the liability account "Unissued Food Stamps" to indicate that the County does not own the stamps but is only administering them for the federal government.

The Nursing Home Enterprise Fund inventory of supplies is valued at the lower of cost (first-in, first-out) or market. Market is considered to be net realizable value.

Restricted Assets—Enterprise Fund

Funds restricted for the payment of principal and interest of the 1978 General Obligation Refunding Bonds are accounted for in the Nursing Home Bonds and Interest Fund, which has been combined with the Nursing Home Fund for reporting purposes. These funds are accounted for as restricted assets, with offsetting related liability and equity accounts.

Fixed Assets

All fixed assets are valued at their historical cost or estimated historical cost. Donated fixed assets are valued at their estimated fair value on the date donated.

No depreciation has been provided on general fixed assets.

Fixed assets of the Nursing Home Enterprise Fund are stated at cost. Depreciation of fixed assets is based on Department of Public Welfare guidelines and calculated using the straight-line method.

2. Liabilities

Long-term liabilities expected to be financed from governmental funds are accounted for in the General Long-Term Debt Account Group, not in the governmental funds. The single exception to this general rule is for the special assessment bonds, which are accounted for in the Ditch Special Assessment Fund.

3. Fund Equity

Fund Equity is divided into sections.

— The account "Investment in general fixed assets" represents the County's equity in general fixed assets.

— The contributed capital account indicates permanent fund capital contributed to the Nursing Home Enterprise Fund.

— The reserved retained earnings account represents the portion of fund equity which has been legally segregated for specific purposes.

— The unreserved retained earnings account represents the accumulated earnings of the Nursing Home Enterprise Fund.

— Fund balance accounts are subdivided.

Reserved accounts indicate the portion of fund equity which has been legally segregated for specific purposes.

Unreserved designated accounts indicate the portion of fund equity that the County has set aside for planned future projects.

The unreserved undesignated account indicates the portion of fund equity which is available for budgeting and expending in future periods.

F. Revenues, Expenditures, and Expenses

1. Revenues

Property Taxes

Property taxes are recognized as revenue to the extent they are collected in the current period or soon enough thereafter to be used to pay liabilities of the current period.

Portions paid by the state in the form of tax credits are included in intergovernmental revenues. The property taxes receivable but not available are recorded as deferred revenue and will be recognized as revenue in the year that they become available.

Special Assessments

Special assessments are recorded as revenues in the year the assessments are added to the tax rolls. Interest on special assessment levies is recognized in the year it is due.

Intergovernmental

Intergovernmental revenues are reported under the legal and contractual requirements of the individual programs. Generally, grant revenue is recognized when the corresponding expenditure is incurred. In certain programs, such as Federal Revenue Sharing, revenue is recognized when it is measurable and available.

State Aid Highway Allotments for highway maintenance and construction are recognized as revenue only after an expenditure has been recorded. The accounting for allotments is similar to grant accounting, in that revenues equal expenditures.

Other Revenues

Other revenues, such as licenses and permits, charges for services, fines and forfeits, and miscellaneous revenues (except for investment income) are recognized when received in cash because they generally are not measurable until then. Investment income is recognized when earned because it is measurable and available.

2. Expenditures

Expenditure recognition for governmental fund types includes only amounts represented by current liabilities. Since noncurrent liabilities do not affect net current assets, they are not recognized as governmental fund expenditures or fund liabilities. They are reported as liabilities in the General Long Term Debt Account Group.

Compensated absences are considered expenditures when paid to employees. Earned but unpaid vacation leave is shown in the General Long Term Debt Account Group. Unvested sick leave is not reported in the financial statements.

3. Expenses

The Nursing Home Enterprise Fund recognizes expenses including compensated absences when they are incurred.

G. Total Columns on Combined Statements

Total columns on the combined statements are captioned "memorandum only" to indicate that they are presented only to facilitate financial analysis. Data in these columns do not present financial position or results of operations in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Neither are such data comparable to a consolidation, because interfund eliminations have not been made in the aggregation of the data.

H. Comparative Data

Comparative data for the prior year have been presented in the accompanying financial statements to provide an understanding of changes in the County's financial position and operations. However, comparative data for each fund type have not been presented since their inclusion could make the statements unduly complex and difficult to read.

Comparative data also has not been presented for Exhibits 4 and 5 due to a change in the Nursing Home Enterprise Fund fiscal year. The fiscal year ended September 30, 1984 is for a nine month period and the fiscal year ended September 30, 1985 is for a twelve month period.

I. Restatement of Retained Earnings

The retained earnings at October 1, 1984, have been restated to reflect refunds to patients for rates charged in excess of approved rates during the year ended December 31, 1983, resulting in a decrease in retained earnings of $16,488

2. Stewardship, Compliance and Accountability

A. Individual Fund Deficits of Equity Accounts

Ditch Special Assessment Fund

Seven out of 54 drainage systems have incurred expenditures in excess of revenues and available resources. These deficits will be eliminated with future special assessment levies against benefited properties. The following summary shows the unreserved undesignated fund balance as of December 31

	1985
Account Balances	$ 297,409
Account balances (deficits)	(17,122)
Fund balance	280,287

B. Excess of Expenditures Over Budget

The following funds had expenditures in excess of the budget for the year ended December 31, 1985.

	Expenditures	Budget	Excess
Special Revenue
Road and Bridge	$ 1,489,477	$ 1,002,823	$ 486,654
Welfare	2,515,333	2,248,800	266,533

Property Taxes and Special Assessments
The County levies and collects property taxes and special assessments for all governmental units within the County. Property tax collections and remittances to other governmental units and County governmental funds are accounted for in the Taxes and Penalties Agency Fund.
Taxes and special assessments are billed to individual property owners within the County annually and, for the most part, are due and payable in January but may be paid in two equal installments on or before May 15 and October 15 without penalty.
The County is required by statute to distribute the collections to the various governmental units three times each year.

Due From Other Governments
The following amounts were due from other governments at December 31, 1985:

	Federal	State	Local	Total
General Fund	$ 2,672	$ 1,143	$ 35,841	$ 39,656

In 1985, Pennington County constructed a resource-derived fuel project to serve as an alternative to the existing method of disposing of solid waste. The County has entered into a lease-purchase agreement with Future Fuels, Inc. to operate and maintain the facility. Lease payments are to cover payment of all bonds, loan, interest and cost overruns.
Annual lease payments to the County are:

1986	$ 47,840
1987	102,432
1988	140,432
1989	141,432
1990	142,432
Thereafter	1,072,160
	$ 1,646,728

The receivable for the lease is shown in the Solid Waste Facility Bond and Interest Debt Service Fund. Since the receivable does not meet the availability criterion under the modified accrual basis of accounting, an offset amount of deferred revenue has also been recorded.
Pennington County is contingently liable for the long-term indebtedness should Future Fuels, Inc. be unable to meet the scheduled debt retirement.

B. Liabilities
Deferred Revenue
Deferred revenue consists of taxes receivable which are not collected soon enough after year end to pay liabilities of the current year, state grants received but not yet earned, and long-term receivables from Future Fuels, Inc.
Deferred revenue at December 31 is summarized below by fund type:

	Taxes	State Grants	Future Fuels Inc.	Total
General Fund	$ 87,213			87,213
Special Revenue Funds
Road and Bridge	69,781	53,211		122,992

Total	$ 237,050	53,989	1,646,728	1,937,767

Retirement Plan
The County participates in a state wide pension plan administered by the Public Employees Retirement Association. Substantially all county employees in the state are members of this plan, which requires contributions from both employees and employers. The County's contributions for the year ended December 31, 1985, were $105,839, which includes a provision for prior service costs.
The Public Employees Retirement Association is divided into two funds, the Public Employees Retirement Fund and the Public Employees Police and Fire Fund. The Association's annual report for the year ended June 30, 1985 (the most recent available) shows:

	Public Employees	Police and Fire
Reserves needed for retired members and beneficiaries	$ 914,639,750	89,912,993
Reserves needed for active and deferred members	1,543,085,421	267,828,747
Total reserves needed	$2,457,725,171	357,741,740
Assets (net)	1,842,957,195	338,400,219
Unfunded reserves	$ 614,767,976	19,341,521

The Public Employees Retirement Fund is 75 per cent funded and the Police and Fire Fund is 95 per cent funded. Because the Public Employees Retirement Association is a state wide pension plan, statements reflecting each local government's share of the unfunded reserves are not available.

Other Employee Benefits
Vacation and Sick Leave
Under the County's personnel policies and union contracts, County employees are granted vacation in varying amounts based on their length of service. Vacation leave accrual varies from 12 to 18 days per year. Sick leave accrual is 12 days per year.
Unused accumulated vacation leave is paid to employees upon termination. Unvested sick leave, $166,700 at December 31, 1985, is available to employees in the event of illness related absences, and is not paid to them at termination.
Workers' Compensation Insurance
The County has entered into a joint powers agreement with other participating counties to self insure its workers' compensation coverage.
Under this plan, which is administered by the Association of Minnesota Counties and known as the Minnesota County Self-Insurance Trust, Pennington County is liable for the first $50,000 of any single claim or claims arising from a single occurrence. The entire membership of the trust is liable for the next $260,000 and a conventional insurance policy covers claims over $310,000.
The County has designated refunds of $67,857 received from the Minnesota Counties' self insurance trust to pay the liability for the first $50,000 of any single claim or claims.

Contributed capital — September 30	$ 8,541

4. Summary of Significant Contingencies and Other Items
A. Claims and Litigation
The County, in connection with the normal conduct of its affairs, is involved in various claims, judgments, and litigation. The County Attorney estimates that the potential claims against the County not covered by insurance resulting from such litigation would not materially affect the financial statements of the County.
B. Department Trust Deposits
Departmental trust deposits include funds deposited with various county departments as required by statute or court order. The following is a summary of these trust deposits, which are not shown on the combined balance sheet:

Court System	$ 8,705
Sheriff	9,808
Welfare Director	36,301
Recorder	$ 100
Total	$ 54,914

C. Settlements Held by the Court for Minors
The Court Administrator, at December 31, 1985, held investments for individuals who have not reached the age of majority. These investments have a combined face value of approximately $170,000 and are not included in the County's financial statements.
D. Welfare Child Support (IV-D) Accounts Receivable
Estimated amounts receivable from individuals for recovery of child support payments made under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Program are approximately $543,000 as of December 31, 1985. This receivable is not included on the balance sheet of the Welfare Special Revenue Fund since its collectibility is not determinable. Collections are distributed to the state and federal governments in proportion to the current funding formula for the AFDC program.
E. Joint Ventures
Not shown on the combined financial statements is the County's proprietary interest in the following joint ventures with surrounding counties:
Northwestern Minnesota Juvenile Training Center
Pennington County entered into a joint powers agreement creating and operating the Northwestern Minnesota Juvenile Training Center pursuant to Minn. Stat. No. 471.59 (1984). The center provides rehabilitation and other services to juveniles under jurisdiction of County Courts of member counties.
The management of the Center is vested in the Board of Directors, which is composed of at least one member from each participating county, as provided in the Center's bylaws. At present, there are ten directors; Beltrami and Cass Counties have two directors each, and the remaining member counties have one director each. No single member county retains control over the operations or has oversight responsibility for the Center.
The offices of the Training Center are located at Bemidji State University. A number of satellite homes are at various locations.
The following summary is from the Center's annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 1985.

Total Assets	$ 322,607
Total Libilities	$ 16,968
Total Fund Equity	305,639
Total Liabilities and Fund Equity	$ 322,607
Total Revenues	$ 511,984
Total Expenses	508,452
Net increase in retained earnings	$ 3,532

The Center has no long term debt.
Financing is provided by state grants, appropriations from member counties, and charges for services to non member counties. Pennington County's share of the budget, based on the ratio of its population to the total population of the member counties, is 13.5 per cent. The County's contribution was $13,750 for the year ended December 31, 1985.
Inter-County Nursing Service
Pennington and Red Lake Counties entered into a joint powers agreement creating and operating the Inter-County Nursing Service pursuant to Minn. Stat. No. 471.59 (1984). The nursing service is headquartered in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and has another office in Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.
The board consists of one County Commissioner and four others from each county, and a physician who may be from either county. The other members are two registered nurses, an educator, a social worker and four members of the community.
The primary function of the Inter-County Nursing Service is to provide, through visits to the individual's home, skilled public nursing care on a part-time or intermittent basis to residents of Pennington and Red Lake Counties who are in need of such care.
The following summary is from the Nursing Service's annual financial report for the year ended December 31, 1985.

Total Assets	$ 92,001
Total Libilities	$ 9,830
Total Fund Equity	82,171
Total Liabilities and Fund Equity	$ 92,001
Total Revenues	$ 233,925
Total Expenses	213,055
Net Increase in Fund Equity	$ 20,870

The Nursing Service has no long-term debt.
Financing is provided by state grants, appropriations from member counties, and charges for services. Pennington County's share of the budget, based on the ratio of its population to the total population of the member counties, is 73.6 per cent. The County's contribution was $12,000 for the year ended December 31, 1985.
F. Refunding Bonds
In 1978 the County sold Law Enforcement Center and Nursing Home Refunding Bonds totaling $1,690,000. Proceeds from these issues were deposited in an escrow account to retire General Obligation Law Enforcement Center and General Obligation Nursing Home Bonds of 1975. The maturities of the investments purchased with the proceeds of the refunding bonds coincide with the principal and interest payment dates of the refunded bonds and have been certified to be sufficient to pay all principal and interest on the bonds when due, as required by applicable laws. Accordingly, the original refunded bonds have been subtracted from and the refunding bonds added to the County's financial statements. The County and Nursing Home remain contingently liable to pay the refunded bonds totaling $1,110,000.

The Grygla Senior Citizens met at the community center of Friday afternoon. Several people are also regular customers of the dinners that are served on three days a week. The cook is Hazel Aune and assisted by a volunteer. At the Senior Citizen meeting the members enjoyed a big birthday lunch served by the birthday people, including several birthday cakes and other good things to eat. Those who were honored on their birthdays or having birthdays in September were Ordean Anderson, Altha Benson, Elizabeth Brateng, Elida Nelson. Guests in addition to the regular members were Henry and Alice Ennen of Elmore, Mrs. Ray Benson, Mrs. Joyce Landsrud, Mrs. Tammy Nordby, Gavin and Tony, Mrs. David Brateng, Mrs. Viola Wikstrom, Mrs. Hilda Hagen, and Mrs. Shirley Nordby. Also many of the members were given blood pressure tests at the blood pressure clinic which was conducted at the Community Center that afternoon conducted by Hilda Hagen R.N. Several members worked at completing and tying a queen sized quilt. The beautiful top was sewen by Elizabeth Brateng. The quilt will be raffled off on the last Friday of September at the Community Center during the flea market. Several members and their guests enjoyed playing card games and visiting during the afternoon. Happy birthday to Ordean, Elida, Elizabeth and Altha.

Recent visitors at Olive Ostby's were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grahn of Helmet, CA and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bue of Wannaska.

STRATHCONA'S 22nd threshing bee got off to a grand start Sunday with its parade of antique tractor and horse powered rigs. The smaller log structure in the background is the original district 65 Grasslake school house. This log schoolhouse was built in 1904 on section 32 of Poplar grove township, Roseau county on the John Homola farm. It was used until about 1914. Mr. and Mrs. Burda then bought it and used it as their home for several years. It was later used as a turkey house and as a storage building. It was donated to the Northland threshing bee by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burda and was moved to its current location in 1981 and restored.

Retirement Can Mean Fixed Income Woes

Just about everyone looks forward to a secure, comfortable retirement. But for many, retirement also means living on a fixed income that must be handled prudently. If you are nearing retirement and expect to have limited resources, the Minnesota Society of CPAS has advice that will help you use them wisely.

Financial needs change upon retirement, so you must rethink your priorities. You might need more medical insurance coverage. Your house may be paid-for and you will be freed from monthly mortgage payments. You may want to spend more on travel and leisure activities.

First, determine what your income actually totals. List your social security income, as well as income from pensions, annuities or insurance, IRAs, bonds and other investments. In some cases, such as annuities and IRAs, you can choose the way money will be paid to you.

Now, determine your fixed expenses for a specific period of time and compare them against your income for the same period. The difference is your discretionary income. Knowing how much money you have left will help you determine your budget priorities.

Also get a fix on your income tax situation. If your income drops substantially, the good news is that you will be taxed at a lower rate. A CPA can help you determine how your new tax situation will affect your finances.

If part of your income is interest on savings, be sure you get the best return possible no matter how modest the principal. Out of habit, some people keep their savings in low-interest accounts because they prefer the security of bank accounts and the easy access to cash. If you are one of these people, ask your banker or broker about other types of accounts that would increase your earnings.

A certificate of deposit or money market account could increase your earnings without tying up your money for long periods. For instance, you could earn at least $125 more a year if your $5,000 nest egg was earning eight per cent interest rather than five and a half. And such accounts are usually federally insured.

Check to see if taxes are being withheld from pension payments. If you don't want those taxes withheld, notify your pension plan administrator.

Take advantage of all the special privileges and discounts available to you as an older American. Your local senior citizens center or office for the aging will have specific information regarding these services. You might also call the nearest area office of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), a national organization headquartered in Washington, D.C., to find out more about these services.

Many localities offer special discounts on transportation, heating oil, property taxes and the cost of other services.

You may be asked to prove your need or show an income tax return to receive discounts on certain services, so it's especially important to keep accurate financial records. Nonetheless, many municipal services are offered to older Americans regardless of income.

Also, many banks offer special accounts as well as customer services, such as financial seminars for older Americans with funds to invest.

Review your investments. If you have stocks, bonds or mutual funds, you may be able to buy, sell or transfer funds. Chances are, you could realize a capital gain or achieve a higher rate of return.

The key to living comfortably on a fixed income, according to CPAs, is having full knowledge of your income and expenses, and budgeting for your needs accurately and realistically. Being familiar with those financial details, as well as knowing what community services are available to you, will go a long way in helping you enjoy your retirement.

Trip

Adeline Lusignan, Sharon Wagner, Marian Peterson, Sandy Sorter and Emma Peterson are members of Silverton home study group who enjoyed the county bus tour Tuesday to Hawley where they visited the Spring Prairie Hutterite Colony. The colony grows grain and has a large vegetable garden. The group toured the large dairy barn, farm shop where they build some of their own farm equipment, their book binding and print shop, a shoe and canvas repair shop, and an electrical shop which rewinds electric motors and repairs refrigerators and air conditioning units. They also toured their kitchen, dining room, school and church. From there we went to Moorhead to the Heritage-Hjemkomst Interpretive center which recently opened which houses the Hjemkomst Viking ship built by the late Robert Asp of Moorhead. he center also hosts several displays and exhibits. Leaving there for Fargo, some went to Bonanzaville and the others to West Acres and later all went to a restaurant for supper before leaving for home.

PICKUP LOAD OF PUMPKINS parked at Floyd B. Olson park parking lot Saturday during Everybody's Market in Thief River Falls gained a lot of attention. Pumpkins of all sizes and other garden produce were in good supply during the annual fall event which attracted a good crowd despite chilly and damp weather.
